HOUSE OPPOSED TO ADDING $24,000,000 TO DRY FUND

The House Yesterday by a Vote of 240 to 141 Sent the Bill Carrying the $24,000,000 Increase For Prohibition Enforcement to Conference With the Senate—The House Previously Had Defeated a Motion Designed to Prevent the Matter From Going to Conference—Vote Showed a Split in What Have Been Regarded in the Wet and Dry Camps—Matter Will Be Fought Out Between Senate and House.

WASHINGTONN, Jan. 31—(AP)—The first test of strength in the house on the proposal to add $24,000,000 to the prohibition enforcement fund resulted today in a victory for those who have inclined to the views of Secretary Mellon that the money should not be appropriated without a definite plan of allocation.

By a vote of 240 to 141, the house rejected a motion designed to prevent the deficiency supply measure, to which the huge dry law enforcement item was added by the senate last week, from going to conference. A few minutes later without a record ballot it overrode the opposition of those claiming for immediate approval of the item and sent the bill to conference.

As a result of this ballotting the measure now will be placed in the hands of a conference committee on which the house and senate will have equal representation. It is believed by some house members that in view of the large vote by which the senate approved the proposal the senate conferees will insist upon its retention. Whether this is done, it is regarded as possible that other votes will be necessary in at least one of the two houses before the question finally is disposed of.

The amendment specifically would provide for expenditure of the money under direction of the president.

The house vote today saw a division of party lines and also found a split in what heretofore has been regarded as the wet and dry camps in the house. The ballot was taken late in the day after several hours of debate in which the membership participated freely.

Two days ago an attempt to send the measure to conference resulted in a mix up in parliamentary procedure and adjournment was taken to solve the parliamentary situation. The problem was turned over to the rules committee which group approved a resolution to provide for sending the bill to conference and it was this resolution which was approved by a viva voce after those anxious to block such action had lost out on the record ballot.

The motion designed to keep the bill from conference found 194 republicans lined up with 45 democrats and one socialist, Berger, of Wisconsin, in opposition. The move was supported by a combination of ten republicans, 129 democrats and the two farmer labor members, Cares and Kvale, of Minnesota.

In addition five republicans and three democrats were paired against the motion which one republican and seven democrats were paired in its support. This accounted for 397 of the authorized membership of 435. Of the remainder, Speaker Longworth voted present—he has a vote only in case of a tie—and 32 were unaccounted for. There are five vacancies.

During debate on the proposal the charge was made on the republican side of the chamber that the move to turn $24,000,000 over to the president—and because of the short time remaining of the Coolidge administration most of the expenditure undoubtedly would have to be made by Herbert Hoover—was a political gesture to "rehabilitate democrats in the minds of their own constituents."

Democrats, on the other hand, chided republican drys and charged that they were in a position of refusing to trust the president-elect with "the money to carry out the noble experiment." They declared that officials of the prohibition enforcement bureaus had testified that they did not have sufficient funds to enforce the law.

MORE ABOUT THE AIMEE M'PHERSON KIDNAPING CASE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 31—(AP)—The inquiry of a state legislative committee into the $2,500 check given Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy by Aimee Semple McPherson became deeply enmeshed in the Angelus temple leader's kidnaping episode today. The inquiry is to determine whether impeachment proceedings are to be filed against the jurist.

Three of five witnesses appearing at the morning session testified to funds expended, threats made and advices offered in connection with the mysterious seaside cottage at Carmel, Cal. There the evangelist is accused of having visited with her temple radio man, Kenneth G. Ormiston, when she claimed she was held a captive in the desert by two abductors.

Robert W. Bryden, a Pasadena, Cal., merchant, testified that while he was a member of the county grand jury which two years ago investigated Mrs. McPherson's kidnaping, Judge Hardy warned him to "lay off the Aimee case."

Bryden's testimony was preceded by that of a private detective, James W. Buchanan, who said Judge Hardy, Arthur Veitch, Mrs. McPherson's attorney, and Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, her mother, had employed him to investigate the cottage at Carmel.

Buchanan said Mrs. Kennedy had paid him $250 and that either she or Judge Hardy paid the final bill. What he learned at the cottage was not disclosed, but eight reports were made either to Judge Hardy or Veitch, Buchanan said.

DENIED IMPLICATION IN "TIP OFF" OF BREWERIES

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 31—(AP)—State Treasurer Bert B. Buckley, took the witness stand today in his trial in federal court for attempted bribery and conspiracy to violate the prohibition law and denied that he had any criminal connection with an alleged plot to "tip off" Cincinnati breweries of impending federal inspections.

Buckley declared that the plot, which the government claims was designed to warn the breweries to get rid of their illicit beer was suggested to him last October by John F. Eckhart, assistant federal prohibition administrator for the Ohio-Indiana district.

Eckhart is the man to whom Buckley is alleged to have offered $300 a month for advance information of federal inspection, for which the breweries, in turn were to pay $5 for each half barrel of illicit beer produced.

REVOLT IN SPAIN HAD EXTENDED TO THE NAVY

BORDEAUX, France, Jan. 31—(AP)—Reports that the Spanish plot had ramifications in the navy seemed confirmed by news reaching here today from the frontier of the arrest of Naval Lieutenant Angel Rizo on charges of being implicated in the movement. The arrest was made on board the cruiser Don Blas Lezo in the harbor of Cartagena.

Previous reports had indicated that the revolt was primarily one of artillery officers dissatisfied with conditions in the army.

MARSHAL FOCH HAS BEEN SENT BACK TO BED

PARIS, Jan. 31—(AP)—Marshal Ferdinand Foch was sent back to bed today by his physicians but it was said at his home tonight that the setback was only slight. It was stated that he had caught a slight cold, the weather having been extremely changeable in the last few days.

The doctors orders were that he abandon his practice of sitting up or walking around the house at intervals during the day.

PROPRIETRESS OF TAVERN WAS STRANGLED TO DEATH

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 31—(AP)—With a rope pulled twice around her neck and tied with a double knot, causing strangulation, the body of Mrs. Pauline Zimmerman, 45, was found late today in a room on the second floor of Liverpool tavern, of which she was proprietress, at 1 Commercial street, on the waterfront. Police, who found evidences of a struggle, declared she was murdered.

Silence of a parrot in the victim's store led to discovery of her body two hours after she was said to have been seen alive by Louis Bernstein, keeper of an adjoining store.

An officer, Thomas Conley, stepped into Mrs. Zimmerman's store on the first floor of the tavern at 3:20 o'clock. He was struck by the absence of the shrill whistle with which he usually is greeted. The bird simply bowed its head.

Suspicious of the absence of the woman, he started to search the tavern, with an insurance man whom he summoned. Opening the unlocked door of a room, they found her fully clothed body on a bed. A pillow had been pushed down on her face. Then the rope which Medical Examiner Francis A. Forgione later said caused strangulation, was discovered.

The police were puzzled to find a motive for the crime. It was not known whether money had been taken from the cash register.

MRS. LEBOUEF AND DREHER PREPARE FOR EXECUTION

FRANKLIN, La., Jan. 31—(AP)—Mrs. Ada Bonner Lebouef and Dr. Thomas E. Dreher prepared tonight for a murderer's death on the gallows tomorrow for killing the woman's husband.

They were sentenced to hang for killing James E. Lebouef, superintendent of the Morgan City branch of the Louisiana Public Utilities company on the night of July 1, 1927. The state contended they murdered Lebouef so he would not interfere with their love affair.

The long legal fight to save the condemned pair from the gallows, which was carried twice to the United States supreme court, was climaxed at New Orleans today when Judge Wayne Borah of the United States district court and the United States circuit court of appeals both refused to interfere with the executions.

That left Governor Long as the only avenue to save them and he promptly announced that he had reviewed the case thoroughly and did not intend to take further action.

Thus it appeared tonight that the woman and physician who already have received three reprieves, were doomed to die tomorrow between noon and 3 p. m., the time set for the execution by the governor.

SENATE PASSED BILL TO AMEND THE JUDICIAL CODE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—(AP)—The senate today passed and sent to the house a bill to amend the judicial code to provide that terms of the district court in New Hampshire shall be held at Concord on the second Tuesday of January, the last Tuesday in April and the first Tuesday after the second Monday in November and at Littleton on the first Tuesday after the third Monday in September instead of times formerly provided in the code.

LONDON, Jan. 31—(AP)—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Riga says that the former Lithuanian chief of staff, Plechavitschius, has been arrested at Kovno charged with leading a plot to assassinate Augustine Waldermaras, premier of Lithuania. Eighteen army officers were arrested at the same time on a similar charge.

FEAR GIRL HAS BEEN KIDNAPED AND SLAIN

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Jan. 31—(AP)—Over a terrain marked in places by pre-historic mounds in which red men laid away their dead tribesmen, there tramped today a band of white men searching for the body of Edith May Dierdorff. Edith, a 10-year-old girl, has been missing from her humble home in West Terre Haute since last Sunday.

Edith is believed to have been kidnaped and slain. A blood-stained sack in which she had been carrying newspapers was found Monday beneath a highway bridge 40 miles south of here. A grocer has told police that the child purchased chewing gum in his store last Sunday and then climbed into an automobile with a man who apparently was waiting for her.

The drifted snow that softened the irregular lines of an ugly rock-scarred landscape was kicked aside today by hundreds of boots worn by the searchers who believed that somewhere, in a thicket perhaps, would be found Edith's body.

Overhead two airplanes circled about while men in the cockpits stared through binoculars seeking a spot on the landscape that might aid the searchers on the ground.

The air also carried radio appeals from Jack Smoch, Terre Haute police chief, requesting all who could to assist in the search.

The hunt covered a territory many miles in extent.

BILL WOULD DO AWAY WITH COUNTY CORONERS

HARTFORD, Jan. 31—(AP)—County coroners would be abolished as an outworn and expensive institution and their duties transferred to the state police department by the terms of a skeleton bill, introduced in the house of representatives today by Elwyn T. Clark, of Haddam, house chairman of the appropriations committee, and a member of the state board of finance and control. A detailed bill will be filed later with the judiciary committee to which the skeleton measure introduced today was referred.

Coroners are paid on what amounts to a "piece-work" basis at the rate of $20 a day, and, although $170,000 was appropriated for the payment of these officials for the present biennial period, eight of the nine coroners now have requests for deficiencies, totalling $18,287, now pending before the appropriations committee, Mr. Clark pointed out.

TO REMOVE KING GEORGE TO THE CRAIGWEIL HOUSE

LONDON, Jan. 31—(AP)—Plans for removing King George from his sick chamber in Buckingham palace to Craigwell house on the Sussex shore went ahead rapidly today. Queen Mary visited Craigwell and it was announced this evening that if the weather continues good the king would start on Thursday of next week. He will travel by automobile.

Lord Dawson of Penn, the king's physician, visited the palace twice today but issued no bulletin. It was stated that the royal patient continued to improve steadily.

SUSPENDED AS MEMBER OF MASSACHUSETTS BAR

BOSTON, Jan. 31—(AP)—Nils T. Kjellstrom, of Worcester, was suspended from practice as a member of the Massachusetts bar by Judge Whiting in Suffolk superior court today. The suspension becomes effective tomorrow and will be for one year.

It was charged that Kjellstrom acting as counsel received $300 that should have become part of an estate and that he failed to account for its receipt to the administrator of the estate who was subsequently removed. The administrator discovered Kjellstrom's connection with the affair and disbarment proceedings were started.

ASK HIGHER TARIFFS ON COTTON MANUFACTURES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—(AP)—Higher tariffs on cotton gloves, hosiery, blankets, handkerchiefs and other manufactured cotton articles, were sought by a dozen witnesses appearing today before the house ways and means committee, considering the tariff revision.

Meyer Kraushear, New York, filed a brief on behalf of handkerchief manufacturers, in which increased protection was sought for all kinds of handkerchiefs. Imports from Europe were growing more and more each year, he said, while values per unit have declined with a consequent demoralization of the American market.

Women Win Laurels In Aviation World

Elsanor Smith Establishes New Solo Endurance Flight Record For Women.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y. Jan. 31—(AP)—Two women, one a flying flapper and a flying cashier, won laurels today on Long Island flying fields. One established a new endurance record for women and the other probably saved her own life by quick thinking in the air.

Early this morning 17-year-old Eleanor Smith came down out of the chill skies at Mitchel field with a new solo endurance flight record for women to her credit. She had been aloft 13 hours, 16 minutes and 45 seconds, beating the record held by Miss Bobbie Trout, of California, by one hour, five minutes and 45 seconds.

This afternoon, Miss Viola Gentry, an older but no less daring aviatrix than Miss Smith, set about winning back the endurance record she held until Miss Trout took it away from her, and so won her laurels even though she didn't win the record.

Miss Gentry, who is known as the flying cashier because she has worked in restaurants to get the money to finance her flying, crashed in a practice hop preparatory to beginning her endurance flight but by presence of mind saved her life.

With a half load of fuel she roared down this field's famous trans-Atlantic runway and out into the air just before reaching the treacherous gully in which Rene Fonck piled up his ship at the start of a flight to France two years ago last September. But she was still low and as she passed over the gully her plane staggered in the upward currents of air that often shoot up at the juncture of Roosevelt and Curtis fields.

Miss Gentry at this point apparently made a mistake in judgment, turning her plane down wind and so losing the lifting assistance of a head wind. This caused the ship to slide and fall.

Keeping her composure the woman pilot cut her ignition switch, thus keeping her plane from catching fire at the crash and causing a repetition of the Fonck tragedy. That plane burst into flames and two men were killed.

Miss Gentry's plane was badly damaged, so badly that it will take at least a week to repair it.

ALONGSIDE DISABLED NORWEGIAN FREIGHTER

NEW YORK, Jan. 31—(AP)—The Merritt-Chapman, Scott company received a wireless today from its wrecking steamer Relief that the Relief was alongside the disabled Norwegian freighter Fernlane 1,600 miles off shore and had her in tow for Newport News, Va.

The Fernlane reported on Jan. 24 that her rudder was gone and her stern frame broke. The Relief left Norfolk at once. It was thought it would take from 10 days to two weeks to tow the freighter in.

The Norwegian craft is a steel ship of 4310 gross tons, 376 feet long. She was bound from Vladivostuck via San Pedro for Aarhuus.

FIRE FATAL TO TWO OF CREW OF DOLLAR LINER

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 31—(AP)—Two men were dead and five were in hospitals tonight as the result of a fire in the crew quarters of the Dollar liner President Johnson, tied up at the foot of Twelfth street.

A four hour fight placed the blaze under control early today. Although damage was slight, departure of the vessel on a round-the-world tour was postponed until tomorrow.

The dead are: Stanley Horton, of Alameda, Calif., and Benjamin Krynck of Rome, N. Y., both junior engineers. Horton lost his life when he returned to the quarters to rescue his clothing. Krynck was burned to death in his bunk.

CAPT. FRIED HAS RECEIVED THOUSANDS OF LETTERS

NEW YORK, Jan. 31—(AP)—Capt. George Fried, who has received thousands of letters and telegrams congratulating him on rescuing the crew of the Florida, announced tonight that he will make an effort to answer each message personally as soon as he returns from his good-will tour of the country. Lack of time makes it impossible for him to attend to his mass of correspondence now, he said.

Captain Fried had not been informed officially tonight of the intention of the Merchant Fleet Corp. not to ask him to make a tour of the country before returning to his command on the liner America. If, as seemed probable tonight, his trip will not extend beyond Washington, it is likely that he will return to his home here for a rest and to attend to his correspondence.

Earl of Durham

DURHAM, England, Jan. 31—(AP)—The Earl of Durham, well known as a sportsman before the war, died today after an attack of influenza in Lambton castle, the historic home of his family. Despite his advanced age of 74 years, the earl had held the title only five months. He succeeded last September his twin brother.

The earl, a member of the Jockey club since 1897 as the Honorable Frederick William Lambton, was a well known rider to the hounds and raced for many years before the war but recently had been inactive on the turf. He sat in the commons as liberal member from South Durham from 1880 to 1885 and a defeat re-entered in 1900 as a liberal unionist for Southeast Durham, holding his seat for ten years.

The new earl will be the eldest son, John Frederick Viscount Lambton. He is 48 years of age.

Bills Pouring In To General Assembly

Before Quitting Time Today the Number Will Have Far Exceeded the 1,400 of 1927.

STATE CAPITOL, Hartford, Conn., Jan. 31—(AP)—Beginning with indications that fewer bills would appear than on the corresponding day of previous sessions, the general assembly today saw a record introduction of measures, giving promise that by closing time tomorrow, the number offered this session will have far exceeded the 1,400 of 1927. For the first time since the 1929 session began, bills poured in when both bodies reconvened after five minute recesses.

A few legislators showed they had made an effort to keep within reasonable proportions the flood of bills likely tomorrow, by presenting individually as many as possible today. Their efforts were not enough, however, to shorten the comparatively long sessions today.

Two bills, among many on a related subject, came into the house which, if enacted, would have a marked effect on the viewpoint of motorists. One would increase the speed limit outside cities and towns to 35 miles an hour and make, in the words of its author, Mr. Matthies, of Seymour, "a general nuisance of anyone driving slower than that in open country," and therefore subject to fine or imprisonment.

The other bill, offered by Mr. Palmer, of North Stonington, would increase the gasoline tax from 2 to 3 cents, one third the total revenue thus derived to be refunded to municipalities in proportion to area.

Mr. Matthies was the author also of a bill making Wednesday a legal half holiday for stores in July, August and September, and prohibiting other special closing days or half days.

Aimed at preventing "petty graft" or "fraud," was a bill which would make subject to fines of $500 to $1,000 bank directors or trustees, who take "compensation" for indorsing papers discounted by their banks.

Besides the gasoline tax and speed limit bills, there were a half dozen others, of Mr. Matthies' authorship—one would cause forfeiture of a truck driver's license if he took out his vehicle without first having his brakes tested; another would prohibit red and green advertising lights on highways because motorists confuse these colors with traffic lights. Also, helpful to drivers would be the proposed legislation that requires municipalities to designate trunk line highways, as would that requiring that obstructions on highways be painted white and that prohibiting the dumping of refuse, including picnic rubbish, on highways.

Ranking in number with the motor vehicle bills, were the fish and game. One authorizes the fish and game board to restrict or prohibit fishing in any feeder stream or pond. Another restricts hunting and setting of traps by requiring persons using them first obtain permission from owners of land on which traps are to be set. Others authorized landowners to shoot deer for domestic use, but prohibiting the use of traps, snares, salt licks or other devices for the purpose of injuring or killing deer; made a closed season for fur-bearing animals, except as already otherwise provided, from November 24 to October 7, and a closed season for partridge or ruffed grouse and male pheasants between the same dates.

The appropriations committee, the only committee transacting business this week, other than those which organized, considered this afternoon the $2,500,000 appropriation for the proposed state office building near the capitol.

Tomorrow will be the first Friday on which the general assembly has gathered. It will mark the close of one phase of legislative business, introduction of bills, and the opening of the other phase, committee hearings and general assembly action.

FEBRUARY 15 PROCLAIMED AS MAINE MEMORIAL DAY

HARTFORD, Jan. 31—(AP)—Friday, February 15, was designated as Maine Memorial day, and suitable exercises in the schools of the state are directed to be held on that day in a gubernatorial proclamation issued today.

MILLION ENDOWNMENT GIFT TO YALE NURSING SCHOOL

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 31—(AP)—One million dollars to the nursing school at Yale university by the Rockefeller foundation as an endowment gift, was announced by President James Rowland Angell, of the university today.

Regarding the gift President Angell said, "Coming as it does at the end of a five year trial period this gift is of great significance. It means that a novel experiment has proved a success, and an educational program for nurses, comparable to that offered in medicine, law, and engineering, is placed on a stable and permanent basis."

Among the features of the plan which has received the endorsement of the Rockefeller foundation, are the high admission requirements; a curriculum emphasizing study of fundamentals as well as practical training; tuition fee by students; and maintenance furnished by hospital during service in the wards.

ROCKEFELLER, SR., AGAINST RE-ELECTION OF STEWART

Senior Rockefeller in Accord With His Son in the Latter's Efforts to Oust Stewart From Chairmanship of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana—Refutes Statement That He Would Be Pleased With the Reelection of Stewart—Owns No Stock in the Standard Oil of Indiana.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., today issued a statement through his New York office saying that he agreed with his son in the latter's efforts to oust Col. Robert W. Stewart from the chairmanship of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

"The press has several times reported a statement from Colonel Robert W. Stewart to the effect that Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Sr., would be pleased by the reelection of Colonel Stewart as a director of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana," the statement said.

"Mr. Rockefeller, Sr., has been informed that many people in the west have been misled by this report. For this reason Mr. Rockefeller, Sr., thinks it necessary to make this statement.

"Mr. Rockefeller, Sr., owns no stock in the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. He feels that his son has proceeded only with the earnest desire to do that which will be best for the trust welfare of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, and for large corporate interests in general. Mr. Rockefeller, Sr., agrees with his son and does not see how his son could have done otherwise. He has proceeded with deliberation and patience and with the utmost consideration for the feelings of all parties concerned. It has been an unpleasant duty for him, but one which in all good conscience he could not shirk."

HELD IN CONNECTION WITH DEATH OF ANTHONY CHIAMPA

BOSTON, Jan. 31—(AP)—Four men and a girl were in police custody tonight as District Attorney William J. Foley pressed the investigation into the death of Anthony Chiampa, 19-year-old gunman, found slain with three bullet wounds, in a Revere barn. Each person held was believed by police to have information which would assist in determining the movements of Chiampa in the hours which directly preceded his death.

The girl held was Christine Donovan, 19, of Lowell, Chiampa's sweetheart, with whom police said he lived in a West End apartment. Under questioning by Foley, she said she last saw Chiampa about 7 p. m. last Tuesday night, the night he was slain. After he left her, she said he went to a pool room in the North End, from which police have learned, he went to his death. She was held as a material witness.

Joseph Scopa, alleged accomplice of Chiampa in a safe breaking attempt, surrendered to police tonight after he had been sought for several days on a default warrant. He was wanted because police suspected Chiampa had been slain after he had indicated a willingness to become a state witness in the trial of both he and Scopa for the safe job. Scopa fled during the trial and his whereabouts were unknown until his counsel arranged for his surrender tonight.

GOV. JOHNSTON PLEADED NOT GUILTY OF CHARGES

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 31—(AP)—Declining to seek the advantage of technicalities, Henry S. Johnston, suspended governor, through his counsel pleaded not guilty today before the senate court of impeachment on charges preferred by the house of representatives, and the date of his trial was set for Feb. 11. It previously had been announced that demurrers to the house charges would be presented to the senate court.

After the brief hearing today, however, Johnston revealed that he had opposed this plan of his counsel and insisted that the 11 charges be heard on their merits. By common consent, the charges were consolidated, although Johnston was not scheduled to plead to three of them until Feb. 5, and the trial was set.

There was little change today in the trend of investigation attendant to the impeachment proceedings.

MAY ADJUST DIFFERENCES IN THE SALVATION ARMY

LONDON, Jan. 31—(AP)—Commissioner Catherine Booth, eldest daughter of Gen. Bramwell Booth of the Salvation Army, in an interview tonight suggested that her father's supporters and the high council might yet reach an agreement concerning the administration. General Booth, she said will probably ask to be represented by counsel when the high council meets tomorrow.

The commissioner expressed the wish that the parties could reach an agreement "which would meet what the council wants, which is really the power to elect the successor of the general." One of the reasons given for the unwillingness of Bramwell to retire at this time is the agitation, which he believes began in America, on certain charges in the constitution of the army. The general believes that all officers and soldiers of the army should be consulted before such changes are made and his injunction petition which blocked the council was said to be an impersonal move.

Reviewing the condition of her father, Catherine said: "They now say it is entirely a question of health and it seems to me they should therefore hear medical experts. It seems a calamity that with all this going around the world they cannot think of some better plan. I think the high council may yet realize they have made a mistake."

PRESIDENT-ELECT HOOVER LANDS 45-POUND SAIL FISH

LONG KEY, Fla., Jan. 31—(AP)—President-elect Hoover today realized his long cherished ambition to catch a sail fish.

After less than half an hour's battle he landed one of the gamest fish found in Florida waters. It weighed about 45 pounds and was about six feet long.

The catch was made on the edge of the Gulf stream. Mr. Hoover had as his companions Associate Justice Harlan F. Stone, and Jeremiah Milbank, eastern treasurer of the republican national committee. Fishing from an arm chair, the next president trolled for an hour without making a strike. He had as bait a piece of bonita cut in the shape of a fish.

When the sail fish struck the president-elect let his line out rapidly and then as he felt the sail fish muzzling the bait line he made his strike. As his hook caught the sail fish leaped out of the water, then began a long run to escape.

Mr. Hoover let out his line rapidly; then checked as his sail fish turned and then ensued a battle of 25 minutes during which the president-elect brought into play all his lore as a fisherman before he landed his catch.

FREIGHT RAN WITH DEAD ENGINEER AT THROTTLE

BRYAN, Ohio, Jan. 31—(AP)—A through freight train on the Cincinnati & Northern line traveled for three miles between Bryan and the village of Ney today with a dead engineer at the throttle.

Harvey A. Freyermuth, 56, of Van Wert, a veteran train pilot, received his orders here today apparently in good health.

He threw open the throttle and the freight pulled out toward Ney, six miles away. About two miles from Bryan, Freyermuth died of an apoplectic stroke. But his body remained firm in its position in the cab, so much so that Fireman L. J. Hirsch, of Van Wert, was completely deceived.

Then Hirsch noted that the train passed a crossing and that Freyermuth did not sound the whistle. He kept on shoveling coal into the fire. Another crossing was passed without a whistle. When this happened a third time Hirsch tapped the engineer on the shoulder and his body slumped forward.

Hirsch then took the throttle himself and piloted the train into Ney.

TWO BILLS APPROVED BY LIEUT. GOV. ROGERS

HARTFORD, Jan. 31—(AP)—Lieutenant-Governor Rogers, as acting governor, today approved two bills which had been adopted by the legislature under suspension of the rules as emergency measures. One measure authorizes the Newington home for crippled children to use a part of the $300,000 building appropriation of two years ago for furnishing new buildings and the other measures exempts Tolland county, which has no democratic legislators this year, from the statute requiring county auditors to be of different political parties.

SCORE OF REPORTERS COVERING JACKSON MURDER

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Jan. 31—That interest in the murder of County Detective William E. Jackson and its attending mystery has reached out through Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts to a marked degree is indicated in the influx of over a score of newspapermen since the night of the shooting. Several of these representatives of large state papers in these states are remaining as guests at the Nathan Hale hotel for an indefinite period while others have returned to home duties while awaiting a "new break" in the investigation. Some of the out-of-town reporters dispatched to cover the murder had had occasion to meet and work with Detective Jackson during the trial of the Worcester "ice box" bandits in this city last September.

POLICE COMPLETELY BAFFLED IN JACKSON MURDER CASE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Jan. 31—No startling developments in the nature of an apprehension in the investigation of the slaying of County Detective William E. Jackson at his home Tuesday evening are to be expected until some time after the funeral Saturday according to a statement made today and credited to County Detective Edward J. Hickey of Hartford. Detective Hickey, who is heading the investigation into the killing of his intimate friend and co-detective, remains noncommittal as to any possible suspicion he may hold but it has been made known through authoritative sources that the state had no clues up to tonight. The probe into the mystery of the shooting continued with unabated vigor today. Detective Hickey remained in close touch during the day with State's Attorney Howard C. Bradford of Putnam and Prosecuting Attorney Harry S. Gaucher. He is being assisted in the investigation by Police Officer Arthur M. Hurley. Detective Roy H. Wheler of Monson, Mass., a friend of Jackson, came here today to join in the investigation. Wheeler is a special police investigator in Monson.

There is much general speculation on the fact that neighbors of the Jackson home apparently did not hear any unusual barking on the part of "Major" a large police dog kept on leash in the rear of the home, about the time of the murder. This would indicate the possibility that the murderer either avoided the rear of the house and did the shooting from within the kitchen or else was fairly familiar with the watchdog.

County Detective William E. Jackson will be accorded a full military funeral with services at the home on Saturday afternoon. Local military organizations including Company C, 169th Infantry, C. N. G., veterans bodies, fraternal and social organizations will participate. The Elks' ritual will be conducted. The services will be attended by hundreds including several state, county and town officials.

Appeal by State's Attorney.

The following letter was issued today by Howard C. Bradford, state's attorney, requesting the assistance of the public in running down the murderer of County Detective Jackson: "To the People of Willimantic and Vicinity: The state officials are doing all they can to trace out the guilty person connected with the death of William E. Jackson. We desire all the information which can be furnished, however meagre or seemingly unimportant it may be, and I give my assurance that anything communicated to me or any of the police officials will be duly investigated and given the consideration the facts disclosed warrant. Howard C. Bradford, state's attorney.

The first semi-annual Dollar day in Willimantic will be held in the near future according to plans now being worked by committees of the Merchants' bureau of the chamber of commerce. That the event will be one of unusually large proportions is indicated in the fact that it has been subscribed to by the largest number of merchants to ever participate in a similar sale. In inviting the people of surrounding towns to come to Willimantic for the bargain feast the merchants announced unlimited parking facilities with but two exceptions: the fire district on Bank street and the north side of North street. A list of the official Dollar day stores will be published in this newspaper next week.

Action on the death of Post Commander William E. Jackson was taken at the installation meeting of Augustus C. Tyler camp, No. 8, United Spanish War veterans held in the town building this evening. A letter of condolence, a copy of which was sent to the Jackson family was submitted by Adjutant Robert O. Snow. Commander John D. Gallivan will head a delegation of veterans to attend the services. Recently elected officers of the camp were installed tonight by Past Department Commander Frank P. Fenton.

James Davidson Dingwell of Pawtucket, R. I., will be the speaker of the evening at the annual supper get-together meeting of the chamber of commerce to be held at the Nathan Hale hotel next Tuesday night. During a business session President Frank P. Fenton and Secretary Earl J. Arnold will present brief reports. H. Clinton Lathrop will present the treasurer's report and the auditors, Herbert D. Pollard and Fred A. Sanderson will also report.

Mr. Dingwell, who was secured by the program committee consisting of James B. Fullerton, Oliver L. Willard and P. J. Twomey, is one of Rhode Island's most forceful speakers on business topics. He is widely known as the originator of the civic theatre movement much used in Americanization work. His subject will be The Challenge of the Unaccomplished.

Following her exercise of the feminine prerogative, she burst into tears and soon after departed for her Czechoslovakian estates.

JEWETT CITY

ICE DEALERS HUSTLING TO SECURE A FULL CROP

Ice cutting began in earnest Thursday. Shea Brothers and E. Chenette are out for a harvest in record time, determined if possible to eliminate the handicap of last season, when only a partial harvest of six-inch ice was secured. Mr. Shea was obliged to run in 26 cars of New Hampshire ice last summer to supply his trade.

For the first time in ten years the three big Dorville and Brewster's Cove houses were empty, when the first cakes slid in Thursday forenoon. The entire harvest to be taken from the pond by both cutters will be in excess of 7,000 tons.

Last year, a procedure never before necessary, Mr. Shea stacked close to 700 tons on his property bordering Pachaug pond, three miles away.

A local gallery watched the process of securing the first cakes, from eight to ten inches, fine and clear. No local, privately-owned industry awakens anything like the interest that everybody takes in the ice cutting.

ELECTRIC COMMISSION REPORTS GAINFUL YEAR

A number of letters have been received of late by the board of borough government, from reliable investment interests, asking that opportunity be given them to purchase the electric light and power system.

With the finest financial showing in its history, and with a record of service unsurpassed, the borough of Jewett City is considering no bids for the "goose that lays the golden egg." The board of electrical commissioners has submitted to the consumers, this week, a report which speaks for itself:

Earnings—Street lights, $3,517.10; commercial lights, $27,615.58; total, $30,932.68. Expenditures — Salaries, $2,405; elec. service, $15,740.64; gen. repairs, $120.95; supplies, $319.18; interest, $1,125; depreciation, $5,367.44. Net gain, $7,558.19; total, $30,937.68.

Inventory of Plant and Equipment—Building, $1,900; switchboard and instruments, $1,709.10; meters, $10,128.91; transformers, $5,281.62; street lights, wires, fixtures, etc., $14,114.04; line tools, $544.23; total, $33,676.90. Less 10 per cent depreciation, $3,367.69; total, $30,309.21.

The board comprises: George J. Moeller, Lloyd Greene, Buckingham and Daniel F. Finn.

Of the registered nurses of the town two are ill. Reckoning the entire staff of physicians and nurses of the town, Dr. F. E. Rainville and Mrs. Elizabeth Chase, R. N., have so far escaped the attacks of influenza, grip, cold or whatever it is, that is working overtime in this section. The district nurse, Miss Brennan, was worked to the limit, and is now in bed. Mrs. Chase, up to Thursday noon, had received 450 calls, asking for medical attention. Mrs. Chase lays no claim to being a doctor, but she does the next best thing, reporting cases to the physicians, giving symptoms, temperature and personal diagnostical opinions. The doctors, who have been crowded to the limit, give Mrs. Chase the necessary medicine. With professional prescription, the nurse does the rest. If no temperature is noted, or failure of response indicated, it speaks well for the administration of the skilled nurse.

Palm's tonight, China Night. Also Billy Dove, in Adoration.—adv.

A Main street boy in his early teens with a church attendance that tends to be mostly Baptist, asked his mother the other day if Presbyterians were allowed to go where others were not. Being questioned by his mother he declared that there was a sign on the path in the rear of the bank that allowed them a special privilege. Investigation proved that the sign read: "Pedestrians only."

Edward Murphy, in charge of the street cleaning department, Assistant Postmaster Thomas Barnett and Assistant Electrical Supt. George Tormey have signed up on the dotted line, ill with influenza.

At the Baptist church Wednesday evening, Rev. George H. WALES DETERMINED TO FIND METHOD OF RELIEF

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, England, Jan. 31—(AP)—The Prince of Wales tonight left the desolate and poverty-stricken mining district after a three days' visit, deeply touched by the conditions seen, and determined to find a method of relief.

In these three days he has traveled about 200 miles through the worse parts of the northern coal fields, making most exhaustive inquiries from every possible angle.

Twice today he promised to do everything possible to remedy the situation. To the mayor of Durham he said, "I have been deeply touched by what I have seen—the bravery, the patience and the hope of all these poor people. It is very difficult to know what to do to solve this most pressing problem. I am sure however, things will be righted but I am afraid it must take time. The people I met could not have been nicer to me personally. It was wonderful."

To Mrs. Teasdale, secretary of the Unemployment committee at Bishop Auckland, he said, "It is some consolation to see the good work being done for miners everywhere I've been. I cannot tell you what I have felt as I have gone through some of these mining areas. I can see that distress is very acute and I will do whatever I can for the people."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—(AP)—Debate on the prohibition issue in the house showed an unusual lineup, with wets and drys in many instances occupying positions the reverse of those they usually assume when debate on the dry law is held. Dry republican leaders accused the democrats of trying to embarrass the Hoover administration, while democrats in favor of the proposal to increase the prohibition fund countered with taunts that the republicans were unwilling to trust their leaders with the fund.

The senate passed a house bill to permit the United States Marine band to take part in the Confederate Veterans' reunion to be held at Charlotte, N. C., June 4 to 7. The bill now goes to the president.

The house military committee declined to take action on the senate bill to transfer more than a score of national military parks and monuments from the jurisdiction of the war department to the national park service of the interior department.

A bill to authorize the secretary of agriculture to establish laboratories for protein testing of wheat was introduced by Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana. The measure would authorize an appropriation of $285,000 to be expended in the fiscal years 1929 and 1930 and would create co-operative laboratories at any state agricultural college meeting conditions prescribed by the secretary. Fees for the service would be collected from producers who ask for tests.

A two-year investigation and survey to determine the most practicable route for an inter-oceanic ship canal by way of the San Juan river and Great Lake of Nicaragua or any other route in Nicaragua was proposed in a bill introduced today by Representative Denison, republican, Illinois.

BOSTON, Jan. 31—(AP)—Charlestown firemen today were compelled to don gas masks to fight a fire which broke out in the forward hold of the steamer City of Chattanooga, while the ship was at her pier in Charlestown today. The blaze started in bags of jute and caused dense clouds of smoke to pour from the hold. The fire was brought under control with damage mostly to the cargo.

DANIELSON

KILLINGLY GRAND LIST IS $249,436 LESS THAN LAST YEAR

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Jan. 31—The grand list that the assessors have completed and which the members of the board of relief will have before them when they begin their sessions Friday is a quarter of a million dollars less than the grand list completed a year ago. This is largely due to the shrinkage in the assessed valuation of the Connecticut mills, from which nearly all of the machinery has been removed. An adjustment of the taxable value accounts for the loss of $181,200, of the total shrinkage of $249,436.

This year's grand list is $86,901,708, against $87,785,087 a year ago. However the purchase of the Connecticut mills within the past week by Powdrell and Alexander and the fact that it is again to come into use will bring a restoration of at least part of this year's loss on next year's list.

Items from the grand list show: 1,648 dwellings valued at $2,552,025; 1,424 barns and garages valued at $376,780; 2,192 building lots valued at $722,500; 173 business buildings valued at $247,225; 243 horses valued at $8,250; 937 cows valued at $34,975; 1,700 automobiles valued at $422,610; poultry valued at $17,415; miscellaneous holdings including wagons, musical instruments, furniture, mechanics tools and farm implements, stock in trade, pipe lines, boats, cash deposits and other taxable property $755,855.

The new grand ist shows a gain that has been going on for years—reduction in the number of horses and increase in the number of motor vehicles owned in the town. No more horses are being kept by the average person than may be required to do work, which is another way of saying that few exclusively driving horses are owned. A heavy percentage of farmers and others living in remote parts of the town now own cars, whereas a decade ago many of them kept horses for trips to town or other errands not having strictly to do with business. The increase in the number of motor vehicles in town the past year was 66, whereas the decrease in the number of horses owned was 24. During the year 22 new dwelling houses were erected and 53 barns and garages.

NIGHT WATCHMAN AT WORSTED CO. ASSAULTED

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSONN—Joseph Richards, night watchman at the Killingly Worsted company plant in Elmville, was nursing a sore head today after being viciously assaulted during the night while he was making his rounds about the plant. His assailant made his way out of the plant and escaped detection. State officers worked much of what remained of the night after the assault upon Richards and continued their investigation throughout today, but no arrests were made.

Richards, an elderly man, was on the stairway between the second and third floors of the mill when a man struck him over the head with some blunt instrument and then kicked him as he fell. It is believed that the purpose of the assault was to rob Mr. Richards, but whoever attacked him failed to render him wholly unconscious. After hitting Mr. Richards the man ran up the stairway to the third floor of the mill and let himself out onto a platform to the high ground above the mill building, which is located in a hollow.

Recovering sufficiently, Richards managed to make his way to where some night workers were busy in the plant. A call was sent in for Dr. S. C. Garcin, who came over from Dayville and gave Mr. Richards attention. Eight stitches were necessary to close the wound on the right side of Mr. Richards' head. The attack was made just before one o'clock this morning while the watchman was making a tour of inspection about the plant.

Students of Killingly high school who are interested in the proposal to form a school band, to be directed by A. H. Messenger of Springfield, will probably have their enthusiasm checked up to a still higher notch next Tuesday evening when Mr. Messenger brings the Ludlow, Mass., school band here to demonstrate how readily such bands can be taught to play entertainingly and well. The visiting band will give a concert following the basketball game to be played between Killingly high and Woodstock academy. The question of finance will enter into the formation of the proposed band at Killingly high. Instruments must be obtained and there will also be a modest charge for the instruction, Mr. Messenger, who has wide experience in forming and developing school bands, says that within four weeks from organization the band will be able to play simple numbers.

A whist party arranged by Rose of Lima council, K. of C., brought many to their rooms this evening.

PUTNAM

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Jan. 31—Charles Allen, Jr., 11 year old son of Captain of Police and Mrs. Charles Allen of Auburn, Mass., returned to his home today after an absence of five days. The boy left Friday afternoon after his mother had rebuked him for venturing on ice ponds without her permission. The boy told the police of Auburn today that he was going to New London to enter the navy but when he reached Putnam he decided that there was no place like home and turned about to return. The boy's father called upon the police in this section to bid in a search for his son. Police officials between New London and Worcester had advised all of their officers to be on the lookout for the youth, wearing an aviator's helmet. The lad successfully eluded the police and perhaps would have reached New London successfully.

NOLIN DIES AS RESULT OF CRASH WITH AUTO

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Jan. 31—Hector Nolin, of Church street Webster died this morning at the Webster hospital of a fractured skull following a automobile crash which occurred at Lime house crossing about 11 miles north of here yesterday. Nolin was operating a gasoline coach on the Southbridge and East Thompson branch of the New Haven railroad when a vehicle driven by Mrs. Edith B. Corttis, of North Grosvenordale crashed the coach the sudden impact throwing Nolin to the roadbed, crushing his skull. He was taken to the Webster hospital about five miles distant but never gained consciousness. Mrs. Curtiss is a teacher at the Bartlett high school in Webster, Mass., and was returning to her home when the crash occurred. She was uninjured.

Nolin was a lifelong resident of Webster, Mass. He is survived by his wife and five children, Rhea, Armand Robert, Alice and Yvonne. He was employed by the Western Union and was making a survey of the lines in the East Thompson district. In his work he used the little gasoline coach to travel over the railroad.

Mrs. Cortiss was unable to see the small car approaching the crossing until her machine was upon it. She made every effort to bring her car to a stop and avoid striking the lineman, but was unable to do so.

Hope that Putnam would be selected as the site for the veterans hospital of 250 beds, slated for southern New England, waned today as the report of General Hines, chief of the federal hospitalization board recommended Hartford or New Haven as the most logical site. The board is to submit to President Coolidge a bill containing recommendations for the choosing of the sites for the New England institution, and it is thought the recommendations of General Hines will be followed.

The Putnam committees that have worked together in the interests of securing the million dollar project for this city had no statements to make today. Since the bill for the hospital for southern New England was passed by the senate at its last session, Putnam has worked to bring the government institution to this city and will not cease to labor in its interest until the announcement by the government hospital officials as to the site chosen, has been made.

State officials of this section attempting to solve the mystery of the murder of County Detective William E. Jackson who was slain at his home in this city Tuesday evening, today thrust aside the theory that the killing may have been an outermath of the "joe box" bandit case, in which Mr. Jackson was an important figure for the state in convicting the bandits, Lalone and Raymond, Worcester youths, of killing State Trooper Nelson, at Pomfret on the night of April 6.

Since no definite clues have been discovered by the police now investigating the crime, Putnam police have not been asked to take part in the search for the murderer.

Henry L. Converse, a member of the force of the Putnam post office, who on Monday afternoon was ablaze to flee a sick bed to escape flames that wrought destruction to this home in the Sawyer district, was sufficiently improved as to be able to leave his home today.

The state and local police continued their hunt for the man who entered the Bradley Beef company on Tuesday as a representative of a local grocery firm and under false pretenses obtained a 68 pound tub of butter. The police have obtained a fair description of the man and believe him to be the same person who only a short time ago passed several checks, without funds on Putnam business establishments. Until late this afternoon the police were in possession of no further information that might lead to an arrest.

A foreclosure sale, ordered by the superior court will on Feb. 7, result in another textile plant in this section passing into liquidation, when the Edward J. Keegan mills in Wilsonville are placed on the auction block. The Keegan mills until about six months ago were flourishing and were the main spring of the little mill village of Wilsonville. Since the plant ceased operation, textile operators living in the village have departed to seek other places of employment.

Lodgers continue to apply at the Putnam police station for a night's "put-up" despite the fact that the privileges of blankets and mattresses has been stopped. Cold nights drive many of the travelers to the station to seek a berth, and upon their release in the morning they vow they shall never return, yet at sundown each evening a host of these knights of the road await the arrival of Sergeant Liard, who assigns them to their "apartments". The sergeant is of the opinion that the refusal of the Danielson police to grant the weary wayfarers a place to sleep is the reason for the increased number appearing in Putnam.

Will it be a concrete reservoir or two steel tanks and an increased main supply, that will constitute the recommendation of the board of water commissioners when they appear before the common council on Tuesday evening, to present their report on the water problem? Chairman of the board of water commissioners, Ralph E. Thurston, declined to express an opinion today, but said he would be prepared to make recommendations to the council on Tuesday when they convene for the February meeting. Since the appointment of Thurston, Kent and Dubois as members of the water commission, they have been busy settling other matters now confronting the water department and have had little time to devote to the reservoir problem.

The water question was revived last month when Alderman at Large Ames requested the board to bring in a set of recommendations so the council may make another attempt to settle the problem which has been before the aldermanic body for the past three years.

Nacis Menoche, 45, died at his home in North Grosvenordale this morning following a prolonged illness. Mr. Menoche was a native of Canada but has lived in this country the greater part of his life. He was until recently employed as a textile worker by the Grosvenordale company in North Grosvenordale. He was a devout member of St. Joseph's church in the little village where he lived and was well known and highly respected. Mr. Menoche is survived by his wife and three children.

MEMPHIS READY TO DEAL WITH A FLURRY OF CRIME

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 31—(AP)—A flurry of crime in Memphis brought orders from Chief of Police Will Lee today to his force to "shoot to kill, and the first man to bag a bandit gets promoted."

Meanwhile, a roundup was started of all vagrants and suspicious characters, and those arrested were held without bond until they could be questioned.

SENATOR JOHNSON MAKES PLEA FOR STRONGER NAVY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—(AP)—A demand that America be made more powerful at sea rumbled through the senate chamber again today, as Senator Johnson, republican, California, spoke of a "world drama" which he said would be played in future upon the Pacific. He pleaded for enactment of the warship construction bill now awaiting action.

The naval program is vital to America's safety, declared the Californian in a two-hour address which consumed the full time allotted for debate on the bill. It is necessary to give this nation a parity with Great Britain in sea strength, he said, and approval of the program also is necessary to bring about any future conference for the limitation of armaments.

Great Britain with her sea strength was the particular target of Senator Johnson and he charged that nation with a violation of the spirit of the Washington arms conference in building cruisers since the naval limitations treaty was ratified.

But he called for a larger American navy for the "sole purpose of protecting America and not for fighting any other nation." He said that "realizing as I do what the future holds for the Pacific coast I want this bill passed and passed in its present form. I realize it will be only a brief period, as the time of man goes, until the world's drama will be played upon the Pacific ocean."

The officers of Colchester grange, No. 78, P. of H., were installed Wednesday evening at Grange hall by State Master Minor Ives. The following were installed: Master, William B. Gerhardt; overseer, Elmer H. Foote; steward, Herman Conrad; assistant steward, Jesse C. Bailey; treasurer, Mrs. Clara M. Gillette; secretary, Miss Belle L. Strong; lecturer, Mrs. Robert E. Greene; gate keeper, R. E. Greene; lady assistant steward, Miss Ruth M. Murray; Pomona, Mrs. M. J. Cornwell; Ceres, Mrs. Harold Clark; Flora, Miss A. R. Bailey. After the installation ceremonies, State Master Ives, Sister Richardson of the Norwich grange and Past Master Pomeroy, of Meriden grange, addressed the meeting on the duties of a patron. At the close of the meeting, the ancient committee served a fine lunch of baked beans, salads, pie, cake and coffee. Visitors were present from Meriden, Lebanon and Norwich.

At Hartford Meeting

Mrs. Robert E. Greene, Mrs. Arthur H. Chapman, Mrs. Harold Clark, Miss A. R. Bailey, Mrs. Frederick Kopp, Mrs. John M. Riley and Mrs. William E. Adams attended the grand chapter meeting of the Order of Eastern Star in Hartford, Thursday.

David S. Bigelow, George B. Miller and Abraham Jaffe are to hold a meeting to listen to appeals from the doings of the assessors. It is not thought that there will be many complaints from property owners, since very few radical increases in assessments have been made.

Anthony Rutka had a gang of men at work, Wednesday and Thursday, harvesting eight-inch ice at the New Dam pond on Norwich avenue.

Plumbers are at work installing a water system at the new laundry building on Norwich avenue.

Arthur Holmes, of New London, was calling on friends here Wednesday.

Frank Foote, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Foote, is on a vacation trip to Florida. Mr. Foote is connected with the Eastern Dairy Co. of New Haven.

Colchester residents were saddened to hear of the accidental death, Wednesday, of John Istenes, of Lebanon. Mr. Istenes was a resident of Colchester in previous years, at which time he was employed by the late A. H. Wallis. He leaves a wide circle of friends here who have expressed heartfelt sympathy to the family.

The Elwell family at North Pariish have received an unceremonious and expensive visit from a partridge. It broke through a pane of glass and after hiding in a corner for a few moments, flew up and out through another window, breaking more glass.

THE COUNTRY'S ROADS.

In view of all that is known about the roads of this state and the efforts which have been made to get more attention for the country highways, it was only to be expected that the Connecticut Editorial association would throw its support to the movement for the betterment of dirt roads.

The main thoroughfares are not the only ones that have been getting attention but it is to the state system of roads that efforts have been chiefly directed with the result that huge expenditures have been made on the main lines while the country roads have been left to such attention as the towns could give them, which means very little in the way of lasting improvement.

Nevertheless the residents of the sections reached by the country roads are owners of motor vehicles and as such are required to make their contributions through special taxation to the construction of the main lines without getting any benefits for the cross roads which they have to use and which all those who reach or serve them must employ.

There are many of these country roads that ought to get attention for the advantages which they offer in reaching certain points. Large sections of the state are entitled to the development which always follows the building of new roads and it is only fair that those living on the country roads should see some benefits from their money.

Highways are important and it has long since been recognized that permanent roadbeds are preferable and more economical in the long run. By many it is believed that some of the money which is now being employed in the widening of the wide highways and the costly elimination of curves should be devoted to relieving the situation in regard to country roads. The feeling is that the situation ought not to go on so one-sidedly for an indefinite period. Consideration may well be given to those living in the country and the editorial association apparently believes that it ought not to be delayed year after year. It unquestionably reflects a widespread sentiment throughout the state.

CAPTAIN FRIED'S NEW JOB.

When the steamship America left for the return across the Atlantic Harry Manning, the chief officer on the trip to this country, was in command. He has replaced Captain Fried temporarily and if his performance in mid-ocean reflects his ability as the master of a ship he not only is the right man for the place but will demonstrate it at every opportunity.

Captain Fried has been called to Washington by the shipping board for the purpose, it is understood, of sending him about the country to relate his experiences in rescue work at the request of a number of large cities.

We can imagine in these days that there is a strong desire on the part of the public to see and hear such heroes. It was ever so, but it would appear that the shipping board was removing the services of one of its most able captains for the purpose of yielding to publicity appeals. The question arises as to where the services of Captain Fried are the most valuable, on the speaking platform or on the bridge of a transatlantic steamship.

From the attitude that has been displayed by the captain since the rescue of those on the Florida there is nothing to indicate that his withdrawal from command of the America is particularly pleasing. It raises the question as to whether each and every other captain who does his duty in regard to humanity in distress on the high seas is going to be taken from the bridge and put on a vaudeville circuit or into the movies. Possibly that prospect would be a sufficient incentive for some to indulge in spectacular exhibitions on the high seas but it can be realized that it would soon mean the removal of those captains whose services are of the greatest importance to the safe handling of ships and the extension of assistance of those who may encounter difficulties on the water.

We have no doubt but what Captain Manning will give an excellent account of himself, but it is to be sincerely hoped that Captain Fried's services are not going to be denied henceforth to some American steamship.

ILL TIMED EFFORT.

Senator Bingham speaks from the position of one on the inside when he brands the effort to appropriate $24,000,000 for prohibition enforcement as an insincere move and a bit of political play that is intended to strengthen the position of the southern drys and to embarrass this and the coming republican administration.

It is a view that jibes with opinions previously expressed and it appears to be the duty of the house to see that it is eliminated from the deficiency bill.

Those who back the big increase in the appropriation, even though it is left to the judgment of the president, give little consideration to the facts or the conditions. They are guided by the belief that they are doing something that will make it possible to better enforcement, but they give no heed to the declarations of the secretary of the treasury and the prohibition commissioner that such an appropriation ought not to be made at this time and cannot meet the situation they seek to better.

This political play with prohibition as the point about which it revolves is not only threatening a deficit in the treasury and thus inviting a veto by the president, but it is ill timed and ill advised. It is a political trick backed by those who are trying to cover up the effects of the last election. They are going to claim that there will be no future ground for insisting that enforcement is handicapped for lack of funds, but they know that such an appropriation will be powerless to meet the situation.

That opposition to the appropriation has developed much strength in the house is not surprising. It is known that it is the intention of the president-elect to set on foot a thorough inquiry in regard to the prohibition question and enforcement for the purpose of finding out what present day conditions demand. That completed, there should be some worthwhile recommendations made and if they are approved means of carrying them out will be required. That would be the time for the sane backing of sound legislation. The wisdom of waiting for such constructive legislation instead of indulging in the present political trickery ought to be recognized.

THE SPLASHING DRIVER.

On a warm day when the ice has thawed, or following a rain when there are shallow pools of water standing in the streets, conditions exist which should be considered by the drivers of automobiles.

This has to do with the pedestrians who are too frequently subjected to a sprinkling from the rapidly driven machine. It makes no difference whether it is water or water and mud, the drivers of some cars seem to delight in the spray that can be thrown and the distance it can be spattered. It is not a happy individual who goes through such an experience with a new suit, or dress and on glancing ahead at the offending machine catches the driver gloating over his accomplishment.

How much water and mud is spattered makes little difference much of the time if there is no one on the sidewalk and there are no buildings to be daubed by the spray, but it is only proper that consideration should be given to those afoot and by checking the speed of the car as they are approached prevent the immersion.

Presumably there are drivers who give no heed to the street conditions and do not realize that they are doing to others what would be most objectionable if inflicted upon them, but there is little reason for totally ignoring the other fellow. The heedless driver who splashes through every kind of puddle no matter who is near is in a near classification to the fellow who hits and runs. The offense is far different but there is a don't care, heartless spirit in connection with it which makes it evident that they come from the same school.

THE FIGHT STIFFENS.

With the bringing of Charles E. Hughes, as counsel, into the fight between John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and R. W. Stewart, chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil company of Indiana interest has been increased.

This is a contest to determine whether Mr. Stewart is going to remain at the head of the corporation or give way to someone else, Mr. Rockefeller long ago called for Mr. Stewart's resignation. He had promised to give it when asked, but he refused when the appeal came. It is now a case of getting a sufficient number of votes among the stockholders to accomplish the ousting or the reelection of Mr. Stewart.

All this affair has developed from the oil scandal and the part which Mr. Stewart played therein. Mr. Stewart became involved in contempt and perjury charges in connection with the senate inquiry and it is the belief of Mr. Rockefeller that such has not reacted to the benefit of the company to the extent that the stockholders should give endorsement to the part which Mr. Stewart has played by returning him to office. He doesn't hold a controlling interest but the desire to keep the company clean is the basis for his appeal to other stockholders, and when Mr. Hughes is brought in to guide the legal plans in connection with the meeting early in March it indicates the caliber of the guns that are being employed.

As yet the strength of neither side is such as to cause the other to admit defeat. There is no intention of relinquishing the fight until the cards are shown but in view of all that has taken place and the insistence upon the elimination of any taint of scandal it is inevitable that there will be greater public interest than might otherwise be the case.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

February, a short month but one of important birthdays, probably including yours.

The man on the corner says: With spring so near fly-swatting will soon be in order.

Of course if you are seeking a new puzzle, why not start in unravelling the new Einstein theory?

Just because February is a short month don't get the idea that it cannot be a disagreeable one.

The more we read about the freighters in trouble on the high seas the more convinced are we that there are pleasanter experiences on land.

The auto driver who sounds his horn on approaching a railroad crossing may not stop the train, but it is evident that he scent's danger.

Just to show what some people worry about there is an appeal in North Dakota for a law designating our language as American instead of English.

HOT CHERRY PIE

In Dot's mind was a full-fledged resolution to bake Bob's favorite pie. In her hands was a can of cherries. Emerging from the basement steps, she encountered Aunt Prude. Aunt Prude eyed the cherries.

"I always knew," she said in her crisp voice, "that there would be no divorce in this family. I remember the first question I put to Robert when he told me he was engaged to you. 'Can she cook?' I asked. In these days of various complications it is a wise wife who not only knows her strong points but uses them."

A little later Aunt Prude departed, but the can of cherries remained unopened on the kitchen cabinet. Dot eyed them from a distance and cold resentment froze her good intentions.

"I'll not make a pie. I'll not do it. I'll not do it." She flung out the words vehemently while tears of age stung her eyes. "The idea! As though the only thing that holds Bob to me is my cooking. It was an outrage for Aunt Prude even to think of such a thing."

Dot's positiveness seemed to foreshadow a doubt. What if Bob had stuck to her because of her cooking? She knew for a certainty his passion for good things to eat. After all, maybe it had been one of her pies or salads that had intrigued him in the first place instead of her eyes, that he had called devastating, or her smile, to which he had declared himself a slave for life.

Men were shrewd. Perhaps they had to be, but it certainly was not flattering to a woman's pride to discover that she had been married for bread-and-butter reasons instead of charm.

She looked again toward the can of cherries on the cabinet. The sun was shining on them and they glistened and sparkled until it seemed to Dot that they were laughing at her own stupidity! She felt sick at heart and fled to the living room, where she endeavored to drown her woes in a current copy of a magazine.

But the printed page held no delight for her. Words tumbled over themselves in inky pathways, meaningless, uninteresting. She turned to the styles and came upon a charming dress design. It played havoc with her imagination.

"Oh, dear," she thought, "if I had not already strained my allowance for this month I certainly would buy some goods and make a dress with this pattern. It has the very lines I like." The longer she thought the more she wished that she could spare the money for just such a dress. The click of a latch key interrupted her revery.

"Why, Bob," Dot gasped. "It's not time for you — I had no idea. Oh, mercy, I smell the roast. I'd forgotten it. I wonder if it's burned?" She fled to the kitchen. Grinning, Bob followed her.

"Take it easy, Twinkles. I didn't mean to startle you. I just rounded up a nice little unexpected commission, so I thought I'd call the day finished. Shall we split the proceeds?" He shoved a check under her noose. Dot looked at the check and thought of the dress. There would be enough for that.

"Are you going to make a hot one?" inquired Bob enthusiastically. Dot frowned, then noticed that he was pointing toward the cherries. Her cheeks burned with humiliation, but she smiled her nicest and managed her most charming voice.

"Yes, darling. I know your failing for hot cherry pie. Suppose you bring me the paste from the icebox and I'll slip into an apron and get a pan. We'll have dinner in no time, really." Bob came up smiling with a bowl of dough in his hands.

"Gee," he said, "little tokens of affection like this—like your being willing to go to all this bother—make a man feel as though his wife considers him more than just an ordinary meal ticket and wardrobe filler."—Chicago News.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—Should the reader some day come a-touring to see the sights to Washington and encounter in the corridors of the capitol a sturdy, square-shouldered figure, equipped with gleaming dark eyes and a most expansive, spade-shaped black beard, let him be not dismayed.

This is no pirate, no bomb-throwing nihilist, no rebel against the accepted social and economic order. It is Rep. George Holden Tinkham, republican, of Boston, graduate of Harvard college and continuously in politics since he emerged from that highly conservative institution of higher education with an A. B. in '94.

He will be going about his strictly conservative affairs and plotting no unseemly outrage behind the dense screen of that alarming beard, unless it be, perhaps, a new way to vex and heckle his democratic colleagues.

It's Some Beard

Viewed purely as a whisker, the Tinkham beard is the most remarkable adornment in congress. The ruddy, pointed little chin appendage of his Massachusetts colleague, Senator Gillett, a beard of the torpedo persuasion, is as nothing beside it.

Even the very curly beard of the late Senator Lodge of the same state, or the neat, Grand-Army-of-the-Republic model in white worn by Representative Cooper of Wisconsin and the new very white and forward thrusting modified torpedo effect over which Sentor Ransdell of Louisiana gives voice, are left far behind by the Tinkham whisker.

It's massive, chest-protecting proportions and midnight hue make it one of the sights "on the hill."

Incidentally, it hardly seems clubby for Tinkham to keep after his southern democratic colleagues as he does. In his congressional biography, he makes a boast of the fact that he was "elected to the seventieth congress by both the republican and democratic parties." Yet he is forever taking occasion to harass democratic feelings with critical remarks about disfranchisement of Negro voters in the south.

All-Around Hunter

Probably the Massachusetts law maker is inspired to go gunning for the democrats by the same urge that takes him galloping abroad big-game hunting whenever a prolonged spell off duty as a legislator permits. Possibly that mighty beard is part of his hunting gear, also. It ought to terrify the most savage animals, just the sight of it.

In his Washington quarters, a popular place with his many friends, Tinkham has a collection of sporting trophies that is fairly staggering. He rates with the late Colonel Roosevelt as a go-getter of big-game, his friends insist.

Stories That Recall Others

As Model.

A family divided in its political views had been tuning in on the radio to various political speeches during the last campaign. During a discussion of the criticisms offered about the candidates for president the small lad said, quite troubled as to which to line up with, said: "If they could find a good man for candidate, like dad, I'd go for him."

In Second Grade.

Here are some answers a second grade teacher received:

First question: "When and why do we celebrate Thanksgiving?"

Charles answered: "We celebrate Thanksgiving on Christmas because Washington was born."

Second question: "What is a strait?"

Billy's answer: "A strait is not an isthmus, it is slanting; a strait is straight up."

CHILD TRAINING

"HE JUST GRINS WHEN THEY TEASE HIM"

Mrs. W. B. Bailey

The door opened quickly and Bobby stumbled in, pulling his somewhat reluctant cousin, Jack.

"Mother! Oh, Mother!" called Bobby.

Mother, who was Mrs. Bridges, came hurriedly into the room.

"What is it, Son?" she asked—then stopped in amazement as she saw Jack with his face bloody and his left eye fast swelling shut. "What have you boys been doing? Jack, have you been fighting?"

"Yeesum," he muttered, just as his father, Mrs. Bridges' brother, entered.

"What's the trouble, Jack, my lad?"

"He and Bill Fibley had a terrible fight!" explained Bobby, who had kept silent as long as possible.

"What in the world were you fighting about?" inquired Mrs. Bridges.

"He just picks on me all of the time, and I won't let anyone rag me all the time," sullenly answered the youthful combatant.

"Well, son, you certainly aren't a beauty right now, but a fellow has to stand up for himself and his own rights," commended his father.

"I'm not sure of the advisability of preaching such a philosophy to these boys, Fred," reproved his sister.

"Shucks, Sis, don't kids have to do a certain amount of fisticuffing?"

"No. I do not think it necessary," said his sister seriously, as she went about the work of giving first aid to her little nephew.

The two boys had just come home from the afternoon school session, and as she worked she encouraged them to tell her more fully about the trouble.

"Mother, you know Bill and the other second grade boys all like to tease the first graders—especially Jack and Densil."

"Why Jack and Densil?"

"I don't know—unless it is because they both get so mad."

"It's just for meanness and 'cause they have a spite against me," complained Jack.

"They don't tease Chubby any more, but they sure did at first," Bobby went on to explain.

"Aw, he's a sissy—don't take his own part nor nothin'," grunted Jack in disgust.

"What does he do, Son?"

"Well, he just stands and grins when they try to tease him or sometimes he laughs and says, 'Go on and chase yourself.'"

"He's not brave enough to stand up for himself," broke in Jack.

"Oh, yes, he's brave, Jack! Don't you remember when they were teasing little Dorothy, and Tom slapped her? Chubby doubled up his fist and went right after him and made them quit. He told me that his mother said if he got mad at a little teasing he wasn't a good sport nor a gentleman," confided Bob. "Is that what you think, Mother? Is that why you don't want me to fight when I get teased?"

"Yes, Bobby, I think Chubby must have a very sensible mother, and I agree with her that a real sport and a true gentleman does not fight except on very rare occasions and when by doing so he helps others as much or more than himself."

Jack twisted around where he could see his aunt better as he joined in again.

"Don't we have to take our own part, Aunt Frances? Won't the other fellows run over us if we don't fight them?"

"Oh, they might sometimes, but not very often. This isn't the first time you have fought Bill, is it?"

Jack shook his head negatively.

"No, he doesn't, and I'm going to fight him every time until he does stop it." An angry expression was again on the little fellow's face.

"Listen, Jack, do they tease Chubby any more?"

"No! Not hardly ever."

"He didn't fight them to make them quit, Bobby said he just grinned at them and refused to get angry or to pay attention to the teasing. That is what will stop them more quickly than anything you can do. They just keep on teasing you because it makes you angry and because you will fight about it."

"I declare, Sis," exclaimed her brother, who had been watching and listening all this time, "I believe you are right about this! I am partly to blame for Jack's attitude, for I did not want him to be a softy but neither do I want him to be too ready to fight. Of course, selfish fights over trivial things won't do, boy any good Jack, you and I will talk this over later. I must think back to the time when I was a little boy, first. We'll all go for a ride, now!"

HOW SPOOKY WAS FOOLED

Even those in wisdom schooled
At times will be quite badly fooled.
—Old Mother Nature.

Farmer Brown's Boy called Spooky the Screech Owl the "policeman of the barn," which was a very good name. You see, Spooky was spending the cold weather in Farmer Brown's barn, and he was keeping the rats and mice out of mischief there. Spooky had learned all the places where the rats and the mice were likely to be seen and he kept a sharp watch of all those places. It was seldom that Spooky swooped down in vain. Some of those rats and mice were very quick, but after all, the best thing to do was to run, and Spooky knew just how to catch them.

But one evening Spooky was fooled. Yes, sir, Spooky was fooled. He had to admit it to himself. It was this way. He was sitting up on his favorite perch on a rafter up in the roof of the barn. It was a good place from which to watch. He could see all over the barn. He had been watching the grain bin down below, for it was around that grain bin that he had caught most of the rats and mice on which he had been living. They just couldn't keep away from that grain bin. So when Spooky felt it was time to eat, he would watch sharply that grain bin.

Then Spooky darted down with his claws reaching to seize his victim

On this particular evening Spooky had been growing more and more hungry and hadn't seen a single mouse or young rat. So he had kept his eyes most of the time on that grain bin, hoping and hoping that he would see his dinner down there. But once in a while he would turn his head quickly from side to side for a hurried look in other directions. It was during one of these hurried looks that he caught sight of a small form moving along on one of the big beams of the barn. Instantly Spooky spread his wings. That small form was too big for a mouse, so it must be a young rat.

"He hasn't got a chance," said Spooky to himself. "He's way out on that beam and he can't get back to a hiding place. He is as good as mine right this very second."

You know that Spooky makes no sound when he flies. His wings, like those of other members of the Owl family, are noiseless. So there is nothing to warn those he is hunting, unless they happen to see him sailing like a soundless shadow. Spooky flew high until he was right above the young rat, as he supposed it to be, who was halfway across one of the beams of the barn. Then Spooky darted down with his claws reaching to seize his victim.

It was at that very second that his intended victim happened to look up. It was the next second that Spooky was completely fooled. He had expected that if he were discovered, that rat would scamper across that beam as fast as his legs could take him. He was prepared for this. He was ready to follow and seize his dinner before it could get to the other end of the beam. But nothing of the kind happened. Instead, his intended victim did a most surprising thing. Instead of running, he jumped. Yes, sir, he jumped right off that beam and went sailing out into space across the barn.

This was so unexpected that it took Spooky a minute to get straightened around and fly in pursuit. By that time it was too late. His keen ears heard a soft little thud down below on the wall of the barn, and then that dinner he had been so sure of disappeared. Spooky turned in midair and flew back to his perch. He was very much out of sorts. It would have made him out of sorts to have been simply fooled, but to be fooled and to lose a dinner at the same time was, you must admit, enough to put any one out of sorts. He snapped his bill angrily.

"Timmy the Flying Squirrel!" he exclaimed. "What business has he here in this barn? And I thought it was a young rat! Well, he won't fool me again! One of these days I'll catch him. But that doesn't help me out any now. Ha! There is a sure enough young rat down there!"

Once more Spooky took to his wings. A few minutes later he was sitting on his perch, a picture of contentment, with the tail of a young rat hanging from a corner of his mouth.

Little Talks on Thrift

SAVE AND KEEP UP WITH THE TIMES IF YOU WOULD WIN SUCCESS

"What general advice would you give to a young man anxious to succeed in the world?"

This question is very often asked of the writer. Inasmuch as every individual is confronted with his own problems, it would not be possible to give advice that would apply in every case unless such counsel were general in nature.

It is obvious that success of any kind must stand on a solid foundation of character and resources, which can be developed only through thrift.

A young man saves money with which to secure an education, learn a profession or embark in business. He saves money with which to buy a home. He saves money with other commendable plans in mind. In these processes of saving, he develops a sturdy will, shuns bad company and vicious practices. He builds character. We may say in all truth, therefore, that the foundation of all success is thrift.

But this is not enough. The aspiring young man must always keep abreast of the times. He must study himself and the world about him to find wherein he will fit to his best advantage. He must keep pace with the changing times.

This is the day of electricity, the radio, the automobile, the chain store, the airplane. To keep in the swing of life, as we know it today, is necessary to personal progress.

And this is an exemplification of thrift because thrift means simply to thrive through personal efficiency.

GREENEVILLE CONG. CHURCH HOLDS ANNUAL SUPPER AND MEETING

The annual meeting of the Greeneville Congregational church was held Thursday evening in the Sunday school parlors with an attendance of nearly 200. At 6.30 o'clock a delicious supper was served in the dining room of the church under the guidance of the Ladies' Aid society and the Euphemian circle of King's Daughters. The menu consisted of escalloped potatoes, meat pie, pickles, rolls, cake, coffee, and tea. The dining room was prettily decorated and the tables were attractively arranged with lighted candles adding to the artistic effect.

Mrs. Thomas Haslam was chairman in charge of the supper and she was ably assisted by the following: Mrs. S. S. Lathrop, Mrs. Fred Fox, Mrs. George Turner, Mrs. Thomas Young, Mrs. Archibald Torrance, Mrs. James Service, Mrs. Fred Thompson, Miss Elizabeth Brown, Mrs. Elizabeth Pedrick. Members of the Sunday school acted as waiters and waitresses.

After supper Rev. Charles H. Ricketts, pastor, invited the parishioners to the Sunday school rooms where the annual meeting was conducted with Rev. Mr. Ricketts as chairman. The meeting was opened by prayer offered by Rev. Mr. Ricketts, followed by the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by the clerk, Mrs. Charles F. Foster. Rev. Mr. Ricketts read his annual report which in part follows:

There are many things for which, as an organized body of Christians, we have reasons to be devoutly thankful for the year of 1928. Of course, in a church of our size, it would hardly be reasonable to expect that death would not enter our ranks. As you hear the figures given by our clerk you will feel that we have been very leniently dealt with. Along other lines, also, there is equally occasion for gratitude to God. We have a perfect right to express our independent judgment on all questions pertaining to the church and we have done this without any bitterness of feeling toward those who may have different views.

There is nothing that contributes more to the general welfare of any church than for its members to work and live together in harmony. Again we have not been obliged to face great financial problems. You will hear from our treasurer, a report, showing that with bills paid there is a good balance on hand. The general work of the past year has been accomplished. This year I have not been kept from preaching a single Sunday of the period covered by this report excepting in August, when all our religious activities were suspended. I exchanged pulpits but once during the year, because my duties as superintendent of the Sunday school makes it inconvenient to be at a distance from the church on Sunday. During the year 1928 I made 473 pastoral visitations, including the many times that sickness and accidents called me to the Backus hospital and other institutions. During the period as ever I have made it my duty to be with those who are in trouble and sorrow. During the past year I was called 43 times to officiate at funerals that covered a much larger field than this parish. I have not refused any calls along this line except when they interfered with some previous call. I have also performed 18 marriages and baptized 7 children.

During the Lenten period we held extra weekly services which I think were helpful to all who attended. During the month of July there was a unique piece of community work carried out in our church under the direction of the Council of Religious Education, known as the summer vacation school which I was told was one of the most succesful in the city. Another piece of work was the attempt to revive the Christian Endeavor spirit. After the summer vacation four members left us for college and for the nurses training school. Under the circumstances I think we have had a successful year and your pastor is thankful that our heavenly Father has given him sound health and strength to work.

Reports were read by Treasurer James W. Semple, Trustee Hugh Blackledge, the president of the Ladies' Aid society, Mrs. S. S. Lathrop, Mrs. Fred Fox of the Kings' Daughters, Rev. Mr. Ricketts, as superintendent of the church school, and Mrs Kate MacKenzie of the Missionary society. Officers were elected as follows:

Trustee, 5 years, Jacob Munz; deacon, 4 years, John Service; assistant deacons, William A. Gordon, Charles Levitsky, John McNeely; auditors, 1 year, William A. Pitcher, Milton M Osborn; music committee, 1 year, Mrs. S. S. Lathrop, Mrs. Thomas Haslam Mrs. W. Harry Stebbins; standing committee, 1 year, Jabez West, Mrs. Jennie Young, William Murray; reception committee, 1 year, John McNeely, Mrs. James Service, Mrs. Elizabeth Pedric; nominating committee 1 year, W. Harry Stebbins, Mrs. William L. Clark, Howard Spalding, Mrs. John McNeely; charity and visitation committee, 1 year, Mrs. Robert Agnew, Mrs. S. S. Lathrop, Mrs. William Gordon, Mrs. Charles Levitsky, Miss Ellen Hayes, Mrs. Fred A. Fox, Mrs. Howard Spalding, Miss Gertrude Murray.

GAVE DEMONSTRATION OF AUTOMATIC TRAFFIC CONTROL

At the meeting of the Norwich Rotary club held Wednesday noon at the Wauregan hotel a very interesting and instructive demonstration of automatic traffic control was given by Paul L. Green of the Automatic Signal Corp. of Bridgeport. The device demonstrated is of more than passing interest to Norwich as C. David Geer, a Norwich boy, is the one who perfected it.

At the business session of the meeting, at which Dr. H. E. Campbell presided, a report was made by William G. Park, chairman of the committee in charge of the Lawrence Tibbetts concert.

A letter was read from the secretary of the Flemington, N. J., Rotary club stating that Rev. E. C. Dunbar, formerly of Norwich, had been made a member of that club. Another letter read was from James G. Hammond, of Chicago, congratulating Norwich upon having the opportunity to hear Gen. Paul V. Malone, who is to speak here in February.

The program for February was announced as follows:

Feb. 6—Meeting in charge of the vocational service committee; Frank G. Aubrey, song leader.

Feb. 13—Speaker, M. J. Twomey, D. D.; song leader, Frank R. Murdy.

Feb. 20—Speaker, General Wadams, chairman of the state board of water commissioners, who will talk on stream pollution; song leader, James L. Case.

Feb. 27—Business meeting; song leader, H. B. Carey.

STATE AID ON BASIS OF FREE SERVICES

Under a plan which the Connecticut Hospital association will sponsor at this session of the legislature, state aid to general hospitals in the state will be placed on the basis of the free service of the hospitals to their home communities. The plan calls for a minimum grant of $5,000 to each hospital, additional sums to be allocated in proportion to the amount of the total free service each hospital gives to the total amount of free hospital service in the state.

For the last biennium the state appropriated $622,500 for 33 general hospitals, and it is expected that the same sum, approximately, will be appropriated this session. Under the new plan, $165,000 of this would go into the minimum grants, leaving $457,500 to be apportioned in quarterly installments. The total quarterly installments would be determined, and the share of this for each hospital would be fixed by the amount of its free service given by all the hospitals in the state. The free service accounting will be based, it is understood, on the difference between hospital expenses and revenue from payments by patients, in this way taking into account services to patients who are unable to pay full rates.

NEW SUITS FILED IN SUPERIOR COURT

New damage actions filed in the superior court in this city include:

William B. Kenyon of Westerly has filed suit against Vincenzo Decrescenzo of New London claiming he was struck and injured by a machine owned and operated by the defendant, Dec. 22, while about to board a trolley car on Bank street, New London. Damages of $5,000 are asked.

Failed to Keep Agreement

Edward S. Doton of New London asks damages of $11,000 in a suit he has brought against Alvah L. and Mary Ward, husband and wife, of New London. He claims that on Oct. 22 last, he entered into an agreement with Mrs. Ward for the purchase from him of premises located in New London and that she failed to carry out the agreement.

Three Divorce Actions

Three divorce actions have also been brought in the superior court. They are Freda A. (Gley) Lavalle, New London, vs. Peter P. Lavalle, address not known. Desertion is alleged.

Virginius Ruble of Groton vs. Blanche Rita Ruble of Los Angeles, Cal., on grounds of desertion.

FEDERAL INSPECTION OF LOCAL NATIONAL GUARD

The annual federal inspection of Headquarters Battery and Combat Train, 192nd artillery, C. N. G. took place Thursday evening at the armory on McKinley avenue. The inspecting officer was Major William McCleve of the headquarters first corps area, Boston. The regimental commander, Col. M. J. Mogenson of New Haven was present.

The inspection of Battery B will take place this (Friday) evening. Both companies are making plans for an automobile show to be held at the armory the last of February, to run three days. Captain Meredith Lee, general chairman of the committee, stated Thursday night that a number of local auto dealers, auto accessory and radio dealers have signified their intentions of participating in the show. The committee is already at work on the decoration and music plans. An effort is being made to secure the regimental band at New London to provide a concert programme at the show. Captain William R. Trichinosis Easily Preventable.

The recent outbreak of trichinosis in Waterbury draws attention to an easily preventable disease which sometimes occurs in Connecticut, says a statement issued by the Connecticut state department of health.

It is so easy to prevent trichinosis that the occurrence of cases appears to be without excuse. Pork is practically the only flesh from which man obtains the parasite. Certain processes of curing pork will render it safe. If the meat be refrigerated at a temperature not above five degrees Fahrenheit for a period of twenty days, the parasites will die. These processes cannot always be carried out by the consumer, but any one may apply one method of treatment that will surely kill the parasites and prevent the disease. This is treatment by heat. A temperature of 145 degrees Fahrenheit, such as is used in the pasteurization of milk, will destroy the parasite of trichinosis. Proper cooking of all pork will prevent the disease.

Commissioner Macdonald's reply to the state chamber is as follows:

With reference to your letter of the 16th, referendum No. 53, I would say in answer:

Question 1—The committee recommends that state legislatures should give the highway departments or commissions wide authority, within financial limitations properly fixed in relation to the whole financial program of the state, to develop highway programs on sound social and economic grounds and maintain adequate organizations with the needed continuity.

Commissioner Macdonald's answer—Yes, for the reason that in the construction of every highway there are so many different perplexing and difficult questions to handle that it is almost impossible to lay down a rule which will covery all wothfout injustice to some. It also absolutely impossible to lay out a definite program of construction, as conditions during the winter, and travel during the summer, will make certain highways which were not previously in need of construction or reconstruction absolutely necessary. Also, the opening of a new section of highway will completely change your traffic courts in a section where you had least expected it.

Question 2—The committee recommends that state highway departments or commissions should have advisory relationship or actual technical and administration supervision over road programs of smaller political units outside of municipalities to insure well planned and economical development nad maintenance of the entire road system.

Commissioner Macdonald's answer—I should be definitely opposed, because I believe that such relationship should be accomplished by cooperation and helpful influence rather than by any statute requiring supervision. In the first place, you then divide authority and do not give a definite obligation to the smaller political divisions for the condition of their roads.

Qestion 3—The committee recommends that in states where the state highway system does not include all of the improved roads, smaller political units unable to afford adequate technical organization for their road work should be joined together into suitable larger highway units, to the end that they may coordinate their respective programs and secure economic administration.

Commissioner Macdonald's answer—I am opposed to this for the reason that I have attempted it more or less throughout the state, and never have found it to work successfully. The conditions in one town are so much different than they are in anther that —unless you absolutely want to take the reigns out of the local government —it is almost impossible of accomplishment.

Question 4—The committee recommends that the responsible authorities should establish definite plans for local road work, taking into account in determining economic justification the actual or potential use of each existing road and the best means of providing the necessary highway access.

Commissioner Macdonald's answer—I am heartily in favor of this, and this is what I have been working for, for a long time—to get the smaller political units, such as the towns, to lay out a definite system of highways which they are to improve, and lay out each year some funds for permanent improvements.

Question 5—The committee recommends that coordinated planning of the highway systems of metropolitan areas, including connections with surrounding territory, be provided through voluntary agreement of the responsible authoritie sof the several jurisdictions or, if necessary, by legislation.

Commissioner Macdonald's answer—I am heartily in favor of this.

Question 6—The committee recommends that programs for construction and maintenance of highways of general motor use should be financed as far as possible by highway users, and that revenues derived from other sources should be limited by the general benefits resulting from the improvements and by the ability to pay.

Commissioner Macdonald's answer—I am in favor of this.

NURMI SHOWS HEELS TO FIELD OF LESSER LIGHTS

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 31—(AP)—Paavo Nurmi threaded his way through a field of 12 lesser runners tonight to win a special two mile handicap run from scratch in the fair time of 9 minutes, 19 3-5 seconds. It was Nurmi's third start and third victory of his current American campaign.

Nurmi romped in a quarter of a lap or more than 40 yards ahead of F. C. Bayley, of the New York A. C., who had a handicap of 75 yards and finished second. Irving Totten, Milrose A. A., with 125 yards handicap, was third ten yards behind Bayley, and Nat Lerner, of New York niversity, 75 yards, was fourth.

Nurmi ran a clockwork race timed by a stop watch in his left hand in steadily rnning down the dozen other starters who were given handicap eads of from 75 to 170 yards. Those on the longest marks were only six yards short of a lap ahead. But Nurmi soon short of a lap ahead, but Nurmi soon cut them down.

Near the start of the second half-mile the flying Finn with his effortless, galloping stride, passed Lerner and Totten and only the lanky Bayley remained ahead. Still opening the throttle, Nurmi cut down the lead and on the 15th lap shot ahead. After that the race was all his and the sprt at the finish was only perfunctory.

The time was seven and three-fifths seconds slower than Nurmi made Saturday in Boston, but tonight's race was run on a flat armory track with no banked turns and with a big field which occasioned a few slight traffic jams. Nurmi appeared fit and considerably faster than the time which he registered.

The fractional times show how Nurmi gauged his pace. He passed the quarter-mile mark in 1:05, the half in 2:12 4-5; three-quarters in 3:22 2-5; mile in 4:33.45; mile and a quarter in 5:45; mile and a half in 6:55 3-5; mile and three-quarters in 8:07 4-5; and two miles in 9:19 3-5.

EDVIN WIDE TO TAKE SPECIAL COURSE IN TRACK AND FIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 31—(AP)—Although he holds the world's outdoor two-mile record, Edvin Wide, Sweden's famous Olympic runner, is going to a special school to learn more about track and field.

Wide said today that he plans to enroll in the unique coaching school devoted exclusively to instruction in track and field sport which will be operated here June 3 to 29, under direction of Ernie Hjertberg, former coach of the Swedish and Dutch Olympic teams. Wide's purpose is not so much to improve his performance in the middle distances as to learn to demonstrate and teach the other events to youngsters in the Swedish schools where he is an instructor.

MAKING AN INVESTIGATION OF OPIUM MANUFACTURING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—(AP)—Representative Stephen G. Porter of Pennsylvania declared tonight that he is making an investigation of opium manufacturing by foreign countries which are the chief producers in that field and "one or more of those governments will hear from congress in no uncertain terms" as soon as his inquiry is completed.

Discussing the rejection of the so-called "American plan" of opium and narcotics control, by the league of nations opium committee, Mr. Porter who headed the American delegation to the Geneva opium conference in 1924 said the method rejected today was an elaboration of the plan his group then proposed.

He declared it has been shown conclusively that one or more countries are violating the opium manufacture standards laid down by the Hague 1912 convention which limited opium production to the world's medicinal needs and that the United States had protested against this violation without result.

Sir John Campbell who assailed the American plan at the league committee meeting, Mr. Porter said, "has devoted his life to the opium eating traffic in India from which large revenues are derived." He added that Campbell was "repudiated by the people of India a year ago and was knighted four years ago by the British government for defeating the original American plan."

GROWING LADS NEED FOOD FACTS

Parents Should Explain the Place of Sugar in Nutritious Diets

Thoughtless parents sometimes tell their children that sweets are bad for them. This is misleading. An eminent specialist states positively that it is not good sense to deny children sugar. Sugar may properly form a part of the regular diet in the kitchen and on the table.

Proper nutrition to children is so important that patient parents take the time and the trouble to explain it in detail. Medical authorities are warning the public these days to see that growing children and young people understand the importance of eating enough nourishing food. Young girls must be watched or they will become victims of the dangerous craze for slimness—becoming thereby easy prey to tuberculosis and other diseases.

Teach your children that it is dangerous not to eat plenty of body-building, health-giving, energy-developing foods. Sugar is invaluable in making all kinds of healthful cereals, fresh and canned vegetables and fruits more palatable and enjoyable.

Children will eat nutritious foods with more zest if they are properly sweetened with nature's ideal flavor. Sugar is food in its least expensive form. Modern candies containing nuts, fruits, milk, chocolate and sugar make excellent desserts. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Y SENIORS DROP FIRST CLASH TO WHALERS IN STATE LEAGUE GAME

Playing against two teams, one the Sub Base and the other the Coast Guard Academy, the Norwich Y. M. C. A. team went down to defeat, 47 to 26, at New London Thursday evening in the first tilt of the state title play. Norwich, handicapped by the absence of Pingree, the Y stellar forward, showed up well in the first half but when an entirely new team took the floor in the second half they were completely done for.

Fighting on practically even terms against the Sub Base five in the first half the local Y. M. C. A. made out rather well the half ending with the New London Y in the van 22 to 17. At the opening of the second half the Coast Guard club took the floor to represent the New London Y. M. C. A. and this team ran wild against the somewhat tired Norwich club.

Harris, the Norwich center, shared the scoring honors with Lindholm, each caging five baskets and two foul shots for a total of twelve points. The local Y fought a good battle against odds that became overwhelming in the last half of the game. The score:

FLAMINGO PARK TO BE SITE OF BIG BOUT

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 31—(AP)—Flamingo Park will be the scene of the Sharkey-Stribling fight on February 27 whether racing continues or not, Jack Dempsey, promoter of the bout for the Madison Square Garden corporation, announced today.

Dempsey previously had said that if racing was discontinued at Hialeah park the Miami Jockey club's plant, the promoters might consider moving the fight to a California city that had offered a $250,000 guarantee.

"Whether or not there are races in Dade county, the fight will be held here," Dempsey said. "We have laid all our plans for the fight at the Flamingo park arena and so far as I know nothing will prevent us from holding it there."

Young Stribling, first of the principals in the bout to reach the scene, took a light workout today, and Jack Sharkey, the Boston sailor, was expected to arrive tomorrow.

For the benefit of photographers and news camera men, Stribling skipped the rope and performed other training duties at his headquarters at Hardie's casino. An admiring throng watched the Georgia boy go through his one hour workout and applauded him as he performed in an open air arena.

"I feel fine," he said after his workout. "I am in pretty good shape now and will not do much work for a week to guard against going stale, but when I do get down to work it will be with the idea that I will finish with enough of an edge on Sharkey to beat him."

Stribling is more interested in getting a good coat of tan this week than in any other feature of his training, he said.

The Georgian is planning to do his road work at night, he said.

Work on the Flamingo park arena was progressing today, and according to Jack Dempsey the 40,000 capacity structure will be completed in ample time for the fight.

Dempsey spent the day locating approximately $50,000 worth of ticket reservations on the plan for the arena. He also superintended the opening of a ticket office in Miami.

Everything is in readiness for the reception tomorrow night of Jack Sharkey upon his arrival from Boston. The former sailor, it is expected, will receive a welcome similar to that accorded Stribling last night.

PUTNAM PLAYS ARMORY FIVE MONDAY, FEB. 1

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Jan. 31— The Armory Five, will return to Putnam for their first appearance here since the Cronin protest on Monday evening, Feb. 11. Today it was thought that Jack Cronin would play in the forth-coming game.

Since the protest was made several weeks ago by the Danielson players, there has been no effort made by the league officials to settle the dispute. It is to be left for the decision by the referee in future contests, according to the president of the Southern New England basketball league.

Since the Danielson players scored Cronin for his alleged rough play, he has continued to represent the local five in games played here, and has been held by other teams in the league, who have played against the local quintet, as being a sportsman possessing the highest ideals of fair play.

MISTAKE PROVES GOOD FOR GOLDBACH, AMATEUR

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Jan. 31.—(AP)—P. J. Goldbach, Chicago amateur golfer, through a mistake in pairings, played with Henry Cotton, British professional, in the pro-amateur preliminary to the South Central open links tournament today, and had the fortune to be on the winning team.

After driving in his automobile all the way from California with Cyril Walker, former national open champion, and his tutor, intended to play with the New Yorker in the special event he found instead he had been paired with Cotton.

The two turned in a best card of 34-34—68 to win the event. Cotton had a card of 69 himself while his teammate helped him with one stroke lower on one hole for a best ball card of 68, four below par.

Tom Rakiets, Youngstown, Ohio, professional, tied ed with H. A. Scherer, Jr., Little Rock amateur, finished second best with a 34-35—69. Julius Ackerbloom, pro, teamed with Don Murphy, amateur, both of Little Rock, and the team of Cyril Walker, of New York, and Steve Creekmore, Fort Smith, Ark., each had a 71 for third place tie.

In the special driving contest, Ed Dudley, California pro, won the event with 308 yards, three inches. Ackerbloom was second with 302 yards and Henry Culet of Bridgeport, Conn., third with 297 yards, one foot.

The tournament proper, a 72 hole trek, will begin tomorrow with several score professionals and amateurs augmenting the field to 150 or more entering.

SONNENBERG URGES COLLEGE GRIDDERS INTO WRESTLING

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 31—(AP)—A plea for college football players, especially those who are deadly tacklers to enter professional wrestling was made tonight by Gus Sonnenberg, world wrestling champion, in a radio talk over WELK. Sonnenberg, star lineman at Dartmouth in 1920 last fall was a member of the Providence Steam Rollers which won the national professional league championship.

"I hope some of the men who are college football players and deadly tackl rs and listening-in tonight will enter professional wrestling," declared Sonnenberg. "The old faces in wrestling today are worn out. The game needs new blood and it could come from no better place than the college gridiron field."

The conqueror of Ed "Strangler" Lewis also declared that in many cases picking All-American football teams was an injustice to hundreds of college players. "I have found in my professional experience that many All-Americans are inferior to hundreds not selected. Its not fair to pick certain men and say they are the best in the country with at their first having proved this."

Sonnenberg meets Jack Smith here tomorrow night in defense of his championship.

SCOTT WINS ON FOUL FROM GERMAN FIGHTER

LONDON, Jan. 31—(AP)—Phil Scott, English heavyweight, won from Ted Sandwina of Germany on a foul in the fifth round of their fight at Albert hall tonight for the heavyweight championship of Europe.

In addition to the regular purses the battlers had put up side stakes amounting to £3,500. Although Sandwin was promptly disqualified, it was clear that the foul was accidental.

Scott had an advantage both in weight and in reach.

Sandwina had been warned twice in the first four rounds for his poor showing. In the second round he drew an admonition for holding and again in the fourth the referee gave him a warning when he appeared to be hitting with an open glove. Scott had a wide advantage in each of the first four rounds.

The battle was to have been for 15 rounds.

NO ARRESTS AT HIALEAH TRACK FOR GAMBLING

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 31 —(AP)— A large crowd attracted to Hialeah race track today by announcement of Sheriff M. P. Lehman that gambling in the Miami area would be stopped was disappointed when there was no disturbance and no arrests were made.

Book makers who replaced the pari-mutuel machines banned two years ago when declared illegal under Florida statutes, were said to have operated, but there was no money changing hands about the track and tonight officials of the Miami Jockey club declared the meeting would continue.

On the heels of the Jockey club's announcement came a declaration from Jack Dempsey that the Sharkey-Stribling fight would be staged at Flamingo park in Miami Beach, Feb. 27. He previously had been quoted as saying that if racing in Dade county was stopped he would transfer the fight to an unnamed California city.

Earlier today the sheriff, after a secret conference announced that he intended to enforce the anti-gambling laws of the state at the Hialeah track, at the Three Dog racing plants and at the Jai Alai Fronton, all within the limits of Dade county.

His statement was prompted by a telegram sent to him last night by Governor Doyle Carlton at Tallahassee, in which it was stated that the governor had received many complaints against alleged open gambling in the Miami territory, and that he was relying upon local constituted authorities to see that the laws were enforced.

Sheriff Lehman said after the conference that his deputies would be at the Hialeah track this afternoon and that any and all violators of the state's anti-gambling laws would be arrested.

Dempsey, promoter of the Sharkey-Stribling fight at Miami Beach, declared that he had refused to consider an offer of $250,000 to take the fight to California.

"Whether or not there are races in Dade county the fight will be held here," Dempsey said. "We have laid all of our plans for the fight at Flamingo park arena, and so far as I know nothing will prevent us from holding it there."

NURMI ENTERED FOR MILE EVENT AT MILLROSE GAMES

NEW YORK, Jan. 31—(AP)—Paavo Nurmi will run the first mile of his present American invation at the Millrose A. A. games in Madison Square Garden, Feb. 9, the committee in charge of the meet announced today.

Paavo signed a Millrose entry blank several days ago but withheld final decision as to whether his event would be the classic Bodman Wanamaker mile or the two mile miss-and-out race. His decision, he said, was to depend on the manner in which he rounded into form in his speed work. He hesitated to try the one-mile distance until he felt assured that he would have at least an even chance of shaving the indoor mark of 4 minutes, 12 seconds, which he and his old rival, Joie Ray, hold jointly.

Recent workouts at the distance have been satisfactory, even to himself, and with the eleven lap track in better condition than it has been for three years, and with promise of real competition, Paavo believes he has a real chance to drive the indoor figures down to the neighborhood of his own remarkable outdoor mark of 4.10 2-5.

The best competition the country affords has been obtained, the entries including Ray Conger, Illinois A. C. star, who holds the American record of 3.55 for 1,000 meters; Willie Goodwin, New York A. C. veteran who turned up last week in wonderful shape after a year's lay-off, Galen Elliott of North Carolina, J. L. Montgomery and William McKnight of the University of Pennsylvania and Francis J. O'Brien of Yale.

ACADEMY WILL CLASH WITH DEEP RIVER TEAM AT Y GYM TONIGHT

Probable Lineups

N. F. A.	Deep River
Cote, lf	lf, P. Linder
Stevens, rf	rf, W. Linder
Berghinzo, c	c, Mozzochi
LaCroix, lg	lg, Swan

The Academy resumes its basketball campaign tonight following the mid-year examinations, Deep River high is the opponent, the game being played at the local Y gym. Tomorrow night, also at the Y, the Wildcats tackle Gilbert high of Winsted.

CHET BERGHINZO
Academy Center, Playing Nice Game

Tonight's game is rated as a tough one. Deep River has been having fair success so far this season and can be depended upon to extend the Red and White to the limit. Walter Linder, sensational pitcher, is one of the stars of the team. Coach Courtland C. Whitney of the Academy will probably start the same lineup that performed in the past few games. The last time the Academy and Deep River met was in their thrilling baseball game last spring. N. F. A. won.

The locals, in the first part of their season, were not very successful. They won but two out of seven games. There are about 13 remaining on the schedule. The second half of the schedule, which opens tonight, is probably stiffer than that already played, and the Wildcats will have to show a great improvement to at least get an even break on the season.

MILLER MATCHED TO BOX GROGAN IN FEB.

DETROIT, Jan. 31—(AP)—Ray Miller, whose left hand has cleared him a path to the position of one of Sammy Mandell's outstanding challengers, will seek to duplicate his victory of three weeks ago over Tommy Grogan, Omaha lightweight, here tomorrow night.

Miller stopped Grogan in the fourth round of the last battle here but was himself on the verge of a knockout in the second. He rates as the favorite, but Grogan is accorded an even chance of upsetting the left hook artist.

BELLAIRE, Fla., Jan. 31.—(AP)—Miss Fritzi Stifel of Wheeling, W. Va., and Mrs. J. B. Price, Pittsburgh, won their way into the final round of the annual January women's golf tournament here today with easy victories over their opponents, and will meet tomorrow for the title.

Mrs. Price twice has defeated Miss Stifel, while the West Virginia girl holds one decision over her opponent in tomorrow's round.

RANGERS EVEN COUNT IN N. Y. CITY SERIES

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—(AP)—The New York Rangers evened the series for the hockey championship of the city tonight by taking the final game from the Americans by a 2 to 1 count. Each team now has one victory and two games have been ties. The result enabled the Rangers to hold their lead over Boston in the American group of the National Hockey league and left the Americans second in the intersectional section.

Three brilliant individual efforts accounted for the three goals. Billie Burch opened the scoring late in the second period carrying the puck through the blue shirt defense to beat Roach. Taffy Abel tied the count in the last minute of the frame sending a sizzling drive past Worters and Leo Bourgault fought off the American defense and flipped in a short backhanded in the middle of the last period.

The two goalies put on the stellar performance of the game. Roy Worters of the American stopped several shots that looked like sure goals. John Roach in the Ranger net was scarcely less brilliant.

HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS

Windham and Chapman Tech meet tonight at Willimantic. Tech easily defeated the Thread City crew early in the season at New London, but tonight on their home court, the Willimantic team will put up a tough fight and may inflict the first conference defeat on Chapman.

As the result of Windham's victory over Stonington, Wednesday night, Windham moved into second place in the Eastern Conn.-Westerly, R. I. conference standing, Putnam going to third position, and Stonington assumed undisputed possession of last place. The standing follows.

	W.	L.	Pct.
Chapman Tech	4	0	1000
Windham	2	1	.667
Putnam	2	2	.500
N. F. A.	0	2	.000
Stonington	0	3	.000

Somebody must stop Chapman shortly if there is to be any kind of a race for the title.

The Academy-Stonington games should produce plenty of action. There will be a hot battle for last place, it seems. Neither has won a game in the conference.

AMATEURS AT NEW LONDON TONIGHT

"Pop" Connelly, veteran boxing promoter of New London, is staging an amateur show this evening at his gymnasium at 633 Bank street. This is the first amateur show to be staged in eastern Connecticut since before the holidays and fans have been clamoring for a renewal of the sport in the Whaling city.

Connelly has been fortunate in his selection of boxers and has scheduled eight bouts that will bring together the best boys in the various classes. Norwich will be represented on the card by Frankie Adams and two or three others of the local simon pures. The card shapes up as one of the best put on in the past six months in eastern Connecticut. Among the other boys slated to show their wares in bouts are Young Sharkey, clever youngster from the West Side, and Baby Joe Gans, the midget colored 101 pound flash.

The New London district will be represented by Johnny Gans, 120 pounds, Paul Martell, 170, and Young Philapena of New London. Quaker Hill will send into the lists Young Austin Rice while Montville is represented by Sheik Guida. These boys with several others from the surrounding towns will make up a card that will be hard to duplicate.

From the Sub Base and the Coast Guard academy come a number of other entries who are desirous of matching their talents against the civilian fighters. Taken as a whole the show is bound to be a snappy affair. As an added attraction there is to be a wrestling bout.

DANIELSON-PERE MARQUETTE TONIGHT

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Jan. 31— Another fast-stepping and classy team comes to the town hall here Friday evening to match speed and skill against the Danielson Town team. This week's visitors are to be the Pere Marquette team of Boston, and they have been making things hum in and around their home district.

It so happens that Friday night's game is the first of a pair to be played between these teams, Danielson going to Boston for the return clash on an early date in February.

Pere Marquette has a fast pair of forwards in Gleason and Jennings, who made reputations for themselves as members of the Watertown Elks team. A former Boston college boy, Dixon, who towers six feet and four inches into the ether, is at center for them. The bright particular star of the Pere Marquette team is Kitteridge, a guard. McDonough, former Boston college star, Murphy, once of the Watertown Elks team, are also guards. Substitutes on the Pere Marquette list are "Wild man" Combs, a former Harvard player, and Feeney.

C. Clinton Cleveland of the Danielson management said this afternoon that the Pere Marquette team is one of the best scheduled to appear here this season. They can and do play a whale of a game, and are of the class that local fans have enjoyed at some other games here earlier in the winter. Another capacity crowd is looked for Friday night, probably matching the one that filled the town hall to capacity last week Friday night.

LERMOND TAKES MILE RACE FROM SELECT FIELD

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 31—(AP)—Leo Lermond, American Olympic runner representing the Boston A. A., defeated a handicap field of 26 in a featured mile event at the St. Joseph's Catholic club games in the 113th Regiment armory tonight. The rangy Lermond, starting from scratch, passed the entire field to cover the mile on a flat board floor in four minutes, 27 4-5 seconds. Joseph Hickey, New York university, with a handicap of 20 feet, was second; J. Staggenbord, Swedish-American A. C., New York, third; and Julius Durante, Fordham university, fourth. Lermond did not appear to be hard pressed and won about as he pleased in a fine spurt over the last two laps.

Not content with an earlier victory in the one mile handicap Leo Lermond tried for his second of the evening by competing in the two miles handicap also from scratch, but was unsuccessful.

All of his opponents had handicaps of 170 yards, the maximum given in Nurmi's race, and it was too much for the big Boston boy to overcome. He finished fourth as Harold Pierce, Millrose, and K. Proctor, New York A. C., placed first and second with the aid of their big handicaps. The time was 9:43 and the third finisher was Ben Polstein, 95th street, Y. M. H. A., New York.

Gerald Murchison, former University of Illinois sprinter and a brother of Loren Murchison, former Olympic dash star, met defeat in a 70-yard handicap. After surviving the heats he finished third in the final behind William Greenstein, the winner, and Eugene Makowski, both of St. John's college, Brooklyn, who had handicaps of six and nine feet, respectively. Murchison's allowance was nine and the time of the final was 7 4-5 seconds.

Johnny Gibson, former national hurling champion, won permanent possession of the Waldron trophy in the feature 600-yard event, defeating Fred Veit, of New York university; Oliver Proudlock, Newark A. C., and Albert Briggs, Georgetown, who were second, third and last, respectively. Proudlock, who won the event last year, was run out at the finish and decisively beaten. Gibson, who won two years before, was well ahead of Veit. The winning time of 1:14 3-5 was announced as a new track record. The flying Gibson passed the quarter-mile mark in 54; 4-5 and led all the way.

Fordham, New York university and St. John's college, Brooklyn, finished in that order in a one-mile college relay which was won in 3:36 3-5 by a team consisting of O'Shea, Hurley Brennan and Simons.

Wearing the same torn trunks in which he won the Olympic 400-meter championship, Ray Barbuti, former Syracuse track and football captain, reeled off a couple of laps in an exhibition. Not now in active competition, Barbuti was not timed.

The Millrose A. C. won the girls' 440-yard relay handicap with the Prudential Insurance A. A., also of Newark, second and the Polish Falcon's Nest quartet third. The time was 55 seconds.

Frederick Sturdy, of Yale, cleared 13 feet seven inches to win the invitation pole vault. Victor Pickard, University of Pittsburgh athlete, who vaulted for Canada in the Olympics, was second with 13 feet four inches, and Sylvan Schlopp, Newark A. C., took third place with 12 feet.

Harry Hinkel, of the New York A. C., the country's leading heel and toe artist, won the one-mile handicap from scratch in six minutes 40 2-5 seconds. Mack Weiss, Newark A. C., with a handicap of 15 yards, was second and Max Bentel, 92nd street Y. M. H. A., New York, 25 yards, third.

In another feature event all four members of the Canadian team that won the 400-meter relay for girls in the Olympics will run against a strong American quartet. The Maple Leaf team that flashed the distance at Amsterdam in the fast time of 48 2-5 seconds consists of Myrtle Cook, Fanny Rosenfeld, Ethel Hogarth and Florence Bell.

Opposing the Canadians will be three of the four members of the American Olympic quartet—Elizabeth Robinson, of Chicago, winner of the 100-meter sprint at Amsterdam; Jessie Cross and Loretta McNeil, both of the Millrose A. A. The fourth place will be filled by Carrie Jensen, another Millrose runner. Miss Robinson and Miss Rosenfeld, who was runner-up to her in the sprint, are expected to run in the anchor position.

It was further announced that Ethel Catherwood, Canada Olympic champion girl high jumper, would not appear because illness of her mother interfered with practice for the event.

Out for revenge at the crack of the gun in the Butler Memorial 1,000-yard special, Phil Edwards, smooth-loping Negro of New York university, outraced Jimmy Kennedy, Georgetown freshman who beat him in his first start of the season a few days ago. Kennedy was second with Charles Sansomey, Boston A. A., third, and Walter Gegan, New York A. C., fourth. Edwards, who led from the start, stepped the distance in 2:16 3-5 and beat Kennedy by ten yards.

Miss Collett found her opponent, Mrs. J. D. Chapman, of Greenwich, Conn., a worthy foe who held her even or better until the last holes of the match.

FARMING DIFFERENCES.

(Written specially For The Bulletin)

There are a great many differences between people who dwell in this country and Canada and the people of South America, Central America and Mexico. Differences of speech, differences of temperament, differences of history, differences of environment. Those are the differeces which are usually held to explain the "stand-offishness" which thus far has characterized our mutual relations.

But there is one other difference which hasn't had much attention paid to it, which, nevertheless, is quite as effective as any or all of the rest in seperating the civilizations of the north from those of the south.

Our whole social and governmental structure and, to a large extent, that of our northern neighbor, Canada, was built on the foundation of the small farm and the small factory, both effectively trade-marked with the individuality of their various owners.

Exactly opposite has been and is the policy of our southern Spanish-American neighbors. This is especially noticeable in their methods of farming, manufacturing being still in its swaddling clothes among them.

They have always gone in for big "haciendas," million-acred "ranches" and wide-spreading "plantations." There never has been and is not now any such thing as a body of small, independent farmers in any of those countries. A coffee plantation in Brazil is sometimes as big as a county in Connecticut. A ranch in Argentina spreads across the level pampas as far as the eye can reach. There are several estates in Mexico which have never been accurately surveyed but certainly contain more than a million acres each. In fact, in practically all the Spanish-American countries, the land is owned by big landlords and worked by peon labor, the peon owning no square foot of his own but dependent upon the big landlord not only for his small wages, but for permission to live in his "shack" on the big man's land.

In this country, when the constitution was adopted almost a century and a half ago, the population was composed almost wholly of small farmers with a minority of small factory owners. Even the tobacco and cotton plantations of the southern states seldom reached more than a thousand acres. The small factories, built wherever a rapid stream afforded water power, were carried on by their owners with two or three or perhaps, rarely, a dozen helpers. These helpers were often if not usually, the sons and daughters of near-by farmers who lived at home and saved on their wages as "nest-eggs" against the time when they should marry and take up small farms of their own.

It is perfectly easy to see what a difference there was in the "send-off" of the two civilizations. Ours was founded on a vigorous individualism which might at times develop into crankiness and utoplanism, but never degenerate to apathy or servility. Whatever small profits arose from the management of the small farms and the small factories went straight into the pockets of their owners. Every possible incentive was thus put before every farmer or factory owner to make the most and the best of his opportunities.

In the southern lanes, however, where the policy was early in force of concentrating land ownership in the hands of the few and holding the majority down to a state of peonage and practically enforced labor for the emolument solely of these few big land owners, this majority was kept in a state of sevility, ignorance and homeless poverty.

The inevitable result was that our government, however temporarily mistaken the majority might be, has mainly been a government according to the mapority's will, while the governments of so-called republics to the south have been and in most cases still are, simply agreements between cliques of the moneyed and landed aristocracies.

And that single fact, if you will let your reason take it in hand and play around it, is enough to explain a great many of the differences between the general prosperity which has always prevailed in this country, and the general depression and revolutionary disquiet which has always kept our southern neighbors in a stew.

Of late years, however, the trend in this country has taken a reverse direction. At present, we are heading towards the same plan of a few big owners and a horde of hired workmen which has kept South America lagging for more than a century. The condition has already arrived in manufacturing. Where are the little factories whose wheels were turned by hillside brooks wherever there was sufficient fall, a hundred years ago? Even their foundation walls can hardly be made out by the peering antiquary. The crude dams which impounded the water are represented only here and there by a crumbling abutment. Manufacturing has gradually but inexorably been concentrated into huge plants covering hundreds of acres and employing hands by the ten thousands. Instead of the little mill with its owner working at loom or lathe and helped by half-a-dozen neighbors to turn out a small product salable only within a limited district, we have now mammoth mills and factories, managed by million-dollared corporations, employing in the aggregate millions of hired hands, raking in their raw materials from all the five continents and sending their products for sale across all the seven seas.

Now, the efficiency experts and the economic professors are advocating a precisely similar change in farming methods. The day of the small farm has gone by, they say. The trend in successful farming, as in successful manufacturing, must be towards control by great corporations, with all operations systematized and standardized.

Thus they preach, urging us towards copying of the South American system.

Well, it perhaps isn't within our province, as a bunch of farmers talking over farm topics, to discuss whether the change in manufacturing operations, effected in the last half century, has been a blessing or not. We don't any of us know much about the details of the manufacturer's job. But we know quite a few things about the details of the farm.

And there are some of us, like the writer of this, who feel that the ending of the small farm era will be a sorry day for the nation and the world's future.

You see, there are two widely divergent ideas of what a farm is for.

One of us thinks of farming as a business, first, last and all the time, with everything else made subservient to cash results.

Another of us thinks of the farm as a life, which, indeed, must do business in order to sustain itself, but which considers the business part of it simply as a means towards something else.

These views, if not antagonistic, are at least, widely divergent and traveling unlike roads.

Farming, as a business, looks chiefly if not solely to money-making.

Farming, as a life, looks first of all to the making of manhood and womanhood.

Under existing conditions, the farmer must make some money to live, pay taxes, and buy shoes and sugar. And it admittedly takes too large a share of his time and strength to do merely this.

But the fact remains that the farm is not, in its best sense, a sort of factory. It is a home, and farming is a life.

It never has been, is not now, and is hardly apt ever to be a money-making vocation. Nor is it simply for the purpose of raising big cabbages and mammoth pumpkins and fat pork and beefy steers.

All these functions it may properly undertake. But not as an end; rather as a means to that other end which looks to the ripening and preservation of a rounded manhood and womanhood as vastly more important, not only for the individual but also for the nation, not only for the present but for the future.

You and I perhaps agree in holding this view. But we must as observers of the popular trend admit that quite an opposite view is held by many. Big corporations with unlimited capital at their command are constantly absorbing small farms and merging them into big ranches or estates. By this means they are able to reduce production costs and get larger profits from their machine-handled crops.

There's a big 50,000 acre wheat farm somewhere out in the northwest, for illustration, whose manager manager reports that by keeping 30,000 or 40,000 acres in wheat each year, eliminating hand-work wherever possible, trusting to power machines to do the plowing, seeding and harvesting, he is able to produce wheat for two cents less per bushel than any competitor. As he gets the same price for his wheat as those competitors, this means a profit of two cents a bushel to his corporation over theirs.

That is the business argument. As such, it is perfectly sound and unimpeachable.

But—

What are the hundred or so farmers doing who, if this vast range were in small farms, might be bringing up future presidents or governors or other leaders on them? Have they abandoned farming in the wide open spaces for work in mills or factories; their homes for tenements in squalid streets? Or are they living from hand to mouth as tenant farmers?

Some of us think the crop of men and women is rather more important than extra profit of two cents a bushel on an elevator full of wheat.

What do you think?

THE FARMER.

What the Chimney Sang

Over the chimney the night-wind sang
And chanted a melody no one knew;
And the Woman stopped, as her babe she teased,
And thought of the one she had long since lost,
And said, as her teardrops back she forced:
"I hate the wind in the chimney."

Over the chimney the night-wind sang
And chanted a melody no one knew;
And the Children said, as they closer drew:
" 'Tis some witch that is cleaving the black night through.
'Tis a fairy trumpet that just then blew.
And we fear the wind in the chimney."

Over the chimney the night-wind sang
And chanted a melody no one knew;
And the Man, as he sat on his hearth below,
Said to himself: "It will surely snow,
And the fuel is dear and wages low,
And I'll stop the leak in the chimney."

Over the chimney the night-wind sang
And chanted a melody no one knew;
But the Poet listened and smiled, for he Was Man and Woman and Child, all three
And said: "It is God's own harmony,
This wind we hear in the chimney."

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

WESTERLY

LOUIS GINGERILLA WILL BE PRESENTED IN COURT TODAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Jan. 31—For the first time in over a quarter of a century a first degree murder case is to come before the Third District court Friday morning. With Judge Oliver H. Williams on the bench Louis Gingerilla, 34, of 53 Oak street, Westerly, will be arraigned on complaint of Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown for the murder of Santo Gaccione, 43. The latter was shot while asleep in his bed on the second floor of his home, 4 Marion street, about 1 a. m. Jan. 21st. A bullet from a shot gun passed through the side of the frame house and lodged in his back.

Gaccione lived long enough to go to the kitchen of his home, sit in a chair, drink water and when asked as to the cause for blood flowing from the wound in his back, merely reply "All right! All right!" Then starting back to his bedroom he collapsed in the hallway.

Town Solicitor John Ferguson will prosecute for the state. Gingerilla will be represented by Attorney M. Walter Flynn of Providence and Westerly. A number of witnesses have been summoned by the state, and there is a possibility that all may not be heard at the district court trial, at which Judge Williams could only find possible cause and bind over the defendant to await the action of the grand jury at the February term of the superior court for Washington county at Kingston, Feb. 13th. Among some of the important state witnesses are Albert Champlain, alias "Chief Big Horn," an Indian healer residing off Oak street who was at the home of Gingerilla, corner of Oak and Tower streets, at a late hour on the night just previous to the fatal shooting. He has stated that the defendant in this case came to him for some liniment for a blackened eye, received in a fight about 10:30 that night at the Marion street house when a handful of hair was found to have been pulled from Gaccione's head. Westerly police officers who visited the home at 10:30 after the fight that night were Lieutenant George H. Champlin, and Officer George L. Madison, later, after the shooting, Lieutenant Champlin and Officer Robert M. Kessel arrested Gingerilla when he was found at his home lying on a couch with coat, cap and felt boots on. They took him to the Westerly police station about 3 a. m.

Jan. 29. Charles Duffus sold to Annie Duffus, land with buildings and improvements, lots Nos. 57 and 58 Melrose Heights.

Jan. 30. Charles J. McIlvain, Jr., and wife, Mabel D., of Philadelphia sold to John G. McIlvain and Charles A. Roberts premises at Watch Hill, on the south side of Ocean View highway, bounded easterly by lands of F. Kingsburg Curtis and partly by lands of Charles E. Sherman, southerly by the Atlantic ocean and westerly by a proposed highway.

Highway Engineer A. L. Leon stated at the session that the reduced highway figure meant that the Westerly highway commissioners would omit from their 1929 activities contemplated improvements on Meadow lane, Oak street, Central park, and Highland avenue.

The council voted to cast two votes, one to issue refunding bonds for the Westerly waterworks, amounting to $73,000, dated Feb. 1, 1929, and due July 1, 1929, the other the sale of the seven months notes in that amount to the Old Colony corporation, Boston.

A Westerly property owner, when a truck-load of sand and employes of the Westerly highway department stopped in front of his property, which he had made an endeavor to clear from snow within the town ordinance requirement of four daylight hours after the snow had ceased to fall, inquired if it was their intention to sand his front walk. Should it be done he declared he would pay no bill if sent him on that account. He studied the revised town ordinances and found that there was an expressed prohibition against throwing ashes, cinders, litter, etc., in public highways, a part of which he thought was included in the sidewalks. Seek as he could he was unable to find any town law which compelled a property owner to cover slippery or icy spots on sidewalks which had been cleared of snow. The same man had also removed snow from the walks of a neighbor who ha dleft town on a vacation trip, and had made no provisions for snow removal.

RAILS, COPPERS AND CHEMICALS WERE BID UP TO HIGH RECORDS YESTERDAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 31—(AP)—With a sudden shift of favor from the utilities to the rails, and abetted by an unexpected ease in money rates, the bulls regained complete control of the stock market today after several days of marked irregularity. Nearly two score issues, in which rails, coppers and chemicals were prominent, were bid up to record highs for extended periods.

The market opened strong on the announcement that the Bank of England had left its rediscount rate unchanged, apparently leaving the way open for further imports of gold from London. Call money held at 7 per cent all day, despite the fact that nearly $400,000,000 in interests and dividends will be paid out tomorrow.

The rate touched 8 per cent yesterday and was expected to equal if not exceed that figure today, and the unexpected easiness was interpreted as indicating that use had been made of the $7,500,000 in gold received from London this week. A distinctly favorable development was an ease in time money, which was quoted at 7 1-2 per cent for all maturities.

Wall street showed little concern over the brokers' loan compilation this week as a further increase was expected as a result of the heavy new financing, rather than speculative activity, which has been marked by liquidation in recent sessions. The federal reserve rediscount rate was left unchanged as expected.

In its monthly bulletin the New York Reserve bank for the first time called attention to the sharp increases in the account of brokers loan "for others," warning that this situation makes the future of the call money market rather precarious, as such funds have been attracted to the market by unusual conditions, and are subject to sudden withdrawal when conditions change.

The day's news generally was regarded as bullish, including a 50 cent extra dividend by Packard, institution of 1 per cent quarterly stock dividends by Studebaker, heavy buying of copper, giving rise to talk of a further increase in red metal prices, and a large increase in freight car loadings for the week ended Jan. 19 over the previous week and the like week a year ago.

Du Pont was the day's high flier, reflecting the 40 per cent increase in earnings for 1928. The old stock mounted 70 points and the new stock, created by a 3 1-2 for 1 split up, 20 points, both to record highs.

Buying of the rails was stimulated by formation of the new Van Sweringen Holding company, unconfirmed reports that the Baltimore and Ohio at its meeting yesterday drew up a petition to the I. C. C. to acquire certain other roads, the excellent December net operating income reports, averaging over 60 per cent ahead of December, 1927, and the tendency of the banks to favor rail stock collateral against loans.

Canadian Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio, Atlantic Coast Line, Erie, St. Louis Southwestern, New York Central, Atchison, Rock Island, and New Haven mounted from about 4 to 8 points, and several others gained 2 points and more, about a dozen recording the highest prices in years.

The utilities encountered considerable profit-taking on their striking advances of recent sessions. American Power and Light, American Water Works, and Electric Power and Light lost 2 to 5 points. Pacific Gas, however, mounted about 4 points to a new top.

Motor Products jumped 14 points, but lost half of it. Allied Chemical, American Can, Kennecott Copper, Greene Cananea, Simmons, Western Union, Wright Aero, Johns Manville, and National Cash Register mounted about 4 to 7 points. General Motors, Studebaker, U. S. Steel, and Bethlehem sold 2 and 3 points higher. Columbia Carbon sold up about 11 points.

Commodity markets were irregular, grains encountering moderate selling pressure, while cotton improved about 60 cents a bale on higher Liverpool cables.

In the foreign exchanges, sterling was steady, with the demand rate slightly higher, and the Spanish peseta rallied slightly, crossing 16 cents, while other European currencies were inclined to heaviness.

PLANS FOR EARLY SOWING

Plans for early seed sowing follow close upon the sending away of the annual seed order. The greatest waste in gardening is in seed sowing and in the death of the tiny plants after the seed has germinated. Plan this year to save the lives of the tiny plants and to get full germinating value from the seed.

Make the soil for the seed boxes for early sowing fine and porous. Run it through a sieve to get it fine and add a little silver or torpedo sand to make it porous. Caked and cracking soil due the the fact that it is of too close texture gives a lot of trouble in seed boxes. Be sure to have plenty of holes for drainage in the box. Cover them with pieces of broken flower pots or tableware. Above this put a layer or about half an inch at least of coarce meterial, small stones are excellent. Over this put fine soil to a depth of two inches and an idea seed box is ready.

Moisten the soil and let it drain before sowing the seed. Sow in rows in the box and sow thinly. Thick and broadcast sowing means the death of a large percentage of the seedlings. It encourages that scourge of seedling raising, damping, a fungus that kills many tiny plants. Sown in rows the task of transplanting is made easier. Half an inch apart is as close as the rows should be sown. An inch is ever better.

The average packet of fine seed, if given a fair chance, will produce more than enough plants for the average garden. Coarser seeds will not have so many in a packet. Vegetable seeds are more liberal in this respect than flower seeds. A packet of lettuce will give enough for two plantings for small garden, especially of the head varietles which need transplanting early.

Have glass ready to cover the seed boxes and do not keep the atmosphere under the glass too close. Put a match under one side of the glass to give a little ventilation. Wipe off the 'sweat" that accumulates on the glass from evaporation from the soil. Give the seed boxes good light as soon as the seed start to come up.

LABOR IN CORN-GROWING CUT TO FOUR HOURS AN ACRE

AMES, Iowa—(AP)—If the midlewest farmer uses modern machinery and works efficiently, there is a possibility that he may raise corn with a minimum labor of four hours an acre.

That is the opinion of Prof. E. M. Mervine of Iowa State College, who says that experiments on a 160-acre farm indicate the labor-per-acre-ration for corn easily may be cut far below 10 hours.

Students making the test average 10 hours to the acre, but much of the time was spent in adapting machinery—which would all be worked out for the farmer in advance, Mervine says. Tractors were used in every operation. Other implements were a combine harvester, four-row cultivators, a two-row corn snapper and a harrow cultivating 13 acres a day.

AUSTRALIA EXPECTS RECORD APPLE CROP

PERTH, West Australia—(AP)—A record apple crop, estimated at a million bushels, is expected during this year of Australia's centenary celebration. Previous yields will be surpassed comes up to estimates. Australia's harvest season begins when it is spring in the northern hemisphere.

LIQUID AMMONIA NEW FERTILIZER

HOPEVILLE, Va.—(AP)—A new era in the American production of "complete feterilizer" was opened here when Hopeville's $35,000,000 synthetic nitrogen plant shipped its first trainload of liquid ammonia.

Known technically as anhydrous ammonia, which means "without water," and consisting of practically 100 per cent ammonia, this new source of nitrogen for plant food is said by the National Fertilizer association to be in use as a "conditioner" by about 25 fertilizer companies in 5 plants.

The ammonia is shipped under pressure which reduces the normal gas to liquid. At the factory it is diluted to whatever concentration desired and used in a mixture with other nitrogen, with potash and phosphoric acid. The ammonia has drying propensities that leaves the mixture a fine composition which goes evenly and uniformly through the farmers' drills. About 1 per cent of nitrogen is added to the mixture by the ammonia.

SAYS PROFIT ON SOW TOTALS 2200 PER CENT

GROTON, S. D.—(AP)—Randall Hall, a farmer, says he has made a 2200 per cent profit on one sow.

After he bought the animal it farrowed 12 pigs. Eleven matured, and Hall sold nine of them as well as the sow. From the proceeds he purchased 65 feeder pigs.

He expects to make a third as much on each of the feeders as on the original sow.

PRUNING NOT A CRUELTY TO A TREE

WASHINGTON—(AP)—More people would wield saws and pruning shears before the winter is over horticulturists declare, if they would but realize that pruning a tree is not a cruelty but a positive benefit to its health and bearing.

They decay the "tree butcher," but insist it doesn't take an expert to prune a tree if a few simple rules and common sense are used. Even the attempt of the amateur, they say, is better than allowing a tree to choke itself to death. If nothing more, all dead wood that induces decay and insects; and limbs and twigs that rub or cross each other closely, can be removed.

A fruit tree needs more attention. All except four or five main branches should be cut from the lower part of the trunk and the limbs and laterals cut back to keep the tree from going too high in the air and to force the development of additional fruit buds. Pruning increases the bearing surface, induces new buds, and helps put the tree on a vigorous, healthy basis.

BANQUET OF N. Y. STATE PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 31—(AP)—William F. Whiting, secretary of commerce in the cabinet of President Coolidge, Francis T. Hunter, tennis star and West Chester publisher, and Elisha Hanson, Washington attorney for the American Newspaper Publishers association, were guests tonight at the annual banquet of the New York State Publishers association.

Reviewing dispassionately the history and growth of the commerce department, Secretary Whiting aroused enthusiasm when he declared:

"Never in the history of civilization has there been a record to equal the growth of the United States. Her matchless resources, natural and material, her wide areas of fertile and productive land amply yield for the needs of the domestic market and in generous quantity contribute to foreign trade. Is there any reason to suppose that a country like this should not have the protection a government on conformity with the principles expressed:

"The position which the United States holds among the countries of the world certainly demands most serious consideration. The watchful eye of foreign nations upon its resources and unsurpassed opportunities is evident. The prudent course is to care for and maintain this wonderful economic structure and government is the powerful aid to this end. And here, we say, it is worth while."

ATTENDED REQUIEM MASS FOR PETER WHALEN

BOSTON, Jan. 31—(AP)—Men prominent in government and hospital affairs were among the hundreds of persons who attended a solemn requiem mass at St. Philips Catholic church today for Peter Whalen, who for 69 years has sold newspapers at the Boston City hospital.

Present were former Mayor James M. Curley, Sheriff John F. Kelliher, William J. Foley, district attorney of Suffolk county, James F. Powers, of the governor's council and Dr. John J. Dowling, superintendent of the City hospital.

Sixty years ago, Whalen had an arm amputated at the hospital. He was a mere child then. During his confinement he formed a love for the hospital and when he recovered, asked that he be allowed to remain there. He received the newspaper concession and made his hom at the institution. He was known to thousands of former patients.

The financial statement given out by the Connecticut State Teachers' Retirement board relative to the condition of the annuity fund, shows that on Dec. 31, 1928, the fund had a balance on hand amounting to $4,142,891 as compared with a balance of $3,549,293 on Dec. 31, 1927.

Boy: "A pennyworth of tooth paste, please."

Chemist: "I can't make a pennyworth—you must buy a tubeline tube."

Boy: "But it says in the window that a tube cleans 500 teeth."

Chemist: "Quite right."

Boy: "But I have only 25 teeth."—Lustige Kolner Zeitung, Cologne.

Permission was given a business man of Upland, Cal., to cut down a stalwart old pine tree in front of his place of business because it obstructed his view. Just as the majestic monarch, which had been growing in the same place before Upland was settled, toppled to the ground the radio in a shop across the street switched to another number on the program. The deep bass voice of a singer somewhere in the United States buried this admonition to those who took the life of the tree: "Poems are made by fools like me; but only God can make a tree."

The Eskimo never has a cold until he comes in contact with people from the world outside his frozen north. But he has no resistance to colds, and as a result gets one immediately after his first exposure, Dr. Peter Heinbecker and E. L. M. Irvine-Jones of St. Louis reported to the Journal of Immunology. These scientists, who made a trip up the west coast of Greenland, noticed that in some places all the natives were suffering from colds while elsewhere none of them was thus afflicted. In the latter places, the Eskimos all developed colds and coughs in from two to four days after the party's arrival. In the former places the colds could all be traced to contact with the outside world. Diphtheria and scarlet fever were unknown.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre

The Norwich Follies presented their second edition at the Palace theatre yesterday and last night and were greeted with a hearty round of applause. The new edition is entirely different in songs, dances and costumes and is even better entertainment than the first which was presented the first half of the week. The thirty local dancing girls in the cast showed marked improvement over their original work and demonstrated that with a little time and experience, they would make fine girls.

On the same bill the other acts of vaudeville included the Four Romancers, offering a comedy song and dance act that won immediate approval of the big audience. They had to do two encores before the patrons would let them retire to make way for the next act. The Five Stubberfields opened the show with a remarkable aerial act which is both novel and daring. Here is an act that will make you feel little chills up and down your spine and will stand your hair on end.

A special attraction tonight will be offered on the Palace stage when they conduct a Form Contest for members of the Follies company. Here is a chance for you to vote on which of the girls has the best form and the management will give three prizes to the three girls winning the most applause in the contest. Don't fail to see this great contest.

The breech and lack of understanding between the older and younger generations are vividly portrayed in the Columbia production, "Restless Youth," which opened at the Palace theatre on Thursday for a 3 day run. The theme is particularly timely when young people are apparently uneasy and lack the stableness which characterized their forebears.

The plot of "Restless Youth" is skillfully developed. It handles one phase of the problem, presents causes and caries them to a logical and successful condition. The action shows life as it is actually lived and while the extreme case is used for its dramatic possibilities the underlying causes remained unchanged in countless incidents.

Broadway Theatre

How German U-boats sank innumerable allied ships during the World war is thrillingly presented in "Behind the German lines," official pictures taken by the German government, and which are now showing at the Broadway theatre. The pictures have been synchronized with Paramount quality sound giving additional thrills by virtue of the musical score and sound effects.

Because of the English blockade Germany's only recourse was to foliaign, according to the screen titles which were taken from the German files. This she did with unrestrained activity, finally causing Amrica to enter the conflict. The films show the sinking of the three masted sailing vessel Era, by the submarine U-33. Torpedos were not used in sinking it, as well placed bombs did the work. The Era's plunge to the bottom is The Era's plunge to the bottom is graphically shown, with another steamer also sent to the bottom by a tremendous explosion.

These sea pictures are only a few of the many highlights included in the pictorial record of Germany and her Allies' participation in the war. Every important battle is shown along with the novel use of animated maps to show how the troops were deployed, and what happened during the action.

Over one hundred cameramen were used to film the war on all the battle fronts, with twenty-five of them being killed. The Belgian stand at Liege, the first Battle of the Marne, Ypres, Chateau-Thierry; the fighting in the high Alps; Russia's futile attempt and the fighting at the Dardanelles are pictured.

NEW LONDON GAMBLING MACHINES SEIZED AS RESULT OF NORWICH TIP

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Jan. 31—As an aftermath of the raid in Norwich last night of the Commercial House, 10 Railroad avenue, two gambling devices were seized in New London today upon information furnished by the state police, who conducted the Norwich raid. In their search of the Commercial House, the raiders found records of the installation of slot machines having been installed in the club room, 29 Main street, the Hotel Winthrop and in the buildings, 3 Railroad avenue and 5 North Bank street. This information was given the New London police and officers were instructed to confiscate the gambling devices. A machine was found in the Main street club room and another was found at the Winthrop, but at the latter place the machine was in storage, also was defective, for it could not be operated. Machines were not found in the Railroad avenue or North Bank street buildings, for at the former place the machine had already been confiscated, having been taken in a raid there several months ago, and destroyed; at the North Bank street place the machine had been allowed to remain in the restaurant but a day or two. Seventy-eight dollars was found in the two seized machines. The machines being ordered destroyed by Prosecuting Attorney Daniel M. Cronin, it was stated that the court would make known the disposition of the money within a few days. The money, it is believed, will be given to some charitable cause.

OBITUARY

Besides her husband, Mrs. Torgerson is survived by two sons, Veron and Ralph Torgerson, of this city, and a daughter, Mrs. William H. Tufts, of Hartford. John Porter, a sailor, was in the police court this morning charged with breach of the peace. As there was no evidence to show that the accused was not guilty, but plenty of evidence by which to establish the charge against him, Porter was fined $50 and costs and as he could not pay he was committed to jail. Porter went to Charlie's restaurant, Main street, last night where he was noisy and started to try out his lungs with a series of songs. When George Tahash, the waiter, remonstrated with Porter, the latter seized a sugar bowl from the counter and hurled it at Tahash. The bowl found its mark for it struck Tahash on the side of the head, inflicting lacerations of the ear and face. Porter then left the restaurant, but returned shortly and seizing a coffee cup hurled that at the waiter, who ducked the cup which crashed against the wall and was smashed into innumerable pieces. In the meantime the police had been informed of the conduct of Porter and when Patrolmen Frank Philopena and Albert Iverson arrived the restaurant wrecker was arrested.

The police tonight received another complaint of a resident being annoyed by a male negro intruder, but like previous instances of the kind, the fellow was not captured. About 7:30 o'clock a resident of Montauk avenue communicated with police headquarters stating that the negro had attempted to obtain entrance to the house and when the woman refused him he informed the woman where she could go to. When the telephone message was received, Patrolman Frank Philopena was dispatched to the house in the speed auto and was informed by the woman that a knock was heard at first at a window and later at the rear door. Upon hearing the latter alarm, the woman opened the door and was confronted by the negro. After he was refused entrance, he walked between garages and disappeared. All patrolmen on duty in the southern part of the city were instructed to maintain a close watch for him.

Gardner, the latter of 172 Howard street, which were parked by the curb. Both were cars of 1929 models and both did not look like new machines when Sergeant Bill's auto finally came to a stop. Small's car was so badly damaged that in order to be taken from the highway a wrecking device was used. The car is now in storage. Small will be in the police court tomorrow.

DANGEROUS Stomach Ulcers

Result from Neglected Stomach Acidity. Too Often Treated as Indigestion. Watch These Symptoms.

Stomach trouble is bound to get worse if you don't treat it properly, and dangerous ulcers may form before you realize. An excess of stomach acid causes gas, heartburn and indigestion, sours and ferments the food and attacks the delicate stomach lining. The fermented food then forms still more acid and makes a dangerous, vicious circle.

Merely to stop the pain of indigestion is not enough. Many simple remedies will do that. But for full protection against chronic acidity and stomach ulcers, more potent means are required. Bisurated Magnesia neutralizes excess acid instantly, and thus, by removing the cause of the trouble, gives quick relief. But still more important, it works to soothe, heal and protect the sore, inflamed stomach lining. Don't take risks with anything less efficient. Today get a trial package of Bisurated Magnesia—either powder or tablets—from the nearest drug store. Either form will give almost instant relief.

TAFTVILLE

Next Sunday in the church calendar is St. Blaise's day, and at Sacred Heart church the throats of the parishioners will be blessed, as is the custom each year on this feast day. Observance of the day commemorates St. Blaise, a venerable bishop of Sebaste in Armenia who suffered martyrdom in the year 316. He was cruelly tortured, his flesh being dragged off by means of iron combs with curved teeth such as are used by woolcombers. In consequence of this he has been regarded as the patron saint of wool-workers, and formerly this day was observed in Bradford, Leeds and other centers of the manufactures in England as a holiday.

The members of the Basketry club met Thursday evening in the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah building for work and instruction.

Hormidas J. Garry of Dion street has returned from Canada, where he had been called to attend the funeral of his sister.

Silvio Rondeau of Merchants avenue has returned from spending several days in Montreal.

Mrs. Yvonne Bechard who has been at the Ponemah house has left town for Holyoke, Mass.

Stanley Mark has resigned his position with the local mills and has left town.

The meeting began at 2.30. The speaker was Mrs. Harriet Hyde Zumbro, who brought an enlightening message concerning India. Mrs. Zumbro gave a short review of the book "Mother India," by Katharine Mayo, in which the author narrates the horros and life in general in India, after having spent only about four months there. In contrast to the book, Mrs. Zumbro, who with her husband, the late Rev. William M. Zumbro, was located in Madura for fifteen years, mentioned in detail the many improvements there and explained how caste is fast being broken down. She emphasized the brighter side giving of India a fairer picture, as conditions, people and things in general are not quite as bad as depicted in this book. The work of the missionaries in Madura, when Rev. Mr. Zumbro was principal of the college, was especially emphasized. Particular reference was made to the varied work of the young boys educated at Madura college, after they have been graduated. Many beautiful pictures of India, particularly those centered at Madura, were shown by Mrs. Zumbro, who displayed views of colleges, temples, those concerning her home and family and many others, which was most entertaining to those present. Several clippings were read, pertaining to the talk.

Among those present, was Rev. George H. Strouse, pastor of Bozrah Congregational church, who could appreciate Mrs. Zumbro's talk more than any one else present, since he also spent some time in India as a missionary when a younger man. Rev. Mr. Strouse was accompanied by his guest Mr. Crouch of Ledyard.

Preceding Mrs. Zumbro's talk the meeting was opened with the hymn Onward Christian Soldiers. The president of the missionary society, Mrs. E. A. Bishop read the scriptures and Miss Lucy Wilcox offered prayer. During the business period, the election of officers took place, all being re-elected except the secretary, Mrs. Edwin Lathrop, who retired because of serious illness in her home. The officers are: President, Mrs. E. A. Bishop; vice president, Mrs. Jabez Bailey; secretary, Miss Alice Bishop; treasurer, Mrs. Lucretia Lathrop; flower committee, Mrs. Jabez Lathrop. At the close, Mrs. Wightman served sandwiches, cake and tea. This society, in which Mrs. Wightman is deeply interested holds a meeting each year at her home during the winter season. She retains her membership because of several associations with Bozrah Congregational church. Her father, the late Henry Nelson Ford was one of its benefactors, having given $1,000 to this church to be known as the Henry Nelson Ford fund, the interest to be used toward the minister's salary. Mr. Ford who resided, in Norwich Town about four years prior to his death, was born on Hassaw Hill in the town of Bozrah, having resided there 77 years, practically his life-time, except the four years in Norwich Town. He was keenly interested in the Bozrah church from the time the church in Bozrahville gave up services. Mr. Ford having joined the latter church when a boy of 13. He lived to be 81.

Although still confined to her bed following several days' illness, Mrs. John Olsen of Norwich Town, was reported Thursday to be improving. Her son Donald who was ill for about a week is able to go out, but is not yet in condition to return to school.

Held "Good Manners" Meeting.

Camp Fire Girls met at the Methodist parsonage Wednesday evening. National headquarters has officially appointed Mrs. Potter the Camp Fire guardian and the Camp Fire group is now affiliated with the national movement. During a past month the girls have concentrating their efforts on the first point of the Camp Fire law which is "Seek Beauty". Each girl turned in a poster on her idea of seeking beauty. These posers will be judged this coming week and the three best girls will be awarded an honor. The girls chose a name for the group. The name was taken from the Dakota Indian tribe and is "Da kon ya" meaning not to let anyone suffer because of evil words or ill deeds.

This was Good Manners meeting. Each girl was required to hand in a list of ten manners. These were put into the hands of a committee, Ines Smith, Henrietta Allen and Phyllis Hinrichs. The committee will select the six most important ones and at the next meeting these will be announced and the girls will put them into practice. Because of the illness of the president, Doris Rose, the vice-president, Margaret Phillips, presided at the business meeting. The Camp Fire Girls are about to undertake a project to raise money for the summer camping. There was an attendance of 18.

The board of assessors on Thursday, completed the revaluation of taxable property in the town of Norwich. The gross total of the grand list is placed at $49,642,069. The soldier exempt total is $454,307, leaving a net taxable total of $49,187,762, as compared with $22,978,291, last year's grand list total of taxable property, a gain of $26,209,471. The revaluation has more than doubled the grand list and indications are that the town tax this year will not exceed 13 mills. It may even be a half mill less than that. Last year the town tax was 26 mills. The city tax will be lowered correspondingly.

According to the assessors' abstract the number of houses in the town is 5,272 1-2, with a valuation of $17,784,982. Last year the number of houses was listed as 5,194. Barns, garages, sheds, etc., number 4,529, with a valuation of $1,155,745. Last year the number of barns, garages, etc., was but 1,492 1-2. House and building lots number 9,584 1-2 with a valuation of $9,448,805. Last year the number was 5,923 2-5.

Other items in the list follows:

Store building 705 (year ago, 493); valuation $5,450,307; mill buildings 275 (year ago 84), valuation $8,829,203; acreage 12,844 (year ago 12,850 7-8), valuation $778,155; horses 255 (last year 309), valuation $14,650; neat cattle 996 (year ago 1,031), valuation $56,380; sheep, swine and poultry, valuation $3,050; carriages, valuation $12,580; automobiles 4,775 (year ago 4,496), valuation $1,522,350; jewelry, valuation, $19,355; furniture, musical instruments $466,705; farming implements $3,665; goods of merchants $3,853,015; cables and conduits $17,350; motorboats $1,025; bonds and notes $2,550; taxable property not previously mentioned $26,650.

The total of ten per cented lists is $155,097. Exemptions are listed as follows:

Soldier exempt 571 (year ago 528); exempt relatives of soldiers, 58 (year ago 67); blind exempt, 4 (year ago 4).

The number of lists filed was 8,092, made up as follows: Number resident lists, regular 6,030; ten per cented lists 1,653, total 7,683; number nonresident lists regular 266; ten per cent 68; total 334; number exempt lists 75.

The assessors are Arad R. Manning, John B. Oat and Fred G. Prothero. Owing to a change in the system of classifications this year, over that in use during the past, there are what appear to be unusual increases in some items, as in the case of the number of mill buildings, which is listed at 275 as compared with 84 of a year ago. Another item in which an unusual increase appears is that of store buildings, the number this year being 705, compared with 493 a year ago.

LEE DIX ADDRESSED LIONS AT MEETING

A talk on "General Motors and Its Policies" was given by Lion Lee Dix at the weekly luncheon of the Norwich Lions club held Thursday at the Wauregan hotel at 12.15 o'clock. Lion Dix was in charge of the meeting in the absence of the president, Dr. Kopland K. Markoff, and he opened it with the singing of America, appointing Earl G. Taggart as song leader. The blessing was offered by Max Hanover. The Lions and guests were each presented a pretty calendar and thermometer by Mr. Dix and the weekly attendance prize was awarded to Louis Crandall.

In his address Mr. Dix spoke in part as follows:

You, of course, appreciate that this industry of ours—the automotive industry—is the greatest industry in the world. Three or four years ago, it passed in volume steel and steel products—the next largest industry. This means that upon its prosperity depends the prosperity of many millions of our citizens and the degree to which it has become stabilized in turn has a tremendous influence on the stabilizing of the industry as a whole—and therefore the prosperity and happiness of still many more of our citizens. Directly or indirectly this industry distributes hundreds and hundreds of millions of dollars annually to those who are connected with it either directly or indirectly as workers. It also distributes millions of dollars in the aggregate to those who have invested in its securities. The purchasing power of this total aggregation, as you must appreciate, is something tremendous. I believe, that if you asked the average business man of today as to the present position of the automotive industry, he would tell you that it was growing by leaps and bounds and I believe further you would sense a certain amount of uncertainty as to what was going to happen in the industry when the so-called state of saturation was reached. I do not know whether you appreciate it or not, but as a matter of fact, the industry has not grown very much within the past three or fours years—it is practically stabilized at the present time.

What has taken place is a shift of business from one manufacturer to another and the announcements in the press as well as the general publicity work of those manufacturers who have succeeded in increasing their business gives, I think, the impression that that is true of the whole industry. If we could assume, for the sake of argument, that we will reach the point where twenty-five million cars and trucks will be registered in the United States—an assumption that from what we have accomplished so far is certaintly perfectly reasonable—then I think we could safely say that the replacement demand plus the export demand which will increase for many years, plus the normal growth, would amount to something like four to four and one-half million vehicles per year and would require a production of a number of cars equal to or greater, than has yet been produced in any year in the history of the industry; so I do not think we really have much to worry about as to the future. General Motors is an important part of this great industry of ours and I would like to tell you in a brief way about the principles and policies of this great organization.

First, we have approximately sixty thousand stockholders. The market value of the securities that these stockholders hold at this time—or January 1928—exceeds two billion dollars. This enormous sum and the responsibility of acting as trustees throws a very great responsibility on the General Motors organization. In 1926, these stockholders received in dividend disbursement an amount in excess of one hundred million dollars. The purchasing power of this one hundred million has an important influence on our general business situation. In the first nine months of 1928 there was paid on common stocks alone $100,050,001.

Second, we have one hundred and eighty thousand in our own direct organization; people who are on our payroll and directly concerned in our prosperity.

Third, we have a dealer organization of something like eighteen thousand dealers. If we assume, and I think we have a right to, that each dealer would average twenty-five employes—and I think the average is much higher than that—we have something like five hundred thousand in our dealer organization with an estimated capital of over five hundred million.

Fourth, we have over forty-six hundred suppliers of material. I haven't any idea of how many workers are involved in these organizations, but as you all can very well appreciate, it is very large.

Fifth, we have the enormous aggregation of people whose prosperity depends, in turn, upon the prosperity of those I have mentioned above or their purchasing power in other words. As a matter of fact, there are several cities of importance in the United States whose prosperity is linked up with the prosperity of General Motors.

An interesting description of the organization and the company's proving ground was then given.

STATE'S DELEGATION VOTED AGAINST "DRY" APPROPRIATION

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON Jan. 31—Floor Leader Tilson won a notable victory late this afternoon when the Harris amendment for $24,000,000 for enforcement of the Volstead act went down to defeat in the house Tilson had led the fight on the floor against the measure. Every member of the Connecticut delegation voted against the amendment, Tilson making the concluding speech.

MEN'S BIBLE STUDY GROUP AT Y. M. C. A.

The Men's Bible Study group of the local Young Men's Christian association held an interesting session Wednesday evening at the supper hour in the "Y" building. The topic was "Jesus, the Practical Teacher" and the scripture used was Matthew 7:15-29. Some of the points brought out in the discussion were as follows:

There are far too many men today who are not what they pretend to be; their lives differ from their profession, and such men are more dangerous to society than an avowed enemy, because we know how to deal with an enemy, but a two faced man is hard to deal with. A two faced man should be told just what he is even though it is an unpleasant thing to do.

We can judge a man by his fruits, but snap judgment should never be taken, for we cannot judge a man by a single act, but by the general trend of his life. We should be rather slow to judge.

It is strange that some men are very particular to live straight along some lines and absolutely wrong along other lines.

Jesus had great confidence in himself and in his teachings and it is a good thing for a man to have confidence in himself, but not to the point of egotism. When a human being thinks he "knows it all," he is on dangerous ground.

The centuries have proven that the teachings of Jesus are very practical, even though many fail to follow them.

The one thing that is absolutely necessary in the building of a house or a life, is a strong foundation. Some of the causes of a weak life are heredity, lack of parental training, and the failure of the strong to help the weak in their problems.

Jesus determined the destiny of a man by his relationship to God. The surest way to measure a man is not by what he says but by what he is. The reason why people believe it wise to follow the leadership of Jesus Christ, is because he not only taught high ideals but he also lived them.

SECURITIES B'LL IS INTRODUCED IN HOUSE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

HARTFORD, Jan. 31.—The bill concerning the sale of securities which was drafted by a committee of the Connecticut chamber of commerce was introduced in the house today. The bill prohibits the use of any deception, misrepresentation, concealment, suppression or fraud, false pretence, false promise or fictitious or pretended purchase or sale in connection with the sale of stocks, bonds, notes, and other securities.

The bank commissioner is made the investigation and administrative official. Under the terms of the bill "all legal services required by the bank commissioner in carrying into effect the provisions of this act shall be performed by the attorney general or under his direction." The bill provides for a fine of not more than $10,000 or imprisonment of not more than 10 years or both, for any person violating any of the provisions of the act. A penalty is provided for any person publishing informatio concerning an investigation of the bank commissioner under the terms of the act without his permission.

The state chamber committee was appointed by President A. R. Kimball following the passage of a resolution at the annual meeting of the chamber last May. The members of the committee represented various business interests and organizations that are especially interested in securing, as far as possible, a better protection for the investing public. Before drafting the bill, the committee studied fraud laws of other states, incorporating in the proposed Connecticut statute the best points of existing fraud laws. Several trips were made to New York and New Jersey to study the effect of the respective fraud laws of these states. The committee had the co-operation of Bank Commissioner Shippee who attended the meetings of the committee.

Charles R. Butts, president of the Norwich Savings bank, was a member of the committee which drew up the bill.

TWO LIQUOR CASES ARE CONTINUED UNTIL SATURDAY

The cases of Benjamin Sullivan, 30, and Peter Carbray, 42, both of this city, charged with violation of the liquor laws, were continued to Saturday morning at the request of counsel, when they were presented in the city court Thursday morning. The accused were arrested by state police from the Groton barracks Wednesday afternoon after a raid at the place known as the Commercial House, Railroad avenue. A quantity of liquor was found in the place.

The officers secured two quarts of alleged liquor, a five-gallon bottle, half full, two one-gallon bottles of gin, 11 quart bottles of gin, four quart bottles of William Penn whiskey, a five-gallon can partly filled with alcohol, a bottle of coloring, a bottle of Gordon gin extract, 12 cases of beer and a 25-cent slot machine.

A warrant is said to have been issued for the arrest of Frank Denesi, about 50, who, it is claimed, is the proprietor of the Commercial House.

Yantic Woman On Probation

Pleading guilty to possession of and transporting liquor on March 19, 1928, in Johnston, R. I., Mrs. Viola Neville, of Yantic, alleged rum runner, was placed on probation by Judge Ira Lloyd Letts in Providence court, Wednesday. She was arrested by Rhode Island state police officers after a sensational midnight chase of five miles in Rhode Island and in her car was found 50 gallons of moonshine liquor.

CASE AGAINST DRIVER CONTINNUED UNTIL TODAY

A continuance to Friday in order that he might secure counsel was granted in the case of Gerard Husarlewsky, 30, of New London, charged with evading responsibility, when he appeared in the city court Thursday morning. At the request of the local police the accused was arrested in New London Wednesday evening after, it is alleged, that the truck, New York Reg. 693,355, he was driving, skidded and collided with a machine owned by Isadore Silverstein of No. 4 Washington street parked on Washington square. The Norwich machine was badly damaged. The accused claims that his machine did skid in the vicinity of Washington square, but he did not realize that it collided with or damaged any machine.

OVER 500 ONE-ROOM SCHOOLS IN STATE

More than 21,000 elementary school pupils of the state still receive instruction in schoolhouses of not more than three rooms, town reports to the Connecticut education department show. Although the total is decreasing each year, there are still 536 one-room schools in the state.

And of this latter number, the reports say, one-fourth have an average daily attendance of under 13 and one-half show average attendance of under 17. There are 9,139 pupils in these schools. In the 148 two-room schools there are 7,759 pupils and the 52 three-room schools have 4,452.

Throughout the state there were 1,267 elementary schools in use during the past year, caring for 262,392 pupils in average daily attendance.

The towns served by these one, two and three room schools suffer keenly, as regards efficiency of education system, from yearly or more frequent change in teacher personnel, the reports also indicate. The percentage of change throughout the state is being lowered each year, but salaries and teaching conditions in many of the towns are still such as to discourage renewal of contracts, says Educational Commissioner Albert B. Meredith. Of the 7,570 elementary school teachers in Connecticut last year, 568 were teaching for the first time in any school, 520 others were teaching for the first time in the towns they were then serving and 708 others were teaching in this state for the first time.

It is, in part, for the purpose of assisting towns to hold experienced and valued teachers that the state board of education is supporting the proposal now before the general assembly assembly for a change in the financing of education through state grant. The increases asked, says Dr. Meredith, would establish a much needed minimum of educational opportunity.

Well Chil. Conference.

SOUTHERN DEMOCRATS TO FIGHT FOR BIG DRY FUND

Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, Blossomed Forth in Support of the Views of President-Elect Hoover—Senator Bingham Asked Harrison if He Was "Trying to Make Up For His Campaign Statements and Get on the Hoover Band Wagon."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—(AP)—A new move was begun today by southern democrats in the house to obtain congressional approval of the proposed $24,000,000 increase for prohibition enforcement.

Undismayed by a defeat in the house to keep the appropriation, embodied in the deficiency supply bill, from getting in the hands of a senate and house conference committee, the democrats headed by Rep. Byrns of Tenn., today proposed a revision of the prohibition clause which they hope will bring about its approval.

The revision now proposed by the democrats is designed to meet the objections of Secretary Mellon who has contended that as now worded the clause would prevent use of the proposed increase by all of the agencies charged with enforcement of the dry laws. Friends of the increase proposal believe the Byrns amendment would accomplish this.

Meanwhile, the senate today was advised of the desire of the house for a conference on the bill and the measure formally was turned over to a conference committee. This action preceded by a short time an announcement in the senate by Senator Harris, democrat, Georgia, that he would accept the proposed Byrns' revision. Harris is the original sponsor of the big increase item.

Immediately after the Georgian's announcement, however, Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, protested that the bill had gone to conference and under state rules it was too late to consider any such plan.

While this was taking place, both houses found time to discuss some phase of the prohibition question. Senator Bliss undertook an analysis of the house vote of yesterday which paved the way for sending the bill to conference and in the house, Representative Celler, democrat, New York, touched debate off by displaying a bottle of tonic which, he said, contained more than 20 per cent alcohol. Celler was forced to remove the bottle.

The New Yorker, however, got in a few words on the subject. He said the department of agriculture was distributing free pamphlets telling how to make wine, while millions of dollars was appropriated to enforce prohibition. He said the bottle which he displayed had been purchased at a drug store in Brooklyn, and declared that although a chemical analysis had shown it to contain more than twenty per cent of alcohol, it was sold freely.

Representative Green, democrat, Florida, demanded removal of the fluid, charging that the display was in violation of the rules of the house. Representative Laguardia, republican, New York, defended Celler, declaring that the tonic was sold under a government permit, but the chair held that the bottle should be removed from the table.

The discussion continued until Celler had a page take the bottle off the floor.

In the senate during his analysis of the house vote, Senator Harris declared yesterday's ballot showed that republican house leaders had been joined in their vote by "the leaders of Tammany hall, the Philadelphia machine, the Chicago machine and others opposed to enforcement of the eighteenth amendment."

END OF PRESENTATION OF BILLS IN LEGISLATURE

STATE CAPITOL, Hartford, Feb. 1—(AP)—The democratic party of Connecticut, through its youngest senator, today asked the general assembly to call a constitutional convention which would so change and modify the fundamental laws of the state as to enable it to "bring up to a modern standard the obsolete and antiquated methods now in force."

This action, a minor battle in the house and a house measure which would rescind the banking and trust privileges bestowed by the 1927 legislature on the Bankers' Trust company of Bridgeport, chartered as the Title and Guaranty company, were three pen ultimate features of a day which marked the closing of the first phase of the general assembly's business—the reception of bills.

The democratic party's request came just before the senate's adjournment. In the absence of Senator Berzin, of New Haven, minority leader, Senator Devlin, also of New Haven, was designed by Senators Hackett and Conroy, the other democratic leaders, to ask the body to hold up its adjournment until the bill, which was being drafted hastily by his minority colleagues, appeared. In the meantime, he made reference to the character of present features of the constitution, to the fact that the 1902 convention did not accomplish anything and to the need of changes in the constitution. He said later, the bill was entered because the party platform demands it. The bill will be amplified next week.

The Bridgeport company is aimed at in a house bill placing fiduciary corporations under state supervision and prohibiting them from using any name which would classify them as banks. The bill carries out a recommendation made by Gov. Trumbull in his inaugural message. The measure also prohibits such corporations from accepting deposits, but it does not prevent the legislature from granting special charters. It compels any companies receiving special charters permitting them to do banking and trust business to obtain a license from the banking commissioner. A fine of $1,000, a year's imprisonment, or both, would be imposed for violation of the act.

Disagreement by the senate with the house over the committee reference of the vaccination bill—which allows "conscientious exemption"—and the numerous chiropractor and naturopath bills indicates that the reference of these bills, particularly the healing arts which would give broader professional powers to the two types of medical men, is in doubt. A committee of conference was appointed by the house when this body refused to concur with the senate in transferring the bills from the judiciary to the public health and safety committee.

The house had a bill which would put the state militia on a plane similar to that of the regular U. S. army. The bill provides that pay and other details of militia administration and activities be more in line with army practice.

A democratic senator, Conroy, of Hartford, was responsible for a bill which would require the state central committee of each political party to file monthly an itemized sworn statement. Senator Conroy, offered also a bill providing that small loan companies have a minimum capital investment of $25,000.

Persons who use building loans for other purposes, would be fined $1,000 or imprisoned for one year, or both, under a house bill.

COL STEWART REPLIES TO ROCKEFELLER, SR.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1—(AP)—Col. Robert W. Stewart in a letter to John D. Rockefeller, Sr., commenting on Mr. Rockefeller's support of his son in efforts to oust Col. Stewart as chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, today told the elder Rockefeller that he "could understand the silence of a father under the circumstances," but could not understand Mr. Rockefeller's attitude "unless you have been deliberately misinformed."

Colonel Stewart is in New York, but his letter addressed to Mr. Rockefeller at Ormond Beach, Fla., was made public at the Standard Oil company offices here. In it he quoted a statement from Mr. Rockefeller in which the elder Rockefeller said the press had reported several times that Col. Stewart had stated Mr. Rockefeller, Sr., would be pleased by re-election of Col. Stewart.

Telling Mr. Rockefeller he has been misinformed in regard to the facts, Col. Stewart's letter continued:

"I have never made any such statements either publicly or privately. The only statement in regard to yourself that I have ever made is that I would not believe you were opposing me for re-election until I had positive proof of that opposition.

"I made this statement believing the loyal and honest support I had given you and your associates for so many years and through the most trying times would prevent your opposing me for re-election, especially when every director and the entire organization who know all the facts are practically solid in favor of my re-election.

"I could have understood the silence of a father under the circumstances. I cannot understand your making this statement unless you have been deliberately misinformed."

FIRST WHITE WOMAN TO BE EXECUTED IN LOUISIANA

FRANKLIN, La., Feb. 1—(AP)—The first white woman to be executed in Louisiana and a physician went to their deaths on the gallows here just after noon today for the murder 18 months ago of the woman's husband, James LeBouef, Morgan City electrician.

Mrs. Ada Bonner LeBouef, 33, and Dr. Thomas E. Dreher, 56, died protesting they were innocent, and with whispered prayers. Dr. Dreher seemed calm but Mrs. LeBouef called "Mother" several times and exclaimed "Isn't this a terrible thing." She struggled as the black cloth was fitted over her head.

Each talked from the steel gallows trap to the small group of male witnesses seven feet below. Each requested the hangman, whose lower face was shielded by a red bandanna handkerchief, not to let them strangle to death. Their wishes were complied with as the neck of each was broken as the metal trap swung open.

The grim ceremony was performed in the small, brick towered village jail in a twelve by twelve corridor. Jailers went about their work quietly but their nerves gave way after it was over.

Mrs. LeBoeuf was the 24th woman to be executed in any of the states. Desperate efforts were made to save her and Dr. Dreher but Gov. Huey P. Long declined to intervene after the state and federal courts and the United States supreme court had refused to act.

PICKED UP LIFEBOAT OF MISSING TRAWLER

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Feb. 1—(AP)—The trawler Kingfisher reported by radio today that she had picked up a lifeboat of the trawler Seiner, thought to have been lost with her crew of 20. The Kingfisher said the boat was found approximately 135 miles east of Nantucket. This was near the spot where the trawler Brant picked up another lifeboat off the Seiner yesterday.

The lifeboat which was found by the Kingfisher was under water and was brought to the surface by the trawler's dredges.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

HOOVER HAS LANDED HIS SECOND SAIL FISH

LONG KEY, Fla., Feb. 1—(AP)—President-elect Hoover today landed his second sail fish, a six footer weighing more than 50 pounds.

This catch was made after a long struggle with another sail fish and Mr. Hoover's final defeat by a shark. The next president made his first strike early in the day and after battling 35 minutes had his prey almost to the boat when something happened. His line went straight out and was broken.

"A shark got him," Mr. Hoover exclaimed.

Mrs. Hoover accompanied her husband on his second day of fishing and took moving pictures of him as he battled with his two sail fish.

Associate Justice Harlan F. Stone of the United States supreme court, fishing from another launch nearby, landed two sail fish and Verne Marshall, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in the same boat with Mr. Hoover, landed another. The party also harpooned a giant turtle.

SALVATION ARMY CONTEST INDEFINITELY POSTPONED

LONDON, Feb. 1—(AP)—Action in the Salvation Army drama halted today until General Bramwell Booth sets the date for the next big scene. The high council today requested him to name some day next week when it would be convenient for him to appear in person or to send a representative to plead his cause.

The resolution to this effect was sent to the general at South Wold tonight, a junior officer from the international headquarters acting as messenger. Members of the council commented on the contrast between this method of notification and the former occasion, when a carefully chosen deputation of army leaders journeyed to the bedside of the general, expressed their affection for him and respectfully offered him a chance to retire with honors.

CALLED HUSBAND FROM COURT ROOM AND SHOT HIM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—(AP)—A courtroom was thrown into panic here today by Mrs. May Brown, who called her husband into the hall while he was awaiting arraignment and shot him three times. Two other shots were fired but the bullets missed him. Men climbed out of windows and fled down stairways, falling one on top of the other.

Policemen drew revolvers, one of them seizing the woman as she was about to fire a sixth shot. She was disarmed and her husband was removed to a hospital. His condition was reported serious.

Charles A. Brown was in court as co-defendant in a statutory offense case involving another woman when his wife appeared.

Alibi Dealing With Jackson Murder

What Deputy Sheriff Rice, if Questioned, Will Tell the Authorities.

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Feb. 1—Deputy Sheriff Trenor A. Rice, a close friend of the family of County Detective William E. Jackson, who was murdered at his home on Quarry street Tuesday night, has prepared a statement to make to the investigators in the event that he is questioned as to his whereabouts at the time of the murder. The name of Mr. Rice was dragged into the case today after newspapermen interviewed him late Thursday and confronted him with the belief that he was generally under suspicion.

At that time Rice expressed no surprise at this opinion of the reporters, later adding that he expected that in the course of the complete investigation being made he assumed that he, as well as others closely connected with the late detective, would be questioned.

Mr. Rice will say to the authorities that he had been working about his poultry farm on Brown avenue, just within the city limits, off West Main street, during the day Tuesday. Shortly before 6 o'clock he prepared a meal for himself and, having partaken of it, sat down at his desk to write. He was engaged in writing when Joseph I. Paulhus, of 1705 West Main street, city letter carrier and neighbor, called at his house. Mr. Paulhus told Rice that some member of the Jackson family had just telephoned, asking him (Paulhus) to request Rice to come to the Jackson home to milk the cows.

Rice donned his overcoat, got his car out of the garage, and went at once to the Jackson home. He will say that he had a little difficulty starting his car, a Hudson coach, owing to the fact that the motor was cold from standing idle. He did not know of the tragedy until he arrived at the house. He will also say that he was among the first to comment on the absence of a gun near the body and that he, accompanied by Police Officer Arthur Hurley touched up on the three revolvers kept in the house to determine that they had not been used.

This statement, given by Rice late this afternoon, is substantiated to a considerable degree by one given a Bulletin representative by Joseph I. Paulhus, the man who delivered the telephone message from the Jackson house to Rice and the night of the murder.

Mr. Paulhus states that he arrived at his home about 6.25 o'clock. After he received the message from the Jackson house and was starting out to deliver it to Rice, who resides a few houses away, he remarked to his wife, that the cows would be milked quite late that night and in doing so, glanced at the clock, noting that it was 6;40 o'clock. When he got to the Rice home, he found Rice sitting at his desk and apparently writing. Rice went to his garage and Paulhus started walking back to his own house. As he walked along he heard Rice open the garage doors. The motor started after a few moments but sputtered and went dead. He heard the starter buzz a second time and the engine continued to function. The machine was backed out onto the street and he saw it start off as he entered his home, through the rear door, which overlooks Brown avenue, at the Rice place. Mr. Paulhus stated that the garage had been built by himself for his own use and was very warm.

The property occupied by Rice on Brown avenue consists of four acres of land with a cottage and garage. It was transferred last October by Joseph I. Paulhus and his wife to William E. Jackson and is recorded in the town clerk's office under the latter's name. By virtue of an agreement the property was to revert to Trenor A. Rice upon the death of Jackson. The exact nature of this agreement has not as yet been fully determined. The transaction involved over $6,000. Possession of the place was taken over Nov. 1, 1928. Rice has been spending much time on the place for the past five weeks. He has been making improvements on the property, doing the work himself and had acquired the nucleus for a poultry farm. A number of incubators had been installed and Rice has been planning on specializing on high bred laying hens. He had acquired a valuable pen of hens while occupying a pretentious home in North Windham for some three or four years prior to a separation with his wife.

The Rices separated last fall and Mrs. Rice, formerly Edna Shutter, had filed suit for divorce, alleging intolerable cruelty. They have four minor children, who are now with the mother at the home of the latter's parents in Canterbury, this state. County Detective Edward J. Hickey and Police Officer Arthur Hurley are understood to have gone to Canterbury this afternoon presumably to locate and question Mrs. Rice.

Program In London Widely Broadcast

First Attempt at Rebroadcasting Over a Nation-Wide Hook-Up in America.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—(AP)—The first attempt at re-broadcasting a program originating in London, Eng., over a nation-wide hookup in America was made today. Results were fair with some static and some fading. At times the music was as clear as if coming from an American station.

The program began at 4:50 p. m., eastern time, the first strains of the London orchestra being clear and loud. The broadcast continued for approximately an hour.

This first English program for Americans, picked up on short waves and transferred to the National Broadcasting system stations, approximately 40, linked together, followed the address of President Coolidge at the dedication of the Bok Memorial in Florida.

This re-broadcast is expected to be the forerunner of others from time to time. Their frequency and length will be governed largely by atmospheric conditions. While it was the first presentation of an English broadcast to an American audience over such an extensive hookup, several such attempts have been made in the past.

On New Year's day, 1925, WJZ re-broadcast the chimes of Big Ben in the tower of London, but signals were very weak. Last summer CFCA, Toronto, Canada, picked up London on a special short wave receiver and retransmitted its programs on a fairly dependable schedule.

No advance notification was made of the re-broadcast, as it could not be determined until a short time before that conditions would permit a fair presentation of music from overseas. Stations in the hookup merely had been advised to stand by for an important announcement after the president finished speaking.

Then the chain was properly switched to London via short wave and telephone lines. The program, originating in the London studios of the British Broadcasting corporation, went 30 miles by telephone lines to 5SW at Chelmsford, where it leaped into the air on 25.53 meters, with a power of 10 kilowatts.

Spanning 3,300 miles of the Atlantic ocean the signals were picked up at the RCA experimental station at Riverhead, L. I., and carried by telephone line to the NBC studios on Fifth avenue to go out over wires leading into broadcast transmitters in all sections of the country, including the Pacific coast.

Besides the chimes of Big Ben the program consisted of the regular evening features of the British Broadcasting corporation.

For reception, the Riverhead station used multiple antennas and multiple receivers. This method was used to defeat fading as much as possible. Automatic control also was employed to prevent variations in the signal. In the line leading to the NBC studios two repeaters were installed to step-up the signal sufficiently.

C. E. HUGHES SPEAKER AT BROWN ALUMNI DINNER

BOSTON, Feb. 1—(AP)—Charles Evans Hughes, former secretary of state, speaking at a Brown university alumni dinner here tonight, attacked the emphasis placed by many college students today upon "college activities" to the detriment of what he termed real education. The former secretary of state was graduated from Brown in 1881.

"College activities," said Mr. Hughes, "lend but small encouragement to the cultural process of quiet and reflection. Large numbers of students with little appreciation of the true advantages of the college, tend to conventionalize habits and put upon those who would have higher aims the curse of eccentricity.

"Personally I think that the discipline of life outside would be much better for many who are in college than the laxity induced by certain college associations."

News!

The story is told of a newsboy who shouted:

"Read about the big department store sale. Fine quality suite at $22. Beautiful furniture on sale. New shipment of neckties just received."

His stock of papers was sold very quickly.

The case, is, of course, exceptional. But it points to the fact that advertising is news—and very important news. It is the news of daily life, the news that comes closest to you and those about you. It is news of the furniture you sit in, the books you read, the bonds you buy, the automobile you use, the flashlight, talking machine and food product that give you satisfaction. News that concerns you more vitally than anything else you read. News that is essential to you, because whether you purchase a piano or a pin, you want the best money can buy.

—and you can always be sure you are getting the newest and best when you read the advertisements.

The advertisements contain pocketbook news—and that's important!

CRUISER BUILDING BILL DEBATED IN THE SENATE

They Have Proposed a Measure Designed to Circumvent the Objections of Secretary Mellon—Proposal Includes a Revision of the Prohibition Clause—Representative Cellar of New York Displayed a Bottle of Tonic Containing More Than 20 Per Cent Alcohol—He Said the Bottle Had Been Obtained at a Drug Store in Brooklyn.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—(AP)—The democratic side of the senate chamber furnished support today for the view of President Coolidge that immediate construction of all of the proposed 16 warships should not be unequivocably demanded.

Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, who is seldom found among supporters of administration policies, declared the clause in the bill to require the starting of construction of all the 15 cruisers and one aircraft carrier by July 1, 1931, was "unprecedented" and inadvisable.

He said rather than authorize the immediate building of the total number of fighting craft that the construction program should be placed in the hands of the incoming president as "a weapon of diplomacy" to force other nations with respect to further disarmament.

Besides the Mississippian, a number of other senators gave their views on the pending measure which again was defended by Chairman Hale of the naval committee, who is in charge of it. During the discussion the names of President Coolidge, President-elect Hoover and high American naval authorities frequently were mentioned as one senator after another referred to their views in support of their own positions.

Senator Hale contended the country should replace its ships regularly so that large numbers would not have to be built at one time and thus do away with "this outcry" that the United States is "arming to fight other nations." He urged the cruisers were needed to replace obsolete warcraft.

At the end of the day, Senator Norris, republican, rounded up the opposition to the bill with an attack on what he described as the "big navy" people of the country. He declared the debate had demonstrated that if it is necessary to build these cruisers it is only because there is danger of war with Great Britain.

"No other nation is in a position to cause any uneasiness," he said. "It seems logical then that we are building this navy for war with Great Britain. Yet no one will admit that there is anything on the political horizon which indicates any war. It is hardly conceivable that there could be any war between Great Britain and this country.

"There is no need for us to have a navy as large as Great Britain even if we were going to war with Great Britain. If she were cut off from her territories it is admitted her people would starve in 30 days. We can live unlimitedly within our nation."

Senator Harrison demanded to know "who wants these cruisers built at once."

"President Coolidge doesn't want them to be," he added.

"I think," interposed Hale, "that the president has already notified the country in his talks with newspapermen that he is ready to go ahead with construction."

Harrison, without taking notice of the interruption, continued the naval board has not been shown to want it, nor the president, nor the president-elect.

"Of course," he added, "this provision will help the Bethlehem Steel corporation and other steel companies. It will require more steel and add to their profits."

Hale, with some show of impatience, again interrupted the Mississippian to declare that "the senator full well knows that the consideration would not influence any senators," and added "that it is unworthy of the senator to make that inference."

"Everybody knows that the president-elect is opposed to this clause," Harrison went on. "No doubt the president appealed to the senator from Maine but the senator from Maine is a hardened sinner."

At this juncture Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, asked Harrison if he was "trying to make up for his campaign statements and get on the Hoover band wagon."

"Well, I am glad to find out one thing," Harrison replied, "and that is that there are republicans here who have no confidence in the next president."

The cruiser bill was supported by Senator Barkley, democrat, Kentucky, who declared that the United States was behind both Great Britain and Japan in tonnage and the number of ships and guns.

Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota, asked postponement of the cruiser construction program to test world sentiment on disarmament, he declared the construction was one of "bluff and bluster" and was engineered by "our Admiral Plunkettts aided by the private shipbuilders."

Senator Oddie, republican, Nevada, asked the North Dakota senator if he knew that Great Britain had an "enormous number" of merchant ships that could be used to augment her battle fleet.

"Very well," Nye replied, "offer an amendment substituting merchant vessels for these cruisers and we'll all vote for the bill."

Oddie demurred, arguing that the suggestion was "beside the point."

During the discussion Hale said the United States was arming so it would not have to fight other nations and Norris asked why if it was necessary to build cruisers to prevent war when there had been no war in the last ten years when no ships were built. Hale said others nations were arming and Norris replied that preparation for war by Great Britain and Germany did not keep them out of the World war.

Norris contended the building program was "only a stepping stone" and also was detrimental and injurious to world peace.

"We can say to Great Britain we are going to pause," Norris said, "and we can ask them to pause too. We can say to them 'unless you stop we will ultimately have to get into the race to outstrip you' and they will know we could do it."

COOLIDGE DEDICATED MOUNTAIN SANCTUARY

MOUNTAIN LAKE, Fla., Feb. 1—(AP)—President Coolide late today dedicated the Mountain Lake sanctuary and singing tower to the use of the American public declaring it significant of a trend in our national life which is giving to the great mass of the people advantages reserved in the past for the fortunate and privileged few.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were met at the train by Mr. and Mrs. Bok and after a wait of more than half an hour proceeded to the sanctuary where a crowd of huge proportions awaited them.

Marines from Paris Island guarded the way which led through the park like sanctuary to a platform near the base of the singing tower. As the president approached the chimes struck up "America" and then played while the crowd, catching sight of Mr. Coolidge broke into a storm of applause.

CLOSING ARGUMENTS IN TRIAL OF STATE TREASURER

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 1—(AP)—Closing arguments to the jury late today rounded out the trial of State Treasurer Bert B. Buckley, charged with attempted bribery and conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. The hearing was in its fifth day.

Aside from five character witnesses, Buckley was the only one called to the stand by the defense. He is charged with conspiring with two Cincinnati attorneys to attempt to bribe acting Assistant Prohibition Administrator John F. Eckhart to furnish tips on impending raids on Cincinnati breweries.

Buckley denied instigating the plot or making overtures to any of the principals involved, but admitted he knew the scheme was illegal and that he did send tips received from Eckhart to John L. Schrimper and Adolphus A. Gruber, Cincinnati attorneys. He denied any criminal intent.

The final arguments will be completed tomorrow and the case probably will go to the jury before noon.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—(AP)—The army housing bill carrying an appropriation of $21,865,452 for construction at posts and flying fields was ordered reported today by the senate military affairs committee. Because of the many changes the measure virtually is a substitute for that passed earlier by the house.

Among allotments in the measure were:

Camp Devens, Mass., non-commissioned officers quarters $36,000; officers quarters $164,000; Boston airport, East Boston, Mass., moving and re-erecting technical buildings $15,000.

WORD "KIDNAPING" FIGURES IN M'CARTHY WILL CONTEST

GREENWICH, Conn., Feb. 1—(AP)—The word "kidnaping" was mentioned today at the hearing on the contest of the will of Mrs. James McCarthy who left $7,000,000 of her large estate to her husband, a physician. The will is being contested on behalf of Mrs. McCarthy's young daughter, Peggy Cowen, and by Western Reserve university.

Miss Elizabeth Conroy, the registered nurse who cared for Mrs. Margaret Smith of Cleveland, Mrs. McCarthy's wealthy mother, during the elder woman's illness last February, testified that after Mrs. Smith had been brought east Dr. McCarthy had told the witness of plans to put the patient in a sanitarium under circumstances which amounted to kidnapping.

"He told me," said Miss Conroy, "that Mrs. Smith wasn't capable of managing her affairs, so we were going to help her."

Questioned about the "kidnaping" Miss Conroy said that Dr. McCarthy had explained how he would pretend Mrs. Smith was going to a family hotel in New York.

"He would take her there," the nurse continued, "and after she was in she would have two nurses and she couldn't get out. The McCarthys would pay the expenses. Of course, it was Mrs. Smith's money."

TARIFF DEBATED ON FLOOR OF THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—(AP)—The tariff made its way from a committee room to the house floor today for the first time this session, and found republicans and democrats alike willing to air their views.

Coincident with the closing of hearings on cotton rates by the ways and means committee, which will write a revised schedule of tariff duties for presentation to a special session of congress in the spring, Representative Clark, a New York republican, opened the discussion on the floor with a plea for protection for boots and shoes, now duty free.

Clark said imports of boots and shoes had jumped from 398,929 pairs valued at $1,246,176 in 1923, a year after the present tariff law became operative, to 1,477,435 pairs worth more than $5,000,000 in 1927 and that foreign manufacturers were threatening the domestic business with their American-made machinery and cheap labor.

VETERAN BRAKEMAN IS FOUND DEAD IN BED

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Feb. 1—John Darcey Louby, 70, and veteran railroad brakeman, was found dead in bed at the home of Michael Danahey, 50 Winter street, about 6 o'clock this morning. Dr. Michael D. Riordan was called and upon finding that life had left the body he summoned Medical Examiner Dr. Louis I. Mason. Dr. Mason pronounced death due to a heart ailment. Louby has a married daughter and son residing in Abington. He came to the Danahey home about three weeks ago to reside, Danahey being a close friend. The two men had worked on the New Haven railroad for some time.

Louby had been ailing for some time and had frequently complained of not feeling well during the past week. About midnight Thursday evening he fell on the floor of the kitchen and he was returned to his bed and made comfortable by Danahey who had been awakened by the sound of the fall. Allen Potter, a neighbor, was called in at the time to assist Danahey in carrying the man back to his bed. After drinking coffee, Louby said that he felt much relieved and about 3:30 o'clock this morning Potter returned to his home while Danahey returned to bed. Danahey said that he heard his friend call his name about 5:30 o'clock but hearing nothing further he did not go to Louby's room until about 6 o'clock. Medical Examiner Mason believed that the man died about half an hour before his body was discovered. Louby had been employed by the railroad for nearly 50 years. His personal effects which were examined by the medical examiner included two bank books, one on the Windham National bank of this city and the other on the Putnam Savings bank. The deceased was born in Pomfret, the son of Thomas and Mary Conroy Louby. He leaves one son, John Louby, and one daughter, Mrs. Marie Wheeler, both of Abington. He was a member of Chaplin Oak lodge, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen of Hartford.

DERAILED ENGINE TIES UP TRAFFIC AT BOLTON

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Feb. 1—Quick action on the part of Engineer J. Jackson of Boston-bound passenger train No. 112 saved a derailment of the train when the driving rod and one wheel of the right side of the engine suddenly came off while the train was making the grade at Bolton about 7:30 o'clock this morning. Engineer Jackson brought the train to a stop without a derailment of any of the coaches. The engine, however, left the rails and tied up traffic on the Hartford division of the New Haven railroad for nearly four hours. The wrecker and crew from East Hartford were called to the scene. Train No. 111, leaving here at 7:10 a. m., ran to Bolton where passengers on No. 112 were transferred and returned to this city and then on to Boston. Local commuters who use No. 111 to Hartford were forced to walk from the clubhouse at Bolton to Bolton station where they boarded coaches of the New England Transportation company. Train No. 116, due here from Hartford at 10 a. m., was 40 minutes late, having been re-routed by way of Middletown. Equipment for No. 112 arrived here at 11 o'clock and continued on to Boston.

DANIELSON

IS WATCHMAN'S JOB AT WORSTED MILLS JINXED?

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Feb. 1—(F)—Substituting as night watchman for Joseph Richards, at the plant of the Killingly Worsted company, in Elmville, last night, his first night on the job, Henry Barry, of Danielson, slipped and fell down a flight of stone steps and fractured three ribs on his right side. Barry was taken to the office of Dr. C. R. Garcin, in Dayville, and given attention. Richards, who was banged over the head at the mill the night before while making his rounds, was suffering considerable today from the attack made upon him and was confined to his home. A third night watchman was scheduled to go on the job tonight, everyone wishing him the best of luck.

Coasting Accident

James LaPearl, 9 years of age and whose home is in Attawaugan, is the latest victim of a coasting accident in this territory. The boy had his right leg broken last night when he was run over by a car operated by Fred Klaus of Sterling, the accident happening at Attawaugan. Klaus was not held accountable for the accident, which was held as unavoidable. The boy was given attention by Dr. C. R. Garcin, of Dayville, and then taken to the Day Kimball hospital at Putnam, where he will remain probably until the end of the coasting season. The fracture was reduced this morning.

Incident to coasting accidents, a new angle has developed. It has to do with the decision of a not inconsiderable number of parents here in Danielson that their children must not slide on public streets and risk the danger of being badly injured or even killed. In some instances the children are now restricted to sliding down little grades on private property or coasting down hills that are in fields and where traffic is unknown. In a few instances sleds have been taken away from children by parents who love them too much to see them maimed or lost forever because of indulging a whim for transient pleasure in the face of the peril it entails. To some children the situation is a tragedy, but the complexities of modern life include dangers of which they have no appreciation.

Lepreet M. Logee, of Central Falls, R. I., and who has relatives here, is to observe his 103rd birthday next Tuesday. Mr. Logee, now staying at the Masonic home at Charlton, Mass., is believed to be the oldest Mason in the world. He was raised in Mt. Vernon lodge, A. F. and A. M., in Jewett City, in 1871. Despite his great age he enjoys the best of health and maintains a lively interest in the things of life.

Members of Killingly's board of relief held their first session of the year at their room in the town hall building today, and will meet on various other occasions during February to take up such claims for readjustment of assessments as may be presented for their consideration. For the past few years the board of relief has not been called upon to make any great change from the grand list as completed by the assessors.

As to taxation matters, it is being recalled that a general revaluation of property in Killingly must be undertaken not later than 1930. The subject of revaluation, as required by the state, received considerable attention and discussion here last summer, but nothing was done about it. There are at least two schools of opinion here as to how this coming general revaluation be carried out. Some prefer that it be done by specialists in that work, others contending that there are Killingly citizens capable of doing it and doing it well. It is a matter, however, that will have to be taken up seriously in the not distant future.

Next Tuesday evening brings the February meeting of the chamber of commerce. There will be various matters for it to consider, including the winter Dollar day that has been a feature of commercial activities here for years. In connection with the chamber of commerce it may be mentioned that the somewhat widespread impression that membership in it is restricted to business men and manufacturing concerns is erroneous. Membership is open to all citizens interested in helping Danielson in all possible ways.

Danielson and other places in this vicinity will be represented Sunday afternoon at Norwich, when National Commander McNutt, of the American legion, comes to that city to speak in the town hall. All legion post all auxiliaries in this part of the country have been invited to send delegations to greet the national commander and other officials of the organization that will be with him during his stay of two days in Connecticut.

Today's Farmer's Talk to Farmer Articles in The Bulletin in that section relative to small streams where traces of old dams may be found is typical of what may be seen along brooks of size and other small streams here in Killingly and in other nearby towns. They may be seen along Snake Meadow brook and along Quondock brook, to mention only two streams, now chiefly of interest to fishermen, but in the old days used to develop power to operate various kinds of small plants, including grist and sawmills. It is held today by some that the two streams mentioned might be so harnessed as to produce a generous amount of electrical energy.

PUTNAM

THOMPSON HOUSE IS BURNED TO THE GROUND

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Feb. 1—The home of Thomas Koukeck, of Thompson was completely destroyed by fire last night, when a defective chimney ignited and threw sparks upon the roof. The house, of wooden construction, was soon enveloped in flames and barely enough time was given the owner and the members of his family to escape from the building.

Three years ago a fire broke out in the Koukeck home in Thompson and leveled the dwelling to the ground. Because of the location of the house the little fire brigade of North Grosvenordale was unable to furnish any assistance other than that of aiding in rescuing some of the household furnishings. The loss was estimated at about $6,000.

Hyde Smith, of Worcester, was in Putnam today on business.

Radio fans in the south end of the city are again upon a rampage and today were willing to pay a bounty to the person who would destroy a local amateur who, for the past week, has been making life miserable for broadcast listeners, with his transmitting set. The speech of President Coolidge was lost to many Tuesday evening, as were a number of pugilistic programs which were sent out on the air for the benefit of the invisible audience. Whether or not protests will be sent to Washington, because of the action of the amateur, was not decided today, but the fans will take some drastic action to stop the calls, if the identity of the man at the key is discovered.

In another part of the community this morning, where radio reception is being marred, an investigation was started today in an effort to decipher the owner of an electrical device, which is functioning improperly and is responsible for the volume of disturbances of the past week.

The K. of C. tournament aggregation came back last evening to defeat the Odd Fellows in their weekly card round which was held at the Odd Fellow's hall on Pomfret street. The Kaceys closed the evening with a score of 4 to 1 in their favor. The summary of the event is as follows: K. of C. first, bridge, Benoit and A. Giraca won from McIntyre and Shaw; McGarry and Phaneuf won from Gifford and F. Morrarty; at bid, Irving and Rice won from Campbell and Tourtelotte; W. Rice and Bourgeois won from J. Strombelis and Ferns; L. Giraca and Welsh lost to F. Andrews and H. Morrarty.

The total score to date gives the Kaceys a 55-point lead over their Odd Fellow opponents, whom it is thought will find it exceedingly difficult to overcome such a tremendous lead.

ICE HARVESTERS STORE HEAVY CAKES ALL DAY FRIDAY

One night recently local people were much interested in a fine motion picture, "Ice Cutting on Moosehead in a Snow Storm." Eliminating the Moosehead, the many local visitors at the Dorrville and Brewster's cove ice fields Friday forenoon, were interested witnesses to the real thing. Two big gangs of men for Mr. Chenette and Shea Bros. didn't lose a minute, but kept from 16 to 24, 200-lb. cakes going in every 60 seconds. Even Moosehead itself would hardly be able to exhibit a more ideal wintry setting during the morning snowstorm. The Tracy island and the long smooth white expanse stretching off to the south, flanked on the east by an unbroken line of woods, where stand pine, birch and oak, was just as fine a landscape as any Maine lake can furnish.

AVIATION'S ADVANCES.

With the arrival of Colonel Lindbergh in Florida he has completed the flight that is preliminary to the opening of the new international air route to Panama next week. In view of the fact that Colonel Lindbergh was the one who demonstrated that flights were possible through Central and South American countries he is the logical one to inaugurate the air mail service which has come with unexpected speed.

This service will be only the forerunner of what can be expected to reach into South American countries at no distant date. Already there have been routes established among the West Indies; service to Mexico City has been shown to be practical and the time is rapidly approaching when mail service between South American cities and this country is going to be greatly speeded up.

This stands out in marked contrast to the factions that prevailed a half century ago. There were the days not so far off when it was necessary to go to Europe before it was possible to secure satisfactory accommodations for South American ports. Cable service was via Europe and to get to the west coast of South America it was necessary to circle that continent.

Today we have our direct steamship lines, our excellent ships and with the probability that they will be better and more numerous. Trade relations were never so good. The Panama canal has brought our west coast almost as near as the east coast, we are in touch with that continent by radio and aviators have demonstrated that the day is not far distant when quick transportation will be provided through the air for those in a hurry.

By the establishment of the mail route next week between Miami and Cristobal there will be a valuable extension of the mail service, but it will simply be another step forward, another extension which will show the possibilities of such service in a part of the country where even first class railroad service has not yet been reached. How rapidly aviation is progressing is indicated by the fact that in countries where railroads have not been seen plans are being made for aviation fields.

NEGLIGENCE AT CROSSINGS.

"Members of the train crew said that although the locomotive whistle was sounded constantly and the warning bell at the crossing was ringing, the automobile crashed into the locomotive."

This is part of a report of a fatal accident at a railroad crossing at Needham, Mass., when a young man who drove his morning auto in a train was badly mangled and the young woman with him had both legs cut off and is in a critical condition.

It occurred after Registrar Parker of the Massachusetts motor vehicle department had made the statement that during the period of two weeks his inspectors had reported 1700 motorists who had been negligent in driving near railroad crossings, but it apparently illustrated that heedlessness to danger and the real cause of too many of the crossing accidents.

The Needham crossing was equipped with a signal, it was one where the train could be seen and there was the added warning of the train whistle, but there was no disposition on the part of the motorist to pay attention to where he was going or what was threatening him.

In directing attention to the careless driving near crossings Registrar Parker points out that there are 1660 of them in the state of which 695 are not protected by any kind of warning. Without a doubt there are some of those crossings that ought to have signals of some kind, but when we note that motorists refuse to stop at crossings where warning bells are ringing, where the whistling of the train is ignored and where no heed is paid to the signs, it is a question whether anything short of a stone wall would prevent them from rushing in front of a train.

Those who are killed will need no disciplinary action on the part of the registrar of motor vehicles, but with those 1700 who were reported by inspectors being disciplined there ought to be a greater regard for the requirement in the motor vehicle law which calls for the slowing down of vehicles on approaching crossings and cautious progress thereafter. Still the matter of personal protection ought to be of sufficient interest to make anything of the kind unnecessary.

THE SALVATION ARMY CASE.

[illegible] indicate that the [illegible] by many different decision of the English judge in the court of members of the [illegible] General Bramwell Booth, but the action that has been taken should mean that there will be no chance to proclaim in the future that illegality prevailed.

By the court's decision there must be a rehearing of the matter. At that hearing there must be an opportunity for General Booth or his counsel to appear and participate. The court doesn't undertake to establish the rules that must be followed and it points out that it is not to be expected to pass upon the rightness or wrongness of such action as the council may take.

It is one of those instances where through an appeal to the courts the judge decides that General Booth should have a chance to be heard. As to the reasonableness of that there can be no doubt. This means that the whole matter must be gone over a second time with General Booth or his representative in attendance for such benefit as may accrue to him.

In view of the manner in which the council members have expressed themselves heretofore there seems little prospect of a second hearing resulting differently than the first, barring the fact that General Booth may so present his side of the matter that he can swing them to his side. Whether it will result in such a compromise as has been suggested and which certain ones have attempted to secure is another question.

No one can feel quite certain that another decision by the council following a hearing for General Booth will not result in further efforts through the courts to block action. That is a matter which rests with the future and it may be governed to a considerable degree by the efforts toward a compromise. It is an unfortunate situation when such an organization has to go through such a struggle in order to correct a condition which is believed by the majority of the high council ought not to exist. The aim is apparently to provide a better plan of control for such an organization.

RESTRICTING DOPE.

The difficulties involved in bringing about world-wide restrictions in regard to narcotics are disclosed by the action of the league of nation's committee in voting against the American plan for the restriction of the manufacture of narcotics by a vote of seven to four.

There were some of the strongest opponents who maintained that the plan bore the credit of being introduced by an American but that it was in fact the product of a member from Spain, but it was apparent that there was an unwillingness on the part of certain of the countries to undertake the limitation of production. Because of that they ridiculed the idea without making much of an impression by their arguments, but they possessed the numbers and the idea goes into the discard.

What has been undertaken in other ways has accomplished little. China has tried to protect itself by curtailing production but other producers are looking to China to dispose of much of their goods. The idea of limiting the amount produced to the quantity required for medical and scientific purposes may offer unusual complications but it would seem to offer a reasonable method of curbing the wholesale traffic in dope as carried on against the laws of this and other countries.

By the checking of the stuff at the source valuable means of controlling the opium products would be provided. It probably would mean a considerable loss to those countries which are getting big returns for the demoralization that is being caused throughout the world by the use of their products but the benefit to mankind in general would be more than enough to offset it. From all indications such a benefit lies in the dim and distant future in spite of the league of nations efforts.

NO TOURING FOR FRIED.

According to an announcement from Washington, Captain Fried will probably return to the command of the liner America following his visit to that city to receive the personal commendation of President Coolidge.

This is good news and it is believed that it will be in accord with the views of the captain whose persistency has resulted in the rescue of the crews of two vessels in bad weather conditions in mid-ocean.

Captain Fried has shown himself to be the type of a captain whose services should be in constant demand. He has displayed not only the ability to handle his ship in admirable shape but he has demonstrated his true regard for the best traditions of the sea. Those within hearing of his ship have found that a call for help never goes unheeded. He has not been disposed to listen and leave the rescue work to someone else, even though it required much time and patience in finding the ship in distress and the risking of lives in lending a helping hand.

Possibly it was not the intention of the fleet corporation to send Captain Fried about the country as a platform speaker to retell his experiences in saving the crew of the Florida. Such an impression was gained however, but the announcement to the effect that invitations to visit other cities had been turned down in behalf of the captain must be looked upon as good judgment. It accords with the general attitude of Captain Fried. He possesses high ability as commander of a ship and it is there he is most needed.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Only 27 more days and the last of the winter months will be gone.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

When we read accounts of the former reign of witchcraft even in our own favored land in days past there is an inclination to pat ourselves on the back and say "what an emergence there has been from the darkness of Colonial days!" But it must be admitted that it tends to take the swelling out of our heads when we read that three so called intelligent young men in Pennsylvania killed an old and worthy man because he had cast a "spell" over one of them, which resulted in bodily discomfort. They believed that the spell could be broken if they buried a lock of his hair eight feet under ground, but to do this they had to kill him. And they actually thought that they were justified in so doing. It may be well now and then that our belief in being a race of supreme and takes an ignoble tumble showing clearly that the benighted savage still lingers beneath our Nordic skin.

It is still true that people who live in "glass houses ought not to throw stones," because superstitious belief belief in the weird and unreasonable still remains among us. The writer has known young people midway in their college career who were not a little disturbed when they went home for the Thanksgiving dinner to find that places were set for thirteen. Nothing but the sublime odor of roast turkey kept them from pulling the chair from underneath dear old grandmother, or Aunt Susan. It surely meant that somebody would surely die in the next twelve months, and even college lads in the dew of their beautiful youth had been known to slip into fairer fields —for other reasons. In our superior intelligence we sneer at the action of three young fellows who wanted to bury a certain lock of hair because it was the means of giving ulcers to one of them, but it is different when our whole carcass is at stake.

Please allow the writer to state how belief in the mysterious once saved him from an unjust and awful fate. On one occasion he did something which his father incorrectly thought was wrong, and was promised a whaling at the first opportunity. As the bell was ringing for prayer meeting when the awful offense was committed, it had to be delayed. Then a bright thought came to the lad. It was the time of the new moon. Hence he backed out of the house just to see the moon over his right shoulder (or was it his left?) which meant good luck and it began at once when mother put the innocent child to bed before father came back. That was good luck number one. When father came back he was so full of the hallelujah spirit that he was not in the mood to whack anybody or anything. In the morning he was called to deal with some school emergency, and then he forgot all about it. Who will say that seeing the moon over the right shoulder is not a sign of good luck?

All professional men and women are impressed with the almost frenzied efforts on the part of book publishers and librarians to get their wares before the reading public. No doubt that their constituencies are larger now than ever before. Now this fact raises the important question if we are not reading too much and thinking too little. It is much easier to read than it is to think, and the temptation is great to let the other fellow do the thinking for you, and if his book is a good seller he is well paid for doing your thinking. But if we are going to retain our mental power we must think our problems ourselves. The other fellow cannot do it for us. In the case of most of us even if we rehash what others have thought out it may be better than what we can do originally. But to retain our individuality we must think things through ourselves.

Nothing puts more emphasis on the materialism of our age than the frenzied plunging of the American people into the sea of stock and bonds. One need not look at it from the standpoint of moral wrong. It is just as legitimate to buy the stocks and bonds of a manufacturing concern as it is to use their productions. Of course it is a field that appeals to the gambling instinct, but as a matter of fact that where the spirit of gambling exists it is quite easy to find some field for its expression. I have heard of two wicked boys who once bet the whole of their personal possessions, consisting of two nickels on the length of a minister's sermon. Aside from all this is there not a danger arising from the excitement that it engenders? The writer once had the opportunity to witness the scenes on the floor of the stock exchange in New York. He has never seen the like of it since, except once at Brewster's Neck.

Nothing is clearer on this side of the Atlantic than the fact that we have entered the new year on a great tidal wave of prosperity. Not the greatest in our history, but the wave is big enough to give a bright outlook to the first quarter of the year. The barometer of Wall street is showing this quite clearly. There is a disposition in some quarters to make rather envious remarks about the mercenary American spirit and it comes largely from those who mostly play the role of borrowers. The greatest criticism comes from those whom America helps in times of financial stringency. It ought to be remembered that not a word is said in the Bible against wealth, although it does hold up the danger signal. It is not the possession of wealth that is condemned, but rather its perversion, and its mastery of its possessor.

Don't have the blues, my friend, if that old coal bin is up to its usual tricks of running low. But rather thank God that you know where a supply can be had, and that you have the wherewith to make it your own. Now there are much worse things that can come into your life and your home than a low coal bin, for example a low degree of bodily vitality. And that is apt to come in January for obvious reasons. When the local bin looks as if it had been hit by lightning, all you have to do is to telephone to the dealer and open the cellar window, and then, provided you have paid for the last batch, you will soon have a load dumped in. But when vitality runs low, you can't open up veins, nerves, muscles, and much less, brains, and have a load of vitality dumped in. It is apt to be a long, slow, discouraging process. The best way to keep the bin of energy from running low—and it will run low unless looked after—is to create the necessary heat by daily exercise.

If jealously was not the cause of so much trouble in this very imperfect world it would be perfectly ridiculous. If Mrs. Smith buys a new silk gown, and Mrs. Jones who lives just across the street can't afford one of the same quality, she becomes wild with rage and envy. She has nothing else to live for but possibly the day when Jones "strikes oil" and she can get a silk dress that will make Mrs. Smith's costly robe look like a 17th century rag-bag. The United States proposes to add one more to her number of mud scows and at once Europe goes up in the air like a skyrocket. The papers come out loaded down to the water's edge with "parity and disparity." How long have we got to live on this old earth before we shall learn that fundamental lesson of having faith in one another? Perhaps in 2000 years more we shall learn to "love one another."

HOUSE IN UTOPLAV

"Well, Ralph has built himself some shack, hasn't he?" remarked Jack as he and his wife were leaving the new home of a well-to-do relative.

"Yes, indeed, it's very nice in some ways—quite attractive," agreed Felicia conservatively.

"What you mean 'in some ways'? I think it about perfect."

"Why, Jack, how can you think it perfect without a fireplace in the sun porch? All the really luxurious homes have a fireplace in the solarium."

"Nonsense, Felicia. I shouldn't think of having a fireplace in what you call a solarium if I were building a house. It would be a ridiculous extravagance. A fireplace in the living room is quite sufficient with the present price of fuel."

"Oh, of course, if you're going to have only a strictly practical dwelling, why build at all? I think a home should be beautiful."

"Why, so do I, Felicia, but I wouldn't stand for too many frills."

"Do you call it a frill to have the sol—the sun porch made comfortable by a gracious fireplace, Jack?"

"Yes, I do. If it's cold enough to require a fire on the sun porch we might as well sit inside the house."

"You don't seem to realize what it would mean to Nancy-girl to have a charming, sunny place to play in, with a warm wood fire to watch and enjoy."

"No use bringing up Nancy like a millionaire's offspring. We mustn't spoil that youngster, Felicia."

"Do you really think, Jack, that a fireplace on the sun porch would pervert your child?" inquired Felicia with cold patience.

"Of course not, but I don't think it would be wholesome for her to have a house built solely for her comfort and pleasure."

"I don't feel that anything is too good for my daughter. I love her."

"Well, nobody loves Nancy-girl more than I do, and that's the reason I don't wish to spoil her. Cousin Ralph's garage is pretty nifty, isn't it?"

"It's all right, but, Jack, I can't see why he made a seperate building of it. I like the idea of the garage being a part of the house. It's good architecturally, and so convenient in bad weather. Weren't you surprised at his putting that little garage way off there in the garden?"

"No, I wasn't, Felicia. Perhaps you don't realize, my dear, that a garage in the same building as the house increases the cost of insurance. I'd never build one under the same roof with my home."

"I must say that I never thought you'd be so painfully practical and utilitarian in your ideas, Jack."

"Well, dear, one has to be when it comes to building."

"Perhaps you think me impractical, but I know one thing I'd do that your cousin Ralph didn't do. I'd have the kitchen in the front of the house."

"In the front of the house! I never heard of such an idea."

"Then you're way behind the times. A front kitchen is the last word in home architecture."

"Well, I think I'll stay behind the times."

"You must think it's fun to be stuck way at the back end of a house where I can't see anything in the street all the time I'm working there. It seems to me, Jack, that the housekeeper should have something to say about planning the house." The slight tremble in Felicia's voice caused Jack to glance hastily at her pretty young profile as they walked side by side.

"Why, Felicia, my dear, you know that the only reason in the world that I'd ever wish to build a house would be to please you and Nancy-girl. Perhaps we had just better discard my plans entirely, and you can make the new ones just to suit yourself. In the meantime I hope that the janitor hasn't let the steam go down just because it's getting a bit springy. Anything I hate is a chilly flat. What kind of heating plant are you going to have in our castle?"

Felicia laughed.

"I don't suppose we shall need anything more than a fireplace in the clime where we are building."

"Cheer up, darling, sometimes dreams do come true!"—Exchange.

YOUR HEALTH

GUARD THE AGED FROM HIP FRACTURE

By Maynard C. Harding, M. D.
San Diego, California.

A search of every family tree would reveal a grandfather or grandmother somewhere who had suffered a broken hip. "This is the common fracture of old age, and unfortunately the most disabling of all fractures. A check of nearly 200 consecutive cases in the writer's practice shows an average age of 72 years, and an average age of 78 years in the fatal cases. The mortality is almost constant at 25 per cent in any large series.

The amount of crippling is great, and many never are able to walk again. This is due to several causes, some of which, at least, can largely be remedied.

The feebleness and ill health of old age cannot be avoided. The unfortunate attitude that nothing is worth doing for such cases is inexcusable in the light of modern bone surgery. The most comfortable, safest, and most healthful treatment is by the use of a proper case or brace that holds the fragments after reduction. This method permits the patient to be turned on his face or to be taken out of doors with comfort. Patients so treated rarely have pneumonia, which is credited with many deaths in any other form of treatment.

Let me give a word of warning which is most important. It takes ten weeks or more to get a solid enough union to allow the cast to be removed. The doctor will be the judge of that. It also takes from ten months to a year before full weight can be borne safely. This is usually left to the patient who has long since discharged his doctor. Nature does not produce a firm body union in less time, and if weight is borne before such firm union is secured, the fracture will slip, the leg will shorten, and a weak, painful hip will result. You can avoid much disability if you will remember "it takes a year."

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—There is still one watertight compartment of the federal government which pull—political or family—has not invaded. That is West Point, where the future generals are ground out in annual crops. Pull may have a lot to do with getting youngsters into the Point, but there it ends. Once in, they are under army discipline.

Witness what happened in the last Christmas holidays when the "plebes," first year men, were left in their lonely glory to pass the holidays at the Point while upper-classmen galloped away on Christmas furloughs as is customary. Even cadet officers of the plebes go, so it is also customary for the youngsters to name their own officers for that interval.

The New Chief

The present plebe class picked on a young husky of its membership for chief honors. About his first duty was to march the class to the mess hall for luncheon. It answered his commands snappily and well.

Lunch over, he started them back. And out in the middle of a snow covered parade ground, mutiny broke out. In a moment the temporary commander was stripped not only of authority, but down to the buff. His garments vanished as they were wrested from his shrinking, blushing form by his shouting, laughing classmates.

Released at last, he dashed in search of the privacy his soul craved. Headed from one avenue of escape by the distant approach of a pair of girl visitors, he tore frantically down another amid yowls of glee from his ruthless comrades.

It so happened that the "Old Man," the general officer commanding, was strolling elsewhere in the grounds and heard the row. When he reached his office, he telephoned the officer in charge of discipline. That worthy jumped for the scene, pad and pencil in hand.

He's In the Army

The youngsters were scattering craftily to avoid official reprisals for their prank, but he rounded up a lot of them. And the very first name to go down on his pad was that of Cadet William R. Smith, jr., son of the general commanding.

A few demerits and 30 days "on the area" were meted out to each offender, including Cadet Smith. The sentence as posted bearing the approving endorsement of General "Papa" Smith.

And for that 30 days Cadet Smith was as utterly excluded from the Christmas gaieties of his father's quarters as though he had been banished to Patagonia. For, you see, he's "in the army now."

Sunday Morning Talk

PEACE, PERFECT PEACE.

"Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee."

We are assured of this peace if we do our part and let nothing separate us from Christ. We all remember Paul and Silas in that dungeon at Philippi. It was a horrible, dark, dreary hole. The backs of those two servants of God were sore from scourging, and the stocks into which their feet were fastened added to their misery. But the iron door of that prison and all their wounds and the painful stocks could not shut God out from them—only shut God in with them. In other words they kept on trusting. As a result the peace and joy of their hearts were undisturbed. And even in such a place and plight they found it impossible to refrain from singing God's praise. The pleasure of a journey depends very largely on its companionships. On the pathway to peace we walk hand in hand with the Prince of Peace.

Peace comes from companionship with Christ and from no other source. There is a sort of happiness to be found in life apart from goodness. We can enjoy much that is enjoyable and on the other hand, we can cultivate a sort of stoicism toward life's inevitable ills much like that of the old Indian warriors who stilled themselves to endure torture without flinching. But peace does not spring from excitement, nor can we have it by setting our teeth and bracing ourselves to endure. Christ does not give as the world gives. He alone can give us peace. Our trust so often waivers, explains why our peace is so imperfect. Today perhaps our faith is as glad and strong as the faith of a child in his mother's love. Tomorrow doubts creep in, and questionings arise and we wonder if God really cares for our little trials. And so our own faithlessness puts flaws and defects into the peace that came from the hand of God unblemished. Steadfastness is the secret of abiding peace.

Power comes from peace. When the soul is at peace every power of mind and body is at its best. We shall fall short of what we might accomplish if we waste our energy worrying over some trifle that has gone wrong or borrowing trouble from the future.

"Peace, perfect peace, in this dark world of sin,"
The blood of Jesus whispers peace within.
Peace, perfect peace, by thronging duties pressed;
To do the will of Jesus this is rest.
Peace, perfect peace, with sorrows swinging round,
On Jesus' bosom naught but calm is found.

TIMMY HAS FUN

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

In manners one is seldom pleasing
Who always takes delight in teasing.
—Old Mother Nature.

Timmy the Flying Squirrel had also moved into Farmer Brown's barn through the bad weather. That barn was a wonderful place for a Flying Squirrel. He could always find plenty to eat there. It might blow and snow and snow and blow outside, but inside it would always be comfortable. Timmy had moved into the barn before Spooky the Owl did. He had known when Spooky moved in and for some time he had managed to keep out of sight. There were so many rats and mice in the big barn that Spooky was occupied with catching them most of the time. So it was that he hadn't seen Timmy the Flying Squirrel until quite by accident he discovered him one evening. He had tried to catch him and had failed.

That had given Timmy a lot of confidence. The result was that after that he didn't try to keep out of teasing Spooky. He would run out on some big beam, or on a rafter, in the roof and then wait until Spooky would try to catch him. Then, just at the those wonderful flying leaps of his and those wonderful flying leaps of his all sail clear across the barn. Usually Spooky would fly after him, but he never could get his claws on Timmy.

It got so after a while that Spooky stopped trying to catch Timmy. He refused to pay any attention to him. Then Timmy began to grow bolder. If he could have known what was going on in Spooky's mind all the time, perhaps he wouldn't have been quite so bold.

"Timmy is going to get careless one of these days," Spooky would say to himself. "He is going to get very bold, and when he gets very bold he will become very careless. I can afford to wait. I will just pay no attention to him at all."

This is just what Spooky did. Then there was no fun for Timmy. Timmy grew bolder and bolder. He would jump from a rafter high up in the barn and sail down right under where

You know how Timmy sails

Spooky was perched. Sometimes he would jump from behind Spooky and sail right past him. It was done in the most provoking way. You know how Timmy sails. He jumps from some high place, stretches his four legs out until he is almost flat. Between each foreleg and hindleg is a strip of thin skin covered with fur on the outer side. When he stretches his arms and legs out, of course, he stretches that skin out and that helps to hold him up in the air as he goes sailing at a long slant. So he can jump very long distances, gliding or sailing on the air. Always, however, he is going down and when he alights he is far below the place he starts from.

As I have said, Timmy grew bolder and bolder. There was no fun in teasing Spooky if Spooky refused to be teased. At last he grew so bold that he ran out on the very rafter on which Spooky was perched. Spooky looked as if he were asleep. But Spooky did not open his eyes, so Timmy ventured a little nearer this time. This was exciting and so it was fun. Exciting things usually are fun. He felt very brave and very bold. At last, he was almost to Spooky and still Spooky did not move. Then, looking down Timmy spied a mouse on the grain bin. He forgot Spooky and leaned over to look at that mouse. It was a bad time to be forgetful. Yes, sir, it was a bad time to be forgetful.

Now, all this time Spooky the Screech Owl had not been asleep at all. He had merely pretended. He was doing what is called "watchful waiting." He had not missed a movement of Timmy. "I believe my chance has come," he muttered under his breath. "Anyway, I'll give that squirrel a fright he won't get over in a hurry."

When the sun goes south for the winter eat canned fruits and vegetables, sweetened for enjoyment

GLANCE at a chart of the United States showing all of the fruits and vegetables with the time when they come on the market, and you will be amazed at how many long months there are that are almost completely blank.

This of course means that during those months the sun goes south for the winter. It is the concern of every man, woman and child to see that health does not go south with the sun.

Viewed in this true light, the canning factories and sugar refineries of this country extend the season of fruits and vegetables into the winter. They place the health-giving fruits and vegetables, together with their acids, minerals and vitamines, in protecting cans, and place these in every grocery store throughout the United States where we can buy them with almost no difficulty at all, and the sugar refineries produce the sweetening to make these healthful foods delicious to the taste.

During the long months of winter every meal from breakfast to dinner may well contain some health-giving canned foods. Canned fruits, jams, jellies and preserves for breakfast, and canned fruits and vegetables for luncheon and dinner.

People are living longer than they used to. Isn't part of this probably due to the increasing use in the winter-time of canned foods? Eat enough of these healthful foods made enjoyable with sugar. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

Over $2,000 in cash has been raised this week by the Hebrew residents of Norwich as their contribution to the United Palestine Appeal for funds to aid in rebuilding Palestine, according to an announcement made Friday evening by M. I. Silverman, secretary of the local campaign committee. Mr Silverman said that since the opening of the campaign, last Sunday night, a total of $4,500 has been secured in cash and pledges. The quota for Norwich is $7,500.

Rabbi Joseph N. Rosenberg is chairman of the local committee, Michael Levine and Abraham Cramer are the vice-presidents, M. I. Silverman, the secretary and the treasurer is Rabbi Max Stamm. The campaign will continue until the $7,500 quota has been raised. Samuel Taylor is one of the most active workers in the campaign.

Local Hebrew residents are interested in the announcement that in New York city, $400,000 was raised Thursday night, which marked the opening of the campaign in that city. Speeches and contributions from leading non-Zionists, at the New York campaign dinner, indicate that long-standing differences in the Zionist movement have been swept away.

Felix M Warburg, one of the leaders of the non-Zionist group and a speaker at the New York banquet, referring to the methods of re-constructing Palestine said:

"One thing is sure: mere charity or philanthropy will not bring this about. It means patient investment carefully made. Let us hope that in the campaign you will by signing this site, and other people who are willing to invest for the future and their children in enterprises which will surely give them satisfaction, probably a good one received, who is more valuable than in two preceding ones, pride in having been connected with the undertaking from the start and having helped in its success."

HEARING IN MURDER CASE AT WESTERLY LATE FRIDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Feb. 1—In the district court, the Louis Gingerilla murder hearing was adjourned at 5:45 Friday evening, with the last witness on the stand, Capt. Charles J. Vanarmburgh, completing his testimony for the state and his cross-examination by Attorney Pettine. The hearing will be resumed Saturday morning at 10:30.

BOZRAH NOTES.

George Strouse is spending a few days in New York city. On Friday evening he attended the Lafayette college alumni banquet at the Hotel Commodore.

Miss Nellie Fuller of Connecticut college was a recent visitor at the Congregational parsonage.

The Bible Study class is meeting every Thursday evening at the church. This weekly fellowship is much enjoyed.

STORRS HENS SET UP WINTER'S HIGH RECORD

Tough New England weather, which apparently stopped the hens laying last year according to the report did not seem to have any effect upon this year's birds, for the weekly production was the highest since the contest started. The birds laid 4,241 eggs or a yield of 60.6 per cent. This is a little over 6 per cent more than last year's production and 127 eggs more than last week's. The total to date is 50,680 eggs or an average of almost 51 eggs per bird.

George Lewry's White Leghorns from West Willington, Conn., holded the honor roll for the week with a score of 68 eggs. Another pen of the same breed entered by Granite Springs Farm of Granite Springs, N. Y., was second with 65 eggs. Hens in Leghorns from Cervalis, Oregon, were third with a lay of 63 eggs. Each place was tied by a pen of Rhode Island Reds owned by Charlesgate Farm, Southern Mass., with a production of 62 eggs. It is apparent from the records that during the next two or three weeks there will be a scramble for the honor roll and for the contest pens.

The leading pens in the Barred Rocks, White Rock, White Wyandotte, and White Leghorn divisions remain as they were. In the Rhode Island Reds, however, Charlescote's pen moves up another notch this week, and is now in second place, thus relegating Homer R. Rowell's birds to third place. Once again Zephirm LaBelle's pen from Ballouville, Conn., appears amongst the leaders, chasing Chapin's pen off the map temporarily. Ever since the contest started there has been close competition in the Rhode Island Class.

STATES HIGHWAY SYSTEM TOTALS OVER 2,000 MILES

State Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald, in his annual report just submitted to Gov John H. Trumbull sets the valuation of the state's highway system at $46,185,405.09. This estimate includes in addition to the value of the state roads the numerous bridges and Connecticut river ferries which are essential parts of the highway system. Exclusive of the bridges and ferries the highway network including additions for new surface is valued by the commissioner at $40,[illegible]5,300.

In his report the commissioner states that the state's highway system at the close of the last fiscal year totaled 2042.45 miles, 71.05 miles having been added to the previously adjusted total of 1961.40 during the fiscal year of 1927-1928. This total, which includes graded roads of all types, has values at a general average of $10,000 per mile, bringing the estimated valuation of $20,124,000. To this figure he adds a total of $20,191,900 for those roads which have been resurfaced and the value of which has therefore been increased to such an extent that they may be considered as new construction. This brings the entire total of graded roads of all types in the state to the figure of $40,315,900.

The commissioner estimates the valuation of the bridges which span the rivers and streams along the highway right of way at $5,857,505.09. This includes the grouping of the miscellaneous small bridges which span small brooks and streams and the eight large bridges over the more important rivers. The ferries which operate across the Connecticut river are valued at $12,000, bringing the entire estimated worth of the highway system to $46,185,405.09.

The report carries a table showing the disbursements of the highway department since the date of its inauguration back in 1895. The total disbursements since that time to the close of the last fiscal year of the state was $112,313,820.23. This figure includes disbursements from definite legislative appropriations, receipts from automobile fees and fines, receipts from the gasoline tax, and refunds from counties, towns and various other sources.

During the past 34 years the total amount expended upon state aid and trunkline construction was $20,641,478 while the total expended for reconstruction since reconstruction became necessary in 1919 was $22,224,679. Repairs to these roads have cost $40,356,113. The balance of the disbursements made by the highway department since it came into existence have been for federal aid and bridge construction, engineering and clerical expenses, salaries and other like items.

ARTISTIC READY CUT HOT DOG STANDS

"Artistic ready-cut" hot-dog stands may soon replace the present ramshackle abominations and help keep the highways from becoming "one filling station after another fenced in by billboards," Dr J. Horace McFarland, of Harrisburg, Pa., former president of the American Civic association predicted in a speech at the banquet of the New England Forestry congress at Hartford last night.

Filling stations for both men and automobiles are necessities said Dr. McFarland, but they need not be ugly. Unobjectionable refreshment stands will come into existence along the roads because it is more profitable to have them beautiful. Large and [illegible] roadhouses are now working on plans for "ready-cut" artistic stands, he said.

Dr McFarland also said that billboard companies are beginning to show respect for an informed public sentiment which [illegible]

LINDER STARS AS DEEP RIVER TAKES OVER TIME GAME FROM ACADEMY

Rallying in the second half, Deep River high scored a brilliant 19 to 17 overtime victory over the Academy basketball team Friday night at the Y gym. Trailing 7 to 1 at the first quarter and 10 to 7 at the half, the visitors incorked a smart offensive after the intermission. Walter Linder, who previously had been known here as a very good baseball pitcher, was the shining light of the game. He scored 16 of the 19 points for the victors including the winning basket in the overtime session, getting all of their six field goals and their 12 points in the second half. Aside from four shots by Mozzochi, at forward, another Mozzochi at center and Swan at left guard, Linder was the whole works.

A couple of his field baskets were of the sensational variety. At least two were from impassable mid-floor, especially the one in the closing moments of the regular game that gave the Rivers a lead and the other one in the overtime that won the game were beauties.

The game was probably the most interesting that the Academy has played this year. Starting off in rather drab fashion, action soon increased and in the last half and overtime period play was at a feverish pace. A fair crowd was also in a frenzy during the latter part of the contest.

Deep River had a handful of rooters that made a lot of noise, continually cheering their hero, Linder. Walter got some measure of revenge for the baseball defeat, the state championship Wildcat team, hung on him in the midst of all his glory last spring. That was Deep River's only defeat and it sure was some pill to swallow.

Pat Sievers was the Academy's leading scorer, with 11 points and he also played a great game. Capt. LaCroix was forced out of the game in the third period on personal fouls and that probably robbed the Academy of victory.

The Academy played its best game of the season. They made a grand fight for the victory and deserve plenty of credit. This team looks like it will show a lot of improvement in the next few years and maybe we will have something to say in the basketball goings of Eastern Connecticut.

In the preliminary the Kappa club won a church league game from the Clothiers, 62 to 23.

Two Games Tonight at Y

Tonight at the Y gym it will be somewhat of a Norwich-Winsted evening. In the first game, starting at 8 o'clock the Y Seniors tackle the Winsted Y five, and immediately following that game, about 9 o'clock, the Academy clashes with the strong Gilbert high team, also from Winsted. Both games should produce a maximum of action and should attract a large crowd.

The Academy put up a great battle for the Deep River game last night, showing a world of fight. Now that the team seems to have improved a bit, they can be expected to give Gilbert plenty of trouble. Gilbert holds a victory over Wilby high of Waterbury among other teams this year and is having a successful season. It is perhaps the strongest high school team to invade an Eastern Connecticut court this season, so far.

Nobility Outsmarts the Upstarts

With the assistance of two paid rooters the Nobility evened up the series with the Upstarts at the Riverview alleys Thursday night by beating them by five pins. It is alleged that the compensation of the hired rooters was one egg sandwich and a pack of cigarettes each. The game, no doubt, was one of the closest fought games that has been played at the hospital in recent years. The cheering started when the first ball was thrown and did not let up until the last pin fell down. The frenzied rooters tore up the score sheets so that it is impossible to print the score. The only score known was that made by Joe Phillips, of the Upstarts. Joe equalled the high single record made by Sam Wilcox, by knocking off 122. He made four strikes and six spares in this string and it may be well to add here that he also had high score for the night with 422. The third and deciding game of this series for the championship of the club will be rolled next Thursday night.

WINDHAM PUTS CRIMP IN CHAPMAN'S TITLE HOPES

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Feb. 1—Windham High gave Chapman Tech's aspirations for a championship in the Eastern Connecticut-Western Rhode Island Interscholastic league quite a set-back here tonight when they defeated the Whalers 39 to 24. Windham completely outclassed the Whalers during the entire game and had little difficulty in taking the decision.

As the result of Windham's victory over Chapman Tech, the Whalers' position at the top in the Eastern Conn. conference court race was seriously threatened as Windham closed the gap considerably. The present standing:

Chapman Tech	4	1	.800
Windham	3	1	.750

JOHNNY KOP WINS THREE BOUTS, TWO BY KAYOES

(Special to The Bulletin)

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 1—Johnny Kop of Norwich, fighting his first bouts at the Arcadia arena here tonight took the house by storm when he captured the honors in the lightweight division, by winning three sensational bouts. In his first bout Kop flattended Young Banano of Providence in the first minute of fighting. Kop knocked Banano down three times when the referee stopped the bout with Banano groggy and only semi-conscious.

In the second bout he met Sammy Mango of Boston, former N. E. lightweight champ, and outpointed him with ease. Kop had a big lead in every round. Coming on for his third bout he stacked up against Tommy Rodgers, the hard hitting South Boston lad. Kop took Rodgers after about a minute and a half of fighting. Rodgers carried the fight to Kop which was to the Norwich boy's liking as he uncorked a wicked right to the jaw and Rodgers went down taking a count of eight. He came up and again Kop crashed another right to the same place and Rodgers faded from the picture.

MALONEY GIVES O'KELLY A TERRIFIC LACING

BOSTON, Feb. 1—(AP)—Jimmy Maloney, Boston heavyweight, gave Con O'Kelly, of Ireland, a terrific ten round beating here tonight in the Boston Garden's feature bout. Maloney carried every round but the last and had O'Kelly in great distress in the ninth. Maloney came in at 194 pounds and his opponent was five pounds lighter.

Maloney put up the best fistic exhibition of his career. O'Kelly fought gamely all the way. The Irishman tried to proceed cautiously during the early stages, forcing Maloney to assume the attack. Midway, after the Boston boy had punished him severely about the body in every clinch, O'Kelly was willing to trade blows.

Arthur Flynn, Lawrence, middleweight and Maloney's stablemate, cut Vincent Forgione, of Philadelphia, to ribbons with hard left hooks to win the decision in the ten round semi-final bout. Flynn gained a wide lead during the first five rounds but Forgione then got his second wind and kept matters even until the eighth, when Flynn almost pounded him to the canvas. Forgione took a terrific beating in the last two rounds and was barely able to stand when the bell ended the gory affair.

Big Boy Rawson, a monstrous Boston youth, knocked out Tiger Tom Dixon, of Dover, N. H., in the first round of an eight round bout. Rawson had 12 pounds advantage and as many inches on his opponent and he derived every benefit possible from these natural advantages. Johnny Wild, of Sweden, gave Eddie Callahan, of Arlington, a terrific beating in a furious six round slugfest and Joe Stockman, Boston heavyweight, treated Big Boy Burlap, of Westerly, R. I., in a similar fashion in their four round contest. Roy Silliker, of Somerville, knocked out Terry Mitchell, of Cambridge, in the third heat of the opening four rounder.

MISS FORDYCE TO MEET MRS. CLEMSON IN FINALS

PINEHURST, N. C., Feb. 1—(AP)—Miss Louise Fordyce, Youngstown, Ohio, will meet Mrs. Richard Clemson, Middletown, N. Y., tomorrow in the finals of the second annual Mid-South open golf tournament of Pine Needles Country club here.

Miss Fordyce, runner-up in the 1924 North and South championship, won her way to the finals today by defeating Miss Martha Parker, Spring Lake, N. J., medalist, in a match that went 20 holes.

Mrs. Clemson took her morning match by default from Miss Glenna Collett, national women's champion when the Providence, R. I., player withdrew on account of illness. Mrs. Clemson defeated Miss J. F. Jacques, New York, 4 and 2, this afternoon.

HORTON SMITH LEADS FIELD IN CENTRAL OPEN

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 1—(AP)—Horton Smith, 21-year-old Joplin, Mo. youth, braved a bleak wind here today to show the way to a large south central open field with a 38-33—71 card, one below par.

The slender youngster, winner of the Catalina Island and Oklahoma City tournaments of the winter stretch, was but a stroke ahead of Wild Bill Mehlhorn, whose sensational pace has featured late meets, Al Espinosa, Chicago veteran, Al Watrous of Detroit and Johnny Golden, the consistent Paterson, N. J., player, each bringing home a 72.

Smith had birdies at 11, 17 and 18 and played around par all the way in, after being out in two over.

Nor were the cards of Mehlhorn, Espinosa, Watrous and Golden safe with Billy Burke, North and South champion, Ed Dudley of California, Joe Kirkwood of trickshot fame and Dick Grout, Oklahoma, posting a 73 each.

Anything under 78 was considered far from bad in view of the wind and cold. Such stars as Tommy Armour, Cyril Walker, Henry O and Al Cuicut, Harry Cooper, Tony Manero of New York and Henry Cotton of London, taking high counts.

SCHMELING SCORES TECHNICAL K. O. OVER JOHNNY RISKO IN NINTH ROUND

MADISON SUARE GARDEN, New York, Feb. 1—(AP)—The ghost of the Jack Dempsey of Toledo days, bobbing and weaving, pouring deadly leather from both fists as of old, stalked through the ring of a crowded Garden tonight in the person of Max Schmeling, black-visaged German youth.

It was the same old panther crouch, the mad, fighting fury of the old champion, the whistle of flying gloves, smash of leather on flesh—and the thud of a falling body. In the end Johnny Risko, the rubber man of Cleveland, suffered the first real knock-out of a career that has taken in battles with the best men of his time.

Risko passed out of the heavyweight picture for the time being at least in the ninth round of one of the best battles the Garden ever witnessed at any weight. Four times, before Referee Arthur Donovan half carried the Cleveland baker boy to his corner, after one minute and five seconds of the ninth, Risko was on the floor for counts of nine.

In his very first round, Schmeling ripped a right to Johnny's head and for the first time in all of his Garden bouts, Risko hit the floor. He bounced to his feet without a count. A half to his feet without a count. A half smile on his face, and whaled back at the head and body of the scowling invader. Johnny whaled with success until the seventh session, when Max floored him again with a sizzling right.

By this time Johnny had forgotten how to smile. His face was smeared with the blood that drooled from his open mouth, his eyes were glassy, legs wobbly. He barely lasted the round and was down again in the ninth under the fury of Schmeling's attack before Donovan called a halt.

While the defeat will go down in Risko's record as a technical, Johnny was unconscious on his feet at the end. He reeled and wvaered under the storm of short smashes Schmeling poured into his head and body. His legs folded, then pulled straight again. His weak attempts to punch waved at no one in particular and he hadn't the faintest idea where to find Schmeling in that ring. Johnny's eyes were half open but he could see nothing but great lights, dazzling the brain.

Only once before in a career that has brought battles with Jack Sharkey, Tom Heeney, Paulino Uscudun, and all of the other contemporary greats was Risko ever defeated by a technical knockout. Chuck Wiggins cut Johnny's eye so badly once that the fight had to be stopped. He has never had the ten count sounded above him.

But tonight, the rubber man of the image of Dempsey at his best, ghting in a cruel, ruthless style that awed the crowd of close to 20,000 jammed in the big arena. From the time of the first knockdown, Risko's stay was measured only by his ability brain, and the weight of experience to take punishment, his cagey fighting held constantly over the youngster.

Schmeling, in appearance and fighting form, is the image of Dempsey in the ring. He stalked the rubber boy flat-footedly as the old champion, ripped right and left, to hte head as he wove in to close quarters, snarled when punches ripped into his own head and body, and when time came to end it all, was a fighting fury, mad with the lust of the ring.

DANIELSON LOSES BY ONE POINT

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Feb. 1—In another of those fast and furious games of basketball and in a game which was a rip and tuck affair from start to finish the Danielson Towners lost out to the Pere Marquette team of Boston in the last minute of play by the score of 20 to 23 here tonight. At the first sound of the whistle the teams went off at a dizzy pace and never once was there a letup until the final whistle, first one team scoring and then the other, with the first half ending in a deadlock at 11-all.

Starting the second half with the same determination to win the Danielson team managed to get a lead of six points and were in the lead for the first ten minutes of the second half but then the Boston boys came back and tied the score. From then on the score see-sawed until the final whistle with Danielson needing but a single basket to win the game.

Every player on both teams played a fine game with Bop Williams starring with 10 points, while Jennings of Boston was high scorer for his club with 11 points. This game will go down as another great encounter and is the second this season to be lost by a single point Danielson to date has won seven out of ten games on the local floor and two of the three lost have been by a single basket which is quite a record considering the calibre of teams played.

In the preliminary game the C. L. A. A. of Danielson defeated the Putnam Trade school 41 to 20. The summaries:

HEARING OF GINGERILLA IN GACCIONE MURDER CASE

WESTERLY, R. I., Feb. 1—For the hearing of Louis Gingerilla, 34, residing at the corner of Oak and Tower streets, charged with the slaying of Santo Gaccione, 43, of 4 Marion street, with a gun shot through the side of the house at 1 a. m., Jan. 21st, the third district court rooms and corridors were crowded Friday at 9 a. m. Hearing of the case was not started until 11 a. m., when Sheriff Fred T. Mitchell directed Deputies Fred W. Pull of Kingston and Charles A. Fuller of Richmond to clear the court room and every one was ordered out and the doors locked. Then the eight or ten witnesses for the state were admitted and others were allowed in to the extent of the seating capacity of the room only and the doors were again closed.

Judge Oliver H. Williams, before the recess until 10.30 a. m. took up the regular court business as follows:

Criminal docket—Thomas E. Brown, chief of police vs. Robert D. Gardiner, on probation, continued one month at Chief's request.

State vs. Lawrence Hunter. A probation case, also continued one month at Chief Brown's request.

State, Thomas E. Brown, chief of police vs. Louis Gingerilla. For the defendant Attorney M. Walter Flynn stated that by arrangement on the previous night Judge Williams had agreed to have the case called at 10.30 to permit the arrival of Attorney Anthony V. Pettine from Providence, who was to be associated with him in trial of the case, also to permit the arrival of the ballastic expert, Capt. Charles J. Van Amburgh of Boston. Herbert McCaffrey of Providence, superintendent of the criminal detective bureau was about the court rooms where the crowds had assembled and also Lieut. David Marks of the New Haven railroad police.

Other court business was disposed of as follows, before the first adjournment, the second being taken from 12.30 to 1.30 p. m.:

State, Byron U. Richards, secretary of R. I. state board of public health, M. D., vs. Herman S. Atwood, in the complaint described as "laborer," charging that from Dec. 17, 1926 and continuously thereafter he gave chiropractic treatment to Mrs. Harvey Arzamarski and had not obtained a R. I. state certificate for that purpose. D. Harold Rogers became surety in the sum of $1,000 for Atwood's appearance for trial on Feb. 15th next.

Civil docket, Clifton D. Hall vs. Angelo Pucci and Oscar Silverman vs. Pasquale Salimeno. Continued two weeks. Clarence E. Roche vs. William H. Champlin, who asked for a week's continuance.

James W. Burke vs. Thurman F. Eldredge, Andrews & Co. vs. Alvina A. Sisson, Harry Dobson vs. Charles Welles and Charles H. Gavitt vs. Joseph A. Guarino, continued two weeks. Baum's Castorine Co., Inc. vs. Barber and Reynolds. Continued one week.

Gingerilla Appears Calm.

At just 11 a. m. Louis Gingerilla, came into the court room and appearing cool and collected, took a seat on the left of the counsel table with his attorneys M. Walter Flynn and Attorney Pettine. Mr. Pettine's first move was to have the state's witnesses., Mrs. Gaccione, widow; Mrs. Giocona Groccie, her husband and niece, Louise Groccia, aged 17; Chief Big Horn, Indian healer, Santo Turano and Fred Gabrielle, a cousin of the defendant, taken out to the sheriff's office and allowed in the court room only when summoned.

Lieut. Champlin Testifies

Lieutenant of Police George H. Champlin, the first witness, called, testified that at 9.30 while on duty in Dixo nsquare he was first called with Officer George L. Madison to the house at 4 Marion street, where they were summoned by Angelo Murano by reason of a fight between the defendant Gencarelli and Santo Gaccione, who was later found slain in his bed. The officers questioned the members of the Groccia family residing down stairs and made no arrests when Gaccione stated that he would not lodge a complaint. A grewsome bit of evidence placed before the court was a handful of hair, alleged torn from Gaccione's head during the fight in which defendant received a black eye. It was 1.55 when Lt. Champlin received a telephone call at the police station that a man had been shot and he went the second time to the Marion street house this time in company with Officer Robert M. Kessel. They went to the room where they found a bullet hole in the side of the house and Gaccione apparently dead in bed. On the arrival of Medical Examiner Dr. Michael H. Scanlon they went to Gencarelli's house, corner of Oak and Tower streets, and found him laying on a couch with cap, felt boots, and coat on and with blanket over his head. Other evidence placed in was the shot gun taken from the defendant's home, and shells from his overcoat pocket. Attorney Pettine began cross examination of witness at 11.35 and without shaking much of testimony court adjourned at 12.30.

At 2 p. m. crowds surged about the court room door to gain admission.

SO stated the New York World the morning after "Interference," Paramount's first All-Talking Picture was shown. "A new experience in talking pictures" said the Los Angeles Times. The day of the quality talking picture is here! In Paramount's hands a novelty now becomes the greatest entertainment of the day! ¶ For two years—from the first day sound pictures became possible—Paramount prepared. The same inventions and facilities for making pictures talk were open to all. Paramount experimented constantly to better them. The most advanced sound equipment was installed in Paramount's great studios in Hollywood and Long Island City. The Paramount producing organization—the best in the world—stars, writers and directors—was trained in the new medium. Outstanding Broadway stars and directors whose stage experience would be invaluable were engaged. ¶ Before the first camera turned on "Interference" it was a foregone conclusion that Paramount Talking Pictures would be the leaders. It is only what you, who have known the supreme Paramount Quality in "silent pictures" for so long, had the right to expect. ¶ And "Interference" is only the beginning. With all Paramount's great resources and unrivalled manpower working in this new medium, and Paramount Quality to maintain, Paramount Talking Pictures of the future will exceed even your fondest imaginings ¶ Soon you will see and hear "The Canary Murder Case," Jeanne Eagels in "The Letter," "The Doctor's Secret," etc. ¶ Paramount All-Talking SHOWS present, in addition, sound, singing and talking short features of the same Paramount quality. Watch for newspaper announcements and be sure you see them all. Until you do, you will never know what marvelous entertainment the quality talking picture is. INDUSTRIALS AND SPECIALTIES WERE AIDED BY BULL MOVEMENT IN RAILS

NEW YORK, Feb. 1—(AP)—The bull movement in the rails went through its second day under full steam on the stock market today, drawing with it a wide assortment of industrials and specialties. The week's increase of $116,000,000 in federal reserve brokers' loans, and a jump in call money to 8 per cent failed to set the block signals.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent, but was stepped up to 8 as banks called $40,000,000 to meet the dividend and interest checks sent out overnight. Six per cent call money is looked for again next week, however, when the payments return to the banks. The jump in call loans was attributed in part to the underwriting of new bond offerings during the week, which amounted to more than $137,000,000.

The fact that the reserve bank announced no further ear marking of gold to offset the renewed flow from London was cheering to the bull contingent, and an easier undertone in time money was interpreted as augurring some improvement in the credit situation.

The day's news included a further 1-4 cent increase in the price of domestic copper, more orders for railway equipment a preliminary report that Atlantic Refining's earnings for 1928 will be about five times the 1927 showing, announcement that International Cement earnings gained about 15 per cent last year, reports of January sales by Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck showing gains of 27 and 21 per cent, respectively, over January, 1927. The weekly business reviews reported fair progress with no essential change in the situation.

The Associated Press index of 50 industrials reached a new high at 217.2, and of 20 rails, at 140.6, nearly 7 and 6 points, respectively, above their levels at the beginning of January. The utilities sagged slightly on profit-taking.

Radio, having been some time in retirement, made one of its spectacular appearances. It shot up about 23 points to 293, fell back to 336 in a short-lived reaction caused by the advance in the call loan rate in the afternoon, then rebounded again to 403, or 17 points under its record price.

Allied Chemical, Advance Rumely, Johns Manville, Du Pont (new), National Bellas Hess, Western Union and Wright Aero made extreme gains of 7 to 15 points. Some of the coppers moved up on announcement of the higher red metal price, but this appeared to have been largely discounted yesterday. United States Steel mounted 2 points.

In the rails, Canadian Pacific shot up more than 10 points, while Atlantic Coast Line, Central of New Jersey, Chesapeake & Ohio, Illinois Central, Pere Marquette, and New Haven mounted 5 to 9 points, mostly to record prices. New York Central touched 204, the highest ever.

Motors turned heavy, Packard and Chrysler losing about 3 points each, and General Motors closing about a point lower. Union Carbide fell nearly 6 points in profit-taking.

Commodity markets were steady to firm. Wheat mounted nearly 2 cents a bushel on further reports of unsatisfactory weather for the winter crop, and corn improved as result of its good export position. Cotton was dull.

In the foreign exchanges, sterling changed to a new low for 1929, the demand rate touching $4.84 7-16.

SUNDAY MOVIES, SMOKING AND DRESS.

Dear Corner Members: Well, we are all over the measles at last. On top of measles we all had grip colds so hope at last we've seen enough of sickness.

Imagine there will be a warm session over in Stonington tonight, fighting against the Sunday movies. What I think is, that if they don't have them here, folks will still travel to Norwich and New London to see them Sundays and they might just as well spend their money in their home town. I don't believe in Sunday movies, as one has six days to go to them and cannot find time for one day to worship in the church. That is the day to lay abed and rest, or do that odd job I was going to do the other day, or to finish a dress to go to some fancy shindig or other, but I mustn't think of going to church. Why that would be written in the Book against me. Guess I'd better stop as I might get "riled" up if I get in too deep.

Black Eyed Susie: In regard to my letter about Kitty Lou, that should have read "she was the first to greet me" not "get me," in the Social Corner. I joined in November or thereabouts, some seven or eight year ago, and at Christmas time she sent me a nice card with greetings. Does that sound better? I wouldn't want to give one the impression I was telling falsehoods in regard to this.

Do not see anything refined and lady-like about a woman or girl smoking nasty cigarettes. If men care for that sort of thing they take a pretty poor way of showing it. These same women and girls consider themselves cute because they do it, and think the male sex are "for them." Not so, to hear these same males when they are, supposedly, alone. If a girl gets insulted today it is generally her own fault, as a fellow cannot tell from the dresses which is his kind and which are "hands off." But once in a while they get a sad awakening, but that is, perhaps, too late to do any good. Then he thinks of his mother's teachings. Girls can dress in style and yet be modest and refined. There is a limit to all things but some have to go a little bit further than that limit. Don't these girls and boys that do wrong ever have any moments when they can see clear and wish they had done different? Of course, we never see that side. All we see is the mask.

Hope all the sick are on the road to recovery and those in trouble can see a little ray of light come shining through. Was sorry to read of Deliah Deal's passing, but if I remember right, she did suffer a lot.

Best wishes to the Corner.

BY JINGO.

RECOVERING FROM ILLNESS

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: As I sit here reading the letters in last Saturday's paper I see one that specially interests me. Of course there are many others of interest. While I can't write much will tell you what I have been doing the past two months.

I had been miserable for months with what I thought was stomach trouble. I was going to a doctor in Norwich and he said I had diabetes. I took his medicine for a while but was not careful about my eating and was not gaining. I finally made up my mind I would go to Boston to the Deaconess hospital. My folks took me the 16th of December. I was there two weeks under their care, taking X-ray and insulin. I had only been there two days when I took the grippe, the old-fashioned kind, and of course they had to get me out of that before treating me. It left me in a more weakened state than when I came. Their medicine for grippe was simply drink all the cold water you can. It took my fever away in two days, then the coughing came and I nearly coughed my head off. Well, that too went soon with the water. The doctors put me on a strict diet and said the X-ray didn't show up any growths of any kind; that condition in my stomach had come from neglecting to take the disease sooner. That is my advice to all who start with diabetes to go to this hospital at once.

I am in Wauregan staying with my daughter and think I am gaining slowly. I try not to get discouraged but am very weak and in bed most of the time.

Ann Tenna: You will have to build on an addition to that house beside the road if you make many more scrapbooks. I am always cutting clippings from The Bulletin but don't get time to put them into books. I have a number of boxes of them.

Jennie: As you have asked the opinion of writers I will give mine in regard to girls smoking. I think it is the worst yet. To think young girls have to see it in the so-called higher classes. You see a great deal of it in the eating places in the cities but as you see them you can class the habit with the person.

Eveline Burr: Your letter was so cheerful. I will answer when I get stronger. I wanted to attend Club No. 4's picnic in Moosup but thought of you all.

Aries: Try again sometime.

Love to all members of the Social Corner and sympathy for those who have lost dear ones.

KENTUCKY WONDER (Club 4).

LIKES THE SOCIAL CORNER

Dear Social Corner Friends: Again many thanks for the helpful messages from Marjory, Roberta and others. They are so precious I am saving them to read over when I need them specially and I hope to be able to pass on and "carry on" in the same spirit. As a family we find The Bulletin fills every need from Peter Rabbit to the jokes. Health hints, stories and legislative news with all in the most wholesome form but the Social Corner gets closest to us in ways of friendship and neighborliness. It grows more precious with the years. How I want to know some of you better! I have belonged for eight years now and am so much beyond "thirty-two." My outlook has changed much in the realization of growing older in that time. I am impressed how much expression we find that people are "incurably religious" and we find or seek the faith that shall satisfy and steady us through the mysteries of life. A week ago our pastor spoke on "Somebody Knows What I Do Not Know" quoting a beautiful poem with that thought. I will try to get it from him to go on our page some time. With best wishes to all.

THIRTY-TWO.

NEVER LOST INTEREST IN CORNER

Dear Social Corner: It seems so little to say each week that the page is full of interest and we enjoyed the friendliness and thoughtfulness shown by each one is a true picture of themselves. About ten years since I became acquainted with the Social Corner one of the original first signatures at that time a neighbor of my sister's and as she had attended a meeting and enjoyed it she passed the idea on to me to join for I was ill and lonely. She was a very far-sighted sympathetic R. N. Think I've met very few sisters to know them by that name and write seldom yet I've never lost my deep interest and touch with all the friendly spirit shown to all and by all. To Crimson Rambler I am very grateful for letter explaining her work on rug making. Should be glad to meet her and simply can not realize how she finds time to do all she writes of doing. Should like to see some of the rugs and quilts.

Sunbonnet Sue wrote me a letter last year too full of aids and helpful ideas for church affairs, a real aid to Ladies Aid. The address Voluntown has many memories for me as J. C. hear is almost a home town to my better half and me.

My deep and heart-felt sympathy to all in trouble, sorrow, ill health and loneliness. May I say this? Just as so many have said, I've looked for the letter signed Kitty Lou, marveled at the experiences and the wisdom and wished I could say one-half to help some one. How wonderful she must have been and how fortunate you who knew her. To me she seemed a friend for a part of her name is my own. I often thought I'd write to her and I should like to have known her.

Hope a story told during a sermon will help all as it has me to assure that our friends do know: "They who live in the hearts of those friends who are left behind shall never die."

Think of it each loving word, every thought, every word of sympathy and appreciation lives on and on. Their good wishes do follow them. Do they know? I believe our dear ones are near us to help and comfort us. Let us go on as you, the faithful, have begun, keep the page as Kitty Lou would like to see it with its cheer, help and kindliness as of old and one who realizes how little she has done but who has kept her love for fellow service, will keep her part to the memory of this cheery, helpful member and you may see my signature more often, even if I can say but little to interest any one I can answer present.

MY TRIP TO BOSTON.

Dear Social Corners and Editor: I have thought of writing for weeks but they went by so fast I did not do it. Will tell about my little trip to Boston. I left home Monday morning about 11 o'clock, got as far as South Lancaster. Stayed all night at my son's. Left at 6:30 Tuesday morning. There were four of us now. We got in Boston at 8:30, went through Haryard college, that is through the yards. We were on our way to the Peabody museum and that was wonderful. Got there at 9 o'clock and stayed till after 12 and then we did not see half of it. Then we went to dinner. By that time it was raining hard. We went out to Cambridge to visit, came back to Boston and went to the poultry show. That was great, the biggest poultry show I ever saw, with swans and ducks of all kinds. I saw some flowers that were made of geese feathers. They were dyed light colors. They were handsome and they were expensive, too. We stayed all night at Copley Square hotel and the next morning we started out at 9 o'clock. It was a pleasant day. We went to a natural history museum. Not so big as the other one but it was wonderful. We went across the Boston commons to the state house. The senate was in session. We went to the old state house and that was good, saw the table that George Washington signed the Declaration of Independence on and the balcony where he made a speech. Saw lot of old snuff boxes and a red velvet coat, saw old ships; they were made small and they said that it took a man eight years to make one ship. Went to King's chapel and sat in a pew.

I tried to go up an escalator. Something happened to me and I should have gone up on my back if Mr. Grey had not been behind me. As it was I went up in his arms. I don't try that stunt again.

Well, Mr. Grey and I took the 5 o'clock train to Providence, stayed all night, did some shopping and came home Thursday night. I only hit the high places on my trip but we had a good time.

Lee: I know who you are. Mary E. said you were coming up. Hope you had a good time at Moosup. Happy New Year to all. NELLY GREY.

CORNER'S RECENT LOSSES.

Dear Social Corner Sisters: I hope I am not too late to wish you all a very happy New Year, but sickness has prevented me from writing before. I hope all the sisters that have been ill are on their way to recovery, and the families of our departed sisters all have my sympathy.

This morning I read of the death of Delia Deal. She has been ill quite a long while, helpless, unable to do anything for herself and at last God has taken her home to rest.

I was also sorry to hear of Kitty Lou's passing on. I did not have the pleasure of knowing her personally but have always been interested in her letters and some of her recipes are used in my home every day. Not only will her letters be missed by the Social Corner sisters but readers all over the country will miss them as she was a faithful writer to one of the Boston papers.

Another wonderful sister has been called home after a long illness—our sister Aurelia. She was one that forgot her own illness whenever anyone else was in trouble. It did not make any difference to Mother Hill, as she was known and loved by everyone, what their creed was she was always ready with a helping hand night and day. Surely our Heavenly Father must have said 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant. So we know how hard it is to lose a dear friend. She made the world better the time she was with us and we send our heartfelt sympathy to her husband, daughter and son and say 'His will, not our's be done.'

I wonder how many of the sisters have been listening in on the radio this afternoon as I have been doing, to the reception given in honor of the officers and crew of the ship America. How proud the wives and mothers of those heroes must be, not thinking of themselves in the terrible seas, only willing if need be to give their lives to save others. When Chief Officer Manning was asked who was the hero of that wonderful rescue he just answered: "The man above." So let us all be proud of our countrymen for greater love hath no man than he who is willing to die for his brother.

Rosy Posy: Was very glad to see you in D. Sorry we could not make a longer visit, but will be up as soon as the weather gets better. Hope you and the family are well.

Daisy Dean: Where, O where are you? Have not heard from you in a long time. Why not write?

Pep: I hope you are well and keeping up to your penname.

Aries: Was very sorry I could not attend the picnic was no feeling well enough to go out. I hope your arm is all better. Thanks for my birthday card, it is good to be remembered. Please keep on writing to the Corner. I enjoy your letters very much.

Butterfly: Why don't you flutter to the Corner with a nice chatty letter? Would be glad to hear from you. Have not seen E. for quite a while but hubby expects to see him before long.

Kentucky Wonder: Hope you are feeling better. Would be pleased to hear from you.

Wish all the sisters, brothers as I know there are some, also the Social Corner editor a very happy New Year. LONESOME.

BAKING POTATOES AND BEANS

Dear Social Corner Sisters: As I have enjoyed reading the Social Corner letters today, I thought I would write one more letter this month.

Nemo says that potatoes are better when baked than they are cooked in any other way, which is very true. I have an old fashioned iron basin which I use for baking potatoes on top of the stove. I put the potatoes in the basin without water and cover them, then put under the griddle unless the fire is very hot, in which case I cook them on top of the stove. They should be turned over once or twice while baking. Less fire is necessary than for baking in the oven. We are told that it is good for us to eat the peeling. Perhaps that is good for some and not for others.

When I wish to bake beans I soak a heaping pint basin full in warm water over night, drain off the water and cook in water enough to cover with one teaspoon of soda for a few minutes. Turn off this water and cook in more water until the skins crack. Add 1-4 cup sugar, one teaspoon of salt, one rounding teaspoon mustard and 1-2 teaspoon paprika. Bake in a hot oven with 1-2 pound or more of pork which was boiled with the beans in the last water added. More salt may be necessary if the pork is not quite salt. These beans ought to be done by supper time.

I think all of the poems on the Corner page are good, but liked "The Old Sampler" especially well. Margaret Sangster was a very good writer. I have her "Good Manners For All Occasions." My pen name, Rosary, was taken after reading a book by that name by Anna Barclay.

Cretia has not been able to be out for some time. I hope that she and all the other people who are ill will soon recover. Spring is not so very far away now. Buttercup was at church yesterday and is thinking of writing soon, I know.

"Joy and prosperity, happiness, peace, Of these I wish thee a blessed increase." ROSARY.

SMOKED A CIGAR ONCE.

Dear Social Corner: Jennie of Club No. 1 has started me this time. Have had and do have hobbies and old enough to say I've tried many things and shall keep on doing so to the end. Yes, I once smoked a cigar when about 12 years of age—just because I found one in a desk when left alone all day at home and was exploring for something next to do. It did not make me sick and was not specially interesting. To me nothing is more disgusting than the sight of a woman smoking, unless it be a drunken woman. The same may be said of a man. I once asked a well known man, who had a pretty solid sense of values, why he never got to smoking, or drinking when he was constantly in the midst of it. He answered "I never wanted to." What a subject for a sermon! There is so much in it. I can't help believing in my heart that if our young people are rightly taught and trained they will not want to do such things. My experience is not so extensive in bringing up a family (only one boy and one girl) but I've been a teacher and hope I'm an impartial and sympathetic observer. All power to the Boy and Girl Scouts and all such good influences. People are getting better and know more—or else dying off in consequence.

My badge that I always wear to Social Corner was give me by Delia Deal who has just passed. Thus we have memories—the most interesting things we do have! I want Tafts to send me her address—we talk about canaries? BEE TRUE.

OBJECTS TO WOMEN SMOKERS.

Dear Editor: I wish to add my expressions to Jennie's allegation of last Saturday. The manner in which women and girls dress as a rule, are not only unladylike, unbecoming and un-Christian, but is also uncivilized. Even the heathen are learning better than to go bare. As for smoking, that is only a matter of taste and another sign of the times. It is permitted in some of the colleges and no doubt elsewhere. I have never seen women smoking but once and that was between two and three years ago. Doesn't seem as though it could be very common. If they wish to injure their health I don't see how it is going to be stopped, only by God's grace. I do hope such women will not be permitted to raise or care for a family of children. There will be some good women, also men, as long as there is seed time and harvest. We can only hope for the best and do our part. Sincerely, CANTERBURY BELL.

REMEMBER THE SECOND TUESDAY

Dear Sisters of the Corner: Let us all remember the second Tuesday of the month and come to the Corner meeting. Will the ladies who helped last meeting come to my aid this time?

The food brought was very satisfactory, and if you possibly can, will you each bring about the same as you brought last month?

Enjoyed the letters ever so much in this morning's paper (Saturday). I wonder if I know Commuter and don't recognize the name! I'm a granger too, and I know how you must feel if you have moved away to a strange community; for when I was a small child we moved from one state to the other, and it takes one year to become really at home.

Mrs. W. and B.: Will be looking for you on the 12th.

White Down: I haven't been down yet this week but week isn't over yet and I intend to. Rather hoped I'd get a letter from True Blue's miniature desk she gave you.

Black Eyed Susan: Enjoyed your letter this morning so much. Hope to see you at our next meeting.

True Blue: The description of your Washington trip was very interesting and vivid. My cousin was asked to give an account of the same trip in her local grange.

Have you ever thought what a wonderful gift we all possess in imagination? Upon reading of these trips, immediately we are with the writer seeing the things he describes. There are two helpful hints I will pass along and then close: If an arctic is snug and is hard to get on, place a piece of waxed paper around the heel of your shoe and it will slide on very easily.

To clean a kitchen cooking utensil that has been used in baking or boiling and has a hard rough coating of food substance clinging to sides, place small amount of water in pan, place cover on tightly and heat slowly; the steam will soften all food and can be easily rinsed away. In caring for aluminum wear, a clothespin will take the place of a wooden spoon that is usually used to scrape the pans, and will not scratch.

CHELSEA.

TWICE TWENTY IMPROVING

Dear Social Corner Folks: Was very sorry to miss the Moosup meeting last week. Had promised Aries I would help her, but alas, that promise had to be broken for I was not out of the house all the week and have not been yet, although feeling much better now. Reports from there are that all who did go enjoyed the day very much and would like to meet there again some day.

As this is my first letter this year, I thank all who remembered me with holiday greetings. Also thank the one for the dainty calendar with its flock of bluebirds hovering over a bunch of water lilies and wondering if they will light on the rail fence nearby and sing us a song of the good old summer time. Today the ground is covered with snow and the blue jays are hustling about for something to eat. One month of the new year is nearly gone, but "There are eleven more good months a coming, cheerful, bright and all brand new; Every one of them a-hummin' with Good Luck and Joy for you."

With the passing on of Deliah Deal the Social Corner has lost another one of its most faithful members. As long as her health permitted she worked and gave for the Corner every month. One of the first meetings I ever attended was at her home. Went all alone and when I reached Jewett City had no trouble finding her home for every one knew Deliah Deal.

Greetings to you Kentucky Wonder: Keep up good courage through all this cold, bad weather and we hope when it comes nice warm weather that you and I can take charge of another meeting, you know, they miss having you and I boss them?

Find this a good way to use an old fashioned heavy bed spread which has become too worn to use on the bed. Hem it all around to prevent raveling, patch worn spots and use it as a pad for the dining room table. If it is so worn that it "sheds" cover it on both sides with fine cheese cloth on thin muslin and tack here and there as you would a quilt.

Best of wishes to all who are sick or in trouble. TWICE TWENTY. (Club 4)

CALIFORNIA.

Editor Social Corner: California is a wonderful state. Wonderful for various reasons, among others Bert Hoover, Hi Johnson and Aimee McPherson, and its climate. To hear Californians speak in other places, it is a land of perpetual sunshine and plenty. There is plenty of grapes rotting on the vines, by the ton, olives, black on the trees and the ground under them; and pomegranites hanging in clusters on the trees, split open by the frost and rotting away by the millions. It is said there is no market for them so they rot on the ground or are fed to the pigs. That prodigal son of the Bible had nothing on this prodigal grandfather. He only helped feed the swine to eat husks of corn. But my pal and I stood in a pig yard and helped the other pigs to eat grapes, i.e., we helped ourselves out of boxes of them before the doctor fed them to his pigs. Fancy a doctor keeping pigs! Box after box of finest grapes went to those pigs and there were acres on acres more of grapes for pig feed. One reads advertisements in the papers of raisins and grapes offered for pig feed and seems as if there is something wrong in a people that wastes so much.

California is a land of gold. Heaven has nothing on California in the respect of golden streets. You walk on it here, and when the dirt gets hardened and polished by cars, wheels and feet, it gets to look like brass or gold; regular metal-lic, and the mud on your shoes dries and shows yellow with it. It's gold all right. But don't all start at once for here! Let me finish! It's like a lot of other things here the weather for instance. Four weeks of heavy fog, in a row, and the automobile laws and licenses— You can be pinched in 700 ways for using an auto here and it is easier to get into heaven than get a license if you come from some where else. You have to prove by some statement that you are you, that you own a car, that you have owned a car since it was a pup or give all previous owners full names and addresses and if they have false teeth or not. Bills of sale are not recognized unless sworn to before a notary public, and even then open to suspicion. They inspect you at Yuma, Arizona, or other points of entry for everything. The department of agriculture inspects you for boll weevil in cotton blankets, clothes, etc. They inspect you for booze by prohibition agents; medical men go all over you for cooties; flat feet and rabies, and the state police inspect your car and your papers 'n' everything and if you can pass the tests and keep your temper, they give you a permit to stay in California just so long and no longer. You can get into Canada or Mexico with less trouble than into California. I've tried all three and I know. After all this you try to get a license for your car when the year changes and then you're in for it. A state policeman refused to accept my papers, previous licenses and all I could do to prove I owned my car. And then he offered to bet me a hundred dollars he could get me a license. I refused to bet on that footing. It looked too much like a stacked deck of cards to me, and wrote to Connecticut for more contributing evidence. But as the old saw says—all is not gold that glitters, even on a cop's uniform and the gold is like some of the other notables in California I mentioned, just phony! Anyway, it's gold! Fools' gold! otherwise known as iron pyrites, and no darn good.

RECIPES BY MAJESTIC.

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters: It is a long time since I have written but I haven't forgotten you. We are having some winter weather now. There are a good many sick now. I thank the Social Corner member for the pretty calendar. I will be glad when spring comes. I guess I am not the only one. I suppose there are others that will be glad to see spring once again too.

Rhody: Louise is well and is living now in Pontiac, R. I. She will be 76 on her next birthday, March 22 and is quite smart for one of her age.

I would love to come to some of the Social Corner meetings some time. I presume they have some pretty good times.

I am sending in a few recipes that may help some of the sisters.

Potato Fried Cakes—Two eggs, well-beaten, one cupful each of sugar and mashed potatoes, a rounding teaspoonful of butter, three-fourths cupful of sweet milk, and three and one-half cupfuls of flour sifted with four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and a half teaspoonful each of salt and grated nutmeg. Fry in deep fat, lard or dripping. These are very nice, will not absorb grease, and will keep moist for a long time.

Soft Molasses Cookies (requested)—One cupful each of lard, molasses and white sugar, one well beaten egg, one half cupful of cold coffee, one teaspoonful each of soda, cinnamon and ginger, one half teaspoonful each of cloves, nutmeg and salt, and flour to make a dough as soft as can be handled; too much flour makes cookies dry. Bake in the usual way, taking care not to scorch. Any good shortening may be used that is preferred.

Soft Sugar Cookies (requested)—Three eggs, well beaten, two cupfuls of sugar, one cupful each of butter and sour cream, one teaspoonful of soda and flour to make a soft dough; roll thin, sift granulated sugar over and gently roll it in, and bake in a reasonably hot oven. These cookies are especially nice, flavored with grated orange-rind.

Canadian Chili-Sauce — Four pounds of tender rhubarb, cut in small pieces without peeling or skin and all, one and one half pounds of onions, peeled and cut, two pounds of sugar, brown or white, as preferred—or use one pound of each—one teaspoonful of salt, two teaspoonfuls each of cloves and cinnamon, and one and one-half pints of vinegar. Cook for twenty to thirty minutes. This is really a delicious relish, and can be made before tomatoes make their appearance. I use less vinegar than the receipt calls for, as the rhubarb is very juicy, and generally make but half the quantity at a time. Can it as you would any relish, sealing it hot in sterilized jars. I use the pint or half-pint size. I am always on the lookout for new recipes, and like to pass them along.

Hope all the sisters and Social Corner editor are well. Best luck and good wishes to all.

MAJESTIC.

SMOKING AND STYLE

Friends of the Social Corner and Editor: Pleasant but cold; a good day to write letters. I am sending in our "can't be beat" recipe for

Banana Pancakes: Sift 1 1-2 cups of flour and two teaspoons of baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon of salt and 1-2 tablespoon of sugar, add half a pint of milk, one beaten egg, one tablespoon of melted butter and half a cup of thinly sliced bananas; mix thoroughly. Fry on a hot griddle as you would plain pancakes. We had some for breakfast this morning. After breakfast we listened in (on a new trial radio) to WGY to a church service from the Emanuel Baptist church in New York, and it was greatly enjoyed by all.

Jennie: In answer to your question I will say that no "real lady" will allow herself to smoke cigarettes much more to be seen smoking them on the streets. It cannot improve her character. As for it being popular, I say far from it!

Now about style: It is ridiculous! Short skirts are all right a certain and sensible length. Style will never get the best of me. Mine are 11 inches from the floor—a good guard against broken bones. When I first saw so many numerous women and girls with yellow stockings, it reminded me of the Dorking breed of yellow-legged chickens. They may be stylish, but when a woman has wishbone legs she would look much better with them covered. "Some are one way and some are another!" You know I was reading today that "undies of rabbit's wool" was the latest fad. I think it will be fun to read all the answers you will get on the subject; for some will be laughable, and I hope everyone will say something.

Let us no longer try to live in the yesterdays or tomorrows. Let us try to live in the glorious today, keeping in touch with the good of the universe and laying hold of beautiful blessings here and there. ANN TENNA.

PIPE BETTER THAN CIGARETTE

Dear Social Corner Sisters and Editor: I have been asked why I did not write a letter to the Corner. One reason is I never thought I could write one that anyone would take time to read. As Crimson Rambler has told of so much she has done this winter, I first thought I would tell you of some of the things I have done. As they say, just a little smart myself. For one thing, I have made ten little braided rugs out of silk for the table, tied two bedquilts, finished two patchwork tops, braided one wool rug, fixed two little chairs for work boxes and done lots of sewing that I will not take time to put in this letter. Some friends were here not long ago and said "I don't see how you have the time to do so much." We all have seven days for a week.

Jennie has asked if some of the writers would give opinions on smoking. I am glad to say I know quite a few men that do not smoke and I don't see why any woman should want to do all the things her husband would do. Of all things, the cigarette is the worst. She had better take the pipe. Modesty is too old fashioned and we are told that we are going back to idiots, and I don't know but we are on the way. We had better think more about God, for we are not going to stay here long. Think I had better not say any more.

Yours for the Corner.

WILD FLOWER (March 4, Club 2).

EXEMPLIFIES PEACE AND HARMONY.

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Again we meet in Friendship's circle bound together in ties of love, each to know and do their duty to make our circle justified, peace and love and social greetings blending together as one great whole. There is not anything in a Social club so great as peace and harmony of which we are a part. I am so glad we have this and can truly say it of our club. We are having clam chowder as our main dinner with all the other good things. Any one who does not care for clams is privileged to bring whatever pleases them. I wish to thank the Social Corner sister, whoever she is, for the flower calendar sent me. I sincerely wish when anyone sends me or any of the sisters anything they would please put their pen name on article sent. I know others as well as myself would appreciate it. Hope to see as many as it is possible for them to come to do so on Feb. 6, our next meeting. Love and best wishes to all clubs. ALTA.

A BAD HABIT TO FORM

Dear Social Corner: In answer to Jennie's query, "To smoke or not to smoke?" will say it is a question for each one to decide for one's self, just the same as deciding the length or lack of length of our gowns. In our New England climate I think it is more comfortable to wear longer skirts in winter than in summer time. Personally, I do not smoke; do not want to learn to smoke. I do not like to see girls or matrons smoke. But I am old fashioned. It is amazing the amount of money people spend for smokes. Just think of the education that money would buy for some poor soul that is really in earnest and craves to learn to express himself or herself through the medium of a violin or other musical instrument. Think of the corrective operations that might be had (by using money spent on smokes) for the benefit of needy people. Let men folks smoke, if they must, but, girls, think a thought before you begin to learn to smoke. Don't begin to learn to smoke and you will not then be slave to it. Not that I consider it sinful, as the Ten Commandments do not forbid smoking, but I truly believe it is one of those things which is best for females to avoid. I would not wish to cram my ideas down someone's throat but I know it is unwise to form the habit of smoking.

"Habit starts like a silken skein,
But, with age, an iron band is made."

I wish to greet all the members who have birthdays in February.

Life brings joy, but also sorrow; all my children must know grief. Buoyant spring, then on the morrow autumn's dried and falling leaf. Success I bring and golden laughter; man I help to high estate. Disappointments follow after. This is my way with small or great. Work I give as well as pleasure; sunshine—then the clouds and rain. No one can escape a measure of my bitterness and pain. Cause for singing, cause for weeping, rough and smooth and dark and bright. Time for work and hours for sleeping, calm and noise and day and night. Lovely gardens, barren places, stumbling blocks and paths of ease; bread and honey; rags and laces, these I offer where I please. Joy I bring and also sorrow, light and shade, and hills and vales and this gift for each new morrow—courage to the one who falls.

With best wishes.

ENJOYS GETTING LETTERS

Dear Editor and Corner Sisters: It is some time since I penned a few lines to the Corner. I have been down sick. Am better, but still real poorly, but glad to be out on the couch again. I wish to thank each one who endeavored to make my Christmas a pleasant one, and it was pleasant in spite of how I was feeling, and have felt since. I thank you one and all, and I also thank those who have written me the past year, and trust you will continue to write me every now and then.

My love and sympathy is extended to all who have been visited by sorrow, and I feel that you will find strength and comfort to enable you to take up the threads of life once more, and to those who are sick I wish you a speedy recovery. To those whose sickness is prolonged I send my sympathy and even though you are travelling a thorny way may much cheer and pleasantness cross and intertwine in your path.

I extend welcome to the new sisters and ask the older ones to write oftener to both the Corner and to me. Glad to hear from anyone at any time. I enjoy reading the letters as usual. They give me much pleasure.

Our snow has all gone in two or three days. Wonder if this will last, for it has been snowing very hard since morning, and it is nearly night now. I liked my calendars very much, especially the big Corner one. The fashions of long ago look ridiculous, some of them. So will those of today when they, too, have gone out of date. Will write again soon, I hope, as I shall feel better than now.

Love and good wishes to each one.

Yours for the Corner. DIANA.

TRANSFORMING OUR KITCHEN

Dear Editor and Friends: Thank you, Rose Geranium, for your letter telling us about your kitchen. Wouldn't you like to hear of the transformation we have made in ours?

Our kitchen is a northeast room with the one window facing the east and two doors in which are windows.

The kitchen table and chairs had been gray with a decoration of blue. At the windows we had blue and white checked toweling with orange-bound edges. With the tan walls of the room, the gray was not very attractive.

Husband removed the gray paint with paint remover and pieces of glass and considerable elbow grease. The top of the table and the chair seats were left natural with a coat of valspar varnish. The rest of the wood was painted a pretty apple green.

Our green gingham ruffled curtains originally did duty as bags for holding scratch feed for the hens. They were not long enough for full length curtains, so we used them at the top sash and have light green scrim at the lower sash. The tie-backs are of the gingham.

The handles to the various knives and brushes are painted red. There is a little red clock on the shelf over the sink. There are two trays, one red and the other in which yellow predominates.

The runner on the table is of toweling with a red check and embroidery. A growing plant in a little jardinere of many colors is on the table, adding its bit to the bright appearance of the room.

My best wishes to all, especially those who are shut in or sorrowing.

MAWB (Club No. 2).

OUR MANY BLESSINGS

Dear Editor and Social Corner Members: Many thanks, A Social Corner Member, for my little calendar which reached me safely. You are very kind and thoughtful of your large family. May we all show our appreciation in the months to come.

There were many wonderful achievements in the year just past; notably in regard to radio. The coming year gives even greater promise. We may expect a hookup with distant countries, as we now have all the principal cities from coast to coast and to the gulf. A big event was the hookup for the football game between Georgia Tech and California university, held at the Rose Bowl, on New Year's day. The announcer, G. MacNamee, so vividly described the various beautiful floats of roses, swans, lambs, pretty girls, etc., one could almost view the scene. It was some contrast to the very stormy, cold, dreary day we had in the east. I wonder how many of you heard it?

Another notable event was the opening of the Cascade tunnel. No doubt many of you heard that program and it is still fresh in your mind. We all are rather apt to minimize our blessings and comforts and magnify our discomforts. Let us each day be deeply grateful for our many blessings and only ask for not more but for strength to bear whatever the future holds.

To those in sickness or sadness let this gem from Longfellow bring you cheer:

"Be still, sad heart, and cease repining,
Behind the cloud is the sun still shining.
Thy fate is but the common fate of all,
Into every life some rain must fall.
Some days must be dark and dreary."

A bright, prosperous New Year to all. HOPE COBWEB (Club No. 1).

NICE FOR MAKING APRONS

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters. It has been a long time since I have contributed anything to the Corner page, but that does not mean I have forgotten you.

I want to particularly thank the sister who sent me the very pretty calendar. It is very pretty and hangs over my writing table where I can see it all of the time. I also wish each and everyone, including the editor, a very happy New Year, the best ever.

Was very much surprised and sorry to hear of the passing of Kitty Lou. As has been said before she will be greatly missed. I was not personally acquainted with her but felt as if I were. That week I did not receive my paper and did not know about it until "Jennie" told me at Pomota meeting.

What I do with "hubby's" cast off shirts. "Hubby" wears black shirts for working. When they are beyond repairing I take the lower part and make aprons for kitchen wear. The sleeves I use for taking hot pans and pots from the stove, also for patching other shirts of the same material and to make a covering for the back of my kitchen rocking chair. If the sleeves are not worn too much I cut off the cuff or lower part of the sleeve and make over-sleeves. They are nice to slip on over the long sleeves that can not be rolled up; then if there is any left why I get generous and let the rag man have it.

The nicer shirts I take the best part and make morning handkerchiefs. These nicer shirts make quite nice afternoon aprons if one stays in the house long enough to wear them. What is left I use for dust and window cloths.

Twice Twenty: Hope you and Zany are well this winter. Had planned to go to see you this summer, but things did not work out as planned. Better luck next time. Sorry not to have seen you at Aunty I's picnic. You would have had a fine time.

Catnip and Joan: See your name in the corner occasionally. Thanks for the cards.

Hope Cobweb and Mayfayre: Do not see much from your pen either. We must be in the slow class, what?

Roma: Trust you are all well by this time.

Milky Way: How are you these nice wintry days? We have no snow here, have you any there?

Jennie: Some trip you had. I'll say you are getting snorty. Yes?

Olive and Priscilla: Get your pen and in and get busy as cleaning time will be here soon.

Sis Hopkins: Glad to see you are alive and able to use a pen.

Calla Lily: The P. S.'s instituted a new P. S. temple in New Britain last Wednesday night and our temple did the work, that is Geo. C. Somers' temple. There were 70 taken in and, believe me, it was a me work; at least I thought so before I got through. Wish you could have been there.

Thirty-Two and Necia: Please accept my sympathy.

Foxglove: Have I beaten you to it? It surely was nice to see so many nice letters from those who have not, like myself, written in a long time. I have planned to do better in the near future.

Will sign off for this time with my sympathy for all sick, bereaved and shut-ins. WHIRLWIND.

A CASE FOR SYMPATHY

Dear Editor and Social Corner Friends: I don't mean to be a slacker and should have written before had I been able, but I have had an ulcerated sore throat and neuralgia to keep it company. Have been very, very ill but am feeling quite like myself this evening. I want to thank a Social Corner member for the lovely calendar which I appreciate very much. I was pleased to see Fan Tan's name on our Corner page. Now, Maze, please write me so I will know who is who. I might be able to help you. At any rate I am anixous to know who you are. We are having some March weather, only five inches of light snow on the ground. Seems so nice to have the days getting longer. About everybody in Dry Mills have been sick. So much sickness everywhere. Trust the sick ones are on the gain and will soon be O. K. again. BALSAM FIR.

CLUB No. 1 MEETS FEB 13th.

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters: I am to be the hostess at the next meeting of Club No. 1 and I have to write and give notice of it. It is also Donation day and we take a little something for the poor. I would like to have anyone that will bring something to read and help to make it pleasant after dinner. You all know the rules, something to eat and plate and silverware and cup. Will try and have something good to eat as we always do, I think. I hope it will be a nice warm day so a good crowd may come to the chamber of commerce room, Willimantic, Feb. 13, and have a good time at Club No. 1. ALFARA.

JOINS THE CORNER

Dear Editor and Social Cornerites: Would like to join your large family, if there is room. Attended your last meeting with a friend and enjoyed myself very much.

Will send in my recipe for

Corn Pudding: One can corn (I only use about one pint of my own), two tablespoons flour, one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon sugar, two eggs, well beaten, two cups milk. Mix all thoroughly and bake about one hour.

Will take for my pen name MILLY.

JOINS THE CORNER

Social Corner Editor: Would like to join the Social Corner and take for my pen name— EATS.

DOING HER BIT FOR CORNER

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters: You know I had to go down to the city Saturday afternoon to purchase a pen so I could send a few lines to our valuable Corner page, for I don't want to be a slacker in the new year. I cannot write as interesting letters as some of our sisters, but I do

GEO. SMITH, U. S. C. G. CUT WITH KNIFE IN NEW LONDON STREET FRIDAY NIGHT

(Special to the Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Feb. 1—George Smith, colored, U. S. Coast Guard, member of the crew of U. S. S. Henley, state pier, was murderously assaulted tonight when he was attacked and cut about the head and throat with a knife in the hands of another sailor. The fight occurred on Main street, near Church street, where sailors, particularly the coast guarders, frequent. When Smith engaged in the battle with his adversary the latter was attacked with a knife and the weapon found its mark on Smith's head and throat. When blood started to issue from the wounds, the fight ended, and Smith's opponent fled. A call was sent to Lawrence-Memorial hospital and the ambulance was dispatched to the location of the fight. Smith was taken to the hospital where his wounds, which were determined to be not serious were dressed. He is being detained at the hospital, but tomorrow will be sent back to his station. The police obtained a description of Smith's assailant, but did not effect his arrest.

The members of the police department received the third in a series of lectures this evening when the entire day and night force assembled in the court room and listened to Deputy Judge John McGarry. The speaker dwelt on ancient law, narrating the progress of law since before Christ, the address occupying about an hour. Another lecture will be given during the month.

Those who were in charge of this week's dinner at the Mohican of the Connecticut Council of Catholic Women are still receiving compliments on the success of that event, at which the speaker was Rt. Rev. Maurice McSuffle, D.D., auxiliary bishop of this diocese. Miss Marguerite Boylan, executive secretary of the bureau of social service of the Hartford diocese, who has been associated with the Connecticut Council of Catholic Women since its beginning, gave an interesting history of the organization and told of the establishment of the branch in New London, its difficulties and steady development. Miss Boylan spoke warmly of the work done by Miss Delia Moroney, New London secretary. Besides the speakers there were seated at the head table Rev. Raymond J. O'Callaghan, Rev. Frederick M. Coholan of Norwich, Rev. O. T. Magnell of Groton, Rev. George Clark, Mrs. Julius A. Kotch, Mrs. John Crawford, Mrs. Roderick F. Sullivan, of Norwich New London county chairman, Mrs. E. G. Douglass and Miss Moroney. During the dinner Russo's orchestra played. A feature was a group of songs by Dr. John Edward Ruisi of Westerly, accompanied at the piano by Miss Loretta Murnane. The report of Mrs. C. A. Carr, secretary of the local branch, was given by Miss Moroney, in the absence of Mrs. Carr, due to the illness of her husband, Admiral Carr. Following a brief history of the council as a national and state organization this report touched on the work of the council in many different fields. Many branches of activity were cited to show the broad field which the New London branch covers in its service.

Charles Higgins, a stranger, was arrested this afternoon charged with vagrancy. He was on State street, near Washington, where he was detected soliciting money from pedestrians when held up by Traffic Officer Frank Linehan. Higgins will be in court tomorrow.

Police Sergeant Casey of Norwich was in New London tonight, being a spectator at a series of amateur boxing bouts.

Many New Londoners will go to Willimantic tomorrow afternoon and attend the funeral services for William E. Jackson, former investigator for Windham county, who was murdered in his home Tuesday evening. Among those to attend the funeral will be attorneys and county officials.

Today was pay day with the sailors of the U. S. Coast Guard and as a result the state pier bluejackets celebrated by drinking freely. Arrests were made by the shore patrol early in the evening when some of their members were found bruised and bleeding about the streets, having been involved in fights. Some were allowed to return to the street after their wounds had been treated, while one was locked up and will be taken back to the state pier. A coast guardsmen was walking through North Bank street shortly after 7 o'clock when he attacked and beat Charles Trentini, residing in a State street lodging house. The sailor struck Trentini a blow on the nose that sent the man into the street, Trentini's head striking on frozen ice and rendering him unconscious. Trentini received a laceration of the scalp, requiring several stitches to close the wound. He was treated at Lawrence-Memorial hospital. The assailant was returned to police headquarters and locked up.

The stage show is headed by thirty local girls in "Norwich Follies" a product of our own town and it has been hailed by the local theatregoers as one of the finest stage attraction ever presented in this city. Other star acts completes this fine show and the silver sheet presents "Reckless Youth" a drama of modern youth with a star cast.

For Sunday night only the Palace double feature program will bring us "The Apache" with Margaret Livingston & Don Alvarado leading a fine cast. The second feature is Ted Wells in a breezy western story, "Crimson Canyon." A news reel and other short subjects will complete the show.

Starting Monday for three days the Palace will offer one of the season's finest vaudeville shows with five star acts. Al Morre's Ten Jolly Tars will be the headlining act and if ever an act deserved such distinction this is it.

The feature picture for the first half will bring a brand new photoplay, "The Floating College" which is one of those light, peppy pictures that we all love to see. Sally O'Neil and Buster Collier, Jr., head the cast and they are supported by Georgia Hale and other well-known stars. We consider this one of the season's outstanding pictures and so will you.

"The Apache," the Columbia production to be shown at the Palace theatre on Sunday only, is a vivid, adventurous love drama set against the colorful and romantic background of the Parisian underworld. Amid the clinking of glasses and songs of revelers, aching hearts work out their own salvation and find happiness in the lowly garrets of the French lower classes. A love that knows no poverty, a heaven of dreams, a happiness as fragile as a bubble, bring a lump into the throat of the audience as lovers are torn apart by the merciless hand of the law.

Tibbett's Charm in Songs.

Last season Lawrence Tibbett, famous American baritone, who will be heard at Slater hall, February 15 made an immense tour from coast to coast and back again. Everywhere he captivated audiences. Prior to that, Tibbett's existing contract at the Metropolitan Opera House called for his presence in New York almost without pause from the first to the final curtain.

Meanwhile, his artistic and sensational successes in opera made people in all sections eager to hear him in concert. His managers, Messrs. Evans and Salter, were besieged with requests, only a limited number of which could be granted. At last a new contract was made, calling for Tibbetts' usual number of appearances at the Metropolitan, but beginning them later. Such was the demand for him them, however, that it took almost a year of conferences for his managers to arrange this plan.

Immediately the existence of a new contract became known, every date was claimed in the principal cities of the country. And in each his reception was of a fervor equalling a Tibbett night in opera at the Metropolitan.

Critics rivalled audiences in enthusiasm. The Portland, Oregon, Telegram said, "Mr. Tibbett is as effective in concert as he is in opera—and that can be said of relatively few of even the greatest operatic singers;" the Fresno Bee declared, "He lives his songs, moving his audience almost to tears;" the Times of Seattle stated, "He has everything, everything that a great singer could have."

At Salt Lake city the Desert News declared, "This Metropolitan Opera company baritone literally held his audience spellbound for an hour and a half with a song program that was inteneely dramatic throughout," and at Denver the News noted, "Tibbett gives that rare thing which we always are in search of—the perfect recital. As an interpreter of songs he is without peer in the concert field."

Beauty Salon.

Madame Langlais Beauty Salon in Jewett City has been removed to more spacious quarters in the Anthony block, Main street. The four booths are done in cafe on lait with goose crackle finish and flower basket ornamentation. They are equipped with up to the minute sanitary fittings, including the newest combination chairs, sliding mirrors and utility tables. A permanent wave machine, Spec Jax dryer, sanitary vibrator, sanitary steamer and cabinets for towels and manicure outfit are the latest in modern equipment. A waiting room and delightful rest room are attractively arranged. The walls are stippled in apple green, lending a delightful atmosphere to the entire salon. Both Madame Langlais and her assistant Miss Roberts are graduates of the Wilfred Academy of beauty culture, and are proficient in all its branches.

Pictures at Y. M. C. A. Sunday.

Always desirous of arranging helpful and inspirational services for the Norwich public, the local Y. M. C. A. management has arranged a specially fine moving picture service for the coming Sunday at 3.30 in the big gymnasium.

The well loved story by Charles Dickens, "Cricket on the Hearth" will be shown in seven reels. This is a vivid presentation of the tangled fortunes of the old toy-maker and his blind daughter who lived in a dream world. Those who have read Dickens well know that his stories are among the very best, and this particular story is certainly one of the noted author's best productions. Appropriate music will be furnished for the picture and a brief talk timely to the occasion will be given.

All men and women are cordially invited and boys and girls fourteen and over will be admitted. A free will offering will be taken at the service.

Whippet Style and Quality

For the first time in the history of the automobile industry, the style and quality demands of the buyer in the higher price ranges are now met in the lower price field with the introduction of the new Superior Whippet four and six cylinder models.

The presentation of these two newly designed lines of motor cars, by the Willys-Overland company, one of the three leading automobile builders, with an entirely new style, color and mechanical development that marks a new and definite trend in the light car field, bids fair to become the sensation of the new year in the automobile industry.

Two and one half years ago when the original Whippet was introduced, John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland company, declared that because of the new design of the Whippet and various advanced mechanical features, a new trend had been definitely established in the light car field. He further stated that because of these recognized superiorities of the original Whippet, other manufacturers within the course of two years would undoubtedly adopt the style set by the Whippet, as well as many of its mechanical features, or their products deemed obsolete.

In less than two years from the time that statement was made, other manufacturers both in the light car and higher price fields adopted many Whippet features, a clear fulfillment of the prediction made, besides being a tribute to the engineering progressiveness of the Toledo manufacturer.

During the two and one half years the Whippet has been on the market, it has established a notable reputation for speed, power, stability, economy and dependable performance. This is attributed to the advanced engineering ideas incorporated in its construction. To these have been added in the new Superior Whippet, outstanding beauty, larger bodies, smart color schemes and a high degree of quality throughout that is entirely new to cars selling in the lower price ranges.

All of the vast facilities of the Willys-Overland company has for the past year have been concentrated on the design and production of these two new lines of Whippets and despite the fact that 1928 established a new high record for the company in sales and production, every indication points to the probability that 1929 will be the greatest year ever enjoyed by the company in its 21 years of manufacturing and sale of automobiles.

SOCIAL CORNER

certainly enjoy reading all the letters and do miss the paper so when I don't have it. I have had my paper transferred to my present address and now I can get it regularly.

Prairie Chicken: You surely will get the best of me. I hope you keep up your intentions, for it will be interesting to look forward expecting to find something from you each month. But don't expect too much from me, for I am an old hen and rather sit out on the back porch in the sun than scratch. It is very pleasant where I am. Between 12 and 2 the sun shines in and the two easy rockers that are always on the porch are surely very inviting. I took a book and read a story this afternoon of a ranch romance. I enjoyed the sun bath and also the story, and it took me back out west in my young days. People tell me I should be out of doors as much as possible, so I think I will make it a point to go out and sit on our back porch every day.

Rebecca and Allie Drew: How are you both? I guess rather lonely; but keep up good courage. Every cloud has a silver lining. Say, sisters, someone was in the department store Saturday that lived in our little village a few years ago. Now you can't guess, can you? It was Rev. O. D. Fisher. My daughter recognized him in the crowd. He was so surprised to meet us he could hardly believe his own eyes, and was surprised to know we were living in this (Mass.) city.

I am longing for the orchard of old sturdy apple trees to bloom across the way. They are so pretty when in full blossom. I saw men cleaning up the grounds yesterday, and it won't be long now before spring will be with us.

Rural Aunty: Your letter was just fine.

If it is not too late, I wish you all a prosperous and happy New Year.

STRANGER IN THE CITY.

TWO SISTERS IN HOSPITAL.

To our Editor and Sisters of the Social Corner: I wish to than the kind sender of a pretty calendar. I have saved them for several years and appreciate them greatly. Most of our members know of Marigold's accident. She has been in St. Joseph's hospital since Jan. 10. She would like to have the sisters call or write. It is hard to be laid up, but like in the story of The Glad Game, we are glad she is in the next bed to Miranda. The latter has had many weeks of suffering. She certainly has the sympathy of us all.

Batsy Bray is with me while Marigold is in the hospital. If any of the sisters would like to call on her, we would be pleased to see them.

Aunt Sarah: I still live in the house just back of the Congregational church.

Nema: We have been eating some of your nuts and popcorn. We think beans raised in Chaplin are better than any others.

B wishes for the New Year.

MARY FRANCE.

A good number was present Friday, at the February program meeting of the League of Service, of the First Congregational church. After a short devotional service and a brief business session, the meeting was addressed by Mrs. J. Beveridge Lee, of the Second Congregational church, New London. She explained to those present the meaning of the Project plan, and why it is desirable. Her talk was largely inspirational in an effort to show by word and illustration, that the work for the Master was all one, whether in far away Africa, or among the American Indians, or still nearer at home. Miss Louise Hyde accompanied for the hymns. After Mrs. Lee's talk, which was much enjoyed by all, there was a social hour. Miss Jennie M. COMMITTEE NAMED TO ASSESS DAMAGES IN McCOOK ESTATE CASE

At the short calendar session of the superior court in New London Friday Judge Christopher L. Avery appointed James R. May of New London, James W. Knox of Hartford and James E. Wheeler of New Haven a committee to appraise damages in the case of the state vs. the executors and heirs of the late Eliza T. McCook. The state is seeking to acquire the McCook land at Crescent Beach Niantic, for the use of Seaside sanitarium.

The naming of the committee, it is said, is merely a formality for Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn, one of the counsel for the McCooks, stated Friday that the case would be taken to the supreme court of errors of this state and to the supreme court of the United States if necessary.

In that case this committee would not act until all the litigation is ended and a final decision made one way or the other.

Both State Attorney Arthur M. Brown, representing the state, and Attorney Alcorn were present in court and there was no contest over the appointment of a committee as it was made with the understanding that Mr. Alcorn was to appeal.

It is the contention of the McCooks that the legislation condemning the land was unlawful and unconstitutional, one of the claims being that the governor signed the bill so many days after its passage that the bill is unconstitutional.

Two judgments by default, were entered against Thomas J. Kelley, administrator of the estate of the late Abraham Shasber of Norwich, both in favor of the Dime Savings bank of Norwich.

The other judgment was for $18,851.33, including interest and insurance bills paid. The property involved in this judgment is in Mount Pleasant street.

Gilbert S. Raymond of this city was appointed a committee of sale, and Attorney H. H. Pettis, Attorney Davies and John H. Perkins, all of Norwich, were named appraisers.

A motion to reopen judgment was granted in the case of Schwolsky against Matera, and others.

Judgment by default was entered in favor of Max Abrams, and Samuson Harris of New London against the Equitable Laundry Machinery Co. in the case of Abrams, et al against Carini, et al. The action is one of foreclosure on a $17,000 second mortgage. A motion for judgment as per stipulation against Henry Carini was continued.

Mothers Warned Against Too Much Dosing for Flu

Physicians advise that the chief danger in this epidemic lies in the complications which attack the weakened system. A peculiarity of influenza is that its toxins upset the digestion, especially in case of children.

Too much "dosing" further upsets the digestive system and lowers the resistance to more serious diseases such as bronchitis, sinus trouble, abscess of the middle ear, or even pneumonia.

Vicks VapoRub is especially valuable because it is applied externally and so can be used freely with no risk of upsetting the digestion. Nor can it interfere with any other treatment your doctor may prescribe. Just rub it on the throat and chest at bedtime.

RICE CHARGED WITH SLAYING OF JACKSON

Deputy Sheriff Has Been Booked on the Charge of Murdering His Friend—The Arrest Was Made Following What is Understood to Have Been a Virtual Confession of the Murder—It is Expected the Accused Will be Arraigned in Police Court This Morning.

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Feb. 3—Deputy Sheriff Trenor A. Rice, recent boarder at the Jackson home and friend of the family, was arrested tonight on a charge of murder at 9:30 o'clock, following a severe grilling at the home of the late County Detective William E. Jackson, who was shot to death in his kitchen last Tuesday night. The arrest was made following what is understood to have been a virtual confession of the murder. Rice is lodged in the cell room and placed under the constant vigilance of a guard. He was booked on the charge of murder by Lieut. of Police Edward P. Leahy on order of County Detective Edward J. Hickey. Rice is being held in communicado.

The accused is expected to be arraigned in the police court Monday morning from where he will be bound over to the next criminal term of the Windham county superior court in April. The authorities plan to rush him to the county jail at Brooklyn as soon as possible Monday for safe lodging. When Rice was taken into police hadquarters he appeared fatigued, but to the officers present he seemed to benefit from a great relief which might have come from several reasons.

Rice, who has been under suspicion since about one hour after the murder when police dispelled the suicide theory upon failing to locate a weapon in the room where the body lay, apparently weakened under the grilling which he underwent today and which was the second since the funeral of Detective Jackson Saturday afternoon at which Rice was one of the active bearers.

It was learned tonight that Mrs. Jackson and her daughter, Juanita, have been out of town since the funeral, but that they returned a short time after the arrest.

During their absence Saturday night and today Rice has evidently been kept most of the time in the house where he is suspected of having killed his friend and benefactor and the grilling possibly took place in the very room of the murder. The questioning was conducted by County Detective Hickey leader of the investigation, Police Officer Arthur M. Hurley and Special Officer Rowe H. Wheeler, of Monson, Mass.

Hickey Non-Committal

County Detective Hickey and his associates were absolutely non-committal tonight on the nature of the statement they had secured from Rice other than to affirm that he had been arrested.

A close friendship which had existed between County Detective Jackson and Rice for some time is rumored as having come to an abrupt ending about a week ago as a result of which Rice is said to have been ordered from the house by Jackson. While the authorities would make no statement the opinion is current that the motive for the murder in the event that it was perpetrated by Rice was jealousy and probably a dislike for the quick tempered detective's attitude toward his (Jackson's) wife and daughter during periodical "crouches."

Several situations of dramatic interest entered into the case as it now stands with the arrest of Rice. The police dog kept in the back yard of the Jackson home and which was linked significantly with the investigation in an effort to ascertain whether it barked provided the killing was the work of a stranger was the gift of Rice to Jackson. It is also understood that Jackson either gave or was instrumental in securing through public funds the 32 calibre revolver carried by Rice as deputy sheriff and which will probably play a prominent part in the case. It is also known that Rice was taken in at the Jackson home some months ago while he was ill and in the throes of impend separation with his wife. He was asked not to offer any board money, although he was known to have said that he would feel better if he were allowed to pay for the hospitality.

News Spread Like Wildfire

News of Rice's arrest spread like wildfire throughout the city bringing into action some dozen reporters who have been staying at the Nathan Hale hotel since the murder. Among the many opinions expressed was that if Rice made certain admission in the nature of a confession Rice was probably shielding someone else. This opinion prevailed quite widely and served as a reflection as a possible motive of jealousy. Immediately following the arrest the investigation officers retired for the night, Detectives Hickey and Wheeler at the Nathan Hale hotel and Officer Hurley at his home. All three appeared tired as a result of the strain that they have been under in running down a myriad of clues in their efforts to place the accusation properly for the killing of their friend and associate officer.

The murderer of County Detective William E. Jackson in all probability and made his way to and from the scene of the tragedy through the neck of wood and fields lying between Quarry street and upper Main street which are parallel and west of Mansfield avenue, it was disclosed in startling discoveries made today.

Miss Eva Allis, well known poultry woman, was interviewed at her home, 48 Mansfield avenue today and stated that Tuesday evening, the night of the killing of the dectective, she saw a man going through the woods in the rear of her place about 6:15 o'clock. This time coincides with the time of the killing which has been established at between 5:30 and 6:20 o'clock in the evening.

Miss Ellis said that in company with her 7-year-old niece, Lillian Billings of the same address, she had been out to the pig pen and cow barn, which borders on a small cow pasture and woods. They were standing in the barn yard when the Ellis dog barked and, looking in the direction of the pasture the woman and child saw a man standing there. They believed that the barking of the dog caused him to wheel around and disappear. They were not sure of just what direction he had taken. Miss Ellis then went in to the house and by happy curcumstance had occasion to notice that it was about 6:15 o'clock. The woman and child, who is unusually bright and observing for her age, described the man as being of medium height, slight stature and wearing a long dark overcoat. While the little girl states that he wore saoft hat or fedora, Miss Ellit was a soft hat or cap. Miss Ellis pointed out the spot where she believed the man was when she saw him. It was some 55 yards from where she was standing in the barn yard. She said that the presence of considerable snow on the ground assisted her in making out the man's general outline of figure, but that she could not give a definite description of his features.

Telltale Footprints

Starting from the spot pointed out by Miss Ellis two sets of tracks led out in a general westerly direction, one going southerly, then westerly, and the other in an almost direct westerly direction. This second westerly trail of telltale footprints was clearer than the first owing to protection of the element by thick underbrush and small timber. Both trails led to a point in the rear of the apple orchard back of the town's almshouse, which faces upper Main street. The general direction at this point was toward Holbrook avenue, a short thoroughfare which joins West Main street at right angles. A third trail found on an open slope back of the town farm and old Pitch property showed foot prints that led up the slope in a general northerly direction toward Quarry street. Still another set of tracks was found reaching back into the woods for some distance and approaching from the general direction of Quarry street, the spot where Miss Ellis saw the man.

While there were a number of obliterations from the weather little difficulty was encountered in making out the direction the maker of the footprints was travelling by the impressions of the toe and heel. The person making the tracks from the Ellis place through the Ellis place to the rear of the town farm, an almost straight line apparently took long strides or ran at a speed permitted by the nature of the travelling conditions. A rough measurement of the more well preserved of these tracks indicated that the man provided he wore rubbers or overshoes, took size seven or seven and one-half shoe.

A catalogue of "Dime Thrillers," including detective stories, murders and other crime stories was found beside the tracks. The book had the appearance of having been exposed to the weather only a few days. None of the printing was obliterated.

RAGING BLIZZARD WITH TERRIFIC BLACK SEA STORM

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A raging blizzard combined with a terrific Black Sea storm has paralyzed inland traffic and forced hundreds of boats to seek shelter. Those vessels include the soviet "Krasnyflot," aboard which rumor here says, is Leon Trotsky, exiled former commander of the Red army.

Agents of the owners of the boat announced the craft, which sailed from Batum on January 29, had found refuge in a Black Sea littoral. However, they would not confirm or deny an opinion as to when the ship would arrive here. And all information on the subject was refused by both Turkish and soviet officials.

The storm was the most severe in many years, the snow falling to a depth of two meters in some parts of Stamboul. Many houses were unroofed by the wind. Many shops and all theaters were closed and officials ordered all schools closed for three days.

BUSINESS REVERSES THE CAUSE OF SUICIDE

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—(AP)—Harry Smolen, said by members of his family to have lost $100,000 in business reverses in Los Angeles recently, committed suicide today by shooting himself in the head in the bathroom of his Brooklyn home. He was 40 years old.

The body, with a bullet wound in the right temple, was found by Mrs. Smolen who heard the report of the shot. Police said that clutched in the man's left hand was a letter from a daughter, Florence, now in Los Angeles, stating that "much as I would like to go to Vassar, I would be content to go to New York university."

Mrs. Smolen explained to police that her husband had written to the daughter in the west stating that because of his financial reverses her educational hopes and those of three other children would have to be limited. Police said Mrs. Smolen told them her husband had been in the shoe business in Los Angeles and that they hade come to New York only about two weeks ago.

German Vessel Sank: 26 Of Crew Drowned

BOSTON, Feb. 3—(AP)—Twenty-six members of the crew of the Germna steamer Deister were drowned today when the steamer sank in the Duoro river after being driven on the rocks during a violent gale.

A huge hole in the side of the vessel caused her to founder immediately. The crew assembled on the top deck but before they could equip themselves with life preservers or lower a boat the enormous waves hurled 21 of them overboard. Five others clung to the rigging and went down with the ship.

Rescue boats had hardly more than started for the foundering vessel when she was seen to disappear. Not a man was seen in the swirling waters when the rescue craft arrived at the scene.

TARIFF REVISION HEARING TO BE RESUMED TODAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—(AP)—After its first week-end suspension since it began taking testimony January 7 to obtain comprehensive data upon which to base a revision of existing tariff rates, the house ways and means committee will resume its task tomorrow with consideration of duties on raw and manufactured flax, jute and hemp.

Two days will be given over to more than 50 witnesses on this section of the Fordney-McCumber tariff act of 1922 before the committee begins a three-day hearing on the wool rates.

With completion of hearings on flax, jute and hemp, the committee will have finished two-thirds of the 1922 law's schedules. After it completes these sections it will break up into fifteen subcommittees to determine the changes in duties which it will propose at a special session in the spring either in the form of a new bill or as an amendment to the existing law.

After the wool section is disposed of, only the import charges on silk and silk goods, papers and books, sundries, the free list, and the administrative provisions of the act will remain to be considered.

To date the committee has received hundreds of proposals for rate changes, the past week witnessing the presentation of a consolidated program by the big farm organizations for sweeping increases, averaging around 100 per cent on products of the ranch, farm and orchard. Petitions also were submitted during the week for raises in rates on many classes of cotton textiles and for a tariff on long staple cotton, long a free list commodity.

THOUSANDS OF MARRIAGES IN MEXICO ILLEGAL

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 3—(AP)—Thousands of Mexicans and foreigners who were married in Mexico during the five year period beginning in 1913 today found themselves in a perplexing situation as the result of the decision of the supreme court yesterday declaring such marriages invalid. The decision has created a sensation here.

It was based on a decree by the late President Carranza declaring all civil acts under the government of Voctoriano Huerta, Emiliano Zapata and the so-called conventionist governments; illegal because these governments were unconstitutional. The court upheld this edict.

Mrs. Julian Rosledo had appealed to the supreme court from a decision of the Court of Merida, Yucatan, annuling her marriage in 1913 when Huerta was president. The Carranza decree also declared invalid marriages contractsed in the states of Oaxaca and Yucatan under neutral governments during the period in which Huerta and Zapata and the conventionists held sway here.

COLLEGE MORALITY IS HIGHER THAN TWO YEARS AGO

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Despite cocktails and petting parties, which he said still exist, Rev. Leslie Glenn, college work secretary, for the national council of the Episcopal church today declared that college morality is higher than it was two years ago.

After a year and a half survey of collegians in all sections of the country, Rev. Glenn observed that drinking and petting are diminishing, and are merely gestures of "this so-called revolt of youth."

"Two years ago saw the lowest moral trend among students," Rev. Glenn said. "Today conditions are much better."

Rev. Glenn stated that the student is not interested in the church but is interested in religion.

LINDBERGH WILL OPEN NEW AIR MAIL LINE TODAY

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 3—(AP)—At dawn tomorrow Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who left an air mail cockpit to become the first man to cross from New York to Paris in non-stop flight, will fly the mail again, this time in inaugurating an international service.

In a Sikorsky plane, accompanied by a mechanic and a radio operator, Lindbergh will leave Miami and turn the nose of his craft toward Havana on the first leg of his flight to extend air mail service from the United States to Panama.

From Havana, the flying colonel is to head southwest, across the Caribbean to the tip of the Yucatan peninsula, thence following the coast line to Belize, British Honduras, where he will stop overnight.

As technical adviser to the Pan-American Airways, a subsidiary of the Aviation Corporation of the Americas, Lindbergh will blaze a new air mail trail, yet will course over a route already familiar to a great extent because of his good will flight to the Latin Americas about a year ago.

Following the habit that has marked his previous experience as an air mail pilot, and which has characterized all his flying, the colonel has carefully plotted his route.

HOOVER DISCUSSED MAKE-UP OF CABINET

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 3—(AP)—With the make-up of his cabinet still incomplete, President-elect Hoover is giving increased thought to the selections he still must make before his inauguration next month.

He discussed this subject today with some of those who called on him at Number 8 Belle Isle and is expected to talk to others about it during the next few days, which he will spend at his offices here cleaning up an accumulation of work which he found awaiting him last night upon his return from his second fishing expedition to Long Key.

Many of the suggestions that have been made to him by party leaders already have been rejected and some of the closest friends of the next president believe he will make his own independent judgment on ten men who will sit about the counsel table with him in the white house.

DISCOVER ALTAR USED BY WORSHIPPERS 3,500 YEARS AGO

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3—(AP)—A report from Alan Rowe, director of the University of Pennsylvania expedition to Palestine, made public today, said that a great stepped altar at which the Canaanites worshipped their god Mekal nearly 3,500 years ago has been found in Beisan, the biblical Beth-Shan.

The altar, built of bricks resting upon a foundition of undressed stones in the Mekal temple, is approximately 17 feet wide and 12 feet deep and is the most remarkable structure of its kind ever found in western Asia, the report said.

Many other objects of great archaeological value also were uncovered it was stated. They include three gold pendants, one of which bears the figure goddess Ashtoreth; bronze arrowheads; an ivory spindle whorl, and several syro-hittite cylinder seals whose presence, Mr. Rowe said, appear to indicate another influence in Beth-Shan in the time of Thothmes III.

FIVE ARMED MEN HELD UP RESTAURANT IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—(AP)—Five robbers today held up an upper East Side restaurant and forced 20 diners to empty their pockets, but before departing returned to each diner sufficient money to pay his check and 20 cents extra for carfare.

A patron who was leaving the restaurant as the five robbers entered was forced to return with them. Each of the five was armed with a pistol and one had a silencer on his revolver.

The robbers also rifled the cash register. Then they forced those in the restaurant to the kitchen and escaped. Police said the men ignored jewelry and watches in the holdup and escaped with about $200 in cash.

KING GEORGE PASSED ANOTHER GOOD DAY

LONDON, Feb. 3—(AP)—King George passed another good day without appreciable change in his condition it was announced at Buckingham palace tonight. Lord Dawson of Penn paid his usual morning and evening visits but the presence of no other physician at the palace showed that there is no anxiety as to the condition of his majesty. The warning last Friday that the royal patient must not be considered convalescent, was only to guard the public against excessive optimism. It is probable that no medical bulletin will be issued until tomorrow evening.

SENATE WILL VOTE ON THE CRUISER BILL THIS WEEK

Defeat of President Coolidge's Proposal Almost Certain—Party Lines Have Been Broken Over the Time Clause, Leaders on Both Sides Dividing on the Issue—Senate and House Conferees Remain Deadlocked on the $24,000,000 Increase in Prohibition Funds—Conferees Will Resume Consideration of the Measure Today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—(AP)—The naval construction program comes to a vote in the senate this week—tomorrow night or Tuesday—and President Coolidge faces almost certain defeat in the opinion tonight of senate leaders on his appeal for elimination of the clause requiring that the 15 cruisers and one airplane carrier be laid down before July 1, 1931.

Passage of the bill, approved a year ago by the house, is predicted freely by both its senate supporters and opponents and the controversy has narrowed to the demand of the president that he be permitted to determine when the ships shall be built.

Mr. Coolidge lost on this issue in the house and the closing hours or debate yesterday found one of his right hand adherents, Senator Fess, of Ohio, vigorously opposing his position.

Previously, Senator Watson, of Indiana, another administration leader, had taken up the cause of the measure's supporters against the president for an immediate start on the proposed cruiser construction.

Party lines have faded in the battle over the time clause, leaders of both sides dividing on the issue.

Under an agreement reached last week, debate will be sharply limited after 4 o'clock tomorrow. This is expected to bring the measure to a vote by nightfall or at least by Tuesday. Because of the number of amendments to be acted upon, some doubt was expressed today whether the bill could be voted upon before Tuesday.

America's navy in fact will demand most of the attention of congress this week. Tuesday, the house resumes consideration of the measure appropriating the $547,000,000 asked by the navy for next year's expenses. Leaders scoffed today at reports that foes of the cruiser bill would seek to prevent appropriation of funds for their construction in the event the authorization is finally approved. It was pointed out that if there are enough votes for passage of the authorization there will be enough votes for appropriation of the money to build the ships. Any attempt to filibuster the appropriation will be met by a cloture petition restricting debate, it was said.

There was no sign of a break today in the deadock between senate and house conferees on the $24,000,000 increase in prohibition funds which the senate added to the deficiency appropriation measure. In the first meeting of the conferees yesterday, the senate spokesmen demanded that the house be given an opportunity to vote on the increase.

House representatives on the conference are adamant against any attempt to bring the house to a record vote on the proposal. The objection of Secretary Mellon to the dry fund amendment of Senator Harris, democrat, Georgia, is expected to have its influecne eventually on adminsitartion senators but there were no evidences of a break today. The conferees will resume consideration of the measure on Tuesday.

While congress slowly is working toward the windup of this session, the house ways and means committee will go busily ahead this week with its consideration of the tariff revision bill to be offered in the approaching Hoover congress. Hearings will be held this week on the hemp, flax and jute schedules, and then on the important wool duties.

This week also is expected to bring two real fighting issues before the senate. Senator Walsh, democrat, of Montana, is ready to ask the senate to pass judgment on his report condemning the interior and justice departments for their handling of the Sinclair contract for Salk Creek royalty oil. The lands committee rejected the report.

Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri also is prepared to call his special campaign funds investigating committee together to consider a final report on the inquiry begun almost three years ago into the campaign expenditures of Senator-Elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania.

The house military affairs committee will resume hearings on the Madden bill proposing leasing of the Muscle Shoals properties to the American Cyanamid company for years to be used in the production of fertilizer and power.

CULLEN NOT SORRY THAT HE SLEW HIS WIFE

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Expressing no remorse for the deed, Christopher Cullen, of Weymouth, Mass., today, according to E. W. Melchen, Miami chief of detectives, reiterated to police the story of how he slew his bride of five days because "she was not doing right."

Because Cullen has been in a semi-stupor, regaining consciousness only at intervals, since being found unconscious on a railroad loading platform here Friday, police have made no effort to obtain a written confession from him. Such a statement will be prepared and presented to Cullen for his signature as soon as his condition permits, Melchen said.

"There is no doubt but that his confession will be sufficiently strong to withstand any efforts that might be made to disqualify it from the standpoint that he was not mentally alert when he signed it," the detective said.

Talking freely to Melchen and his police guard, Cullen today went over details of his wife's slaying several times but when asked whether he felt any remorse for his action answered simply:

"No."

Police said the man's story, as told today, corroborated his original confession, obtained yesterday after a lengthy police grilling. He originally denied the slaying, and asserted that he was not married, though admitting his true identity.

Hospital attendants stated that Cullen's condition had shown no improvement throughout the day. His injuries from a fall from a freight train are considered serious, but not critical.

PATIENT ELUDED SISTER AND JUMPED TO DEATH

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—(AP)—Eluding a sister who sat beside her bed in the Medical Arts sanitarium, Miss Esther Glasser, 27 years old, leaped to her death from the 15th floor of the building today.

Police said they learned the young woman suffered a nervous disorder six months ago, when she was studying at Hunter college to become a teacher. Until recently she had been a patient at Stamford Hall sanitarium, at Stamford, Conn., but was brought back to New York after she had slashed her arm in an apparent attempt at suicide.

She was taken to the Medical Arts sanitarium last night and members of her family remained with her until midnight. When they prepared to go home she asked her sister, Leah, to remain. Early today when her nurse was called to attend another patient, police said the woman leaped from her bed, pushed her sister aside and jumped from the window. A taxicab driver saw the body strike the pavement. She was dead when an ambulance surgeon reached her.

SIX SUMMER COTTAGES DESTROYED BY FIRE

HAMPTON BEACH, N. H., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Six summer cottages were destroyed by fire here today and many others along the beach between the Seaview house and Gray Bear's Head were threatened before firemen succeeded in confining the blaze. Three of the cottages were afire before apparatus arrived. Damage was estimated at $4,00. An investigation into the origin of the fire was started.

The cottages destroyed were owned by Mrs. Alberta Smithson, of Dracut, Mass.; J. J. Wrin, of Lawrance, Mrs. Mary Walsh, of Lawrence, William Bigley, of Somerville, Mass., Harriet Estelle, of Newton, Mass., and Nicholas Brown, of Hampton. One fireman was slightly injured.

CAPT. FRIED TO VISIT THE WHITE HOUSE TODAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3—(AP)—Captain George Fried of the liner America today enjoyed a day of privacy and respite from the ovations paid him for the heroic rescue of the crew of the storm-battered Italian freighter Florida.

Tomorrow, however the round of favors will begin again, with an appointment at the white house arranged to enable President Coolidge to offer his congratulations personally to the courageous mariner.

No engagements had been made for Capt. Fried today. He stayed mostly in his hotel rooms receiving a few friends and avoiding as much as possible any public appearances. A small dinner had been organized for the evening to which only personal acquaintances were invited.

Tomorrow, soon after his call at the white house, Captain Fried will leave Washington again for New York to arrive there in the evening. The tentative itinerary for his tour of other cities made yesterday still remains unchanged taking him to Boston on Wednesday and to Worcester, Mass., and Providence, R. I., on the next two successive days. He will visit Philadelphia on the following Monday, Feb. 11. The exact date when he will join his ship again was said here not to be definite as yet since the captain desires to visit Cincinnati, the home of Mrs. Fried, before going to sea again.

GEN. WOOD MOVES TO HIS HANDLEY WOOD HOME

LONDON, Feb. 3—(AP)—General Bramwell Booth, whom the high council is attempting to remove as head of the Salvation Army, today caused general surprise by making an unexpected journey by road from his Seaside cottage at Southwold to his home at Handley Wood. Not long ago the aged general was hardly expected to recover from the serious illness from which he had suffered for months.

Today was a beautiful sunny day although quite cold. The general did not appear to have suffered by his journey.

COLINDRES INAUGURATED PRESIDENT OF HONDURAS

TEGUCIGALPA, Honrudas, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Vincente Mejia Colindres took office as president of Honduras today with only one slight incident to mar the general celebration. Following a service in the cathedral directed by Monsignor Fietta, Papal Nuncio, the official procession was proceeding toward the presidential palace when a shot, fired in the direction of the president, lodged in the wall of the Casino Hondureno. The procession continued after a brief interruption.

HUNDREDS ATTEND FUNERAL OF WILLIAM E. JACKSON

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Feb. 3—Investigations of the murder of County Detective William E. Jackson halted Saturday afternoon as a thousand mourners gathered to pay final tribute to the late county investigator and fourth term alderman of the city. The services were simple but deeply impressive. At the home on Quarry street, Rev. Walter F. Borchert of Edgewood, R. I., former rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church and a close friend of the deceased, conducted a prayer service. The residence of the Jackson family including a spacious adjoining tenement that had been prepared for the occupancy of Detective Jackson's mother, now a resident of Norwich, offered seating room for over 200 friends. Mrs. Jackson, her daughter Juanita and near relatives remained in an upper room.

The body reposed in a grey steel casket placed in a corner of the flower-banked living room. The floral tributes exceeded in beauty and number any ever seen here. Upon completion of the service about one thousand filed past the casket of the murdered detective. Many of these who had been especially befriended gave outward evidence of their grief. Prominent among these was Special Officer Rowe H. Wheeler of Monson, Mass., who with Detective Jackson was one of the four original members of the Connecticut state police and whose life had twice been saved by Jackson in the course of their police work.

Undaunted by a bitter wind and lowering temperature several hundred people went to the new Willimantic cemetery where burial took place. The automobile cortege was over one mile in length and the largest ever formed in this section.

At the grave a committal service was conducted by officers of A. C. Tyler camp No. 3, United Spanish war veterans of which the deceased was a member. In tribute to the late alderman's service in the Spanish-American war a squad from Company C, 169th infantry Connecticut National Guard fired three volleys over the grave as the casket was being lowered into the grave. The casket was draped wit hthe American flag. "Taps" was sounded by Lewye N. Gerry, who enlisted in the World war when but 15 years of age. Bugler Gerry, a friend of the Jackson family, had been requested by Mr. Jackson on a number of occasions to sound "Taps" at the latter's funeral.

Mayor Charles A. Gates was unable to be present owing to illness but Corporation Counsel William A. King and all members of the common council of which the deceased was president were present with the excention of two who are out of town. Police Chief Thomas F. Grady, Fire Chief Wade U. Webster, Street Superintendent Edwin O. Sumner, Superintendent Henderson S. Moulton of the water department and many members of these and other municipal departments were present. City Clerk Arthur C. Clark, Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton and other officials of the town and city, Raymond A. Gates, head of the state humane and widow pension department, Justice George E. Hinman and other justices and judges of the supreme and superior court, numerous associate detectives and deputy sheriffs were among some of the more prominent persons. Several attorneys, including State's Attorney Howard C. Bradford of Putnam, with whose office Jackson was connected, County Defender Harry E. Back, Attorney Sabin S. Russell, Judge Frank H. Foss, Prosecuting Attorney Harry S. Gaucher and others also attended. Railroad Police Captain James Carroll of Hartford was present.

Organizations of which the deceased was a member represented at the funeral were: Odd Fellows, Natchaug lodge No. 22, Knights of Pythias: Willimantic lodge No. 1311, B. P. O. E.; Willimantic Rotary club and A. C Tyler camp No. 3 as well as auxiliary No. 14.

A delegation from James J. Shea post No. 19, American Legion, was in charge of Commander Dr. W. P. S. Keating.

The honorary bearers were Supreme Court Justice George E. Hinman, Mayor Charles A. Gates, Corporation Counsel William A. King, Alderman Eugene B. Lewis, Former Postmaster Walter R. King, Fire Chief Wade U. Webster, Police Chief Thomas F. Grady, State's Attorney Howard C. Bradford, County Detective Edward J. Hickey, Attorney Sabin S. Russell, Deputy Sheriff Charles E. Ayer and Lewye G. Gerry.

The active bearers were Past Commander John D. Gallivan, Town Clerk Frank P. Fenton, Louis H. Ashton and Adjutant Robert O. Snow representing the Spanish War veterans; Stanton L. Briggs of the federal prohibition service; Exalted Ruler Maurice S. Leonard of the Elks; Edward McBride of Danielson and Deputy Sheriff Trenor A. Rice.

The firing squad was in charge of Corporal Howard Nelson and included Corporal Charles Thompson, Joseph DeMontigney, Alfred Desrosiers, Julien Vertefeuille, Ernest Lamoureux and Adelard Lavigne.

MANUFACTURING CONDITIONS GREATLY IMPROVED HERE

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Feb. 3—An increase of over 200 persons on the employment enrollment and a survey showing that all but one of the 14 principal manufacturing plants in the city and town are now on full schedules, indicate a general improvement in local business conditions.

The town of Windham, comprising the city of Willimantic, is essentially industrial in nature and derives its direct income from a total of 25 plants, employing at present a total of 3,044 people. Other sources of direct income are derived from 60 commuters who work out of town and the general trade of the residents of border towns. The textile plants employ 2,500, machine shops and iron work 204; public utilities industries 230 and miscellaneous lines 110.

During 1928 five smaller industries, employing a total of 70 persons closed down, but offsetting this loss were four new plants, three now in operation and already engaging 95 hands. The fourth will begin business within a month.

The plants that closed during the year were: The Goyer company, the Hutchins Organ company, the S. P. S. Silk company, the R. & J. Waist company and the Connecticut Braiding and Cordage company.

The new plants are: The New England Leather Novelty company on Valley street; Uncas Silk company on Wilson street; Willimantic Silk, Inc., in one of the mills of the former Quidnick-Windham plant and the Willimantic Metal Screen, Inc., which will occupy the former S. C. S. Box company building on Moulton court.

The public utilities companies are: The Southern New England Telephone company, 55 employes; the Rockville-Willimantic Lighting company, 65 employes; New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, 80 employes and the Willimantic post office, 50 employes.

The American Thread company is enjoying good business and operating on a 48 hour week basis. There are 1,810 employes, an increase of about 60 over one year ago.

The Rossie Velvet company, which recently dropped a night shift and 48 hour schedule to temporarily operate 24 hours a week, employs 295 persons at present. A revival of the market in high grade chiffon and millinery velvet is anticipated in the near future at which time the plant will restore its full schedule.

The Holland Silk company, manufacturers of fine sewing silk, is on a 49 hour schedule with 210 employes.

The Windham Silk company is also on a 48 hour schedule and employs 100 hands. Fancy linings, neckwear material and modern silks are made at this plant.

The Uncas Silk company, a subsidiary of the L. M. Hartson Silk company of North Windham manufactures high grade sewing silks. It began business last fall and has 25 hands with the prospects of employing 50 this spring.

The Willimantic Silk, Inc., is bidding fair to take an important place among local industries. This infant plant now has 60 operatives and makes a fine silk cloth. The plant is on a 55 hour a week basis, day and night. A silk throwing plant will be started in an adjoining mill about March 15.

The Vanderman Foundry and other machine and iron works report bright prospects and a present rush of orders necessitating an extension of working hours to include Saturday afternoons. The Vanderman company has 50 employes. The main products are high grade mechanics' tool boxes that are sold all over the world.

The Smith-Winchester Manufacturing plant at South Windham, pioneers of the country in building paper-making machines, continues in healthy condition. The plant, now over a century old, employs 95 operatives.

A full time schedule is in force at the L. M. Hartson company at North Windham which employs 55 hands in Windham and a similar number in a branch plant at Norwich.

The H. C. Smith company, directed by Henry Bacon has six employes and although doing a comparatively small business, is in flourishing condition.

The Hall & Bill Printing company, established half a century ago and the largest of its kind in Windham county, employs 35 hands and has a promising outlook for the coming year.

Good business is also repored at the Hillhouse & Taylor plant which employs 50 wood-turners and high class carpentry mechanics.

Ray Harris, proprietor and general manager of the Harris company of North Windham, manufacturers of jewelry and novelties is very optimistic in anticipation of a general business revival. The plant now employs 40 hands.

The New England Leather Novelty company, at 66-70 Valley street, owned by Max Scheinman, is doing excellent business in making leather belts for men and women, suspenders and general novelties. The plant employs 10 men and boys.

At the Whiting Milk company, formerly the Providence Dairy company, conducting a milk depot on Chapman street, employs five men.

The Willimantic Screen Inc., will begin the manufacture of a newly patented metal window screen upon the arrival of special machinery now being built in Ohio. High hopes are expressed for the success of this concern.

The Ashford Baptist association will hold its mid-year meeting at the First Baptist church here next Tuesday with morning and afternoon sessions. The World Trust of Northern Baptists will be the theme of the meeting and the main topic will be presented by Rev. Charles S. Detweiler, secretary of the Department of Latin North America of the American Baptist Home Mission society. He has been engaged in missionary work in Latin America for many years and is an explorer of note, having penetrated many of the treacherous head waters of the Amazon river in his efforts to Christianize the Indian tribes.

Mrs. Henry Fryer will preside over the morning session which will open at 10 o'clock, and George H. Andrews will be in charge during the afternoon meeting. Dinner will be served at noon by the ladies of the church. Discussions will be led by the following speakers: Mrs. Mary Martin Kinney, Dr. M. D. Eubank, Rev. Horace B. Sloat of Hartford and Rev. C. S. Detweiler. Rev. E. B. Erney will officiate during the worship period.

In a coasting accident, Omer Vertefeuille, three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vertefeuille of 9 Maple street was struck but not injured, by an automobile owned by Professor H. A. Seckerson of Storrs and driven by his wife Saturday forenoon. The boy and an older playmate slid down Spruce street and at the corner of Maple avenue were traveling into the path of the Seckerson car. The older boy rolled off the sled first and was followed by the Vertefeuille boy but not until the sled was struck. Mrs. Seckerson took the child to his home and at her suggestion he was then taken to St. Joseph's hospital where an examination disclosed that he was not injured but considerably frightened. Police Officer Roderick Lariviere investigated the case.

The reckless driving charges against John J. Haggerty and Clarence W. McLean, both of this city, were continued until next Saturday in police court Saturday morning, owing to the absence of witnesses. The two young men were drivers of closed cars that collided on Main street, near the foot of Windham street at 9.50 o'clock Friday night, badly damaging both cars. They could not agree on the settlement of damages and were therefore notified to appear in court by Police Officer F. Rudolph Laramee. Haggerty was turning around on Main street, claiming that he had given a signal, and McLean approached in an easterly direction. McLean states that he was driving at a moderate rate of speed and tried to pass around to the left of the other machine to avoid a collision.

OBITUARY.

Peter Lucko.

Peter Lucko, 38, of 37 Elm street, died in St. Joseph's hospital Friday night after a week's illness of pneumonia. He leaves his wife, a daughter, Mary and a son, John, all of this city, two sisters and his father, residing in Russia.

Robert, 13 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Johnson of 90 Lewiston avenue, has been taken to St. Joseph's hospital to be treated for a fractured skull and broken cheek bone sustained when he was struck by a sled on Lewiston avenue Thursday night. The Johnson boy, it is claimed, ran into a little girl while coasting down the avenue. The girl was knocked down but not injured. He fell from his sled, however, and was then struck by another one used by Donald Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Leslie Nichols of 309 Jackson street. His condition was stated as being fair today

Notice of a special town meeting to be held at the town hall next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of levying a tax on the 1928 grand list, was issued the past week end by the board of selectmen. William A. Buck, Jeremiah C. Hegly and C. Arthur Keeney. The list is that of the town of Windham.

John Kusnitz of Flanders road, Coventry, was fined $50 and costs, with a remittance of $25 of the fine, in the Coventry town court last Wednesday on a charge of violation of the liquor law. State Policeman Frank A. Starkel of the Stafford Springs barracks testified to complaints that Kusnitz was selling hard cider in five gallon lots.

Unless there is an unusual change in the weather, practically all of the ice harvesters will begin cutting the crop next week. Frank Brown reports ice from 11 to 12 inches thick at the Mansfield pond. The ice on the Willimantic river cove and at the pumping station averages about 10 inches in thickness.

Special local talent will probably furnish the entertainment for the Knights of Columbus Boys' band carnival which will be staged at the town hall next week. A satisfactory sale of tickets is reported.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Fenton entertained over the week end their daughter, Miss Jessica Fenton, Miss Ruth Fowler of Rochester, N. Y., and Miss Frances Hamp of Cambridge, Mass., classmates in the Designers' Art school at Boston, Mass.

Miss Phyllis Robinson of Hartford spent the week end with her parents, Judge and Mrs. Otto B. Robinson.

Mrs. Jennie R. Bath is spending a few days in New York after which she will go to Florida to remain for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Moffitt are entertaining for two weeks, their daughter, Mrs. Fred Doescher and daughter Mildred of Houlton, Me.

Skoglund, also of this city and Mrs. Charlotte Peterson of Providence, R. I., and a grandson, Arthur Swanson of 78 Lewiston avenue, with whom she made her home.

FUNERALS.

The funeral of Arthur W. Hubbard was held this afternoon with services in the North Windham church at 2 o'clock. Rev. John H. Knott and Rev. Paul B. Sanger officiated. Burial was in the North Windham cemetery. The bearers were Charles A. Gallup, Orin Colburn, Charles Tucker, Eldred Weeks. Arrangements were in charge of Avery and VanZandt.

Mrs. Esther C. Copeland.

Mrs. M. E. Alling sang two selections and Mrs. Newton presided at the organ. Burial was in the Storrs cemetery the bearers being James Kerwin, Frank Bradway, Burton Wood and Leslie King. Avery and VanZandt had charge of the arrangements.

The timely arrival of a mother from church shortly after 10 o'clock this forenoon probably saved the lives of two small children and a bad fire. A bell alarm was sounded from Box 61 on Main street, at 10.05 o'clock for a fire at 108 Ives street, occupied by Ernest Ricard and family and owned by the American Thread company. The pumper in charge of Acting Chief Michael J. English made quick response. The blaze was confined to clothing in a closet and was extinguished by chemicals. It was learned that shortly before 10 o'clock the two small Ricard children had started a fire in the closet while playing with matches. Mr. Ricard extinguished this blaze with a pail of water and then left for church expecting the return of his wife from an earlier church service shortly. Mrs. Ricard arrived to find that the fire had broken out anew. She rushed the children to safety and notified neighbors who rang in the alarm.

THE SAFETY OF THE NEW FORD

Beauty and utility are combined in unusual degree in the new Ford. Shown here is the Ford Coupe—an especially good car for the woman driver because it is so safe and reliable and easy to control.

SAFETY, comfort, reliability, economy, speed, acceleration, beauty—these are the features that make the new Ford such a good value. Of all, there is none more important than SAFETY.

The safety of the new Ford comes not only from its efficient brakes, but from many other factors. Among these are ease of steering and control, the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, and the sturdy, balanced construction of the car. This includes the enduring quality of mechanical parts as well as the structural strength of the body.

A particularly interesting feature of the Ford car is the manner in which electric welding has been carried forward to new usefulness through the creation and development of hundreds of special machines.

Electric welding gives simplicity and strength

This very important and increasingly valuable tool of modern manufacturing makes it possible to use one-piece units instead of several parts riveted or bolted together, with resulting gain in strength and simplicity.

Electric welding also permits the use of steel forgings instead of castings or stampings, without increase in weight or greatly increased cost.

Steel forgings are used not only in the front axle, steering gear, transmission, clutch, drive shaft and rear axle housing of the new Ford, but in the shock absorber parts, the emergency brake lever, the torque tube flange and everywhere else where great strength is required. The strength of forgings makes for unusual safety.

Another safety factor worth noting is the manner in which the new Ford holds the road at all speeds. This is due to the low center of gravity, the carefully planned balance or distribution of structural and mechanical weight, and the low ratio of unsprung weight to sprung weight. The coordinated action of the transverse springs and Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers controls exaggerated bouncing

All six brakes are fully enclosed

One of the outstanding features of the new Ford, of course, is its mechanical, internal-expanding six-brake system. This is unusually reliable and effective because the surfaces of all six brakes are fully enclosed. There is no possibility of water, dirt or oil interfering with brake action under any condition.

The silence of these brakes is another thing you will appreciate. Screeching and groaning have been eliminated by a special self-centering action—an exclusive Ford development which brings the entire surface of the brake shoe in uniform contact with the drum the instant you press your foot on the pedal.

The value of the protection afforded by the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield of the new Ford is shown by a recent survey indicating that 65% of injuries in automobile accidents are due to flying glass. The windshield in the new Ford is so made that it will not shatter under the hardest impact. Particularly where there are women and children, it is an important safety factor

Ease of steering and control are additional factors in the safety of the new Ford. The steering gear is what is known technically as three-quarter irreversible. This means that the bumps and jolts of the road are fully absorbed by the wheels and steering mechanism of the car and are not transmitted to the hands of the driver. A slight touch is sufficient to guide the car. Yet you always have that necessary feel-of-the-road

The ease of shifting gears, quick acceleration, abundant power and speed for every emergency, and full vision front, side and back, are other points to remember in considering the unusual safety of the new Ford.

LIGHTING HIGHWAY WALKERS.

It is to be expected that the jokesters will have a lot of fun over the bill that has been introduced in the New York legislature, requiring pedestrians to carry lights, quite the same as they did over the appeal to the Connecticut legislature for similar legislation in regard to cattle, but the more such matters are considered the more apparent it becomes that something more than a joke is involved.

It is impossible to overlook the danger that exists in the highway today for the pedestrian and it is a well known fact that auto drivers are not given fair warning when people are walking in the road. Vehicles of all kinds are required to have lights for the protection of all concerned. Those who are driving cattle are required to have a light, but the individual may saunter along the road at night without being seen until the motor vehicle is right on his heels, and this is particularly true when making a curve.

As a proper protection to himself and as a warning to all others in the highway not to strike him, the carrying of a reflector, front and rear, that will show a bright light as the rays of the auto lights strike it should meet the requirements. It would be more convenient than carrying a lantern. It would be similar to the small reflector that some drivers strap on their hands in order that their signals may be gotten by the car at the rear at night, and it is quite in keeping with the practice that has been adopted in some cities of having traffic police wear front and rear reflectors while on duty in the streets.

There are many pedestrians who have sensed the situation sufficiently to carry a lantern every time they venture on the roads at night, especially in the country. It is a case of looking out for No. 1 and naturally the pedestrian is interested in providing protection for himself. Nothing would have seemed more ridiculous a few years ago, but conditions are such today as to demand just what is being sought. When we stop to think of the many highway fatalities we can but endorse any measure which offers such a simple method of prevention. None should be more interested than the pedestrian.

INTERPRETING STIMSON TRIP

It is almost impossible these days for a man of prominence in the republican party to move without that movement being interpreted as a sign that he is going to be appointed to a place in the cabinet of the next president. There are times when such guesses would be heartily endorsed if they were correct, while there are others which quickly bring forth statements to the contrary or adverse criticism.

In view of the speculation that has been indulged in for the past several weeks it was inevitable that the announcement that Governor General Stimson of the Philippines was to return to this country should be seized upon and interpreted as meaning that he was to become a member of President-elect Hoover's cabinet. It is entirely possible that such will prove to be the case, so the guessers are not dealing with an utter impossibility in this instance, but there is nothing as yet to furnish a basis for such a belief beyond the fact that he is returning from the islands.

We must realize that Governor General Stimson has been most successful in handling the Philippine situation. Following General Wood, who insisted upon introducing needed reforms in the island, he impressed upon the Filipinos, and particularly the politicians, the importance of cooperation. The result has been that the antagonism that was experienced during the Wood regime has disappeared and the islanders are working with the governor general for the betterment of the islands.

General Stimson is doing excellent work where he is. In time we shall know what his forthcoming visit is for, but it is likely that he is desirous of not only informing the present administration of the situation and set forth the needs in the islands but of placing them before the new administration.

There are still problems in the Philippines and there will continue to be for a long time to come. The islands are interested in legislation which will affect them and they are naturally desirous of interesting others in development work there, and probably none understands the situation better than the governor general.

CUTTING DOWN ACCIDENTS.

Whenever they have been undertaken it has been impossible to disregard the importance of safety campaigns. The object is for the purpose of preventing accidents by calling attention to various factors which ought to get consideration. They have been based upon educating the people to assume the greater degree of responsibility which is placed upon them by modern conditions. It is never possible to tell just what the effects have been although it is highly probable that more deplorable results would have been recorded had they not been attempted. By getting the people to think in the right channels there is reason for expecting desired results.

It was back in 1923 that the American Railway association set in motion a plan to bring about a reduction in railway accidents. It was confident it could be accomplished and a reduction of 35 per cent. by 1930 was the goal set. How effectively it set about the task and how thoroughly it covered the field is now disclosed by the announcement that the goal has already been reached by most of the railroads. This indicates the fine response to the effort and the apparent interest on the part of those directly concerned. That was of course only as it should be in view of the fact that the reduction in accidents reflects to the advantage of those who are directly involved in them.

Why isn't it possible to bring about a similar reduction in other accidents? If the human agent is vitally affected on the railroads the same is true in industrial accident cases and likewise in automobile cases. None is more interested than those who are involved in most of the automobile accidents. They ought to be anxious, for their own welfare, to reduce those accidents that mean broken bones, possibly death or even if it means no more than a smashed car.

There are just as strong reasons for seeking a reduction of other accidents as there was back in 1922 setting a goal for a reduction by 35 per cent. in railroad accidents. While campaigns to check the latter have probably accomplished something there are still too many when each succeeding year discloses as many if not more than the year before.

SELLING THE SHIPS.

According to the figures which have been furnished the senate by the shipping board, the government stands in a position to get practically the book value of the vessels of the United States and the American Merchant lines through the acceptance of the highest bid that has been made for them in the recent offering.

This doesn't mean that the government would receive a sum equivalent to the cost of the vessels or equal to the replacement cost. It wouldn't even by possible to get the reconditioning and conversion cost, but should the offer be accepted it would mean the ending of an annual yearly loss.

The government has kept these vessels under the American flag and in the service of the merchant marine at an expense of more than $547,000 for the last fiscal year. For the calendar year the loss was even greater for the United States line alone, though the American Merchant line showed a small profit.

If the lines were making money as a regular thing there would be little thought of selling them at any such figure as that which has been offered, but under government operation there appears to be no prospect that there will be any different results and instead of piling up yearly losses until the value of the ships is more than exceeded the desirability of getting out of the business, stopping competition with private capital and ending this annual drag upon the government funds makes a strong appeal.

The policy of getting out of the shipping business is of long standing, it is the thing to do but when it is done there must be adequate assurance that the lines will not only be maintained but developed. That, under private capital, should mean much.

WHEN THE PRINCE INQUIRES.

Legislative action in England doesn't rest upon what the prince of Wales thinks, and yet it is not improbable that his visit into the coal fields of that country will have considerable influence in dealing with conditions which have existed there for a considerable time.

The prince has set out on his own initiative to get a first hand idea of what the situation really is. He has met the operators who have given their explanations of the situation and he has met the miners. He has learned how much money the miners are receiving for a week's pay, he has gone into their home and seen the conditions under which they are obliged to live. He has been making a study of the mining region which appears to be thorough enough to get a good idea of what is and what ought not to be.

What his manner of dealing with the situation is going to be has not been revealed. The fact that he is interested is bound to carry much weight. The fact that he has brought to light conditions which he declares must be investigated carries its own inference as to what he intends to do.

Whether this means efforts at new legislation, whether parliament will take up the fight and help to relieve the situation or whether it will mean some new agreement among the operators and the miners that will produce an improvement remains to be seen, but the fact that the prince has shown himself interested in human welfare to the extent of seeing for himself gives ground for the belief that he will not allow the matter to drop until something has been accomplished. The very fact that he is interested can be expected to have its influence.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Now the question is whether the groundhog is really a prophet.

Our revenue cutters might well be termed the everready rescue squad.

The man on the corner says: There can be no dispute about what the groundhog saw if he was looking for a shadow.

If Commander Byrd keeps on the way he has started he will bring home a new map of the region around the south pole.

Those who are opposed to capital punishment probably appreciate the fact that they have the full support of all the murderers.

Now that it is February, has your coal supply so diminished that you can walk into the bin, or have you been doing that for a month?

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

To clean grass rugs, sponge with a weak salt and water solution.

Crisp slices of bacon add piquancy to toasted cheese sandwiches.

The person who eats much meat should also eat considerable fruit.

Tart jelly and chopped nuts make a nice spread for rolled sandwiches.

Rubbing with a pecan nutmeat will darken scratches on mahogany.

Add a tablespoon of sugar when making soap and it will lather well.

Salad for the school lunch box may be praced in a paper drinking cup.

Cover small cakes with soft icing and roll in cocoanut or chopped nuts.

Rubber goods of any kind may be effectively mended with adhesive plaster.

When pins do not go into a fabric easily thrust the points into a bar of soap.

Brass of any kind may be thoroughly cleaned by scrubbing with kerosene.

Lima beans are fine baked with cheese, pimento, white sauce and bread crumbs.

Add a little bluing to the soap suds and your cut glass will be clear and sparkling.

In a small house the wall should be done in the same color or in blended colors.

Tarnished silver may be cleaned by rubbing with a raw potato dipped in baking soda.

Don't draw hot water from the tank when baking. If you do the oven will cool off.

Oil-cloth should never be scrubbed. If this is done the paint will be quickly worn off. It should first be carefully washed with a soft brush. To remove all the dust and dirt and then wiped with a large soft cloth wrung out in tepid (not hot) water.

Dishes in which flour and eggs have been mixed can be quite easily cleaned if they are allowed to stand in cold water for a few minutes before washing. Hot water hardens the mixture and makes it very difficult to remove.

To keep enamel sinks looking well washthem frequently with soap jelly made by dissolving a large bar of soap in two quarts of boiling water to which two tablespons of kerosene have been added.

CLEAN WOODWORK

Tea water is excellent for cleaning woodwork. Pour water over used tea leaves, strain through muslin and use it with a cloth. This does not hurt woodwork.

A TIP ON TABLES.

Nothing so destroys the quiet dignity of a perfectly appointed dinner table as crowded individual places. There should be at least one-half to three-quarters of an inch between each sterling silver piece. The inside pieces should be a full three-quarters of an inch from the three-plate, and all the sterling should be at least an inch from the edge of the table.

WHEN A CAKE SINKS.

Sometimes a plain sponge, Madeira, or rice cake sinks in the middle. Cut the center completely out and fill it with either canned or stewed fresh fruit. Top with whipped cream, and serve it as a sweet. The cut-out part can be used with a few scraps of pastry for making maids-of-honor.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

Starch baths are excellent in enhancing the smoothness of the skin. To prepare a starch bath, a pound of ordinary starch is first dissolved in cold water and then turned into the warm tub.

Dry hair and the hair of little children may be cleaned occasionally with salves or oil instead of soap and water. A creamy scalp food or olive oil may be used. The principle is the same as that used when the face is cleansed with cream instead of water. After the oiling the hair may be steamed with hot towels, then rubbed with a clean, dry towel. A dry powder shampoo may follow.

Cheese is a useful substitute for meat. One pound of cheese contains as much proteid matter as two pounds of meat and as much fat as three pounds. Hard cheese is difficult of digestion and should be grated before cooking. Cheese dishes combine best with some kind of farinaceous material, such as rice, bread, semolina, macaroni.

HEED THE HAT LINING

You wouldn't put on soiled underwear after a bath, would you? Then why wear a dirty hat lining after a shampoo? It is an easy matter to remove the lining of a hat, wash it in soap and water, and sew it back into place again. Many fastidious women always keep an extra hat lining on hand for just that purpose.

WHAT ABOUT THE BATH MAT?

Bath mats in bright colors and fanciful designs are the latest adjunct to the modern bathroom. But whether they are colored or just plain white they should be kept as spotless as the porcelain tub.

VELVET BEDSPREADS

Crushed velvet in pastel colors covers the new eiderdown quilts, which match curtains of the same material, and provide a cosy scheme for the bedroom in winter time. A less costly velvet is used to cover the reverse side, this material being preferable to silk or satin, as it clings to the blankets and keeps the eiderdown in position.

MILK PITCHER

Some children who refuse to drink their allotted glasses of milk, thoroughly enjoy it if served in a little pitcher with small goblet and allowed to pour it out themselves.

TAPESTRIES

If tapestries that are hung on the wall are brushed well with a furniture brush each time the room is cleaned, it will be a long time before they are actually soiled.

SHADED LIGHT

Attractively shaded lights will give the woman in the home an added beauty.

OCCASIONAL TABLES

Charming little tables for tea or cigarets, or odds and ends are modernistic in line and feature two colors. They fit into the average living room with surprising adaptability.

DICTATES OF FASHION

The sleeveless sports dress is reported from Palm Beach.

Yellows and greens blending one to the other are highlighted.

The younger set have shown a marked preference for taffeta this season.

A monotone linen coat with a check gingham dress is reported as southern ensemble favorite.

A trimming detail known as the artichoke leaf hardly needs further description and is frequently seen.

Fluttering chiffons in pastel hues with special emphasis on yellow are reported from all fashionable resorts.

Purple is being discussed as an important spring color and is already worn by many well-gowned women.

Fitted hips lines and many interesting interpretations of the bustle are characteristic of the smartest gatherings—although the princess silhouet is extremely important.

A geranium red sports suit has a collar of platinum fox and a blouse of the same shade, with bandings of red.

Just the thing to wear with Palm Beach clothes are the new berets made of a lacy Angora wool in lovely shades.

A navy blue flannel suit, with circular skirt and dressy jacket finished in mustard yellow braid, has a mustard yellow blouse finished in blue.

Medium blue and a bright yellow promise to be a popular color combination for spring. A yellow blouse tucks into the circular skirt of a blue suit.

Colorful, wooly, steamer rugs are appearing in new guise. They are really big bags into which one can put his feet and legs and make sure of being warm at the football game.

Palm Beach showings emphasize the popularity of the cardigan suit. One suit of blue kasha, with its skirt fitted to hipline and then flaring of blue striped crosswise.

PEPLUM THEME

Evening gowns are encouraging the peplum theme. A black faille taffeta frock has the cutest little peplum embroidered in gold and then wired to hold it out. Only a slender girl could wear this.

BAGS FOR EVENING

Useful little bags to carry in the evening are made of crepe de chine in pastel colors, and are shaped like the roll bag how so popular in leather. At either end is a large tassel of pearl beads, and the top has one of the convenient slide-fastenings.

TWO TONE DRESS SHOES

It is seldom at present that one sees any but sport shoes carried out entirely in one kind of leather. Combinations of materials and coloring are almost universal for the dressier shoes. The reptile skins have lost none of theoir prestige, and combined with blue kid are attractive.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

In Sudan wives are paid for in cows, the father of the girl frequently receiving as many as 60 cows for allowing his daughter to marry.

Women passengers traveling between San Francisco and Los Angeles on the Southern Pacific railroad have the benefit of Chinese maid service.

Now more than 69 years of age, Archduchess Marie Valerie Hapsburg, only daughter of the late Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, makes her living by teaching piano lessons.

The appearance of girls and young women in the fashionable tearooms in Budapest, Hungary, with skirts four or five inches above the knee had produced an outcry in the press, church and parliament.

The world's oldest woman physician, after nearly a century of life—of work, travel and adventure all over the world—has retired and is living quietly in London. She is Dr. Harriet Cilsby, 98 years of age.

SEWING HINTS

When cutting thin material that is apt to pull or cut irregularly, place between sheets of thin paper and cut all at once.

One woman who does a great deal of home sewing has the treadle of her sewing machine carpeted with a piece of old carpet. She finds it a great comfort when much stitching is to be done.

When removing basting threads do not pull a very long basting. Cut it every few inches to avoid pulling the material.

When making a dress, never destroy scraps. Later they may be used to make patches or pockets.

A BATH FOR BITTERSWEET

When the bittersweet berries you have treasurer so carefully since the fall become dull and dutsy, don't throw them away. A soap-and-water bath will bring out all the brilliant beauty of the delicate clusters. Of course, you must handle them carefully or the berries will drop from the stems. First prepare a basin of lukewarm soapsuds, then immerse the berries, a few clusters at a time. Rinse in clear, lukewarm water and replace them in a vase or bowl to dry.

MORNING COFFEE

Now here is a way to be different as you sip your morning coffee or chocolate. If you wish to be more orthodox, however—well, there after all is the cocktail jacket. This garment has, in fact, taken as complete possession of the boudoir as it has of more public haunts and whether it serves as concomitant to the lounging pajamas, or whether it tops a tea gown of chiffon, or metal tissue it marks a negligee as being of the latest inspiration.

FIREPLACE PAN

If your family enjoys an open fire every day of winter and the ashes problem is a knotty one, measure the base of your fireplace, take it to a foundry or hardware store and order a pan made to fit with the front side open. This pan will cost little, is not noticeable and can be removed with the ashes intact.

LEFTOVER HAM

Slice the leftover end of ham about an inch thick. Cover with sliced raw potatoes. Cover with milk, season and bake, adding milk enough to keep moist. This is an excellent cold-weather dish.

SMALL PORTIONS

Many children are discouraged from eating because they are given too large portions. Cereal is twice as appealing to a child if served in a cute porridge dish.

CLEAN PORTRAITS

Photographs can be cleaned by wiping lightly with a piece of old linen dipped in warm ammonia water.

FISH.

Fish should be absolutely dry before frying. If necessary, pat it dry with a clean cloth before dusting it with flour or putting it into the pan.

ODD DECANTERS.

Peasant figures made of china add a decorative note to a dining room or the living room that is used as a dining room, for they are in reality decanters.

RECIPES.

Upside-Down Cake: Cream together six tablespoons of shortening and one cup of sugar. Add three well beaten eggs, two cups of flour sifted with two teaspoons of baking powder, three-fourths cup of milk and one teaspoon of vanilla. Beat well. Put into a shallow pan enough brown sugar to cover the bottom of the pan. Cover with slices of canned pineapple, with a maraschino cherry in the center of each slice. Pour the cake batter over all. Bake in a moderate oven for about 40 minutes.

Frosted Apples: Dissolve half a cup of sugar in one cup of boiling water in a shallow baking pan. Core six red Jonathan conking apples in the sirup. Cover the pan and cook the apples over a low flame until they are tender, or for about 20 minutes. Turn the apples with a spatula or broad-bladed knife during the cooking process so that they will cook evenly. Remove the skin from the apples. Scrape the red pulp which adheres to the skin and spread it over the apples. Roll the apples in shredded cocoanut and place them in a serving dish. Boil the sirup in which the apples were cooked until it is thick, then pour it around the base of the apples. Serve plain or with cream. This recipe will serve six.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Opposes Racing Pool Room Bills

Mr. Editor: We notice that a bill to legalize betting at horse races has been introduced in the house of representatives at Hartford. We are surprised and indignant that such a bill which is so clearly against the welfare of the state be presented. It is claimed that it will bring a large revenue to the state, which is not so, because many times the amount received for licenses will be taken out—money that should remain here to be used through the legitimate channels of trade. Besides this it opens another breeding place for crime and corrupting our youth. We hope this bill will fail to pass, also the one that would allow bowling alleys and pool rooms to open Sunday afternoons, which is only another avenue to cause disrespect of the Sabbath day and to spend money foolishly that should be used to pay honest bills.

CITIZEN.

Groton, Feb. 2, 1929.

Taxation

Mr. Editor: A very interesting article on tax conditions in Middletown appeared in a state paper during the past week. The writer says: "Real estate values have dropped from 25 to 35 per cent, rents have been reduced and houses and stores are not bringing in the revenue they did a few years ago. The war-time boom has long since passed, and depression instead of prosperity is the rule. Tenants are complaining of big rents, yet if tenants cannot pay high rents owners cannot pay high taxes. The recent revaluation and consequent high rates of taxation really amounts to confiscation, and many foreclosures will result. . . . Many a family who by industry and self-denial have acquired a little home, will be obliged to dispose of them."

It seems to me that many of these conditions prevail, at present, in Norwich. Yet, if at any of our town meetings someone proposed to build a university in Norwich, at a cost of $5,000,000 and appropriate the money from the "U. S. treasury," the majority of those present would vote in favor of it. They certainly have acquired the habit of voting "aye." Some time ago when they were proposing various ways of attracting industries to locate in Norwich, someone proposed planting a rosebush at every home. It was a beautiful idea, but it strikes me that the manufacturer would be more apt to ask about the rate of taxation, than about how many rosebushes the town contained.

A few years ago Norwich had a taxpayers' association and on a certain occasion, they inserted an article in The Bulletin that if those who rented houses, and "don't pay taxes" did not attend that meeting and vote down that appropriation their rents would be raised the following day. They attended and voted down that appropriation. Judging from the expressions one hears, at present, from all directions, a taxpayers' association is badly needed in Norwich to take more interest in attending town meetings and meeting and discussing matters to be voted on, previous to those meetings. Some months ago, Governor Fuller of Massachusetts said: "If taxation isn't reduced, Massachusetts is in danger of losing the greater part of her industries," while only this week President Coolidge stressed the point that taxation had almost reached the breaking point.

JOHN D. NOLAN

Taftville, Feb. 1, 1929.

Pittsfield to North Adams

Mr. Editor: It seems to me that the Great Ruler of the universe in His infinite wisdom placed in certain sections of the country samples of His wonderful handiwork and certainly some of the most rugged and lovely are to be found along the great Mohawk trail, for here can be found nature in all its glory. We look, and we wonder at the forces of nature that have caused this. And we marvel at the view that can be seen from the top in all directions, and as our car creeps along we look down and see the valley below. We miss nothing. Still we are a little bit afraid that perhaps something may go wrong with the car. And yet we are fascinated by the sublime beauty of it all. Some of the early maples in the fall of 1928 had put on their autumn dress and there was a riot of color, as if the most glorious sunset had been caught and dropped here for us to wonder and behold.

We started the second day from Pittsfield and by trolley for a change from the bus and this trolley road runs without transfer from the heart of the Berkshires, Pittsfield, to North Adams, a distance of 21 miles. Going over this route it reminded me greatly of the Quinebaug-Mohegan trail that leads to Jewett City, and this is also a beauty spot. As we are whirled along in this fine suburban trolley, we pass Berkshire park, and the home of the late Henry L. Dawes is pointed out. He was for many years congressman and senator from the old Bay state. We also pass the government paper mill where is made the paper with silk fibre which is used by the United States printing office for the printing of bank notes and bonds. This plant is under the personal supervision of the U. S. government at all times. We pass near to where in the village cemetery sleeps Henry K. Shaw, better known as Josh Billings, one of the first of America's humorists. Here in this little village may be seen the tablet that was erected to the memory of Jonathan Smith, one of the early heroes of western Massachusetts.

Going still further north we approach the wonderful Cheshire reservoir, and as it is early morning, the sun is just shining behind the eastern hills and bathing the surrounding country in a blaze of glory. And what a wonderful picture is seen as the sun's rays are reflected on the waters, with the background of the hills as a frame. It created a picture that must be seen and once seen will never be forgotten. Soon we come to the village of Cheshire, named after a little village in England, and like its namesake in England it was also famous for its manufacture of cheese. In this little hamlet was produced the wonderful "Cheshire" cheese which was made in 1801 and weighed about 1,235 pounds. This was carted by ox teams to the Hudson river and started on its journey to be presented to President Jackson by a special committee named for that purpose. This little village sends out great quantities of silex, which is used in the making of the finest grades of cut glass. This silex is not unlike what was taken from Lantern Hill and resembles a fine grade of granulated sugar.

Further along we get a fine view of Mount Graylock, the highest point of which is 3,505 feet, and from the tower on the summit that is 75 feet high we can see the views in the distance as far as the eye can reach. The houses that dot the valleys below look like little toy houses. A little farther along we enter the town of Adams, named in honor of Samuel Adams, "the father of the American Revolution."

A little ways from here we come to the birthplace of one who was the pioneer of the woman's suffrage party, a woman whose life work was given for equal rights for women—Susan B. Anthony.

Just before we arrive at North Adams we discerned a pile of material which marks the western end of the Hoosac tunnel, which according to record was started by private enterprise in 1853 and was finished by the state in 1874 at a cost of $14,000,000 and a loss of 195 lives. Soon we reach North Adams, the beginning of the famous Mohawk trail, and I will try and tell you later the impressions I gained from going over it.

Much has been told about this scenic wonder. And a great deal has been written. Many have seen and many have traveled over it, even as you and I, but words fail to describe its charm or the magnitude of this wondrous work of the forces of nature, for it must be seen to be appreciated, for nowhere in the east is there anything quite so fine as is shown in this scenic wonder, one of God's great masterpieces.

YOUR INCOME TAX

Thousands of inquiries have reached the bureau of internal revenue relative to changes in tax legislation. The purpose of the bureau is to answer these questions in a series of newspaper statements, based on the revenue act of 1928, approved May 29, 1928.

The rates of income tax and surtax applicable to individual income, and the personal exemption of individuals and credits for dependents, remain unchanged. The normal tax rate is 1 1-2 per cent on the first $4,000 in excess of personal exemption, credits for dependents, etc., 3 per cent on the next $4,000, and 5 per cent on the balance. The surtax rates apply to net income in excess of $10,000. The maximum rate is 20 per cent, which applies to net income in excess of $100,000.

The rate of tax on the income of corporations is reduced from 13 1-2 per cent to 12 per cent. The same rate applies to the income of insurance companies, reduction with respect to this class of taxpayers being from 12 1-2 per cent to 12 per cent. The credit allowed a domestic corporation, the net income of which is $25,000 or less, is increased from $2,000 to $3,000.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—Should you drop into the senate's noble cafe some Tuesday for luncheon and find service a bit slow, don't get huffy about it. It would be very ungallant. What you should do is just shrug your shoulders in the French way and say as the French said in the bad days still unforgotten "C'est la guerre."

For that's what it will be—the war, or at least a relic thereof—that is slowing things up. A proportion of the Negro waiter staff—"boys," however gray-headed they may be—will be busy in a big committee room of the senate office building.

They will be helping the senate women hold their regular weekly sewing bee and luncheon. And who is to blame senatorial bubbles for placing every convenience of the senate at the disposal of senatorial wives for the purpose?

From Mrs. Marshall.

The senatorial sewing bee grew out of the desire of Mrs. Tom Marshall, wife of the wartime vice president, to do her bit. That was the era made famous by the celebrated British war classic about Sister Susie sewing shirts for Belgians, and Mrs. Marshall and other senate wives hit upon the idea of forming a Red Cross sewing auxiliary among themselves. It was done. A constitution was adopted and Mrs. Marshall was the first presiding officer elected.

Mrs. Coolidge took her turn at that job and Mrs. Dawes is now at the helm. Mrs. Coolidge still is a regular attendant, though new first lady. You can always tell when she is there. Somewhere about chatting with chance acquaintances, you will see the secret service operatives who escorts her.

Being a member of that select group of strong-arm men picked for pluck rather than pulchritude, you can safely gamble that he's a brave man. But he is far from being brave enough to venture into that committee room.

Hostess, Too.

The original constitution admitted only senate wives to membership. Some bachelor or widowed senators of that day—and there are less than 20 of the 96 senators who date back to 1917 still in that body—kept house and entertained with the help of feminine relatives as hostesses. An amended provision opened the sewing circle membership to senatorial hostesses.

Which raises a question. Vice President-elect Curtis is a widower. He has named his sister, Mrs. Gann, as his hostess in the palatial 10-room hotel suite where his vice presidential abode will be set up. Will she also become presiding officer of the sewing circle of senate wives? Frankly, the Bystander does not know.

COUNTY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY TO ACT ON RE-ORGANIZATION TONIGHT

A special meeting of the life members of the New London County Agricultural society will be held this (Monday) evening at the town hall to act on plans calling for a re-organization of the society. A statement of the present financial condition of the society will be submitted to the meeting and will show that the financial status calls for much greater business efficiency than has existed for some time past in the society's affairs.

Plans for a complete reorganization of the society will be submitted for action by its life members, tending to give the conduct of the society's dealings an efficient business administration for the future. The new executive board, after several meetings, decided that the annual county fair cannot be conducted along the same lines as the past, increasing the deficit each year and that the time has arrived to give this aspect of the society's affairs serious consideration.

With proper business methods put into effect there is every good reason to believe that the annual county fair can be made financially successful and more attractive to thousands of people who enjoy this form of entertainment and instruction. Primarily, a county fair is instructive, for it provides an opportunity to visualize new ideas and methods which are constantly being developed along agricultural and business lines.

The executive board selected at the annual meeting held December sixth is composed of President Joseph C. Worth, First Vice President Nelson J. Ayling, Secretary John J. O'Rourke, Treasurer Martin E. Jensen, James H. Craney, Otto F. Ernst, Dr. Ier J. Manwaring, Ernest O. Rodier, F. Russell Smith and Patrick F Sweeney.

A great deal of interest is apparent in the society's future and a large number of the life members will be present at the meeting.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT "Y" SUNDAY SERVICE

Nearly 300 persons crowded into the gymnasium at the Norwich Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon for the 3:30 o'clock service. After the scripture reading, prayer and hymn, the story by Dickens, "The Cricket on the Hearth," was shown in seven reels of moving pictures portraying touching and tender scenes of the old toymaker and his blind daughter.

A brief talk was given by Edwin Hill, the general secretary, who spoke in part as follows: "When we see a person physically blind our hearts go out in pity to the unfortunate one. I wonder if we appreciate as we should the blessing of eyesight. There is, however, a blindness far more unfortunate than physical blindness and too many are unconsciously blind in these other things. Some boys and girls are seemingly quite blind to mother love; they fail to take into account what parents have meant to them and what they mean to them today. Some sons and daughters, figuratively speaking, trample on parental love. They are woefully blind to the sacrifices of their parents.

"There are those among our youth who apparently are blind to their opportunities of education; they fail to recognize the chance they have for success, and in the coming days they will come to regret. Then far too many are blind to a Heavenly Father's love and care; they forget that God is good and that they owe to Him daily gratitude and thanks. They seem not to stop to think of the Christ and what He had done to make their lives sweet and pure and holy. May our physical eyes be wide open to the beauties of nature round about us, and may the eyes of our minds be alert to seize the opportunities that are ours, and may our spiritual eyes be keen to sense the kindness and wonderful love of the Father, God, and may our youth more fully and more constantly pause and think of the debt they owe to their parents." Hugh Kinder officiated very helpfully on the piano for the entire service.

PHILIPPINE MISSIONARY IN NEW YORK FOR BRIEF TIME

About four years ago the Catholic churches of Norwich were visited by a missionary from the Philippines, Rev. J. P. Puttemaus, C. H. M., who was at the New York headquarters of the missionary society and who came to Connecticut with the approval of Bishop Nilan, to enlist the interest of local congregations in the foreign cause. The work of his order throughout the island had earned the warm approval of that great and big executive, the late Leonard Wood, governor-general of the Philippines. Many in the Norwich churches showed practical interest in the labors of the missionaries, greatly encouraging Rev. Father Puttemaus, as well as his associates in the Society of the Immaculate Heart of Mary.

Rev. Father Puttemaus, after mission efforts in various points in the Philippines is again at the monastry of the Scheut Fathers, near College Station, New York, and has most encouraging reports to give of the success which is crowning the labors of those in the foreign field. The missionaries continue to make good and steady progress; many new missions have been opened these last years, so that the Father are now able to cover the entire pagan part of the Philippines. Five years ago, they were able to extend their efforts to only about one-half the pagan field. Everywhere their labors and sacrifices—these Catholic missionaries are in the work for life—continue to bear abundant fruit of success, Father Puttemaus is for a short time at the New York house of the order, 276 West 151st street. It is gratifying to those who met him when here that he has been spared to carry on this work in the devotion of his high calling.

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT WITH DANGEROUS WEAPON

Joseph Lienkowski, 35, of No. 10 Aqueduct street, is locked up at police headquarters, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. It is alleged that Lienkowski assaulted Mary Pieszczyk of No. 230 Mt. Pleasant street in the street between the West Side fire station and the corner of Forest street about 10 o'clock Sunday evening.

He is claimed to have struck the woman across the face with a black jack, inflicting a cut in the mouth. Lienkowski was placed under $500 bonds and, unable to furnish a bondsman, was locked up for his appearance in city court this (Monday) morning. The arrest was made by Officers Patrick Sheehan, Eugene Caulkins and Michael Pounch. The black jack said to have been used in the assault is in the possession of the police.

Forestry Congress

"Plans for 100 years ahead are a necessity now for New England if timber production is to continue and recreational spaces are to be provided for the increasing population." This thought was given to the New England Forestry congress, by Col. Theodore S. Woolsey, Jr., of New Haven, who presided at the congress at Hartford Friday and Saturday.

"Allowing a minimum of a hundred years to grow real saw logs the seedlings of today will not be ripe until 2029," said Colonel Woolsey. "This is not theory—it is cold practical truth of timber production. Time in which to grow timber cannot be bought, it must be obtained by planning ahead."

Colonel Woolsey urged that the legislatures of every state provide money for more liberal purchase of land. He predicted that at the present rate of purchase and allowing for the increase of population certain to come, there may be a shortage of publicly owned forest land suitable for recreation. Also, that future forest land prices will undoubtedly mount to very high figures.

Almost two-thirds of American aviators are concentrated in ten of the states.

NORWICH UNION OBSERVES C. E. 48TH ANNIVERSARY

The 48th anniversary of the foundation of Christian Endeavor by Dr. Francis E. Clark was observed Sunday evening by the Norwich Christian Endeavor union with a missionary meeting in the Greeneville Congregational church, with 200 persons in attendance.

The service was opened with the singing of Jesus Shall Reign. The scripture was read by Howard Bushnell, pastor of the Goshen Congregational church and president of the Norwich C. E. union. The congregation was led in prayer by Rev. Harry Brothwell, pastor of the Third Baptist church, after which the anthem, "Zeal Our Watchword," was delightfully rendered by a choir made up of Christian Endeavorers from several churches of the union.

A feature of the meeting was an address delivered by Mrs. Robert Chandler of Boston, a returned missionary from China, the subject being Young China at the Helm. She pictured China as a large ship with a young man at the helm and one-fourth of the people aboard since one-fourth of the world lives in China.

In order to understand China, she said, one must understand some of her difficulties. Only a small number of them are Christians, but these few are studying to find the right haven, which will bring their ship to safety. The Torch or the Church of Christ will give them the divine fire which will enrich their lives and transform their China.

Only six out of 1,000 get an education, that is equivalent to that of our elementary school, she said.

China is looking toward us for help, said Mrs. Chandler. At the conclusion of her talk Mrs. Chandler was warmly applauded.

The service closed with the singing of Fling Out the Banner. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey, pastor of the Norwich Town Congregational church.

NORWICH ELKS VICTORIOUS IN WILLIMANTIC CONTEST

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Feb. 3—Norwich lodge, 430, B. P. O. Elks, captured six of the 11 points played off in the second local and third round-robin tournament of the Eastern Connecticut Elks in this city this afternoon. The tournament, staged at the Elks' home with a large attendance, including about 50 Norwich Elks, was made sensational by the breaking of three bowling records by the visiting team.

The bowling, which was a feature of the tournament, was considered even more spectacular than the exhibition of marksmanship shown in the match against New London lodge last Sunday. Duges, of Norwich, smashed all existing records for single string pinfall and three string total, on the alleys. His high string was 178 and total 483. The Norwich quintet also broke the record of the alleys for total pinfall with 1880.

Norwich took six points and Willimantic five with one remaining point to be played off in a pool match at Norwich Wednesday, Feb. 13. The locals took three points in pool and two in cards, while Norwich took two in cards and four in bowling.

Conn. Mother Has Problem

As a rule, milk is about the best food for children, but there are times when they are much better off without it. It should always be left off when children show by feverish, fretful or cross spells, by bad breath, coated tongue, sallow skin, indigestion, biliousness, etc., that their stomach and bowels are out of order.

In cases like this, California Fig Syrup never fails to work wonders, by the quick and gentle way it removes all the souring waste which is causing the trouble, regulates the stomach and bowels and gives these organs tone and strength so they continue to act normally, of their own accord. Children love its rich, fruity flavor and its purely vegetable and harmless for babies.

Millions of mothers have proved its merit and reliability in over 50 years of steadily increasing use. A Connecticut mother, Mrs. Thomas Lawton, 100 Capitol Ave., Hartford, says: "My little son, Sherwood's tendency to constipation was a problem to me until I began giving him California Fig Syrup. It helped him right away and soon his stomach and bowels were acting perfectly. Since then I've never had to have any advice about his bowels. I have also used California Fig Syrup for his colds and upset spells, with equal success."

To be sure of getting the genuine, which physicians endorse, always ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name.

ACADEMY FIVE SWAMPED BY STRONG GILBERT HIGH OUTFIT, 46 TO 11

Gilbert High of Winsted gave the Academy basketball team a bad drubbing Saturday night at the Y gym, coming through with a rush in the second half to win 46 to 11. The first half and especially the first quarter was a fairly even go but after intermission the boys from the western end of the state ran wild through the local defense. In the other game, the Y Seniors defeated the Winsted Y five, 34 to 25.

Gilbert lived up to advance predictions in just about all ways. With Serafini, leading the way with 24 points or more than half the sum total, the visitors, a rugged crew, didn't have much trouble in piling up points, constituting a record total for the local gym in a high school game.

The best crowd of the season, around 200, witnessed the two games.

It was a shame that the high school clash turned out as it did for in the early stages it had the making of a stern tussle. There was no scoring for the first five minutes. Both sides missed close ones and the play was very even. Winsted opened the scoring and Pat Stevens matched this. However, the visitors tossed in two baskets in succession and, although the Academy made a good fight of it and scored again from the floor to make the count 6 to 4, at the first quarter, things began to grow dull in the second quarter. At its conclusion, the count read 18 to 7 and thereafter there was nothing to it.

Yers Break Losing Streak.

The Y Seniors shook off a five game losing streak in turning back Winsted. They clearly outplayed them although the western boys sprurted a couple of times and made the going close. The Y had an early lead that was cut down twice but they found themselves again in the final moments of the fray to win.

Les Pingree, stellar forward, was still absent with a cut over his right eye. His position was filled by three men, who did fairly well but could not keep up with the Taftville boy's work. Les is expected back very shortly. With him in the lineup Saturday the locals could have won by 20 or more points, it seems.

VETERAN BALL PLAYER WHO SET TWO RECORDS IS DEAD

DANVERS, Mass., Feb. 3—(AP)—One of baseball's veterans, a man who played the game back in the early days of the National league, is dead at his home here.

He was Thorndike P. Hawks, who played second base for the Troy, N. Y., club of the National league in 1879, and who, on July 30, of that year, established two fielding records for second basemen that have never been equalled in the major leagues. On that day he accepted 18 chances without an error—one record. Twelve of the chances were putouts—another record.

And those were the days when they didn't use gloves!

Hawks died yesterday at the age of 76. For several years he had been ill in health, but he continued to show an interest in baseball through last season. He played on a number of teams in New England and was with Troy for two seasons, joining that club when it entered the National league in 1879. When he finally retired from the game, Hawks became a druggist and owned a drug store here for many years. It was a gathering place for baseball fans and many were the stories that the old baseball player told.

He played with a team in Danvers when there were 14 men on a side. He played later with the Lynn "Oaks" and then joined the Manchester, N. H., club of a former, and now long forgotten, New England league.

When Hawks was with Troy, such players as Adrian (Pop) Anson, James White and Abner Dalrymple, were starring in the National league.

Hawks had the reputation of being one of the fastest fielders in the game in those days. One story about him, which is vouched for by those who knew him for many years, was that his lightning plays at second base brought heated disputes over umpires' decisions and finally resulted in having an umpire placed behind the pitcher's box, to be able better to watch fielding plays. From this move came the umpire staff of three men now in vogue in the major leagues.

Hawks is survived by two sons. Funeral services will be held at his home on Tuesday.

PENN FACES STIFF GAME WITH CORNELL

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—(AP)—Their mid-year examinations completed, the players of the Eastern Intercollegiate Basketball league now can get back to the serious business of deciding the 1929 championship.

Only two games are on the schedule this week but both present possibilities of a drastic change in the standing.

Pennsylvania's sharpshooters, led by Joe Schaaf, stake their undefeated record in the league against Cornell at Ithaca on Saturday. On Wednesday, Columbia, victor over Princeton in its only start, invades Hanover for a clash with Dartmouth, tied for third place with Cornell. The two tail-enders, Yale and Princeton, get another week of rest.

The standing:

Team	W.	L.
Pennsylvania	3	0
Dartmouth	2	2
Cornell	1	1
Yale	2	3
Princeton	1	4

PROVIDENCE HOLDS HOCKEY LEAD BY THREE POINTS

BOSTON, Feb. 3.—(AP)—By winning two of their three games last week, the Providence Reds gained a firm hold on first place in the Canadian-American Hockey league. The Reds were in second place a point behind the Springfield Indians, last week, but the addition of four points to their total placed them on top with a three point lead.

Springfield, during the week, dropped back into a tie for second place with the Boston Tigers, Philadelphia, Newark, and New Haven ended the week in the rear of the circuit parade.

The official standing, including games of February 2, follows:

Team	G.	W.	L.	T.	P.
Providence	24	13	8	3	29
Springfield	24	9	7	8	26
Boston	23	10	7	6	26

SETS TWO SKATING MARKS TO WIN WOMEN'S TITLE

MINNEAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Skimming across the ice to establish new world's records in the 440 yard and one mile events, Loretta Neitzel, Detroit girl, today won the women's senior outdoor speed skating championship of America.

Allen Potts of Brooklyn, won the men's senior national title and Douglas Ellison, Chicago, captured the intermediate title.

Miss Neitzel skated the one mile course in 2:16 4-5, bettering the former mark of 3:25 2-5 which was established by Mrs Lelia Potter at Toronto yesterday. She then won the 440 yard event in 39 2-5 seconds, clipping five seconds from the world's mark, which also was held by Mrs. Potter. To complete her performance, the Detroit speerster skated the one-sixth mile in 20 2-5 seconds against time, eclipsing her own record of 32 seconds.

The 10,000 spectators who circled the course marveled at the performances of the new national women's speed skating champion as she sped over the ice with as fine as strike as any of the men contestants exhibited during the day classic. In the 440 event Miss Neitzel covered the distance in 39, 2-5 seconds less than two seconds under the best time made by the man in this race.

A few minutes later this same girl was literally flying over the esurface in the mile event, determined more than ever to add the mile record to her collection. She started with such a spring that few thought she could finish such a pace. However, she showed no sign of slowing up and finished strong, nearly a half lap in front of the second place winner, Mildred Bjork, of Minneapolis.

PARTICIPANTS TUNING UP FO HORSESHOE TOURNEY

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 3.—(AP)—The clink of flying horse shoes, minus the hoofs of the horses, told the world here today that the experts were tuning up for the national shoe pitching championship tournament beginning tomorrow.

Never has such a galaxy of champions been assembled for the old barnyard sport. Included in the extensive entry list is the present national champion, three former national titleholders and seven state champions.

The veteran Frank Johnson, holder of 11 national championships who is snow-bound in Iowa, is one of the few notable of the game who will not compete in the four days' round robin leading to the 1929 championship. Charles Clyde Davis, Columbus, Ohio, present national champion, leads the brigade. He has held almost every horse shoe record and enters the contest at the peak of his game, confident no one will be able to prevail against him. "Pat" Mossman, Eldora, Iowa, who came all the way from California for the tournament; George May, Akron, Ohio, and Harold Falor also of Akron, are the former national titleholders on the ground.

State champions entered are: Harvey Elmerson, Kenosha, Wis., D. T. Leonard, Adams Basin, N. Y.; Burt Durvee, Wichita, Kan., Jimmy Rist, Montpelier, Ind., C. A. Benedict, Johnstown, Ohio, Gaylord Peterson of Illinois, and Frank Antilid, Little Washington, Pa.

NO TRAINING FOR SHARKEY OR STRIBLING AS YET

MIAMI BEACH, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Wary of overtraining, W. L. (Young) Stribling, and Jack Sharkey, principals in the Madison Square Garden heavyweight elimination bout here February 27, today continued their swimming and golfing program and declined to set a date for opening or workouts.

Both the Georgia acrobat and the Boston sailor have spent the first days of their weeks before the bout in the ocean and on the golf links. Neither has shown any disposition to worry about the outcome of the fight since arrival last week.

Jack Dempsey, playing his first role as promoter for Madison Square Garden, today continued to sell his rolls of tickets without a sign of fret or worry. The former champion has not had a bint of stage fright at the big job of filling Tex Rickard's shoes.

Neither Stribling nor Sharkey will go into heavy training before the bout. Both have been at the peak of training for some time before arrival here, stribling for a series of bouts in recent weeks, and Sharkey for hi sellimination fight against K. O. Christner of Akron.

PLANSKY SIGNS TO PLAY WITH BRAVES

BOSTON, Feb. 3—(AP)—Tony Plansky, of Boston, former Georgetown track and football star, has signed a Boston Braves' contract and plans to train with the club at St. Petersburg, Fla., to see whether he can make the grade as a right handed pitcher or an outfielder.

Plansky, three-time winner of the American decathlon championship, has never played much baseball. His track work always prevented him from participating in the diamond sport, but the Braves' management was willing to take him south for a tryout on the recommendation of John O'Reilly, Georgetown track coach who formerly had charge of the Blue and Gray's baseball nines.

THREE TIE WITH CARDS OF 290 FOR FIRST PLACE IN CENTRAL OPEN

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 3—(AP)—Bobby Cruickshank, wee New Yorker, staged a great finish in the South Central open golf tournament here today and then faltered on the final green to finish in a 72-hole deadlock with "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn, and Horton Smith, young Joplin, Mo., player. All carded 290, two strokes over par, for the long jaunt, and will stage an 18-hole play-off for first place tomorrow.

Starting the morning round with Smith, Billy Burke, Cruickshank and Mehlhorn closely bunched for the lead with the former a favorite, the first 18 ended with the four separated by a single stroke. Burke and Cruickshank went out in the afternoon with 217 each and Mehlhorn and Smith started with 218 apiece.

Smith, 21 years old, saved himself in the afternoon, taking a 72 after breaking badly in the morning with four over par. Tony Manero, of New York, and Armour, Washington pro, were gallery finishers, with 68 each.

FERRIS NAMES HIS ALL-AMERICAN ATHLETIC TEAM FOR 1928 SEASON

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—(AP)—With the Olympic games as an incentive to keen competition, few of America's athletes were able to win more than one place on the 1928 All-America athletics teams, selected annually for Spalding's Athletic Almanac by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the Amateur Athletic union.

Only Lloyd Hahn, Boston A. A. middle distance ace who retired from competition after the Olympic games, Joie Ray, sensation of the year at the longer distances, and Frank Titterton of the Millrose A. A., New York, winner of two national championships, placed twice on the team. Claude Bracey of Rice Institute, Texas, scored a double in the sprints on the college team, and Stanley Stokes of Baton Rouge (La.) high school won both middle places on the scholastic team.

Ray Barbuti, America's only winner of a flat race at the Olympic games, is placed on the college team as well as the national aggregation along with Phil Edwards of New York university, Frank Cuhel of Iowa, Ed Hamm of Georgia Tech, Sabin Carr of Yale, Edmund Black of Maine, Bob King of Stanford, and Kenneth Doherty of Detroit City college. Frank Wykoff, California schoolboy sprint star, gained the unusual distinction of making both the All-America team and the scholastic team.

In nearly every case the winners of the national championships received Mr. Ferris's nomination. Leader among those who break the reign of the titleholders is Joie Ray, who was given the marathon place over Clarence De Mar, winner of the Boston marathon, national championship test. Making his first start at the long distance, Ray finished third. Later he won the Long Beach race and was the first American to finish in the Olympic marathon.

His Olympic victory as well as a consistently fine showing gave Sabin Carr the place in the pole vault although the national championship went to Lee Barnes of Southern California. Hahn is placed on the team at 1,000 yards as well as the half mile, although Ray Conger of the Illinois A. C. won the title indoors.

John Kuck, Los Angeles A. C. star and winner of the Olympic shot put, is given the call over Herman Brix of the University of Washington, who beat him out in the trials. Creth Hines of Georgetown, winner of the javelin throw title, also yields to Charles Harlow of the Los Angeles A. C.

Famous Golf Shots of 1928

By PAUL R. MICKELSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Johnny Farrell felt his greatest golfing thrill when he sank that famous nine foot putt on the thirty-sixth green to defeat Bobby Jones for the national open championship, but the shot he credits for his triumph was made with a spoon.

The shot was made by the smiling Irishman on the thirty-second hole—a 443 yard stretch—on the Olympia Fields course, where the play-off was held.

Johnny just had squared the match with the Atlanta shotmaker when they tackled the thirty-second hole. Both played good woodens well down the fairway, but Bobby's ball stopped to the left, giving him an open shot to the green while Farrell's was to the right with a heavy willow bush between him and the green far up on the slope. Jones derricked his ball nicely and it larded 15 feet from the pin for an easy four.

Realizing a straight shot to the pin might land in the bush and an iron might find the hollow approaching the green, Farrell decided to risk a sliced spoon shot, letting the drift of the ball take it around the bush and up on the green. The shot came out perfectly, the ball cutting a wide arc in its flight, but reaching the green where he was able to halve it in four to keep even with Bobby.

"That was probably the best shot I have ever made in competition and the shot that won for me," Farrell said. "I got my greatest golfing thrill when I sank that long putt on the final green, but that spoon shot kept up my courage when just one bit of faltering would have lost everything for me."

BASKEBALL TALK

There is probably no high school quintet in the state, playing and losing more close decisions than Pratt high, of Essex. This team, which dropped a 19 to 17 game to the Academy and then won one of 28 to 29, has lost plenty this year, but practically all of the defeats have been by two or three points.

It's going to be quite a job for the Y Seniors to stay in the state championship race now. They will have to beat New London in the game here Feb. 14, and not only do that but make it decisive, by 25 points or more. In the two game series, should the teams divide, the highest point total score will count and New London, with their two teams in one idea, have a big lead. It was ever thus, two teams are better than one.

The Manchester Recs, made up principally of Plainfield Pros castoffs, are going great guns right at the present time. Roy Norris, Steffy Stavnitsky and Hap Madden, teamed with a couple of recent high school stars, are playing some great basketball. Recently they beat Olson's Terrible Swedes a few nights before Plainfield and All-New Britain succumbed to this team in its tour of the Nutmeg state.

SCHMELLING TO BOX O'KELLY AT BOSTON

BOSTON, Feb. 3—(AP)—Max Schmelling, the sensational German heavyweight, has been carded to make his fifth American start against Con O'Kelly, of Ireland here on February 15, according to an announcement from Eddie Mack, boxing promoter at the Boston Garden.

Schmelling's American campaign, up to date, has been a tremendous success, for he has defeated Joe Monte, Joe Sekyra, Pietro Corri, and Johnny Risko. He had been credited with knockouts over every one of this quartet, except Sekyra.

O'Kelly was beaten here by Jimmy Maloney, Boston heavyweight, on Friday night. Mack wanted to match either Maloney or Ernie Schaaf against Schmelling and when both of them rejected the offer, agreed to the terms which O'Kelly demanded, through Tom O'Rourke, his veteran manager, for meeting the German.

Battery B Beats Marines.

In a double header basketball match at the Westerly state armory on Saturday night, Battery B defeated the U. S. Marines of New London by the score of 60 to 25. In the preliminary game the Seconds defeated the Whirlwinds by the score of 18 to 19.

POETRY

On the Fly-Leaf of a Book

At Cato's Head in Russell Street
These leaves she sat a-stitching;
I fancy she was trim and neat,
Blue-eyed and quite bewitching.

Before her on the street below,
All powder, ruffs, and laces,
There strutted idle London beaux
To ogle pretty faces:

While, filling many a Sedan chair
With monstrous hoop and feather,
In paint and powder London's fair
Went trooping past together.

Swift, Addison, and Pope, mayhap
They sauntered slowly past her,
Or printer's boy, with gown and cap,
For Steele, went trotting faster.

For beau nor wit had she a look;
Nor lord nor lady minding,
She bent her head above this book,
Attentive to her binding.

And one stray thread of golden hair
Caught on her nimble fingers
Was stitched within this volume, where
Until today it lingers.

Past and forgotten, beaux and fair,
Wigs, powder, all outdated;
A queer antique, the Sedan chair,
Pope stiff and antiquated.

Yet, as I turn these odd, old plays,
This single stray lock finding,
I'm back in those forgotten days,
And watch her at her binding.

—Walter Learned.

Snow

Lo, what wonders the day hath brought
Born of the soft and slumbrous snow.
Gradual, silent, slowly wrought;
Even as an artist, thought by thought,
Writes expression on lip and brow.

Hanging garlands the eaves o'erbrim,
Deep drifts smother the paths below
The elms are shrouded, trunk and limb
And all the air is dizzy and dim
With a whirl of dancing, dazzling snow.

Dimly out of the baffled sight
Houses and church-spires stretch away;
The trees, all spectral and still and white,
Stand up like ghosts in the failing light
And fade and faint with the blinding day.

Down from the roofs in gusts are hurled
The eddying drifts to the waste below;
And still is the banner of storm unfurled.
Till all the drowned and desolate world
Lies dumb and white in a trance of snow.

Slowly the shadows gather and fall,
Still the whispering snow-flakes beat
Night and darkness are over all;
Rest, pale city, beneath their pall!
Sleep, white world, in thy winding sheet!

Clouds may thicken, and storm-wind breathe;
On my wall is a glimpse of Rome.—
Land of my longing!—and underneath
Swings and trembles my olive-wreath;
Peace and I are at home, at home!

—Elizabeth Akers.

GENGERELLI BOUND OVER PROBABLY GUILTY OF MURDER

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Feb. 3—Louis Gengerella, 34, residing at the corner of Oak and Tower streets, a veteran of the World war, was adjudged probably guilty of the murder of Santo Gaccione, shot dead through the side of his house at 1 a. m., Jan. 21st, as he lay asleep in bed with his wife and infant. He is bound over without bail to the next session of the grand jury of the Washington county superior court at Kingston, Monday, Feb. 18th, by Judge Oliver H. Williams, who presided at the two-day hearing in the third district court here.

The complaint was brought by Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown and the state was represetned by Attorney Anthony V. Pettine of Providence who had associated with him Attorney M. Walter Flynn of Westerly and Providence.

It was 3.40 Saturday afternoon when Attorney Pettine rested for the defense after calling but one witness to the stand, Mrs. John Groccia, who although under summons by the state had not taken the witness stand. She gave testimony through an interpreter, Town Councilman James Nacurrata, as the occupant of the lower tenement and owner of the house at 4 Marion street, where the Gaccione family resided upstairs. The most damaging part of her testimony was to the effect that following her telephoning from an Oak street house shortly after 1 o'clock on the morning of the shooting and while returning home, she saw Louis Gengerella crossing the street with a shotgun under his arm and proceeding towards his home. The gun was taken by Police Lieutenant George H. Champlin and Officer Robert M. Kessel when they found Gengerella on a couch with cap, coat and felt boots on at about 2.05 on the morning of the shooting. Gengarella was taken by the police to the Marion street home, where Medical Examiner Dr. Michael H. Scanlon had been called to find Gaccione dead in bed, and then to Westerly police headquarters for examination. On the morning in question Mrs. Groccia was also taken to police headquarters and when first questioned by the police did not say that she had seen Gengerelli with his gun after the shooting. She declared on the witness stand Saturday the accused had not only been seen by her but by her niece, Louise Groccia, 17, over whom, it was said, the two men had talked and quarreled earlier in the night; in a fight Gaccione had lost a handful of hair from his head and in return had given the defendant a black eye. On the stand she declared that they were afraid to return home until after Gengarella had gone along and they endeavored to keep out of his sight.

It was in the treatment sought by the defendant from Albert D. Champlain, alias "Chief Big Horn," that the picturesque Sioux Medicine Man entered the case. He was the first witness at 11 a. m. Saturday and testified that he sold medicine and did Indian painting, that he knew the defendant and that he had come to him at 10 o'clock on the night of Jan. 20th and the chief had applied water and butter to his eye. Gingerella told him that Gaccione had placed dynamite in an automobile which the chief said he had had but a short time when it was blown to pieces, last December, while standing on Oak street. The witness identified the exhibits, the big knife, which he saw the accused pull from his felt boot and place in his pocket where it was found by Examiner Scanlon and Officer Kessel, also the baseball bat club which the chief saw under the defendant's coat when he left him, after 11 p. m. and which was found by Officer Kessel at the rear of the house in which resided Santo Gaccione whom the Indian spoke of as his "friend", known to him as "Curley".

Chief Big Horn told the court that he was a 100-per cent. American and Attorney Pettine replied that he was of the race that was discovered by the Italians with the rejoinder from the chief: "You didn't discover us, but the Italians have been trying to civilize Rhode Island without making much progress." He said that he feared no one as long as he could keep him in sight and admitted he has good vision. Other witnesses to testify were Police Officer Robert M. Kessel, later referred to by Mr. Pettine as the "good looking police officer," who identified the ball club placed in evidence, but who said that a wrong label had been placed on the hunting knife.

OVER 3,000 TONS OF ICE CUT AT QUINEBAUG POND

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Feb. 3—At noon today entrances to three of the large ice houses at Quinebaug lake were closed upon the 3,000 tons of ice that has been placed within the msince cutting began a few days ago, the harvesting complete for the time being. The ice varies from 8 to 9 1-2 inches in thickness, the heaviest being that housed today and filling the three houses to capacity. Stanley Keech of the Quinebaug Lake Ice company declared the ice is the best that has been obtained at the lake in years. It is clear and hard, of excellent quality. The No. 4 house will not be filled at this time, but cutting to fill it will be resumed if 12-inch ice can be obtained later in the season. The amount already stored at the lake with a further supply to be cut and stacked at Hampton will be sufficient to meet the company's needs until well into the cool weather of next fall. The ice to be cut at Hampton for use in Danielson will be used first, and that in the houses at the lake preserved until well into the spring. Forty-five men have been engaged at the lake the past few days. Throughout the harvest the period the weather has remained good and cutting and filling went along steadily.

At the Hygeia reservoir near East Killingly, where ice is harvested each year, much of it for distribution in Danielson, cutting has not begun as yet. The area of the reservoir is not great, and it is desired to have the ice as heavy as possible before cutting operations start.

Lenten Porgram

Programs of services during the Lenten season, which begins on Wednesday, Feb. 13, were distributed at the services at the Westfield Congregational church today. There are to be five sermons during Lent by Rev. Harding W. Gaylord. The first of these will be preached on Sunday, Feb. 17, on Seeing God in the Bible. The subsequent sermons are scheduled for Feb. 24, March 3, 10 and 17, and, in order, the subjects are: Seeing God Through Suffering, Seeing God Through Sacrament and Symbolism, Seeing God Through Human Life, and Seeing God Through Jesus. Rev. Mr. Gaylord will also preach a special sermon on Palm Sunday, March 24, and another on Easter, March 31.

In addition to these Sunday sermons during Lent Rev. Mr. Gaylord will give a series of addresses on Thursday evenings in that period. Beginning with Feb. 28, they are: Sin—God's Disapproval; Atonement—God's Discipline; Forgiveness—God's Mercy; Upward Striving—God's Help. Rev. Mr. Gaylord's Lenten schedules also call for a series of junior sermons to be given at the South Killingly Congregational church on Sunday afternoons.

Announcement also was made today of a series of Holy week services, under the auspices of the Danielson Federation of Churches. The first of these is to be held in the Baptist church on Tuesday, March 26. The Layman's league will hace charge. On Wednesday of that week Rev. Albert Abbott of the Methodist Eposcipal church will preach at a service in the Westfield Congregational church. The Thursday service will be in the Methodist Episcopal church, this being a union communion service, and with Rev. C. J. Armstrong of the Baptist church as the preacher. The Good Friday service will be in the Baptist church, with Rev. H. W. Gaylord as the preacher. All of these Holy week services are to be held in the evening, and there will be special musical programs at all of them.

It is given out that any appeals to be made before the board of relief were to be presented not later than Feb. 21. It is not forecast that many requests for readjustments will be made this year, and probably none involving any great amount of money. Following the close of the board of relief's work on February 28, and final adjustments will be made in the grand list, and then, in March, will follow the adjourned annual town meeting at which the tax rate for this year will be fixed.

A matter that pops up rather persistently will get some more attention when the chamber of commerce holds its monthly meeting Tuesday evening. This has to do with seeking the establishment of a joint terminal for motor buses. One proposal is that some arrangement be worked out under which all such coaches make their Danielson center stop at the railroad station, as is now done by the New England line. Some time since the space kept free of parked cars in Main street for use of the Connecticut company's coaches was opened to general parking. Since that time the buses on this line have made their stops at the old points when it has been possible, and when not in the street about opposite them.

From the street surface opposite the Windham County National bank, Irving W. Davis picked up a perfect Indian arrowhead. MISS LUSTER DIES AFTER AN ILLNESS OF A WEEK

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Feb. 3—Miss Sarah Luster, 48, died at her home in North Grosvernordale late this afternoon. Miss Luster had been ill about a week. She appeared to have improved somewhat in her condition this morning and hope for her recovery was held. About four o'clock this afternoon Miss Luster was taken with a lung attack and died a few minutes after.

Miss Luster was a native of Charley Hope, Virginia, but had been living in North Grosvernordale for a number of years, where she was a cook at the village inn. She is survived by one brother Wesley Luster of Providence and two stepbrothers, James Luster of Putnam and Ernest Luster of Boston.

At all the masses at St. Mary's church today, parishioners learned of the sudden death of Rev. John Daugherty, pastor of St. Michael's church in Waterbury, Conn. Father Daugherty died last Sunday following the celebration of one of the masses, which was part of his duties as pastor of the little church. Father Daugherty was one of the 14 catholic priests of the Connecticut diocese, to enlist in the American Expeditionary Forces in 1918 and served with the American soldiers overseas. After his enlistment in the army, Father Daugherty sailed with Rev. Anslem Mayotte, then pastor of St. Mary's church, who was later killed in France. Father Daugherty was in the thick of many of the important battles in which the Yankees took part, and while carrying spiritual aid to a fallen comrade in the St. Mihiel drive, became a victim of deadly German gas fumes. Father Daugherty returned to a base hospital and after months of confinement was discharged, apparently cured of the malady. His sudden death last week, was pronounced as an aftermath of his war record. Rev. U. O. Bellerose, pastor of St. Mary's who was intimate with the soldier priest, spoke of him as being one of the highest types of American manhood.

Eighty per cent of the total amount of funds have now been paid to the creditors, by reason of the last dividend of five per cent.

At the state armory Monday evening a federal inspection of the headquarters company of the 43rd. division will take place. The inspection will be carried out by regular officers of the United States army. Captain John J. McGarry will command the local outfit.

Out of Danielson there comes a report of the many instances where farmers of days now long passed used the old fashioned water wheels on swift running brooks to generate power to operate a few crude machines to lighten the burdens of the day. As in Danielson, Putnam too has a few old land marks where the old water gaps remain to this day, a standing memorial to the methods of other years. At the home of Miss Beatrice Pomeroy on North School street, there is a watershed which is fast going to rack and ruin, by its exposure to the elements that is possessed of a water wheel. The wheel is located in the stream, known as the Dam Tavern brook, and in former days was used by Miss Pomeroy's father, to turn machinery in his saw mill. The wheel is an interesting bit of history, and attracts the attention of hundreds who pass it daily.

Mrs. Marjorie Tuttle and son Henry of Sunnyside, have been guests of relatives in Worcester.

STEEL MILLS OPERATING 85 PER CENT

BUSINESS GENERALLY SATISFACTORY

NEW YORK, Feb. 3—(AP)—Business brought through to the second month of the year last week in generally satisfactory fashion the metal industries again showing somewhat more acceleration than the normal seasonal expansion of this period would require.

Steel mills were operating at 85 to 90 per cent of capacity at the end of January, having averaged about 84 per cent during the month, in contrast to less than 80 per cent in January of 1928. Orders for railway equipment and heavy structural steel were large, and automotive takings were generally heavy. There were hardening tendencies in steel prices, but pig iron slipped back slightly.

Heavy buying of copper brought another quarter of a cent increase in red metal prices. Farm implement and machinery manufacturers reported further expansion of activity, and shoe and furniture manufacturing picked up considerably. Southern cotton mills were operating at near capacity, but some slackening was evident at northern centers, where cotton goods eased somewhat in sympathy with the decline in raw cotton.

A number of highly favorable earnings statements for 1928 made their appearance during the week. The marked improvement in the steel industry last year was apparent in the earnings of the United States Steel corporation, amounting to $11.61 per share, against $8.81 in 1927. F. I. Du Pont De Nemours and company, earned $21.96 per share in 1928, against $15.45 in the previous year.

The petroleum industry continued unsettled. Crude production again mounted and gasoline prices were cut in several sections. Several oil executives held a meeting at Tulsa and appointed an umpire to call a general meeting of operators on February 5, to discuss control of the crude rubber production.

The month-end was passed without a serious flurry in the money market, call money going no higher than 8 per cent. Time money eased slightly, but credit held at abnormally high levels, and the New York Federal Reserve bank in its monthly review pointed to the heavy call loans by corporations and individual as an unsettling factor.

New financing picked up considerably during the week, however, bond offerings exceeding $137,000,000 against $119,000,000 in the past week. Building operations, normally the first to feel credit stringency, were somewhat behind last year at this time, although heavy construction was active.

Failures increased slightly over the previous week, but were well under the like week of last year. Check payments fell off a little from the previous week, but were above 1928 at this time. Movement of freight in the latest week increased, over 1928 but failed to equal 1927.

Burgess Bedtime Story

A Badly Frightened Squirrel.

Avoid all dangers that are needless. And even then pray don't be needless.
—OLD MOTHER NATURE

Spooky the Screech Owl is a little fellow, as you know. He does not look as if he could move with any rapidity. Some folks think him rather stupid, but they think that of all Owls in the daytime. That is their mistake. If they could watch Spooky and his relatives at shadow time, they would change their opinion. There is nothing stupid about the Owl family then. Nor is there anything slow about them.

Spooky had been living for some time in Farmer Brown's barn. His favorite perch was on a certain rafter high up in the roof. Timmy the Flying Squirrel was also living in the barn. Several times Spooky had tried to catch Timmy, but Timmy had been too smart for him. The result was that Timmy had grown overconfident. He had reached the point of thinking that Spooky couldn't catch him. Then he had begun to tease Spooky. He would jump from a rafter and sail, as only he can sail, right across below Spooky, and he would do it in the most provoking way.

But after a while Spooky refused to be teased in this way. This spoiled Timmy's fun. Timmy grew so bold that he began running out on the rafter where Spooky sat. He ventured nearer and nearer to where Spooky seemed to be asleep. Spooky didn't move. Timmy watched him sharply.

"He's asleep," said Timmy to himself. "I believe I could run right between his legs. It would be fun to just nip him on the leg and then jump."

Timmy moved a little nearer. He was very near Spooky now. And then, looking down, he saw a Mouse on the grain bin. For just a second he forgot where he was and leaned over to watch that Mouse. It was a bad time and he was in a bad place to be forgetful. You see Spooky wasn't asleep at all. He had been watching Timmy all the time. He had been watching and waiting. His eyes had been open just a crack, but that crack was enough. He had seen every move Timmy made. He saw Timmy lean forward to look at the Mouse away down below. He didn't know what Timmy was looking at and he didn't lean over to find out. He was interested in Timmy and in nothing else.

Now there was one thing that Timmy hadn't noticed and this was that Spooky was facing him. Usually Spooky sat facing so that he could look down over the edge of the rafter. But now he was turned so that he was facing along the rafter instead of across it. Perhaps if Timmy had noticed this he would have been a little more careful.

Just as Timmy leaned over to watch that Mouse down below, Spooky struck quickly with one foot. My goodness, how quickly that foot did move! But, quickly as Spooky struck, Timmy was even quicker. Something must have told him that he suddenly was in great danger, for he shot off the rafter in a long leap. The result was that all Spooky's foot came down was Timmy's flat tail and there was nothing to hold onto in this. It did spoil Timmy's jump, for it held him for just long enough to make him fall rather than jump.

But a fall was nothing serious with Timmy. He caught his balance and flattened himself out and finally landed on the barn floor, instead of over on the side of the barn as he had expected to. It shook him up a little, that was all. However, he was frightened. He was a badly frightened Squirrel and he was a wiser one. Never again would he try to tease Spooky the Owl.

JEWETT CITY

M. J. DEADY, IN MANLA, WRITES OF 16 YEARS' SERVICE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

JEWETT CITY, Feb. 3—M. J. Deady, a Jewett City boy, formerly employed in the Textile Novelty Co., has written the following very interesting letter to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Langlais, in Jewett City:

U. S. S. Heron,
Air Squadrons,
United States Asiatic Fleet.

Dear Cliff and Amanda:—

Your letter of September 26, reached me here today, and to say it was a most welcome surprise is putting it mildly for surely I was not expecting it. It is fortunate, too, that it ever reached me, due to the fact that you had no ship address on the envelope.

I am keeping the envelope along with the rest of my collections, as it is surely worth seeing. Your letter first went to the Japanese postoffice in Manchuria, and of course they had to dig up flies to find out where they had to forward it.

Then it was sent to the Chinese postoffice in Shanghai for investigation and location; thence it was dispatched to Chefoo and then it made the rounds of all the warships in the Asiatic fleet, winding up on the Flagship U. S. S. Pittsburgh. Here the admiral's staff was put to work to locate me, and finally I received it today in the Philippines. So you see what a bit of travelling your letter went through before I got it.

To even try and tell you all that has happened to me since my last visit to Jewett City would take too long, a letter and you would surely be justified in thinking it an exaggeration so I'll tell only the main things and save the minor ones until we meet again.

Sunk In Mine-Sweeper

During the war I spent all my time in Europe and had the pleasure of being sunk on a mine-sweeper in the North sea in the bargain. But you can't kill an Irishman, and perhaps that accounts for my being safe and sound, after going through three separate wars—in Mexico, in 1914, Haiti in 1915 and 23 months of Europe, in 1917-18.

At the beginning of the war I was on duty between Gibraltar and the African coast, escorting merchant vessels through the war zones and working in conjunction with the British navy. I made three trips from Gibraltar on British destroyers as a signalman, running the submarine gauntlet between Gibraltar and Oran, Algeria. In May 1919, long after the war was over, they let me return to the States but I went back to Europe in August 1919, for some more duty over there, but this time I was on destroyers, acting with the allied ships along the Austrian and Dalmatian coasts, when all that trouble was going on between the Italians and the Dalmatrians. If you remember back, D'Annunzio, the Italian poet, was causing quite a bit of disturbance there.

Saw Much of Europe

I spent almost two years on this duty which gave me an insight into European life as our various duties took us to Austria, Dalmatia, Italy, Jugo Slavia, Russia, Germany, Turkey, Egypt, France, England and goodness knows where not.

In 1921-22, I was doing duty in California, British Columbia and Alaska. From 1922-24, I was on duty at the Boston navy yard, in an office chair.

Headed For South America

Then I got restless again and wanting to roam some more, I headed for the South American fleet for a couple of years looking over all the Latin American Panama mammas and so on. But that also became monotonous, so I thought I'd head for the pineapples, and see what fun could be found out here—and here I am friends, for the past two years eating rice and pecan and alternating between being a Filipino, Japanese, Chinaman and a few other nationalities, including visits to Borneo, where the head hunters come from, the Malay Straits, Singapore, and now I am back in Manila on the windup of my travels and my naval career.

To Retire March 15

For I am homeward bound next month to settle down somewhere for a change and finish with the navy. I retire March 15, on 16 years straight service with a pension of $73 a month for the rest of my life. I have seen everything there is to see, have been through much war, both battlefields and barrooms and I think I have done my share for Uncle Sammy. My brother Charlie is still in the navy, too, but I do not know where he is stationed now. He has four children, three girls and a boy, the oldest girl about 9 years old.

Met Local Boy in Japan

While in Japan this summer I met a youngster from Jewett City named Littlefield. How I happened to meet him was through a money order that I cashed for him and I noticed the Jewett City postmark on it. Naturally I became courious as to who he was, how long he had lived there and whom he might know that I knew. I promised to call on his folks next summer if I go up that way and tell about our meeting.

To Sail for Vancouver

I expect to leave here early in February on the Empress of Russia, a trans-Pacific liner, bound for Vancouver, British Columbia. From there I will go to San Francisco to be retired from the navy and then I expect to take the first train across the southern Pacific, Boston-bound. I haven't decided yet what I will do in civil life and no doubt it will take some time to get used to being a civilian after all these years in the service. If all goes well and as I plan, I may be able to come to Jewett City for a week or so early next summer, and I am telling you now, folks, that I accept your invitation to stop with you.

Am enclosing a picture we took one day last summer when I was with the marine air force for a few days at Hsin Ho, a small town just down the Pi Ho river from Tientsin. I want to make sure you pick the right one so, I'll put a cross over His Honor, Michael Joseph himself.

Sincerely,
Michael J. Deady.

REV. REV W. COOPER TO BEGIN SPECIAL MEETINGS

Rev. Raymond W. Cooper of Andover, Mass., conducted the first of the special meetings Sunday, introductory to five days' activity in church work. Mr. Cooper says he is not an evangelist in the usual sense. His methods of carrying on the work has been accepted by the leaders in church work over a wide area. His pans reveal methods and reactions in winning thousands of decisions for Christ and His church. His viewpoint is summarized in the extract from his "Visitation Evangelism." An optimist sees an opportunity in every difficulty, and seizing it, becomes a creator, a leader of men in conquests for the world's betterment. A pessimist sees a difficulty in every opportunity, and rejecting it, becomes a laggard amongst the throng of defeated men, a parasite on the world's progress.

Within 15 minutes after the reception of the complaint, Acting Sergt. Augustus Ray found the motorcycle but a short distance from where it was taken.

Clarence Davis, colored, U. S. Coast Guard, was in the police court Saturday, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, but because of the case not being prepared for prosecution, it was continued a month. Davis and George Smith, the latter also colored and a member of the crew of the U. S. Coast Guard destroyer Henley, engaged in a fight at the approach to the state pier Friday night and during the battling, Davis, it is claimed, pulled out his jack-knife and attacked Smith. The blade of the weapon found its mark twice for it struck Smith on the neck and on the head inflicting wounds, but not serious ones. When Smith realized that he had been stabbed, which was after the fight ended, he obtained assistance and a call was sent to Lawrence-Memorial hospital, the ambulance conveying Smith to the hospital, where his wounds were treated. The police obtained a description of Davis and although a diligent search for him was made it was not until he returned to the state pier 1:30 o'clock that he was arrested by the coast guard shore patrol.

Clarence Higgins, charged with vagrancy, was sentenced to 90 days in jail. He was arrested Friday night on State street by Traffic Officer Frank Linehan when the officer detected Higgins soliciting money from pedestrians.

Charles Trentini, a lodger at a State street rooming house, was charged with intoxication, he having been arrested Friday night after he had been beaten by a sailor. Trentini was on North Bank street when he engaged in a brawl with one of two sailors. He was struck a blow on the face by one of the bluejackets that sent him sprawling into the gutter. In landing Trentini's head struck frozen ice, rendering him unconscious and producing a gash which required two stitches at Lawrence-Memorial hospital to close the wound.

Daniel Donovan of Flanders reported to the police last night that he had lost his Ingersoll watch and chain, intimating that it had been stolen. Patrolman Edward Riordan investigated the complaint and recovered the chain, but not the watch. Donovan had been drinking.

In default of bail he was locked up and will be in the police court tomorrow. Ricker, a former fifth rate prize fighter, was at the Firemen's lunch room, Bank street, this evening where he was ugly and troublesome. Strand Theatre.

"The Naked Truth," a motion picture being shown at the Strand theatre next Wednesday by Public Welfare Pictures corporation, is a clean presentation of the facts of life vital to clean living.

Social evils and their results are hammered home in a convincing and yet entertaining manner by the theme of the picture which advocates giving every child a square deal in life.

The story is frankly told by an excellent cast, headed by Jack Mulhall and Helene Chadwick. There is not the slightest hint of vulgarity or anything objectionable in connection with the picture.

Special subjects are shown to separate audiences of men and women. The matinees are exclusively for women with the exception of Saturday, which is for men only. On Wednesday and Thursday nights there will be two shows for women only for those unable to attend the matinees. Friday night and Saturday all day is for men only.

Palace Theatre.

Today inaugurates the first five act vaudeville bill on the Palace theatre's all week vaudeville policy and you can bet that the management made sure that it would be a mighty fine bill, if there is any doubt about this point just remember that the feature act leading the entire show is Al Moore and his ten Jolly Tars. This is not only one of stageland's finest bands, but also one of the most expensive. This is the first stage band that has played the Palace theatre in many a month and for the first time the theatre management claims that they have a better band than the Clinton-Rooney band which created such great comment last season.

There are four other fine acts on this same bill, including Selma Bratz & Co., in an opening novelty act. Leonard and Eshell offer a neat and nifty skit called "Her First Kiss" but aside from the title you can believe it or not.

Want to renew your youth? Or find out what the younger generation is up to? Then go see "The Floating College," which docks today at the Palace theatre Sally O'Neil and William Collier, Jr. (more familiarly known as Buster) are in command and contributing plenty of high jinks on the high seas.

The story, which serves as a connecting thread for all the gay doings, is about the two beautiful daughters of a powerful Wall street magnate who unfortunately have fallen in love with the same handsome youth earning his way through college by acting as a swimming instructor at the country club. The methods of the sub deb, Sharon, are modern and direct, while her elder sister, Frances, inclines to the old-fashioned system of making a man think he's fallen in love with her and she puts over several raw deals by convincing their father that Sharon is making a spectacle of herself with George Dewey, and should be sent away.

Breed Theatre.

Poignant drama, whimsical humor, a superlative cast and scenes from old Ireland that intrigue the imagination, mark Fox Films' versions of "Mother Machree," which had its first showing at the Breed theatre yesterday.

And just as the song has stirred the hearts of the world for a score of years so too the picture bids fair to become as well loved as the great lyric.

From the first scenes in Ireland where the mother, played with sympathetic understanding by Belle Bennett, thinks only how she may save her son from his sordid, crushing environment, to the time of the Great War in America, the story sweeps forward with a power of an epic.

Little Philippe De Lacey plays the part of the young son in the early sequences with feeling for the part that moves the heart of the most sophisticated, while Neil Hamilton, the same son grown to manhood gives a performance long to be remembered.

Victor McLaglen who played Captain Flagg in "What Price Glory" is the Kilkenny Giant. He it is who comforts "Mother Machree" through the long years, when she leaves her son to be adopted by an aristocratic woman so that he may obtain the education the mother could not give him. These are poignant scenes, where the mother watches her boy grow to manhood as a servant in the house of his fiancee, unrecognized by her son who thinks her dead. Others in the cast are Ethel Clayton, Constance Howard and Ted McNamara. John Ford, maker of "3 Bad Men" is the director of this splendid entertainment.

Doctor Found What is Best for Thin, Constipated People

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness — and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of his 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in his private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed. Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

NATIONAL COMMANDER McNUTT TELLS OF AMERICAN LEGION ACTIVITIES

"The time has come to formally renudiate the claim of foreign nations to the allegiance of those persons who have become naturalized American citizens and to say to these nations that the United States of America demands the exclusive allegiance of every person who claims to be an American citizen," said Paul V. McNutt, national commander of the American Legion in a brilliant address at the town hall Sunday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock under the auspices of Robert O. Fletcher post, No. 4, American Legion. There was a large audience of members of American Legion posts and auxiliaries in the fourth and fifth districts, ex-service men, representatives of various army and naval bases in eastern Connecticut and the general public. A short band concert was given preceding the exercises.

As Commander McNutt was escorted to the platform by officers of the American Legion and Mayor Lee Roy Robbins the band under the direction of Band Master John A Swahn, played a popular war time selection and the program opened with the singing of the first verse of America with the band playing and George A. Turner leading in the singing. Seated on the platform with Commander McNutt were Mayor Lee Roy Robbins, Harry Jackson, past commander and member of the national executive committee, Paul Zimmerman, commander of the fourth district, Harry F. Powers, vice commander of Robert O. Fletcher post, and State Commander Paige Seaton of the department of Connecticut.

In the absence of Commander Imbert Fellows, of Fletcher post, who is ill, Vice Command " Harry Powers presided at the meeting and Mayor Robbins welcomed the guests. State Commander Seaton before introducing Commander McNutt spoke briefly relative to the work the American Legion posts are doing in Connecticut for the welfare of the community. In presenting Commander McNutt, State Commander Seaton referred to him as "a distinguished lawyer, student and one of the most eminent citizens in America."

Legion's First Duty.

In his addresses Commander McNutt said in part: "For most of us the war ended with the armistice. But for others, the war is going on all day long, and every day. There is nothing within the power of this government which is too good for those men."

The national commander declared the first major endeavor of the legion to be the speeding up of the service to the disabled. "The legion's first duty is to see that proper care and rehabilitation, which a grateful government has provided, are given to these veterans."

"Very early in the history of our organization," he continued, "its members saw the waste and extravagance and red tape which attended the various departments of the government having to do with the relief of the disabled. They brought about the formation of what we now know as the veterans' bureau. They have been responsible for every bit of legislation placed upon the statute books. But they have not been content to stop there. They have taken upon themselves the equally important task of seeing to it that the individual disabled man receives from the government all the benefits to which he, as an individual, is entitled.

"We are seeing today a re-enactment of the history of bureaucracy. Bureaus are being established for the purpose of bringing relief. They have become hardened because of the number of cases they see. Today the hard cases are the ones being presented by The American Legion, and there must be a liberalization of the provisions and the specifications laid down by the veterans' bureau for the relief of those men.

"There are many men today with disabilities caused by their war service, but who cannot prove that connection. The Legion cannot prove that service connection for them, but we can say to the congress of the United States that the provisions must be so liberalized that those men shall receive the relief to which they are entitled. That is our business.

"Second only to rehabilitation comes our child welfare program. The need is growing. Our own national convention gave us a mandate to improve the quality of our service in child welfare. It is going to be necessary for us to go to the various states to see to it that those states make adequate provision. We can not carry the whole load by ourselves. It is too great, but we can and must assume a place of leadership. We can and must educate the public to the necessity of properly providing for these children. They are not waifs, they are the proud holders of a priceless heritage, and they deserve, above all things, equality of opportunity."

Emergency Relief Units.

"The third part of our program is Americanism; our support of public education; our support of the Boy Scout movement; the organization of emergency relief units; junior baseball; community service and safety first campaigns.

"Emergency relief is a very fine form of community service. We do not expect to usurp the functions of the Red Cross. We join the Red Cross in the fine service to humanity which that organization has rendered for many years. We have assisted in raising the funds which the Red Cross needs, but we are on the scene; we are the first there in time of disaster. We were the first in Florida. We were the first in the Mississippi valley. We were the first during the New England flood. We were the first in California when the dam broke. Then when the Red Cross comes, we join hands with that organization to carry on this work of relief.

"Very important, likewise, is a new phase of our Americanism program—to promote the safety of children. That must be organized this year. Wisconsin has gone a long way. Large signs on all the highways entering the state of Wisconsin warn automobilists to save the children.

"We are going ahead with our campaign of the education of adult foreign born. We are going ahead with our program of community service. We are going ahead in this important business of educating the public upon the necessity for national defense. Our national legislative committee has its program all prepared. There are two important things.

"The first is the naval building program. We know that the various pacifist organizations sought the ratification of the Kellogg treaty first, and now say to the people of the country that it is not necessary for us to have a naval program. We know the fallacy in such an argument." The situation is this:

"In America it has been made plain that the United States reserves the right to go to war in self-defense, and we are to judge and define self-defense.

"Force still remains a great instrument in affairs between nations. Force is recognized in Europe as the only factor to be used against any nation which attempts to alter the status quo by violence.

International Relations Changed.

"There is only one ground to believe that the multilateral treaty has changed international relations to the extent that the United States should allow its navy to become weaker. That ground is that other nations likewise would follow suit and cease to build up their own fleets.

"Where are the facts to support such a theory? Since the Washington conference this is what has occurred: The United States has laid down 19 ships with a tonnage of 156,990. Great Britain has laid down or appropriated for 73 ships with a total tonnage of 393,274. Japan has laid down or appropriated 127 ships with a total tonnage of 415,252. France has laid down or appropriated for 120 ships with a total tonnage of 290,639. Italy has laid down or appropriated for 83 ships with a total tonnage of 181,073.

"The United States did not set the pace. The United States tried to stop the race. Reduction of armaments by the United States, greatly to the detriment of our attempts to get others to reduce, only added fuel to the flames. Our example following the Washington conference, of scrapping 465,000 tons of new construction made only one impression upon the other powers. That impression was one of weakness on the part of the United States. The God of War smacked his lips and smiled.

"The 5-5-3 ratio became a 5-3-3 ratio, except for the certain class of ships to which it applied. Yes, Great Britain kept the letter of the agreement. Great Britain did not keep the spirit. Here is what happened in the modern, light cruiser class:

"The situation today is that we have built eighteen with a total tonnage of 155,000. Great Britain has built 36, is building 14, and has appropriated for three more, making a total of 53, with a total tonnage of 374,810. Japan has built 21, is building 6 and has appropriated for 2, making a total of 29 with a total tonnage of 196,205.

"The only ground upon which the anti-naval friends of the multilateral treaty stand becomes quicksand under the weight of comparative figures. The fifteen cruisers will not bring the United States to a parity with Great Britain. They will give America a voice to be heard at the next conference on the limitations of armaments. Construction of fifteen cruisers is in the interest of peace, in the interest of eventual agreement to limit navies to the necessities of police work on the high seas."

"The second thing is the universal draft act. This year we must lay the basis for the adoption of an acceptable universal service act, not necessarily the one which is now in congress. We are the organization which can bring the various interested factors together, and sit down at a table and determine a satisfactory measure. We can do that this year. We must do it this year. The universal service is nothing more than legislative preparedness. It is a statement, which all may read and understand, that the true basis of an adequate national defense is equal service from all and special profit to none.

"We must marshal our forces. We move forward. We are growing in strength and in public support. We lead the pageant of American progress today We must deserve that leadership and we can deserve that leadership by distinguished service."

Limitation of Immigration.

"The American Legion favors limitation of immigration, at least for the present," he said. "The flood gates had been down before the World war and from 1917 to 1919 over two million men, or over 8 per cent. of the military service because of their allegiance to some alien power.

"If we are to succeed in this great experiment with representative government we must not allow the melting pot to overflow. We must admit only those who can and will become responsible and responsive American citizens.

"No man can serve two masters; no man can be a loyal citizen of two nations No nation can suffer a divided allegiance and long endure."

In speaking of the defense of national institutions, National Commander McNutt said:

"One of the paramount duties of every citizen comes under the head of political and military loyalty. Certain groups are whispering behind their hands that popular government is a failure and are seeking to destroy the faith in our institutions, which faith has marked our people since the beginning of the nation.

"It is the duty of all patriotic organizations to join hands in arousing the interest of all citizens in the preservation of American institutions and in the performance of the recognized duties of citizenship, one of which is to bear arms in defense of the nation in the event of a national emergency.

"The regular army is the first line of defense and provides the teachers for the citizen soldiers. The national guard is the second line of defense. The great burden of war falls upon the citizen soldier.

"The safety of the nation depends upon the proper functioning of all of these elements. Provision must be made for the support and training of all recognized parts of the armed forces of the United States in time of peace and for universal service in time of war."

Commander McNutt was given enthusiastic applause at the conclusion of his well-rendered and most interesting address. The program concluded with the singing of the first verse of the Star Spangled Banner by all while the band played.

Immediately after the program Commander McNutt left for New Haven by automobile to deliver an address in that city. Commander McNutt came to Norwich Sunday from Hartford, where he and Mrs. Boyce Ficklen, Jr., national auxiliary president, were guests of honor at a testimonial dinner Saturday evening at the Foot Guard armory. He was the principal speaker at the occasion. Commander McNutt, it is said, is in great demand as a speaker al over the country and since his election to the office last October has delivered addresses every day, sometimes two and three times per day.

Capt. Charles Colt was chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements and was assisted by Commander Imbert Fellows and Adjutant W. T. Clark, of Robert O. Fletcher post.

The Legion's Programme.

"The American Legion this year is chiefly concerned with rehabilitation of disabled veterans, child welfare, Americanism and national defense," said National Commander McNutt, when interviewed on his arrival in this city Sunday afternoon. "The program of the Legion is one of concrete service," the commander explained. "Our first duty is to our disabled comrades. It is easy to lend them a helping hand on the field of battle. It is a precious privilege to lend them assistance in time of peace, to see to it that a grateful government makes adequate provision for them and to make certain that they receive the benefits provided.

"We must improve and expedite the service to the disabled. The cases of veterans that come before the examining boards today are often delayed because lapse of time makes it difficult to ascertain all the facts. But the legion will work tirelessly and continually until every veteran disabled in the World war receives the care and award to which he is entitled.

Child Welfare Activities.

"The legion has a far reaching child welfare program. Our organization is pledged to make adequate provision for the orphan and for the dependent children of veterans. The legion raised a fund of five million dollars, the interest of which provides for child welfare as well as rehabilitation work. The great bulk of legion child welfare work is necessarily done, however, by posts, auxiliary units and individual legionnaires throughout the United States. Day by day they carry on in the spirit of legion service. The legion requires the support of every man and woman in its campaign for improved child welfare legislation in the various states where needed. Where such laws exist, there still remains the tremendous duty of seeing that the laws are enforced and that appropriations are made by the legislatures to carry out their provisions.

"Prominent in the Americanism phase of legion endeavor is the junior baseball program, which has become firmly established. Its scope will be extended to include many additional thousands of boys who will learn fair play and sportsmanship under legion guidance as a stepping stone to future good citizenship. The quality of American citizenship must be improved. As means to this end, the legion proposes, besides its national junior athletic program, more extensive public education, increased support and advancement of the Boy Scout movement, more general education of the adult foreign born, greater community service and an awakening of the national consciousness to the civic and patriotic responsibilities and obligations of citizenship.

"The legion is ever concerned with seeing that our country has adequate national defense, sufficient in size and organization to be protective. There can be no armistice with those who would destroy the nation or render it helpless With world conditions as they are today, it is imperative that this nation have an adequate national defense, not as a gesture but as a practical means of preserving the national integrity and protecting the institutions under which we have grown great."

OVERTURNED STOVE SET FIRE TO PARLOR CARPET

There were two calls for the fire department Sunday evening, the calls coming in within 15 minutes of each other. The first call was at 9.24 o'clock for a fire in the 2½ story brick tenement at No. 99 Chestnut street. A stove in the parlor of the house was overturned and spilled the hot coals onto the floor, setting fire to the carpets. Engine 1 and Squad A responded. Little damage resulted. The building is owned by John Bard and occupied by John McComiskey.

The second call was for a chimney fire at the 2½ story tenement building at No. 9-11 Summit street, this call coming in at 9.39 o'clock. Engine 3 and Acting Chief Henry R. CHILD, SOLDIER, PRIEST, FR. GALVIN EXPLAINS MARKS

Yesterday was Sexagesima Sunday, about sixty days before Easter. The epistle read in every mass celebrated throughout the Catholic world was 2, Corinthians 11, 19 to 12, 9. The gospel was Luke 8 4-15, the parable of the sower and the seed. Having read in English this gospel which Rev. John J. Reilly had read already in Latin in offering the Holy Sacrifice of the mass, at St. Patrick's church Sunday at 9 o'clock, Rev. Myles P. Galvin preached to a congregation filling auditory and both galleries.

Father Galvin was continuing his series of sermons on the seven sacraments of the church. The catechism defines a sacrament as an outward sign instituted by Christ to give grace. It really indicates what is going on in the soul; placed in the soul it keeps us friends of Christ. A sacrament produces grace in the soul unless it meets with an obstacle—and there is only one thing which can keep grace out of the soul of man, sin. Bring sin into the soul and grace departs.

Two of the seven sacraments instituted by Christ will bring grace, will remove sin. They are baptism and penance They are denominated the "sacraments of the dead", for the reason that the soul is in spiritual death until these two sacraments are received. They remove sin, restore life, that is grace, to the soul.

The other five are referred to as "the sacraments of the living". They increase grace in our souls. To receive them unworthily constitutes a sacrilege which is the abuse of any sacred thing. Father Galvin devoted the brief time at his disposal to consideration in particular of three sacraments which give souls eternal marks never to be effaced—baptism, by which we are made children of God, confirmation, which makes us soldiers of Christ holy orders, which marks a young man as a priest of God forever. The sacrament of baptism renders us children of God forever—good or bad as we may prove, as are the children of an earthly father, obedient or disobedient, a credit or a disgrace, giving respect or insult. So, too, confirmation marks us as enlisted in the army of Christ—whether for loyalty or betraying fidelity or desertion, worthiness or reprobation, we are in the ranks forever. With the priest it is the same; he is the dispenser of God's ministrations for al ltime. "Thank God" the preacher said, "that while there are some bad ones, they are very few."

These marks, or distinctions conferred by the sacraments remain on the soul forever, in this world and the next. If we are good, they will be a badge of honor for us in Heaven; if bad, they will win for us scorn and derision from even the devils in Hell—that we have proved reprobate children of God, bad soldiers of Christ, unworthy priests of the High Priest. Live up to these three marks, which are the signs of our eternal salvation in heaven, the preacher enjoined his hearers.

Rev. Father Galvin assisted Father Reilly in giving holy communion to a number large enough for an ordinary congregation, indication of the faithful labors of these two assistant pastors during the absence in Florida on his annual three weeks vacation of the rector, Rt. Rev. Mgr. M. H. May, who will return before Lent.

It was announced that at the afternoon service at 3.30 there would be recitation of the Rosary, benediction of the Blessed Sacrament and blessing of throats, on the feast day of St. Blase, ancient saint and doctor famed for his skill in curing throat diseases.

Broke Right Leg

John O'Connell, about 60, of No. 35 Elizabeth street, broke his right leg between the ankle and knee about 11 o'clock Saturday morning, when he slipped and fell as he was crossing West Main street. The injured man was taken to the home of his brother-in-law, Samuel Carr, where Dr. J. J Donohue set the leg.

Since radio and airplane service have brought Alaska closer to the centers of civilization, there have been fewer cases of insanity there.

RICE REFUTES REPORTS OF A CONFESSION OF MURDER

Announcement Made by Counsel of the Accused—Rice Denies All Knowledge of the Slaying of Detective Jackson—Surprised and Indignant When Informed That Newspapers Carried Stories of a Confession—Was Presented in Police Court in Willimantic Yesterday—Case Was Continued Until Thursday, Feb. 14.

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Feb. 4—An absolute reputation of the report that Deputy Sheriff Trenor A. Rice had confessed to the murder of his friend, County Detective William E. Jackson was issued today through his counsel, Attorneys William A. King and Samuel B. Harvey. Both attorneys stated that Rice had not confessed to the alleged crime. Rice claims that he is innocent and denies all knowledge of the crime expressing surprise and indignation when informed that newspapers gave an understanding that a confession had evidently been made by him after a 25 hour grilling.

Rice was presented in police court this morning after spending the night in a cell at headquarters here following his arrest at 9-30 o'clock Sunday night. Judge Frank H. Foss presided at court. Attorney W. A. King, who is a former state's attorney and at present corporation counsel for the city, made a motion for a continuance of the case until Thursday, February 14. The continuance was granted and shortly after the session Rice and his attorneys went into consultation for about one hour. Just before noon Rice, in custody fo County Detective Hickey and Officers Wheeler and Hurley was taken to the county jail at Brooklyn where he was remanded without bail until the lower court arraignment.

The next move of the state will be to call a grand jury to hear the evidence against Rice and this is expected to be done in the near future.

The brief court proceedings this morning were attended by a full gallery of spectators including many newspapermen. Prosecuting Attorney Harry S. Gaucher addressed the court to the effect that Attorney King had prepared a motion for a continuance on behalf of his client. The motion was accompanied by an explanation that the defense counsel had not been consulted until shortly before the session and therefore asked, with the prior agreement of the investigators, for a postponement.

When Rice is arraigned in police court in compliance with legal procedure to determine whether there is probable cause for binding him over to the April criminal term of the Windham county superior court, evidence will be taken unless a demurrer is entered for Rice by his attorneys. The complaint drawn up today is potentially first degree murder.

Rice was outwardly calm this morning when he was brought into the court chamber and escorted to a chair between his attorneys and Officer Hurley. He frequently consulted with Attorney King during the short proceedings. Present in the court room was Edward Jackson, brother of the slain detective, who followed the deliberations closely.

Rice stated before court this morning that he did not desire counsel, stating that while Attorney Harvey and King had been retained by him in other matters, he did not care to call them in on the case. Upon hearing this statement Prosecuting Attorney Gaucher had Rice taken from the courtroom to the office of Police Chief Thomas A. Grady where he advised Rice to secure counsel. Attorney Gaucher said: "You are facing a serious matter, Rice and I advise you to get a lawyer." Rice appeared adamant for a moment and then asked: "Are you telling me to do this as a friend?" The attorney replied that he believed his advice was for the best interests of the accused. Rice then readily signified that he would secure an attorney and at his request Attorneys King and Harvey were notified. Rice, now held for the murder of the man who had proven himself on many occasions to be his benefactor, is known to have made the statement on the night if the murder that he would like to "get" the person who murdered "Billy", meaning Jackson.

BROTHER BELIEVES RICE IS SHIELDING SOMEONE

WILLIMANTIC, Feb. 4—(AP)—Vigorously maintaining their belief in his innocence and declaring he is "shielding someone," the estranged wife and brother of Deputy Sheriff Trenor Rice, charged with the murder of County Detective William E. Jackson, came to his defense here tonight.

The brother, Frederick S. Rice, broker of New York city and resident of New Rochelle, N. Y., issued a statement on his arrival here in which he vowed he would not "let my brother take the rap in defense of someone else" and declared there was "ample funds for the defense."

The wife, who is living with her four children at her mother's home at Canterbury, about 18 miles from here, said that though she is suing her husband for divorce on grounds of cruelty, she would do anything "to help him out if he only asked me." She, too, declared a belief that "somebody was being shielded."

Immediately after his arrival, Frederick Rice went to the Brooklyn jail, where his brother is locked up, and talked to him. He said later he would talk to the defense attorneys, former Attorney-General William A. King and Samuel B. Harvey.

"There's nothing to that confession business," the brother said. He scoffed at reports that Rice had admitted slaying Jackson, who was found shot to death in his farmhouse here last Tuesday evening. "I know he is innocent and that he wouldn't do anything like that anyway."

Mrs. Rice said her husband "is a hard man to get along with, because he is a queer man, but he is not capable of committing the sort of crime he is accused of. I believe somebody else did it, and he is just letting them give him the blame so that somebody would be safe."

Frederick Rice dictated a statement to an Associated Press correspondent as follows:

"I don't believe my brother is guilty. I first learned of his arrest on a charge of murder from the newspapers. I have come up here to survey the situation. I can assure you there will be ample funds for the defense. I don't intend to let my brother take the rap for someone else."

Frederick S. Rice, brother of the man held for Jackson's murder, tonight said in a statement that he is trying to have a former supreme court justice of New York to come here to assist in the case. Mrs. Florence Wakeling, of New Rochelle, and Mrs. Minnie Worder, of Yarda City, Cal., sisters of Rice, are due to arrive here tomorrow.

HEARINGS ON TARIFF REVISION RESUMED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—Taking up the flax, jute and duties in resumption of its hearings on tariff revision, the house ways and means committee today heard appeals from nearly a score of witnesses for changes in rates to protect American growers and manufacturers from foreign competition.

At the same time announcement was made by Representative Garner, of Texas, ranking democrat on the committee, that he favored abolition of the existing flexible provision of the tariff act under which the president can raise or lower duties as much as 50 per cent. The Texan favors substitution of a plan whereby the house would pass on individual proposals for rate changes.

Under the Texan's proposal, the speaker of the house instead of the president would appoint three republicans and three democrats to the tariff commission whose duty it would be to obtain data on any commodity on which a rate revision was sought. The change would be asked by the introduction of a bill.

LEGAL FIGHT CERTAIN. IN SALVATION ARMY

LONDON, Feb. 4—(AP)—The "legal side of this situation has not ended," was the word which came tonight from the private office of Catherine Booth, daughter of Gen. Bramwell Booth and herself a member of the high council of the Salvation Army. The announcement was given by Miss Booth's secretary, Ensign Jackson, who said Miss Booth has been advised by her solicitors not to discuss the army affairs because of that fact.

The intention of the General Booth faction to go to court again if the high council once more votes to depose him became known while the council was in an informal session discussing a definite offer of mediation made by Lord Davidson, retired archbishop of Canterbury. The council also talked over the situation created by General Booth's sudden trip to London on the eve of preparations by his legal advisors to open a way for a renewal of the court fight.

FLU PATIENTS CROWD HOSPITALS IN PARIS

PARIS, Feb. 4—(AP)—Influenza continued to tax hospital accommodations and send Parisians to bed today, one of the latest victims was Sir William G. Tyrrel, British ambasador. Another was Marshal Henri Petain, commander in chief of the French armies in the World war. Earlier in the day President Gaston Doumergue had to cancel engagements because of a light attack of the disease.

President Doumergue was well enough this afternoon to preside at the drawing for the Davis cup 1928 contests. He considered it advisable, however, not to undertake any engagements that call for his presence outside the palace.

Sam Parker Gilbert, agent general of reparations, who was taken ill last week, was much better tonight. Mrs. Gilbert gave out this word in response to an inquiry at the Gilbert home.

HANGED HIMSELF AND HIS 9-MONTHS OLD CHILD

OSBORNE, Kas., Feb. 4—(AP)—The bodies of Albert Langley, 39, a farmer, and his 9-months-old child were found, suspended from the same rope, at a granary at Langley's home near here today.

The tragedy was believed to have occurred between 2 and 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Coroner J. W. S. Cross said Langley apparently had taken the child in his arms, fastened nooses on the rope about each of their necks and swung the child and himself from a rafter at the same time.

Domestic and financial worries were believed to have caused the man's act.

WILL NOT ALLOW CULLEN TO PLEAD SECOND DEGREE

BROCKTON, Mass., Feb. 4—(AP)—Winfield F. Wilbar, district attorney for Plymouth county, today denied published reports that Christopher E. Cullen, alleged slayer of his bride of five days, who is now in a Miami, Fla., hospital, would be allowed to plead guilty to a second degree murder charge. He said he would request the grand jury to return an indictment for first degree murder. Conviction on that charge makes a death sentence mandatory in this state.

Evidence in the Cullen case would be presented to the grand jury when it convenes at Plymouth tomorrow, Wilbar said.

Lindbergh Covers First Leg Of Flight

Landed at Belize, British Honduras, at 3.55 P. M., E. S. T., Yesterday.

BELIZE British Honduras, Feb—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh tonight was the welcome guest of this colony, to which he was the first to introduce airplane travel little more than a year ago. At the close of his 27th birthday anniversary he had flown successfully the first 750-mile leg of the new air mail route which is to link the United States with the Canal Zone by way of Cuba and Central America.

At almost the exact moment that he was expected he brought his Sikorsky amphibian plane down to a smooth anding on the harbor waters at 2:55 p. m. (3:55 eastern standard time). He had left Miami, Fla., at 6.08 this morning and landed at Havana at 8:31. After a stop of one hour and four minutes for refueling, he was on his way again. He slept here tonight and tomorrow will wing his way southward to Managua, Nicaragua. The last stage is through Costa Rica to Panama and the Canal Zone.

The route which he inaugurated today is regarded as the direct outcome of the good will flight of the young aviator a year ago. He was nearing the end of that air cruise around the Carribean when he celebrated his 26th. birthday anniversary by flying from San Juan, Porto Rico, to Santo Domingo. Since that day regular air routes have been established from Havana eastward through the islands and now the man who first demonstrated the feasibility has inaugurated the longer route to the west and south.

With his companions, Colonel John Hambleton, vice president of the Pan-American airways which operates the new service, and H. L. Burkey, mechanic and radio operator, Colonel Lindbergh was welcomed by a reception committee. The guests were conducted to the veranda of the golf club, 50 yards from the platform, where they were introduced to Governor Sir John Burdon and Lady Burdon.

From the veranda the governor delivered an official address of welcome on the inauguration of the airmail service, to which Colonel Hambleton replied. The guests were then driven to the government house where they were the guests of Governor and Lady Burdon at dinner. Later they attended the reception at the polo club.

The plane brought a considerable quantity of mail from the United States but arrangements have not yet been completed for them to carry mails from this colony.

SPAIN REPORTS REVOLT IN VALENCIA CRUSHED

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Feb. 4—(AP)—General Primo De Rivera appeared tonight to have crushed the armed revolt against his dictatorship which has showed its head in Valencia. But travellers reaching here said that his troubles were not yet over.

Discussions, protests and manifestos are said to have taken the place of fighting while the government is clamping down an even more rigid censorship to prevent dissemination of all information unfavorable to it. The usual censor officials have been supplemented by special bellcs. The newspapers are forbidden to publish even news already known to the public and correspondents have been heavily fined. Not a word appears in the Madrid dailies about the happenings in Ciudal Real and Valencia where the army garrisons took part in the uprising.

LIVED JUST 36 HOURS AFTER THE DEATH OF HER HUSBAND

WESTCHESTER, Conn., Feb. 4—(AP)—Even "until death" did the wife of Isaac J. Hoadley, 94, believed to have been the oldest Civil war veteran in the state, follow him. For today, just 36 hours after he had died, she, too, went the way of all life.

Wednesday would have been the 70th anniversary of their marriage, but when her 91st birthday came around January 26 both had in grippe, which for him developed quickly into pneumonia. He died yesterday and she this afternoon, also of pneumonia. She had not known her husband had died.

Now, the funeral planned for one by the Westchester chapter of the American legion, will be for two, and the Rev. Wallace Canney, pastor of the Congregational church here, will officiate at the services.

HUGE CATCHES OF FISH WERE LANDED AT BOSTON

BOSTON, Feb. 4—(AP)—If it's fish you want, there's plenty on hand Boston fishermen came in with big catches, and today there were unloaded at the Boston fish pier no less than 1,900,000 pounds of fish, and that's a record.

The fishing fleet, after a month of hard weather struck three good days last week and made the most of them. Consequently there was great activity on the fish pier this morning when the unloading started.

Thirty-eight vessels came in from the fishing grounds, some of them with loads of more than 100,000 pounds. The steam trawler Georgetown unloaded 130,000 pounds. The steam trawler Comber 120,000 pounds and the steam trawler L. M. Winslow, 115,000 pounds. This latter figure was nearly equalled by the smaller trawler Shamrock, with 112,000 pounds.

PARIS, Feb. 4—(AP)—Marshal Ferdinand Foch tonight suffered a slight attack of indigestion, in addition to his other troubles. Dr. Maurice Heitz-Boyer was hurriedly sumoned at 11:30. He was able to relieve the old soldier in a short time and son left the house. He explained that milk which the marshal had taken earlier in the evening had appeared to have disagreed with him.

FOUND DEAD IN HIS ROOM ASPHYXIATED BY GAS

BERLIN, Conn., Feb. 4—(AP)—The body of Thomas Malarney, 46, asphyxiated by gas, was found in his room here this afternoon. He had apparently died during the night. Dr. R. M. Griswold, health officer, said Malarney had probably kicked the rubber tubing off his gas heater as he flung himself into bed.

Cold Wave Causing Suffering In Europe

Food Shortages Prevail in Towns Blockaded by Snow — No Relief in Sight.

LONDON, Feb. 4—(AP)—All Europe shivered tonight from a cold wave of unusual severity from which no relief was in sight. The deaths of 44 persons already have been recorded while suffering is general from food shortages in towns blockaded by snow.

Denmark appeared likely to be entirely ice locked before the end of th week. Ice breakers were struggling to maintain a narrow pathway for shipping into Copenhagen but communication with several Danish islands was maintained only by sledges and automobiles over the sea ice. Many ships are aground, all Danish ferry routes subjected to serious delays and train traffic is disordered. Millions of wild fowl have been killed by the cold.

While Denmark is typical of north European countries, the frigid breath of winter has been felt along the Mediterranean where the inhabitants are less accustomed to protecting themselves from low extremes of temperature.

More than half of the death toll was rolled up on Sunday when the crew of 26 of the German freighter Deister drowned when their ship foundered off the coast of Portugal. A landslide at Alma Aata, Russian Turkistan, swept eleven to their deaths. Four workmen were frozen to death in trying to release the tracks of the Simplon express in Thracean Turkey and the work of breaking the snow blockade was called off. Budapest reported three victims.

Constantinople was buried under the snow deposited by the third day of the worst blizzard in 25 years. There was a serious bread shortage due to the complete stoppage of transportation. Schools, courts and two-thirds of the shops were closed. Several houses had collapsed and firemen struggled through the drifts to reach the 16 fires which broke out within 24 hours.

Oranges were dropping from the trees at Valencia, southern Spain, because of the cold while residents of southern Italy were treated to the unusual sight of huge icicles forming on the public fountains. Tourists were said to be hard put to find the summer atmosphere they had sought along the Rivera and elsewhere.

In central Europe and the Balkans wolves maddened by hunger were reported to have invaded towns and villages. The citizens formed vigilance committees to drive off the marauders.

The British Isles have escaped most of the rigor prevalent on the continent.

SEVEN PERSONS HURT WHEN COAL TRUCK STRUCK TROLLEY

SENATE RETAINS THE TIME CLAUSE IN CRUISER BILL

Motion to Eliminate the Clause Was Defeated 54 to 28—The Bill at Present Calls for Three Ships Each Year, Beginning Immediately—Elimination of Time Clause Was Urged by President Coolidge, But Only 16 Republicans Supported His Proposal, While 26 Turned Against the President—Senator Bingham Presented an Amendment Calling for Three $19,000,000 Airplane Carriers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—(AP)—Overriding the expressed wish of President Coolidge, the senate by a vote of 54 to 28 refused late today to eliminate from the cruiser construction bill the stipulation that the sixteen ships shall be laid down before July 1, 1931.

Party lines went to smash on the proposition with a democrat, Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, offering the amendment to give the president a free rein over the naval program and twenty-six republicans voting against the Coolidge request.

This disposed of the dominant issue in the cruiser fight and the senate adjourned to meet tomorrow when passage of the measure authorizing 15 cruisers and an airplane carrier at a cost of $274,000,000 is regarded as assured.

President Coolidge lost on this same issue in the house last year. Recently it was made known at the white house that if the time limitation clause were eliminated and the chief executive were given a free hand over the naval program he would send up recommendations for several of the cruisers at once.

But the senate stood by the provision requiring that work on five of the cruisers shall be started during each of the next three fiscal years, beginning with this year which ends July 1. As a result of this vote it is possible the measure may be approved without material change as it was passed a year ago by the house and if this should be done it will be possible to rush the bill to the white house without a conference if the house of representatives should accept a few minor amendments.

After it had refused to strike out the time stipulation, the senate turned down another proposal by Senator Harrison which would have deferred for a year the operation of the naval program. This was cast into discard without even a record vote.

The amendment of Senator Harrison which brought the first and only roll call vote on the bill would have provided that the president "is authorized to undertake prior to July 1, 1933" the construction of the ships. This would have left it optional for the president as to how many ships should have been started.

Sixteen republicans, including Senator Curtis of Kansas, the republican leader, voted for the amendment with eleven democrats and the farmer-labor ite, Senator Shipstead of Minnesota. The twenty-six republicans who turned against the president were supported by twenty-eight democrats, including Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the democratic leader.

The senate then reconsidered the amendment of Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, providing for the calling of an international conference to consider the writing of rules to protect the rights of neutrals at sea in time of war. Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, offered as a substitute a request for treaties with all the principal maritime nations regulating the conduct of belligerents and neutrals at sea in accordance with an old treaty negotiated by Benjamin Franklin.

The roll call on the Harrison amendment was preceded by a speech by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, in which the republican independent called upon the republicans to stand by their president. Noted for his independence in party affairs, the speech was taken light-heartedly and in good nature, the chamber resounded with laughter as he disparaged republicans who would forsake their lead as he was about to retire from office.

Among other amendments drafted today was one by Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, proposing building three $19,000,000 airplane carriers rather than one.

MELON BY STANDARD OIL CO OF INDIANA

CHICAGO, Feb. 4—(AP)—Col. Robert W. Stewart said it with stocks and cash today in his fight with John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to retain his position as chairman of the board of the Standard Oil company of Indiana.

At the conclusion of a brief meeting Col. Stewart and the board of directors supporting him in his battle with the Rockefeller interests, announced a stock dividend of fifty per cent, a regular cash dividend of 62 1-2 cents a share and an extra cash dividend of fifty cents a share.

The stock dividend, amounting to one half share of stock for each of the nearly 9,250,000 whole shares outstanding will be paid to stockholders of record February 16 and the extra stock will participate in the cash dividends to be paid March 15, one week after the annual stockholders' meeting, to stockholders of record February 16.

The new stock, however, cannot be voted at the stockholders' meeting, March 7, when the fight between Col. Stewart and Mr. Rockefeller will be decided, as the books for the stockholders' meeting close tomorrow, eleven days before the stock dividend becomes payable.

Except for the brief announcement of the action of the directors, no comment was forthcoming on the big melon in stock and money, either from Col. Stewart or his supporters.

MUST STAND TRIAL FOR MURDER OF SWEETHEART

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 4—(AP)—Safe behind the bars where remorse over his crime had driven him, Harvey Lee Selhaver, 36, tonight was awaiting the legal action which will take him back to Kingston, N. J., to stand trial for the murder of his 16-year-old sweetheart more than four years ago.

Selhaver appeared in the police station late last night, worn and haggard, and anxious to unburden himself of the secret which has weighted upon him since August 14, 1924, when he shot and killed Sarah Elizabeth Johnson, daughter of a farmer who had refused permission for him to marry the girl.

He had been out of work for sometime before his surrender here, but was neatly dressed. After his detailed confession early today, Selhaver slept soundly and attempted to repudiate his statement when awakened this afternoon. A thorough grilling by police followed and it was announced Selhaver had "confessed" again, this time identifying pictures of the slain girl and her mother.

CAPT. FRIED TO VISIT NEW ENLAND TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—(AP)—Having received honors from the president, members of congress and other government agencies during his weekend stay here, Captain George Fried, rescuer of the crew of the Florida left today for New York.

President Coolidge extended his congratulations in person to the captain a few hours before his departure. The chief executive expressed his appreciation of the captain's gallant exploit in braving the Atlantic storm January 23, and the maneuvering of his own ship, the America, so as to save the crew of the disabled Italian freighter, Florida.

Captain Fried was accompanied to the white house by Representative Stobbs, of Massachusetts, in whose district Fried's native town, Worcester, is situated. After the brief interview in the chief executive's office, the group was photographed in the white house grounds.

During the day the captain's itinerary before resuming his ship was settled by selecting Tuesday, February 12, as the date for his visit to Cincinnati, Mrs. Fried's home town. Thence he will go to Culver Military academy at Culver, Ind., for a brief stay.

Prior to these visits he will go to Boston next Wednesday and on successive days, thereafter to Worcester and Providence, R. I., then with an interval of two days in New York he will proceed to Philadelphia, Monday, February 11.

INDIAN TELLS COMMITTEE OF UNWILLING MARRIAGE

WASHINGTONN, Feb. 4—(AP)—A bashful, smiling Indian told a senate committee today how he married against his will.

Made wealthy in his own right by a gushing Oklahoma oil well, Jackson Barnett, a member of the Creek tribe, admitted sheepishly before his "pale face" wife that she proposed to him on their second meeting, but the wife, when called to the stand refused to waive immunity and her testimony was not heard. The committee is investigating the marriage, described in other testimony as a "kidnaping."

Much of the Indian's story was a repetition of "I don't know" but now and then he answered more fully the questions that were propounded to him. The courts have declared him incompetent. He came here with his wife in response to a subpoena.

Once Senator Pine, republican, Oklahoma, asked him whether he knew the difference between a $5 and a $20 bill.

His answer, "Do you?" drew a roar of laughter from the spectators who crowded the committee room.

Then Senator Thomas, democrat, Oklahoma, showed him a photograph of himself and asked him to identify it. Barnett, after a pause, apparently decided the question was a joke and refused to answer.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 4—(AP)—William H. Hardy by the evangelist was a "fee" for legal advice, and consequently grounds for impeachment proceedings against the jurist, Carter said the jurist appeared before the grand jury on July 13, 1926, and discussed the legal points of the kidnaping case.

PRESIDENT-ELECT HOOVER TO VISIT FLOOD-SWEPT AREA

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 14—(AP)—President-elect Hoover today decided to spend two days late next week inspecting the flood-swept Okeechobee district of southern Florida and attend the birthday dinner in honor of his friend, Thomas A. Edison, at the inventor's winter estate at Fort Myers next Monday.

At the same time he began a series of conversations with Senator Smoot, of Utah, chairman of the senate finance committee, who is his house guest for this week and who predicted a general upward revision of the tariff at the extra session of the new congress in the spring and no more tax reduction for some years to come.

The president-elect also received several callers and conferred at length with Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the republican national committee, who left late in the day for Palm Beach, en route back to his headquarters in Washington.

Children's Colds Doubly Dangerous While Flu Lasts

Treat Them Promptly but be Careful Not to Upset Stomach With Too Much Dosing

PNEUMONIA CHIEF DANGER

Although the type of flu this year is not so serious as in 1918, health authorities are urging everybody to treat even the slightest cold at the start, as colds lower the resistance and make the body an easy prey to bronchitis or pneumonia.

Too much "dosing" especially in the case of children still further disturbs the digestion, and should be avoided except on advice of a physician.

Vicks VapoRub is especially valuable because it is applied externally and so can be used freely at the first sign of a cold, with no risk of disturbing a delicate stomach.

Rubbed on the throat and chest at bedtime, Vicks acts two ways at once to check the cold and avoid serious complications; (1) through the skin like a poultice, and (2) By means of its medicated vapors released by body-warmth and inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Chief officer Harry Manning says:

"Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet."

"WHEN I climbed aboard the 'America' after those cold, strenuous hours getting the men off the freighter 'Florida,' there was nothing I wanted so much as a Lucky—'By George,' it tasted wonderful! A Lucky is always refreshing. My tense nerves relaxed, my aching throat was soothed and the whole thrilling adventure just seemed a part of the day's work. As time goes by, and I look back to that memorable night, I'll always remember the wonderful taste of that welcome Lucky. As I went around to visit the men we'd rescued, I found many of them enjoying Luckies, too. We really couldn't wait to get back to our ship and 'Luckies.' As an actual fact in returning to the 'America' I noticed one of our men* rowing with one hand and lighting a 'Lucky' with the other. There's no flavor to equal toasted tobaccos, and I always prefer Lucky Strikes. There's wisdom in the saying: 'Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.' It helps a man to keep physically fit and we who follow the sea must always be prepared for any emergency."

*The man mentioned by Chief Officer Manning was Boatswain's Mate Aloys A. Wilson.

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during the year 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

DANIELSON

KILLINGLY HIGH TO HAVE 50-PIECE BAND

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Feb. 4—A band of at least 50 pieces is practically an assured thing for Killingly high school. It will include both boys and girls and about an equal number of each. The possibilities were today that the first rehearsal will be held on Monday of next week. With no unforseen circumstances intervening it may make a public appearance during the spring season, and may be seen in the Memorial day procession.

Up to this afternoon parents of 40 of the young people who wish to be members of the band had notified Principal Ernest R. Warren that they will provide band instruments for them. In addition there are some members of the school who have and play band instruments and still others whose parents are not in a position just now to provide instruments for them, but would like to have them members of the band and would get instruments for them later. For these pupils an appeal is now made to owners of band instruments who are not using them and who may be willing to loan them temporarily, so that no pupil at the school who wishes to play in the band will be denied the privilege. Anyone having a band instrument and who would be so kind as to loan it for the time being may get in touch with Principal Warren for further information relative to the matter.

The band is to be under the instruction of A. H. Messenger, of Springfield. Mr. Messenger has had wide experience in organizing school bands and great success with them. He is a splendid musician who has been a member of some of the famous bands and orchestras of the country during the past few years. Under an arrangement that has been perfected members of the band at Killingly high school will pay nothing for their instruction. The forecast is that the band will be able to play simple pieces within a month.

Indications are that the band will be a well balanced one. There is a very considerable range of choice of instruments among those who are to be members. Some have elected to play cornets, some trumpets, some trombones, some saxophones, some flutes, some clarinets, some altos, and some baritones. The enthusiasm among the young people over the band plan runs high.

Tuesday night, of this week, Mr. Messinger is to bring to Danielson, 45 members of the school band that he has organized and instructed at Ludlow, Mass. They are to give a concert in the school auditorium following the K. H. S.-Woodstock basketball game as a demonstration of how well these school bands can play.

Advance work that eventually will lead to the occupancy of the former Connecticut mills by Dowcraft and Alexander, has been started. This involved making certain changes in appointments as they have been to meet the requirements of the different class of work that is to be done there. Much interior painting is to be done, changes made in the arrangement of the electrical equipment and other such work following which the machines used in making furniture will be installed. It probably will be late in the spring before actual manufacturing operations are undertaken at the mill.

Major William McCleave, U. S. A., Boston, came here today for the annual federal inspection of the Service battery, 102d, field artillery, stationed at the state armory. During the course of today with Lieut. Gordon J. Gale, commanding the battery, Major McCleave inspected all of the battery equipment at the armory, this including the fleet of motor trucks regularly kept here. Tonight the personnel of the battery was inspected by Major McCleave, this feature of the day's activities being open to the public. Also present this evening was Colonel Mogensen, of New Haven and Colonel Nathan Horowitz, the battery instructor.

Tonight the members of the Service battery were assembled on the drill floor for calesthenics, infantry drill, guard mount duty and questioned on the subjects of motors, mess and supply. The showing made by the battery was a very good one.

State officers from the Danielson barracks were investigating today a break at the home of Frank Morse, in South Killingly. Five old guns, chiefly valuable as antiques, are missing. Mr. Morse has not been occupying the house for some time, but has been living elsewhere in East Killingly. This fact leaves considerable uncertainty as to just when the break occurred. Entrance to the house is understood to have been gained through one of the windows.

Mr. and Mrs. Angelo DelPesco, of Mechanic street, yesterday, at a dinner party at their home, announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Rose DelPesco, to Ralph Jeanette, of Waterbury. About a dozen sat down to dinner. While no definite date for the wedding has been set, it is understood that it will take place in the near future.

People who have been afflicted with what has come to be known as the necktie racket, that of receiving unordered neckties throughout the mail, may take a leaf from the book of a Killingly man and discourage it utterly. Something since this citizen received four neckties through the mail. His wife, thinking he might use them, sent in a dollar for them without his knowing about it. Subsequently came another quartet of neckties, unordered and unwanted. The gentleman had an idea, however, he wrote them. Then followed letters from the vendors demanding payment, which they did not get. In due time a third shipment of four ties came through, charged at the usual price. It was at this period that the subject of this matter put his little plan into action. In payment for the third set of new ties he sent them back four worn ones. It seems to have cured the necktie people of bothering him. It might work likewise in other cases.

Finding of an Indian arrow head in Main street, by Irving W. Davis, has brought forth a number of stories about hunting for these and finding them in numbers south of here in years gone by. It is a matter of historical fact that a battle between Indian tribes was fought just south of Danielson. In that section between the railroad tracks and the Quinebaug river from Fell brook, south, to the rifle range, scores of Indian arrowheads have been recovered by searchers after them. Three decades back they could be found with no great difficulty in that section between the Danielson-Waureagan road and the river from Fall brook south to the powerhouse of the Connecticut company at the Dyer dam. The favorite time for hunting them was in that season of the springtime after the snow and ice had disappeared and the frost had just come out of the ground. There are those here who will wager that arrowheads still can be found in this area, which was a section of the Indian battleground.

Ayer mentioned today that some few years ago he went into Canterbury to serve papers on Deputy Trenor Rice in a divorce proceeding and was received by Rice with a club in his hand. Rice refused to accept the papers, so the sheriff placed them inside the man's overalls, the meanwhile taking no action with his club, which he went and picked up when he saw the sheriff coming.

PUTNAM

PROVIDENCE MAN FINED FOR DRUNKEN DRIVING

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Feb. 4—Joseph Martin, 44, of Spring street, Providence, was arrested early Sunday evening by Patrolman Sponcey on charges of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, and evading responsibility, following a collision with a vehicle owned by Louis Walker of North Grosvenordale, which was parked on Grove street.

Mr. Walker was a guest at the home of Frank Rich on Grove street. He saw the strange car sideswipe his vehicle, and continue down the highway. Mr. Walker obtained the registration numbers on the car, and telephoned the information to Patrolman Sponcey.

After searching the business section of the city Officer Sponcey discovered the car parked in front of the Eagle Lunch room on South Main street. The two passengers, one of whom was Martin, and the other his pal, Joseph Browning, were under the influence of liquor and were about to proceed when the officer placed them under arrest. At the police station they refused to reveal their identity, and denied crashing the Walker car, but later gave the required information. In city court this morning before Judge Geissler, Martin said the car he was operating was the property of the "We Furnish It—U' Drive It Car Co." of Providence. He pleaded guilty to both charges and was fined $100 and costs of court. Martin reimbursed Mr. Walker to the amount of $55 for damages caused to his car. "That is every nickel I own, Your Honor, now I am willing to go to jail," said Martin in a nonchalant manner. His prompt action brought a remittal order of $75 from Judge Geissler and the balance he was able to raise to secure his release.

Martin's associate, Browning, pleaded guilty to the charge of intoxication and upon his inability to pay a fine of $20 was forced to enter the county jail at Brooklyn and work out his punishment. A pathetic scene was enacted in the police station this morning, with Browning and Martin, pals since their discharge from the service, being separated. In consoling his friend whom fate had decided must spend the next score of days behind the bars at Brooklyn, said, "Don't worry, Buddy, I'll have you out tonight."

The national order of Knights of the Road has another of its estranged members now in the county jail at Brooklyn, thanks to the consideration of Judge M. H. Geissler, when he sentenced Arthur LaPraise of Willimantic to serve a "ten-day stretch" this morning, when found guilty on a charge of being a common drunkard, the third offense of his long career in Putnam.

Arthur was arrested Saturday evening by Patrolman Bill Durand, while he (Arthur) was teaching a group of onlookers one of the latest ballroom dance creations. Upon his arrest, Arthur insisted that Patrolman Durand eject another prisoner from his favorite cell, and lock him in the cell which he has so often frequented.

In court this morning Arthur pleaded guilty. "What have you to say for yourself, Arthur?" was Judge Geissler's inquiry. "Nothin', Yer Honor, I am as guilty as kin be," came the reply from the prisoners' dock.

After Arthur insinuated that he desire a millinus, for his entry into the county jail, Judge Geissler is quoted as saying, "I know that, Arthur, but since this is the winter season, and there is little or no work to be found at the jail, I will give you but ten days of pleasure." Following the pronouncement of the session of court, Arthur admitted that ten days is better than none at all. "But what is it to a fellow who does not like to work?" he asked Captain Jarvis, before leaving for Brooklyn.

A watch of several hours was kept on the Willimantic highway Sunday evening by the Putnam police, for a stolen sedan, which was taken from its parking place on Main street in the Thread City an hour before by youths seeking a thrill. Sergeant Leard and Officers Page and Durand searched all highways and by-ways within the city limits, during the hours of Sunday evening, but it is apparent that the young thieves sought refuge on country roads nearer the spot where they drove off with the car.

A resolution has been introduced in the state senate, now in session in Hartford, for the re-appointment of Mahlon H. Geissler as judge of the city court of Putnam and for the re-appointment of Archibald Macdonald, Jr., as deputy judge. The bill was introduced on Tuesday of last week and the author of it is State Senator Walter C. Brown of Ashford. Both the judge and deputy judge are local attorneys and have held their respective offices for a number of years.

Arthur V. Williams, county agent of the state board of education, of Danielson, was in Putnam today, examining students under age, who desire to gain employment in local factories. Only a few working certificates were issued by Agent Williams at today's session.

Miss Deneige Touchette died this morning at the Day Kimball hospital following a prolonged period of illness. Miss Touchette was 13 years of age. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Origine Touchette of Powhatton street, Putnam. She was born in Putnam and has lived here all her life. The young lady was a student at St. Mary's school.

Has Narrow Escape

Supt. of Streets Frederick Dumas narrowly escaped death this afternoon when he slipped from the shafts on one of the highway teams, and was dragged several hundred feet by the startled horses before they were brought to a halt by one of the employes of the highway department.

Mr. Dumas recently acquired the new pair of horses for his department and today started them together at their municipal duties. He had driven the team to the River road, where the street gang is making repairs. The superintendent removed the blankets from the animals and commenced work on the road. When the task was completed and the men were ready to return to the city stables, Mr. Dumas climbed upon the wagon, stepping out upon the shafts to thoroughly cover the new dapple grays with their blankets. In doing so he slipped from his position and fell to the ground. The young horses became alarmed and at once started into a trot, dragging their driver into the shadow of the large wheel. Superintendent Dumas was able to maneuver quickly enough so as to avert being crushed by the revolving wheel. The horses were brought to a stop and Mr. Dumas was at once taken to his home where he was examined and treated. He was said tonight that he suffered no fractured bones, and would be able to return to his duties within a few days.

Textile conditions, which have been practically at a standstill in Putnam for the past fortnight, were today commencing to show signs of new life. At the National Rieta company, some employes who have been inactive during the slack time period returned to work this morning, with indications that others, who have been temporarily "laid off" will return to their frames within the coming week. In the woolen and worsted class, employes of the Putnam Woolen company and the Waterman Worsted company have been recalled to their work, after a two weeks period of inactivity. Both of these plants have only been slightly affected by the slump. At the Belding Hemingway Silk plant employes are working on a full time schedule, following the recent completion of the period devoted annually to inventory. As forecast early in the year by Supt. Francis Metcalf of the Bloom Silk company, the large silk manufacturing plant in this city is experiencing a good business period and is employing scores of hands as it has in the past.

From the outlying districts comes the report that mill wheels are still awaiting the rush orders for production. The textile slump in the surrounding mill villages has affected several Putnam workmen.

The task of gathering the ice crop in Putnam is nearly completed, and hundreds of tons now rest safely within the walls of the ice houses, packed in sawdust, awaiting the arrival of hot weather, when it shall be removed to refrigerators.

The harvest this year, which is unusually late, is one of the largest ever gathered on local ponds and indications are that a second crop will be cut. Last year local ice dealers nearly exhausted their ice storage houses in an effort to supply the huge demand, despite the keen competition with the electric ice dealers. In Danielson, ice dealers ran out of their supply early in the summer and for the balance of the high mercury mark season were forced to import their product from neighboring communities.

MOTHERS ARE LEARNING USES OF MAGNESIA

From the beginning of expectancy until baby is weaned, Phillips Milk of Magnesia performs the greatest service for many women.

It relieves the expectant mother's nausea, heartburn, "morning sickness," inclination to vomit; helps her digestion. Its mild but effective laxative action assures regular bowel movement.

Phillips Milk of Magnesia is better than lime water for neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding. A teaspoonful of it does the work of a half pint of lime water. It is a mild laxative; harmless, almost tasteless.

All drug stores have Phillips Milk of Magnesia in generous 35c and 50c bottles. Always insist on the genuine, endorsed by physicians for 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

POETRY

Winter is Building

Winter is building his house of snow
On the sunset side of my hill;
The trumpeting North wind, blow by blow,
Hammers each door and sill;
And the cold nights freeze it hard and fast,
While the blazing stars shine still.

Winter is building his home of cold;
Its doors and windows glow
When the sunset fires die in gold
E'er the black nights blacker grow;
His storms come rioting from the N.
Past the dead marsh wastes below.

Winter is building, day by day;
Ah well, 'tis little I care;
In my snug house across the way
Is cheer, and plenty, to spare;
Its rooms are filled with love . . . and sound
Of children's laughter . . . there.

Verses on a Cat

Clubby! thou surely art, I ween,
A Puss of most majestic mien,
So stately all thy pacest
With such a philosophic air,
Thou seek'st thy professorial chair
And so demure thy face is!

And as thou sit'st, thine eye seems fraught
With such intensity of thought,
That could we read it, knowledge
Would seem to breathe in every mew,
And learning yet undreamt by you
Who dwell in Hall or College.

Oh! when in solemn taciturnity
Thy brain seems wandering through eternity,
What happiness were mine
Could I then catch the thoughts that flow,
Thoughts such as ne'er were hatched below,
But in a head like thine.

Oh then, throughout the livelong day,
With thee I'd sit and purr away
In ecstasy sublime;
And in thy face, as from a book,
I'd drink in science at each look,
Nor fear the lapse of time.

READY FOR CRUISER ACTION.

After prolonged debate and determined efforts to delay the cruiser bill has advanced to a point where its passage will probably not be long delayed.

Those who have opposed it from the attitude of a pacifist have been answered in such a manner that there can be little doubt of the desirability of strengthening this department of the navy. Those who have sought to have the time limit removed, and leave it to the discretion of the president to direct the construction for the purpose of dealing with unforseen developments, are in the minority according to the almost two to one vote which defeated the move to have that clause eliminated.

With a decision reached over this much debated point the time cannot be far distant before the senate gets down to action on the entire measure. It has been demonstrated by the vote that there is sufficient support for the bill to put it through if it can be brought to a vote and with debate restricted by previous understanding time ought not to be needlessly wasted in further delay.

The senate has been the battleground of those who believed that there should be no effort made at this time to build warships inasmuch as we had just given our approval to the Kellogg peace pact. It was their contention that we would be repudiating our declaration in behalf of international peace by any such warship construction, but that view does not prevail among the senators and it is not held by the president. The fact is that we are in need of cruisers. We need them to look after our widely distributed interests and we need new cruisers to replace some which ought to be withdrawn from commission.

There is no reason why we should deny ourselves the means of proper defense in case of necessity because of the Kellogg pact and it is clearly set forth that even if we do construct the 15 cruisers and the airplane carrier our cruiser strength will not exceed that to which we are entitled and will not in fact approach the limit. The efforts to defeat the bill have been strenuous but the indications are that they will not succeed. The test vote on the time clause indicates that the bill will be adopted by a much larger vote.

TRAFFIC TUNNELS.

While there is so much talk about the construction of the tunnel from England to France under the English channel, it is impossible to overlook the report which is made concerning the operation of the Holland tube under the Hudson.

The Holland tunnel has been in operation over a year. It was a costly piece of construction but figures which are presented for its operation during the month of January shows that it produced a net profit of more than $275,000. That means that much use is being made of that under the river route and it stands to reason that if such a profit is made in the first month of the year it will produce even greater profits as the traffic of the other months is handled.

With such returns from the tunnel the time must be coming when the tunnel will be handling all the business that its capacity will accommodate. Developments have been such that the management of the tunnel figure that this point will have been reached in another five years. That will mean that the tunnel will be producing a peak profit and handling capacity traffic and beyond that point it will be necessary to seek another outlet, possibly another tunnel.

The tunnel under the English channel would be a much bigger engineering proposition than tunneling the Hudson, but it is not surprising that such talk is revived in view of the traffic problems and the success that is obtained through such construction. It has not been the engineering problem that has balked those who have advocated the channel tunnel. Rather has it been the difficulty of getting an agreement by England and France for its construction. The relations of the two countries have not always been as friendly as they are today. Even now it might require unusual efforts in order to get an endorsement of such an undertaking, but whether it comes this year or not it is believed that it will be ultimately sanctioned and thereby the first great barrier to a tunnel between the two countries would be eliminated.

WORKING THROUGH COLLEGE

What the idea of working one's way through college has developed into is interestingly displayed in a survey which has been completed by the United States bureau of education. There are many institutions which maintain bureaus for the purpose of aiding those who are obliged or inclined to work their way through. This means the acceptance of all kinds of employment and the piling up of a large sum in the aggregate in the course of a year.

That the example has been inspiring to others is indicated from the fact that in 1928 institutions of higher learning in 1928, in which there were 876,000 students enrolled, the survey shows that about half of the men and a quarter of the women were working for the purpose of earning part of their way through college, while there were about a fifth of the men and a tenth of the women who were obtaining their whole tuition by working.

Many have been guided by the accomplishments of others and acted on the policy that if others could pay their way through they could do likewise. It is another demonstration of the fact that where there's a will there's a way. Such always involves much self sacrifice on the part of these working students, but it unquestionably means that they are attaching full valuation to the education they are receiving and there are reasons for believing that they will make the best possible use of it.

Even though it is only part time work that these students can engage in they are nevertheless able to roll up the sizeable amount of $83,000,000 a year for their efforts. Invariably the self help bureaus disclose that students are willing to do most anything for they show a long list of jobs and many employers who seek help through such an agency.

Working one's way through college is by no means a new idea. It has been done for many years but the number so involved has never been as large as it is now. This proves not only that there are those who are ready to do anything for an education and that the idea of helping one's self through personal endeavors is becoming more and more popular. It apparently makes a much stronger appeal than the old time practice of borrowing the money, to be paid back with interest when the money was earned following graduation.

SPEEDING THE MAIL.

According to schedule Colonel Lindbergh reached Belize, British Honduras, in the opening of the mail service between Miami and Panama which means the doing in two days by air what would require 13 days to cover by water. What this means to sections of Central and South America can be readily understood. It means communication second only to telegraph and it marks the beginning of a service which is certain to undergo steady development.

What the future holds in linking the two continents is indicated by the plans which are already being considered whereby the postoffice department is figuring on sending mail by air between air mail points in this country and Buenos Aires within the next six months. It is expected by the last of this month's bids will be asked for such service between Cristobal and Santiago de Chile from which city flights would be made over the Andes to the Argentine capital, such a service down the west coast of South America being an extension of the service which is now being opened between Miami and Cristobal by Colonel Lindbergh.

With the completion of such a mail line it would mean that points from Canada on the north to the lower end of South America would be served by air mail. Other lines in South America would be developed in time and in what is now being done we can see the gradual covering of the entire western hemisphere by air mail service. It is only what is to be expected but it is developing with a speed that is in keeping with the fast time made by the flying machines. Transportation is undergoing another and an important change, and it is a conspicuous part which Colonel Lindbergh is playing in connection with the particular part of it that is now being developed.

SETTLING REPARATIONS.

Much concern is going to be manifested in all the countries in the deliberations of the experts who are gathering in Europe for the purpose of determining what changes are to be made to the Dawes pact and what the amount is that Germany must ultimately pay in reparations for the adjustment of the war bill.

Deliberations are going to be carried on in the light of present day conditions. There will be considered the situation in Germany and its ability to pay. There will have to be considered the effect upon that and upon the other countries of trying to exact too large a sum and there will have to be figured out how Germany is going to meet its obligations.

The situation is different than during those days directly after the close of the war. There was the time when the sum that was going to be exacted from Germany couldn't be put high enough. It represented the sentiment that prevailed at the time. With the passing of time, attitudes have changed. There has been a recognition of the fact that there was a limit beyond which it could not be expected to get reparations from Germany. On the basis of ability to pay the Dawes agreement resulted and now it is desired to have fixed the total amount which is to be collected.

In the hands of experts this should resolve itself into a fairly reasonable undertaking, but the difficulty will be in getting the extremists to come to an agreement. Financial leaders from the several countries will wrestle with the problem and the expectation is that there will follow as satisfactory an agreement as that which is now in effect.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 — Floor Leader John Q. Tilson does not believe the proposed Byrnes amendment to the $24,000,000 Harris amendment to the deficiency bill, ostensibly for aid in prohibition enforcement, will win many votes over to the measure which went down to defeat in the house on Thursday. The Harris amendment called for the vast additional sum for prohibition enforcement and the Byrnes amendment is for the same purpose with the addition of narcotics to its scope.

The latter is regarded as merely a trind to get votes but it does not appear likely it will win any from New England, and probably but few from any part of the country.

The Connecticut delegation and the representatives for the other New England states have made known their intention of holding stoutly to the opposition which they have already expressed both by voice and by vote.

Congressman Tilson said today: I am strongly opposed to the proposed Byrnes amendment on the same ground I opposed the original Harris amendment. In my opinion both are very objectionable and I do not believe will be put through congress. On the other hand I am strongly in favor of the proposition, as made by President-elect Hoover, to appropriate $250,000 for a commission which will make a thorough investigation of prohibition enforcement as it now exists and find out what is lacking in making the law effective. To my mind it is wise to locate the fault; to see how each state and each organization cooperate, to see how the courts and the agents enforce the laws, and what may be hampering them. If I have the opportunity I shall vote for that appropriation but shall continue to work against any step that would make the Harris amendment or the Byrnes amendment possible. It would be an unwise drain on the treasury; it would be half baked legislation. What we need is thoughtful studied investigation of the situation, by a competent commission created for that purpose, and I trust the matter will be carried through precisely as Mr. Hoover has expressed the desire it should be.

Battleships and gingerbread hearts, cruisers and dolls, stand side by side as preventive measures against war between great nations, in the opinion of Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut. All are needed to keep the United States out of war, through adequate armed defense and the promotion of good will. And it should be thoroughly understood that Senator Bingham is a very level headed, thoroughly practical student of world conditions. He is not an idealist. Bingham, who stands six feet four inches, is recognized throughout the country as one of the staunchest patriots to be found in the nation; he is known as a fearless explorer into unknown lands; as an enthusiastic aviator, and an experienced flier; he is an influential member of the senate military affairs committee, and unquestionably agrees with Senator Reed of Missouri, that "the lowest type of animal life is a citizen who puts internationalism before the honor and safety of his own country and its people." Bingham has traveled the world over and spent much time in Japan and other countries across both oceans, so he bases his views on personal experience and knowledge.

Senator Bingham took a leading part in the passage of the Kellogg treaty, and was largely instrumental in having Borah, as chairman of the foreign relations committee add the interpretative statement.

He was principal speaker at the conference of the Society of Woman Patriots in Washington this week, and handled the question of pacifistism without gloves.

Senator Bingham does not want war, he is very proud of his seven stalwart sons, he is raising them to be true patriots, with love and peace and love of country jointly instilled in their hearts, but it must be peace with honor, and protection of the nation and its people to the last ditch.

Senator Bingham's stand for adequate army and navy is so well known by his attitude and speeches in the senate and elsewhere, that the specifically novel phase of his recent statement to this observer is that he is convinced that largely through the friendliness of the children of the countries of the world, will future wars be avoided. "We must not only prepare for defense", said the senator, "but we must work unremittingly to prevent any cause of our war from arising. Through the friendliness of the children of the great nations of the world much can be accomplished. Those children of today are the citizens of tomorrow. They can be brought together on a friendly basis through the exchange of toys, dolls and by following certain traditional customs of childhood as they exist in the various countries."

Senator Bingham then referred to the exchange of dolls between children of the far east and European countries, with the children of America, as has taken place for several years. He referred to the recent gift of "gingerbread hearts" through the junior order of the Red Cross, between the children of Jugo-Slavia to the children of this country, and other similar exchange gifts, as paving the way to a future understanding between citizens of the world, when these youngsters become citizens with nation power in their hands.

The international exchange of good will dolls, between the children of America and those of certain foreign countries is pretty well known, as it has taken place for several years, with considerable diplomatic attention and press publicity being given the matter. But the gingerbread heart is something new to most of us.

It seems that in Jugo-Slavia and certain other sections of Europe, there is a quaint custom something like our valentine day gifts and Easter cakes, only over there it takes the form of sugar frosted heart shaped cakes, made of gingerbread, which children and sweethearts exchange with great solemnity and sentiment on certain church feast days and holidays. They are emblems of good will and peace between individuals, and are of tremendous significance to them however fanciful or trivial they may seem to others. Now the children of that country have just sent huge hearts, through the Red Cross, to the children of America bearing the motto, "Love for love, heart to heart." In the opinion of Senator Bingham such childish tokens will go far to cement future good will between nations, and the gingerbread heart rises to a place of diplomatic importance in preserving peace. "Children do not forget their early impressions," said Mr. Bingham "and it is wise to have those impressions friendly."

Senator Bingham has spent much time in Japan, and told many instances of the little Japanese children vieing with each other for possession of an American good will doll!" One little Japanese girl walked 12 miles just to get one."

Senator Bingham feels that we should do much to wipe out the humiliation felt by adult Japanese over our immigration law on that nation. "Japan is very grateful for our help in time of flood and famine, but our restriction of immigration, is like a pebble in her shoe, which must constantly remind her that we do not regard her citizens as desirable. Such discrimination cannot be a step toward future peace and understanding between the nations. I hope to see the ban removed, and Japan allowed her quota as are other nations. At the most it would not go beyond 125 persons each year and I believe it would go far to promote friendliness between the nations. And I regard promotion of good will as one of the best ways to prevent the danger of future war between any two nations."

Senator Bingham feels that restriction of immigration from Mexico might undo all the good accomplished by Mr. Morrow, that South America good will tour of Mr. Hoover might suffer, if we give cause for offense to those countries. In fact Mr. Bingham stoutly maintains that future peace would be aided by observing three quite widely different methods, each of which is essential to secure peace with honor. The three combined methods are, adequate national defense to insure not only protection but respect from foreign nations; promotion of friendliness by good will visits and exchange of good will gifts among the children of different nationalities; by removing every day irritations and humiliations, though seemingly trivial, might grow some day, to proportions that lead to war.

So after all, the lowly gingerbread hearts, may be little acorns from which peace with honor may grow, even though at first it is a bit difficult to associate a gingerbread heart, either in sweet cake or in replica in red paper, with the six foot four inch, stalwart, cultured senator from Connecticut.

Early Detection of Measles Important Complications Cause Deaths

By Edward Sherrard Rimer, M. D., New York City

Measles is very infectious, so much so that practically all persons exposed will develop it if they are not immune, that is protected by a previous attack.

The infection is carried by the discharges from the nose and mouth, and is spread through the air by coughing and sneezing. These droplets of sputum carrying disease germs may be spread as far as twenty feet from the patient.

Like other eruptive diseases, it is most infectious in the early stage, or during invasion. At this time coryza, or discharging nose and eyes, and cough are very prominent symptoms. The disease is infectious so long as these catarrhal discharges persist, five or ten days. This period covers the time when the rash is present. It usually begins to fade on the fifth or sixth day. After this eruption disappears, the patient begins to desquamate, a bran-like peeling of the skin. This is never so marked as the desquamation of scarlet fever. Neither in measles nor in scarlet fever is there any evidence that this peeling skin carries infection.

The fever subsides after four or five days. If it continues, complications may be expected, especially bronchopneumonia or otitis media—inammation of the ears. Deaths from measles are due to the complications. The proportion of deaths to the number of cases depends on the age—the younger the patient the more danger; the time of year—epidemics in winter and spring are more serious; and the environment—overcrowding, bad hygienic conditions increase the death rate.

Measles sometimes has bad aftereffects. Hearing may be impaired, or vision rendered defective. Tuberculosis of the lungs not infrequently gets a start after a measles attack. A more common sequel is malnutrition. Children showing this condition require a long time to regain their weight and normal muscular tone after an attack.

A valuable aid in the early detection of measles is the thermometer. The doctor frequently is able to make the diagnosis two to three days before the eruption appears and to avoid further contacts. Every case of measles must be isolated early and kept in strict quarantine if we would prevent the epidemics.

There is little danger of carrying measles infection by a third person from one house to another if the hands are washed and the clothing changed. Fortunately, the organism does not withstand long exposure to sunlight and air.

Special care should be taken to disinfect discharges from the nose and mouth. Old linen or paper napkins for handkerchiefs, which can be placed in a paper bag and burned, are safest.

The child should not be kept too warm—certainly not wrapped up until he perspires at every pore. A room temperature of 68 to 70 degrees is the best. Circulation of air may be provided for through another room if necessary.

The eyes should be protected from exposure to very bright light, but there is no point in keeping the room dark, which usually means lack of proper ventilation.

Give baths warm and do not use soap or alcohol. Both irritate the skin in the early stages. During the high fever, warm baths are helpful in bringing down the fever and keeping the skin in good condition. Give the child plenty of water to drink, not ice water. The diet should be light and easily digestible. Milk is not much better for a child with high fever than beefsteak. Fruit juices, plain broths, junket, jello, and gruel are much easier to digest.

The treatment of measles is a specific serum has given encouraging results.

PIN PRICKS

Dot finished the last page of "Pin Pricks" and closed the book. There was one thing certain, Bob must read it. It touched so understandingly upon numerous petty injustices and injuries that the average human being is likely to inflict on the people with whom he comes in closest contact. Yes, Bob must read the book. It would be like looking into a mirror for him. But how should she approach the subject?

She could not say, "Bob, here is a book you need to read." He would resent such an attitude. She must get it to him subtly. She might put it on the living room stand and lay the deck of cards on top of it. That was the very thing! Often Bob stayed up and played solitaire. He would go for the cards, notice the book, pick it up out of curiosity, become immersed in its charms. She arranged the book and cards accordingly, went early to bed that night, but not to sleep.

She kept thinking, "I wonder if he has found it yet. Perhaps he is reading now. It might be, though, that he won't play cards tonight."

Her throat was dry. In her haste to get to bed she had forgotten to bring along her customary piece of hoarhound candy. Always she sucked one while undressing. She kept a console filled with hoarhound cubes on one end of the buffet. Why not slip down and get one? The trip would afford a double opportunity; she could end the tickling in her throat and find out what Bob was doing in the living room.

Already she was out of bed and on the stairs, tiptoeing carefully. Now she held her breath and peeped through the living room door. Bob was neither playing cards nor reading. He was sprawled in a big chair between the doorway and the stand, dozing. She felt a wave of disappointment.

She slipped back into the dining room to get the candy. Beside the buffet she stopped, bewildered, dazed. On its polished top beside the hoarhound candy lay "Pin Pricks!"

Here was mystery indeed. He had found it but had not read it. That was evident. But why on earth had he put it on the buffet? Well, whatever the reason, there was nothing for her to do but await developments. She selected a piece of candy and tiptoed back to bed. In the morning she found the book just as she had arranged it on the living room stand.

"He is being sly," she thought. "He read it but he does not want me to know." Satisfied with this conviction, she even conceived a reason why the book might have been on the buffet. He had perhaps gone out for some candy, laid the book down, returned to the living room, closed away, roused himself later on and finished the volume. She would watch closely for its effect upon him. She was stunned, therefore, at the breakfast table, when Bob wounded her by a very careless little habit that had been detailed at length in "Pin Pricks."

"Is he trying deliberately to hurt me?" thought Dot. "But, then, Bob would not do that, I am sure."

And so once more she was at sea. Toward the middle of the morning the affair took a definite turn. Bob telephoned her.

"I've got to leave town by noon on a two days' business trip. Can you pack my suitcase? I'll send Jimmy out after it." There was more talk. And then, "I'll need a couple of clean shirts, and stick in a book or something read, will you? And by the way, there is something here at the office that you may be interested in. I had it out home last night but didn't say anything about it. I'll send it along with Jimmy."

Dot took her chance and packed "Pin Pricks" between the shirts.

"Oh, good morning, Jimmy. Yes, I have Mr. Perkins' suitcase all ready for you. And is this the package he sent me? Why, it looks like a book." When Jimmy had gone, she tore away the wrapping paper from her bundle and came to a copy of "Pin Pricks!"

"Now what on earth did Bob mean by this?" she gasped vaguely. "Just what on earth could he mean by doing such a thing?"—Chicago News.

Burgess Bedtime Story

ROUGHLEG THE HAWK GROWS HUNGRY

Hunger never lets you quit:
It spurs you on and sharpens wit.
—Old Mother Nature.

Roughleg the Hawk had come down to the Green Meadows just at the beginning of winter. His summer home was far north. Roughleg was in the habit of coming every year. He always thought of the Green Meadows, down back of Farmer Brown's, as his winter home. Usually he fared very well down there. It was seldom that he could not find mice enough to keep him in good condition and very comfortable.

But this winter there had been one storm after another, and the snow lay deep over the Green Meadows. They were very beautiful to look at, were the Green Meadows, now that they were all pure white. That is, they would have been very beautiful for you or for me to look at, but Roughleg the Hawk could see no beauty in them. No, sir, he could see no beauty in that snow.

"It's no use," said he at last

"Just as if it isn't hard enough to catch mice anyway," grumbled Roughleg, as he sat in the top of a tall tree in the middle of the Green Meadows, where he could look in all directions. "Now comes all this snow and buries everything. How can I catch mice when I can't see them? When there was no snow I could sometimes see them in the grass, and sometimes I could see the grass move and that would tell me just where they were. But now they can run about underneath this snow and I don't know anything about them. Why, Danny Meadow Mouse could live for a week right underneath me here and I wouldn't know anything about it. I'm so hungry now that it seems as if I am starved. Peter Rabbit is sticking to his dear Old Briar-patch and there isn't a chance in the world for me to get him there. My, I would like a rabbit. It will take some one as big as a Rabbit to fill me up. I don't believe I ever was quite so empty. I believe I'd fly over to along the edge of the Green Forest. If I sit here much longer I'm afraid I'll grow to be a part of this tree. Watchful waiting is all right, but there is such a thing as too much waiting. When things do not come to you, try going after them. That is what I call good, sound sense."

With this, Roughleg took to his big wings and flew over along the edge of the Green Forest. His sharp eyes were busy every second. He hoped he might see a Wood Mouse. He even hoped that he might see a Squirrel. He didn't forget that Jumper the Hare sometimes came to the edge of the Green Forest. He even flew over the Green Forest, looking down through the branches of the trees, hoping and hoping to see something he could eat.

"It's no use," said he at last. "It looks to me as if I shall have to go farther south. I don't want to. No, sir, I don't want to, but I cannot starve to death and that is what I shall do if I stay here without getting something to eat pretty soon. Ha! What is that little spot over there on the Meadows? As I live, it is a Mouse! He has come up on top of the snow to get some of the weed seeds."

It was so. It was Danny Meadow Mouse. The tops of some of the weeds stood out above the snow and these weed tops were full of seeds. All Danny had to do was to sit up on the snow and help himself. It is because he can do this that Danny always likes plenty of snow. He is safe underneath it and at the same time it enables him to get a good living more easily.

Roughleg, like all members of the Hawk family, has wonderful eyes. It was a long distance from where he was to where Danny was sitting, but he saw and recognized Danny. He could see that Danny was sitting back to him. Roughleg flew higher and higher. Then, when he thought he was high enough, he moved toward Danny Meadow Mouse. He had very little hope of success, but Danny was the first Mouse he had seen that day and he intended to try for him anyway. But he was only half way when Danny suddenly dived down into a little hole in the snow and disappeared.

"Just my luck!" murmured Roughleg, and kept on to his perch in the lone tree.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—Memories came crowding for the Bystander when press wires flashed word that Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama was dead.

It seemed that four-year echoes from old Madison Square Garden had scarcely ceased to fret the ear, among them that unforgettable and unwearying huge voice of Governor Brandon booming out its message that "Alabama casts 24 votes for UN-N-N-N-der-wo-o-o-o-o-d" for the democratic presidential nomination in '24.

First For Radio

That was the first national political convention in which radio played a vital part. The Coolidge nomination at Cleveland was too much a foregone conclusion to have aroused radio fan interest as did the democratic party warfare at New York.

And what a convention that was! Certainly none who was there or "listened in" ever could forget the name of Underwood, whether they had ever heard it before or not.

Brandon's lead-off on each on the endless series of ballots with Alabama's solid support of her favorite son fixed that name in memory forever, quite aside from the size to which the figure of Underwood had bulked so long in party politics and national affairs.

It was the good fortune of the Bystander to "cover" Underwood headquarters at New York during that convention. Thus he was present when the Alabaman came first to his rooms in the Waldorf a day or two before the convention opened.

Underwood personally handed to the press the plank he would propose for the party platform, the anti Ku Klux Klan plank. That was the torch that ignited the inflammable stuff of which that convention was made.

Fires of Emotion

It was a blazing political inferno of contending factions, of tense drawn emotions, of aroused and deep seated prejudices before the first gavel fell to call it to order.

And it was Oscar Underwood, calmly, deliberately, with every sign that his long political experience had taught him exactly what to expect, who touched off the pyre.

Why did he do it? Did he hope to clear his own road to the nomination thereby, to eclipse Al Smith as leader of the anti-McAdoo forces? Or was it, perhaps, the initial move of that seeming alliance of other candidates which appeared from the first to be locked against McAdoo?

If Underwood ever set down for himself the thoughts and purposes that impelled him to action, the Bystander does not know of it. Yet the four-year aftermath of the battle of New York was to find him a retired party veteran, out of the political picture altogether. He was already of the past.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Norwich In Other Days.

Mr. Editor: Here are some more remembrances:

Near the second West Side bridge, Sam Walls, a quaint old gentleman, conducted a fish market. He had had numerous customers in Thamesville. His son, Hardin, carried on the business a while. Across the street now known as Thames square were the grocery stores of Alvah Francis and Mr. Newton. At that time there were very few, if any small stores along Thames street. Near the foot of High street and Richmond Slove works a small confectionery store was conducted by an individual known as Cooper Clark. He was a stout gentleman and required all sweet cider purchased by him to be strained through flannel. We have sold sweet cider under these stipulations.

Further on was the Martin Bent house. A friend of our family occupied it a season. In a house near the Captain Geer place lived a Mr. Fisher. He was a fine decorative painter and his specialty was fine scrolling and decorative designs. We have a small box decorated by him. It was made for an old-fashioned sewing machine. These machines were operated by turning a small wheel with the right hand. Those machines were among the very earliest made for sewing and in operation were fastened to a table.

The box spoken of above with machine in it could be carried anywhere. A short distance below the Captain Geer place were the Collins brothers, William and Charles. My father purchased a fine violin of William. It was used a number of years in my business of playing and prompting old-time dances. On the same side of the street as the Collins Bros., was the residence of Capt. William Ward, master of some steamers plying between Norwich and New York. I well remember seeing the captain walking home after his boat arrived in Norwich. There were no trolleys through Thamesville then. Speaking of river craft, the schooners Uncas and Telegraph plied between Norwich and the West Indies. When the Uncas was at the upper rolling mill wharf it was great pleasure for a few of us boys that knew the "ropes," to clamber up the outside rigging to the crosstrees and higher up, no dizzy heads then. We would also scramble out to the extreme end of the long bow-sprit, high above water. We knew the jib, flying jib, jib-stays and other sails and rigging, but we never learned to "box the compass."

The propellors, Shetucket and Delaware, would dock at the upper rolling mill and take on consignments of long iron rods.

This was known as Mitchell's iron works. It was interesting here to watch the "puddlers" manipulate and form the huge masses of molten metal in the white hot furnaces, then transport it to the large rollers, and see it transformed by different sized rollers to long iron rods, cooled, then bound with wire ready for shipment.

On a huge dredge anchored in the river a clarinettist would play the popular airs of the day.

A familiar figure, well and favorably known in the village, was James Turner, the gigantic and stalwart colored gentleman driver of the mule-team. He was possessed of great strength and could dance "as light as a feather." When weather conditions were favorable, schooners came up the river under full sail. I remember the steamer Utility and a number of smaller craft more especially the Ziggs. I was among the few passengers when she made her trial trip down the river and back.

In the brick house, corner of West Thames and Shipping street, lived Stephen Sylvester, a ship carpenter, and Alexander Proctor, a boss machinist, who built a number of ship engines for vessels constructed in the Huntington ship yard.

In the lower village of Thamesville some of the inhabitants possessed a number of goats which roamed through lawns, gardens and orchards. The various land owners were not over-pleased with their depredations and in some instances used a rifle. I remember one day of seeing a few stretched out "hors-de-combat."

Up in hill a distance towards Montville, Mrs. Lucretia Hubbell resided, and on some occasions had as her guest Dr. Mary Walker. The doctor was a demure looking lady with high silk hat and silk clothed in male attire. She was a fine lecturer and sometimes appeared in Breed hall. It was a gala day when Mrs. Hubbell had the doctor as a visitor, and in honor of her distinguished guest a large banner would be suspended over and across the street.

Residing in Thamesville at one time was the Elder De Witt Clinton Sterry, an orator and platform speaker, who was well versed in the scriptures, and could eloquently discuss the topics of those days, in fact he was a fluent speaker on most any worthwhile subject.

On the river, Captain Comstock would transport passengers in his large sail boat to Brewsters Neck, when the soldiers were in camp on the plains. A favorite pastime with the soldiers was to throw a companion on a large strong blanket and toss him up. When this unlucky individual landed it was invariably upon his head and shoulders. Rough sport, but everything "went" in those days. On the river Mr. Comstock sometimes had adverse head-winds to contend with. On the reaches, the boat would plow along on its beam ends throwing spray quite a distance. When the boat's rail went under water, the more timid passengers were thoroughly frightened, but the captain understood his business and no accidents happened.

The Mount Pleasant section of today was called "Hardscrabble, or Hardig," by the Thamesville residents of those times, and the braying of a few donkeys owned by the natives would reverberate far on the stilly nights. Just before Thanksgiving, our crowd, known as the rolling mill "gang," would rather barrels by "hook or crook," secure them in cellars and other suitable places. Barrels were more plentiful and cheaper then. We cut our poles in the woods near "Hardscrabble" and in some way transported them to the land now known as Thames View. Some seasons we had four long poles strung with barrels, boxes, old baskets and crates, most any "old thing" that would burn.

These were the halcyon days. Now we sing for "Backward, turn backward,
O, time in your flight,
Then boys we could be,
For just tonight."

Country Roads.

Mr. Editor: Your editorial article of Friday, Feb. 1st, entitled "The Country Roads" should fill a mail bag full of letters of thanks from the residents of sections reached by country roads and as one of them I hereby express my thanks.

It is the common opinion in the rural sections that the bosses from the cities run the state affairs as they see fit so it must be from our friends in the cities that we in the country must look to for help through state government offices. Such editorials as yours, no doubt, will attract more attention of the powers that be than a puny little squawk from some town with just a few hundred voters and no industrial plants.

To me it seems little help towards improving country roads can be expected from the present highway commissioner. His attitude seems to be that the country residents should continue to pay their auto and gas taxes for main line highways and landscaping the same as the city residents, irrespective of the benefits the cities get that the country towns don't get, and rambles about consolidation as the best way for towns to improve their roads. Put in a man whose object would be to give everyone what they pay for and every public road outside city limits to work on and the country roads would soon be a pleasure for everyone to drive on.

MERCHANTS FAVOR CLOSING STORES ON GOOD FRIDAY

Response from the merchants of the city on the question of closing the stores on Good Friday indicates that the majority of them are in favor of the idea, according to a report made at a meeting of the executive committee of the Merchant's bureau held Monday morning in the Norwich chamber of commerce rooms, with President C. E. Fitch presiding.

The report submitted to the committee on the result of the referendum ballot on the question showed that out of the 160 merchants who received the ballot only 57 answers were received by the committee. Thirty-six merchants were in favor of closing and 21 were against. It was voted to leave the matter open for a few days to allow the other merchants time to vote if they desired.

Glenn Merithew, Charles Jacobson, John E. Caron and J. Fred Fleming were appointed a committee for the February dollar day and there was a discussion of plans for the spring opening in March. A committee comprising John B. Caron chairman, Jacob Bloch, John Savard and J. Fred Flemming, was appointed to have charge of this event.

Thawing snow which later froze has left a peculiar ice formation which glitters on the vines on the side piazza of the Second church parsonage, home of Rev. and Mrs. Alexander H. Abbott, on the Little Plain.

NEW LONDON COUNTY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY VOTES TO RE-ORGANIZE

At a special meeting Monday evening in the city court room, the life members of the New London County Agricultural society voted to reorganize. The society has met financial reverses for several years and a reorganization is deemed necessary in order to place the society on a paying basis. The meeting, Monday evening acted favorably on a recommendation submitted by the executive board that the society reorganize and that, if possible, the charter be amended, to allow the reorganization to be effected through a stock issue. Joseph C. Worth, president of the society, presided at the meeting which had an attendance of about 75. Secretary John J. O'Rourke read the call.

President Worth submitted a recommendation from the executive board to the effect: That a complete reorganization be accomplished and that, if possible, the charter of the society be amended so that the society may become incorporated and a stock issue of a sufficient amount be raised to pay off the entire indebtedness and leave a sufficient sum to carry on the fair this year.

The president called attention to the fact that funds are absolutely essential to pay the remaining expenses of last year's fair. The president also reminded those present that in the event of a stock company being formed, all life membership privileges would cease. The only other alternative was probable attachment placed on the property, receivership instituted and a sale ordered to meet obligations of the society.

It was suggested that a campaign to raise sufficient funds to meet the expenses and carry on the work of the society might be instituted. This idea the executive committee had considered but it is not felt to be practical.

The meeting voted to accept the recommendation of the executive board and to go ahead with the plan as outlined for amending the charter and consider the possibilities of a stock issue under a complete reorganization. This plan will be worked out as soon as possible and another meeting of the life members of the society to act on the plan as submitted by the executive board will be called later.

NOON MEETING AT RADIATOR COMPANY

Y. M. C. A. representatives conducted another meeting at the plant of the Richmond Radiator company at the noon hour Monday.

The speaker was again Rev. C. H. Ricketts and the topic was "Burdens". Mr. Ricketts spoke in part as follows: "The word burden, means 'A load', a weight. We must all expect to carry our burdens and lift our weights. Unless we have the strength both physical and spiritual we cannot carry our load. The subject touches one of the biggest problems of life, that is, labor.

"The matter of burdens touches all people; none is exempt. While the narrative in the Bible tells us that Adam was cast out of the garden because he sinned, and that he was sentenced to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow, yet it would have been necessary to labor if there had been no sin. Many must plow and sow and reap or he couldn't exist; it is ordained that man shall work and it is well that it is so. "Every man must bear his own burden," for there are certain burdens that no one can bear for us. A father had a loved daughter who was a great sufferer, and he would gladly have, with his great strength, born her burden, but he could not do so; she had to bear her own burden. A women saw a terrible law in the street and she was summoned to court as a witness. She hated to go, and her husband would have gladly gone for her, but he simply could not do it.

No one person can learn for another; one must learn for himself. The American college is one of the most democratic institutions in the world; no matter whether a boy is rich or poor he has an equal chance; but he must learn for himself. We are also urged to "bear one another's burden, we cultivate the community spirit. Two persons got off the same train some years ago, before the days of the taxi; one was an old woman with a heavy bundle, the other a strong young man. The latter ran quickly to the aged woman and said, "Let me carry your bundle;" I tell you that lad did a big thing, and if many more had the same spirit the world would be better. There are too many who are always looking out for number one.

The spirit of sharing other's burdens is beautifully exemplified in the home life, when each member of the family gladly serves the other; you have heaven on earth when this condition exists. No one serves another but that it comes back to him as a blessing, and the selfish man also gets paid in the same coin that he uses with others. Then, finally, we are admonished to "Cast our burdens upon the Lord." The Swiss guides in mountain climbing are very sure and safe in their guilding and helping people to climb their mountains.

On one occasion when one was leading a very perilious trip up the mountain, he came to a very difficult and dangerous place where a misstep meant certain death. The guide went ahead and reached down his hand to the climber and said, "Take this hand, it has never lost a life," and so in life with all of its burdens. I like to believe that the great God with a loving heart, reaches down his hand as it were, and says to us, "Take my hand, it has never lost a life." "Take hold of my hand and you cannot fail."

STATE PRISON PROBLEM OF PRESSING NEED

In their biennial report to Gov. Trumbull, the trustees of the state prison complain that the entire present procedure of dealing with the problem of crime "from detention, arrest, trial, conviction and sentence is most unsatisfactory."

Pointing out that the prison population is larger than has been the case in years, with the prospect of further increase, the board submits the problem as one opening "a wide field for speculation and research study." The suggestion is made that the situation offers an opportunity for study by the general assembly and the judges, or by a special commission.

"If a deterrent is to be found," the report says, "we suspect that it will involve a profound revaluation of court procedure in the administration of justice, quick arrests and speedy trials rather than sentences predicated upon severity, the use of psychiatry, psychology and sociology. * * * The suggestion that has been made that the imposition of sentences, after conviction, be referred either for determination or counsel, to a scientifically created board, would appear upon reflection to have considerable merit."

Speaking of the statistics on the age of the prisoners, showing far more than half of the prison population is composed of persons between 21 and 40 years old, and that more than 44 per cent. of the prisoners are between 21 and 30 years old, the report says: "We appear to have entered upon a new criminal era and have, in consequence, a new criminal to deal with. The old professionals have either quit the game or have found a more lucrative and safer employment for their talents. The statistics, as a whole, surely offer opportunities for serious reflection to those who make the laws and those who enforce them."

The directors renew their recommendations that life prisoners be eligible for parole after 25 years, and that the women prisoners be transferred to the state farm for women or provided for a separate building. The board also condemns the Hawes-Cooper bill on prison made goods, saying, "never before in the history of the country has such a blow at a fundamental principle of our free republic been suggested, much less dreamed of."

One thousand dollars is sought for the monument repairs; a similar sum for the protection of the Ledyard headstone, and $2,000 is asked for the Fort street repairs.

The military affairs committee has also assigned the bill asking on appropriation for the purchase of the Fred Stone ranch property at East Lyme, for hearing Feb. 12. Schriver of Groton calling for the reappointment of C. C. Costello as judge and Charles F. Willard as deputy judge of the Groton town court.

No contests are expected over the appointment of any of the officials and it is expected, therefore, that the hearings will be brief affairs and that the resolutions will be favorably reported by the committee in the course of a few days. The hearings on the judgeship resolutions will be held in the old senate chamber at the state capitol at 1.30 p. m.

The military affairs committee will also hold a hearing on a bill introduced by Representative Russell H. Corcoran, calling for the establishment of a state school for police officers. This measure was drawn by Sergeant William T. Babcock of the New London police department, and under its provisions the following persons would be eligible to attend the school: Members of the state police department, members of any organized police department within the state; any duly elected sheriff, deputy sheriff or constable, and any resident of the state who may be able to present a satisfactory reason for requesting the instruction. The bill would direct the state police commissioner to establish and maintain the school and the location of the institution, as well as the method of instruction, subjects to be studied, and the maintenance of discipline would be left to this official. The bill asks for an annual appropriation of $26,000 for the maintenance of the school.

What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it, it may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

SCHMELLING SIGNS 2-YEAR CONTRACT TO FIGHT FOR GARDEN CORPORATION

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—(AP)—The fistic future of Max Schmelling, one of the brightest heavyweight prospects of a decade, was placed squarely in the hands of the Madison Square Garden corporation today.

Col. John S. Hamond, head of the Garden since the death of Tex Rickard, backed the German youngster who knocked out Johnny Risko last Friday night into a corner and came out of the clinch with Schmelling's signature on a contract giving the Garden exclusive rights to the fighter's services for two years. If Schmelling wins the heavyweight championship in that time, he promised to defend the title for Hammond.

Under terms of the contract, which included financial guarantees that were not revealed, Schmelling will box only in either the New York or Boston Gardens or in outdoor shows promoted by the corporation in other cities. The Teutonic reproduction in looks and action of Jack Dempsey may fight for other promoters, but only with the consent of the Garden.

With the signing of the contract, Schmelling prepared to sail for Germany February 15 for a vaudeville tour. While in his homeland, Max plans to lift the mortgage on the family homestead with the $14,000 he received for besting Risko in nine rounds. He will return to America in April for a series of outdoor shows which Hammond believes will lead to a title match with Jack Dempsey.

Schmelling agreed to terms after Hammond obtained a release from a contract the German signed for a match in the Boston Garden against Con O'Kelly, Irish heavyweight, February 15. Schmelling will fill the Boston date upon his return from Germany.

The Garden's agreement with Schmelling is the first of its kind in the history of boxing. During the latter years of his career Jack Dempsey fought exclusively for Tex Rickard but there was no signed contract to that effect. Hammond's negotiations were made easier by his friendship with the youthful German who gained his first match in the Garden through the colonel's influence. Since then Max has knocked out three of the four fighters he faced.

STRIBLING NOT TO FLY PLANE BEFORE FIGHT

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 4—(AP)—A marked variance of opinion was shown tonight among those directly and indirectly affected by Jack Dempsey's announcement today that he had instructed attorneys to file injunction proceedings to keep "Young" Stribling from piloting his plane, or flying in other planes, prior to the Macon boxer's fight with Jack Sharkey here on Feb. 27.

The air-minded heavyweight contender contented himself with the assertion that he had "nothing to say yet."

Others were not so non-committal. "Pa" Stribling expressed the opinion that it was "too bad" because such a move would place a ban on "the best relaxation the kid can get."

"Ma" Stribling, on the other hand, favored the idea unreservedly, declaring no court injunction would be necessary to keep her son out of the air so far as she was concerned.

Both Stribling and Sharkey continued to take the matter of serious training in the light of something to be done in the future, though the southerner did put in two and a half miles of road work.

BRAVES APPLICATION IS AGAIN PUT ON TABLE

BOSTON, Feb. 4—(AP)—The city council today once again expressed indignation by votes and words at charges of attempted extortion in connection with its ratification of the Sunday sports bill, levelled against 13 of its members.

Councilman William G. Lynch who was accused of asking for the bribes, obtained a plurality of the votes for president of the council, and the application of the Boston Braves for a Sunday baseball permit was tabled.

Ten votes, the highest number so far given any candidate, were cast for Councilman Lynch in today's voting. Lynch required only three more votes to be elected. John I. Fitzgerald, called the administration candidate, ran second on the last ballot today with seven votes, and the rest were scattered.

WRESTLING TO BE MINOR SPORT AT STORRS

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Feb. 4—Another step in the expansion of the athletic department at the Connecticut Agricultural college has been realized in the adoption of measures to insert wrestling into the activities of the institution.

Last fall the Athletic department reached out into minor sports, adopting soccer, cross country, and ice hockey. This new branch of indoor sports is primarily for the purpose of training and conditioning aspirants for the football team, and to give them an all year round method of keeping in shape for the next fall.

Each Monday evening at seven-thirty o'clock until further notice Neal Quimby, of Springfield college, New England intercollegiate champion in the 135 pound class will be at Storrs to give exhibitions and lessons in the art. Quimby is a man well qualified for the job having gone undefeated in his class for two years, and never being thrown. He lost a match in the Olympic tryouts to the only American to win his match in Amsterdam.

The course will not only be open to football men, but also to any other student at the institution who is interested in the game.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4—(AP)—Two travelers of the muchly disputed heavyweight path—Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia, who has put aside his light-heavyweight crown while he takes a whirl at higher honors, and Armand Emanuel, the youthful boxing barrister of San Francisco—will battle here tomorrow night. Ten rounds will be the distance over which the more experienced Loughran for the second time will meet the hopeful Emanuel. Loughran won the decision over Emanuel in New York last June. They fought as light-heavyweights then; tomorrow they will enter the ring as full-fledged heavies.

SPRINGFIELD RATIFIES THE SUNDAY SPORTS LAW

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 4—(AP)—The Sunday sports law was ratified by a 12 to 4 vote of the local city council tonight. The law has been the subject of a bitter local controversy for several weeks following the common council's refusal to sanction it.

The suggestion was made that a maximum admission fee be stipulated so that the promoters of professional sports would not reap exorbitant profits from the Sunday exhibitions, but it was finally decided to defer consideration of this feature until specific petitions for licenses are presented.

SONNENBERG THROWS CANTONWINE IN 37 MIN.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—(AP)—Making his first appearance in New York, "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, recently crowned heavyweight wrestling champion of the world, threw Howard Cantonwine in 37 minutes, 53 seconds of their bout at Madison Square Garden tonight. About 3,500 persons witnessed the match.

The former Dartmouth football star used his famous flying tackle to gain the opening for the fall. He drove hard at Cantonwine's stomach and after weakening his opponent by repeated butting he applied a headlock and scissors hold to complete the work.

BRUNDAGE WILL REFEREE THE MILLROSE A. A. GAMES

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—(AP)—Avery Brundage, of Chicago, president of the Amateur Athletic union, will referee the Millrose A. A. track and field games at Madison Square Garden, Saturday night. Mr. Brundage came to New York today for the first time since his election last November and will be here until after the meet.

With arrival of the president, Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer, left for Albany, to take an active part in the fight against the Schwartz bill which would take amateur boxing in the state out of the hands of the A. A. U., and place it under control of the state athletic commission.

NATIONAL LEAGUE HOCKEY RULES TO BE UNCHANGED

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—(AP)—The rules of hockey as applied to the National league will remain unchanged this season the directors of the circuit decided at their annual meeting today. Nearly everyone of the numerous suggestions for changes to bring about more scoring and fewer tie games were brought up for discussion and rejected.

The question of how to increase scoring was passed on to the board of governors, who will take it up at their meeting in May. Any changes decided on then probably will go into effect next season.

The New York Rangers, world's champions and league leaders, who have had very little trouble with the luck of goals this year, put forth two of the favored proposals, to allow forward passes in the attacking zone and to permit kicking the puck inside the blue line as well as back of it. The only offside left would be when the attacker kicked the rubber into the net.

A more radical suggestion made by Les Patrick was to add a penalty shot from 35 feet away from the goal to the regular penalty when a foul is committed by the defending side to save a certain goal, another would force wingmen to start their backchecking in center ice instead of retiring to their own defense zone as soon as the opposing team gets the puck by providing a penalty if they stand nearer their own goal than the center until the puck has passed that point.

Connie Smyth, Toronto manager, seconded the suggestions concerning offside play in the goal zone and added one that the goal be widened six inches. An increase in the size of the net, he believes, would greatly reduce the efficiency of the goal tenders.

Plans for the playoff series for the Stanley cup, emblem of the world's championship, occupied the attention of the solons for the greater part of the sessions. The plan decided on at the end of last season whereby each of the preliminary series are between the two groups rather than in them, was confirmed and further provisions were made in case of a tie for first, second or third place in either division. The greatest number of victories, and hence the fewest ties, will decide all such deadlocks. In case these are the same the percentage of goals for and against each team will be the deciding factor.

The leaders in each division are to open the firing with a best three out of five series to determine the league champion. In case the two New York teams finish at the top, this series will begin Sunday March 17. Otherwise dates will be set at the next meeting, March 4.

The second and third place teams of each division will play a home and home series, total goals to count, and the victors are scheduled for two out of three games with the survivor of the eliminations to play the league champion, a similar series for the historic trophy.

Waivers were asked on four players, all of them now playing with minor league teams on loans from the major organizations. They are Eddie Rodden and Red Green, Boston wingmen, Gaudreault, sub center of Les Canadiens, and Pimeau of Toronto. The clubs were given 48 hours to decide whether they would pass from the big league.

U. S. AND CANADIAN TEAMS DRAWN FOR DAVIS CUP PLAY

PARIS, Feb. 4—(AP)—With representatives of the diplomatic missions of the 29 nations entered in the 1929 Davis cup tennis competition present, the draw was held today. Ambassador Herrick was among the diplomats in the Beautiful Louis XV ball room of the ministry of public instruction when the names of the countries were drawn.

The United States vs. Canada was the first result of the drawing and these teams will meet in the first round of the American zone. Japan drew a bye in the first round and if the United States wins from Canada Japan will be the next opponent. The victor in this contest will oppose the winner of a match between Cuba and Mexico.

Twenty-four nations elected to try their luck in the European zone. The entry of Chile was accepted although it was 48 hours late.

It was ruled today that the second round should be concluded before May 8. This decision will present a problem for tennis authorities in the United States and Canada. The first round between the United States and its dominion neighbor probably can not be played in April in Canada. Last year the United States and Mexico met in the first round this arrangement presenting a very simple problem. The Davis cup candidates practiced at Augusta, Ga., in March and were able to go to Mexico to dispose of the first round early in April.

Italy, Germany, Czechslovakia and Spain are the favorites in the European zone while close observers of tennis here believe the United States is certain to win the American zone. With certain to win the American zone, with or without the services of Bill Tilden.

Only one of the four favored European zone teams will play in the first round. Czechoslovakia meets Austria in the opener. Germany and Spain are scheduled to clash in one of the second round ties, while Italy has drawn a comparatively soft opponent in Ireland. The South American entry, Chile, will play Denmark in a first round match.

The complete European zone draw:

First round—Austria vs. Czechoslovakia; Chile vs. Jugoslavia; Norway vs. Hungary; Monaco vs. Switzerland; Finland vs. Egypt; Holland vs. Portugal.

Second round—Germany vs. Spain; Ireland vs. Italy; Sweden vs. South Africa; Great Britain vs. Poland.

The draw is arranged in that order with the winners of the first round ties following those who drew byes in the second round brackets.

HAKOAH TEAM OF NEW YORK WILL OPPOSE PLAINFIELD WEDNESDAY NIGHT

(Special to The Bulletin)

PLAINFIELD, Feb. 4—Manager Salisbury of the Plainfield Pros has one of basketball's greatest attractions, the Hakoah club of New York, member of the American Basketball league, featuring Nat Holman and Dave Banks, world's most renowned Jewish athletes, coming to the Plainfield Community house Wednesday night. Nat Holman, without doubt one of the greatest if not the greatest player of the game, formerly captain of the world's champion Celtics and now captain of the Hakoah, is the main cog in this team. All the plays are built around him and his passing is always of the spectacular nature. Holman, it is rumored, receives $15,000 a year which makes him about the highest paid basketball player in the game.

Davey Banks the other great Jewish athlete who is advertised to receive $8,000 a year also gives the spectators their money's worth with his wonderful shooting and floor work, teaming up with Nat Holman to perfection. To prove to the public that the attraction that Manager Salisbury has booked for the opposition Wednesday evening is one in great demand is the fact that the Hakoahs are to play four games in one day, their schedule being as follows: At 3 p. m. the Hakoahs play at Passaic, N. J., at 5.15 p. m. at Union City, N. J., at 9 they play at Masteth, L. I., and at 11 p. m they play the Renaissance in the city series.

The Pros will have the same lineup that worked to perfection last week with Tisdale and Kasper forwards, Pop Williams center, Dissinger and Whitey Bernot guards, Dave Harper the popular New York official will again referee the game which will be called at 8.45 o'clock.

In the preliminary the Stonington Ironmen will try to break the winning streak of the Buddies. This game starts promptly at 7.45 with Bill Alexander officiating. Dancing will follow the game.

MEHLHORN ADDS ANOTHER TITLE TO HIS RECORD

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 4—(AP)—Wild William Mehlhorn, bedazzler of the golf world the past fornight, added new lustre to his record today by winning the south central open, his third successive major winter tournament.

After tying Bobby Cruickshank, veteran Scot, and Horton Smith, young Joplin, Mo., professional, with a 2 hole card of 290 yesterday, Mehlhorn came back to repulse them at every turn today in an 18 hole play off for the title. With 36-34—70, two below par, he was the two strokes ahead of Smith and si better off than Cruickshank.

Since the first of the year, Mehlhorn's achievements include a record 271 for competitive gold to win the El Paso open, a 271 accord card for the eight year old Texas open at San Antonio and a 290 here with a par slashing round in the play off.

His work today was as near perfect as was ever witnessed in the five year old south central tournament with a putting touch in a class to himself and his iron and wood shots near perfect.

Cruickshank broke in the outgoing nine. Playing even through the sixth, he took a four, one over regular on the short seventh when his putting went awry. At No. 9 he was again one over when he had a sliced tee shot and a hard approach. From then out he never was really a serious threat to overtake Mehlhorn, while Smith's chances faded after the 12th hole episode.

Some 2,000 persons formed the gallery.

While the slender Missourian brought home a card good enough usually to take first place, he faked the all around perfection of Mehlhorn and, but for a couple of Wild Bill's putts near the finish that fell short by a couple of inches on each occasion he would have been even farther away.

Smith's failure came in putting, many of his cup attempts carrying well past the mark. Twice he had putts for a couple of feet to sink and the ball rimmed the cup.

Cruickshank was even less favored getting a number of bad slices and hooks from the tees, two poor approaches and any number of short or over long putts.

With the exception of the shot putts on the last three greens, Mehlhorn did not miss a green stroke all afternoon.

From a galler standpoint, however, the biggest kick of the day came on the dog leg 12th, some 480 yards from tee to cup with a full bend. Mehlhorn was at the leg with his tee shot and then on his second, an iron attempt, he dubbed it and was in the middle of sand trap only 75 yards away. He came out of the trap with an "explosion," however, and ran only a few feet from the pin and down in a hard bar four.

Mehlhorn by his victory gained $1,000 first prize money, Smith gets $800 and Cruickshank $500. Other purses were distributed last night.

BASEBALL PRESIDENTS TO ADOPT SCHEDULE TODAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—(AP)—Presidents of baseball clubs of the National league will meet in New York tomorrow, to adopt the 1929 schedule and transact any other business that may come before the meeting.

The schedule adoption will be only a formality but the gathering of presidents and managers may produce some other baseball news. There will be plenty of chances for meeting of minds on the subject of trading although no exchange of talent seems probable.

President John A. Heydler may bring up the question of a ten-man team, received with som enthusiasm at the December meeting of the league, although he had not announced discussion of his proposed innovation as a part of the program.

The league president would have pitchers relieved of batting responsibilities on the motion of their managers. The suggestion found scant favor in the American league camp, but it may be tried by some National league clubs in spring exhibition games.

The schedule to be adopted, but not announced for ten days, will call for Sunday games to be played in Boston for the first time.

MILL KILLILEA TA TRY TO ATTRACT WOMEN TO BASEBAL

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 4—(AP)—Miss Florence Killilea, who will take over the presidency of the Milwaukee club of the American Association at the forthcoming stockholders' meeting, will dedicate her efforts to interesting more women in baseball.

Plans of the 26-year-old daughter and help of Henry J. Killilea, owner of the club, who died recently, were contained in a statement issued today following a conference with her attorneys.

"I believe that women should take more interest in baseball than they do," she said. "It isn't a man's game. It's a game. The thing is to interest women in it, to get them attending the games and understand it and be thrilled by it. I'd like to have two ladies' days each week during the season. Now we have but one. I intend looking up the league's ruling on the matter and, if possible I will have two ladies' days.

"I don't know just when the stockholders' meeting will be held, but it will be some time soon and I will accept the presidency. Maybe I'll fail, but I want to take a whack at running the club, and I'm going after a pennant, too."

NUNAMAKER TAKES LEAD IN HORSESHOE PITCHING

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 4—(AP)—The crown of C. C. Davis, Columbus, O., world's champion horse shoe pitcher, was shaky here today in the opening round of the annual mid-winter tournament.

The champion engaged in three games and emerged winner in but one while Blair Nunamaker, Cleveland, O., Fert Duryee, Wichita, Kan., and Harvey Elmerson of Kenosha, Wis., came through with clean records.

Davis went down in defeat first before the flying shoes of "Putt" Mossman of Eldora, Ia., 50 to 40, and then lost to Harvey Elmerson. Davis, however, trounced C. R. Thompson of Harvey, Ill.

Nunamaker, in leading the pack, tossed 129 ringers, and 50 double ringers, in pitching 186 shoes and permitted his opponents to gain only 3 points in the three contests played. He leads the race with a percentage of .748. Davis' ringer percentage was .619.

George May of Akron, Ohio, a former champion, looked on as a lilgly victor, dropped three games. The Ohio fire fighter claimed a blistered finger handicapped his pitching.

Matsuyama Beats Horemans

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—(AP)—Kinrey Matsuyama, little Japanese star, defeated Edouard Horemans, the defending champion, in the opening match of the world's championship 18.2 balkline billiard tournament at the Level club tonight. The score was 400 to 292.

FEATHERWEIGHTS HOLD SPOT ON FISTIC BILL THIS WEEK

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—(AP)—Tonnage figures on the New York fistic chart will show a decided decrease this week.

After two heavyweight shows in succession, Madison Square Garden will feature featherweights this Friday night. Al Singer up and coming Bronx youngster, tackles Bud Taylor the Terre Haute terror, in the feature ten rounder.

Singer has been coming along by leaps and strides during recent months although he was held to a draw by Tony Canzoneri ex-king of the 126-pounders in his last start.

In Taylor the Bronx youngster will be facing a veteran grown wise in the game, a heavy puncher with either hand. Taylor, now a full-fledged featherweight, has been fighting in better form in recent weeks than he showed while he was generally recognized as king of the bantamweights.

Griffith Kayoes Fress

CHICAGO, Feb. 4—(AP)—Jerry "Tuffy" Griffith, brilliant Sioux City, Iowa, puncher, scored a technical knockout over Billy Fress, Grand Rapids, Mich., veteran heavyweight, in the seventh round of their ten-round bout at White City tonight.

The start of a survey on the results of anit-trust legislation was announced in New York, by the National Civic federation.

SALE RECOMMENDED OF TOWN FARM PROPERTY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Feb. 4—When the February meeting of Westerly town council was held Monday morning in the council chambers, the only absentees were Councilmen Farquhar Smith and Joseph Fraser. Delay in opening the meeting resulted when Director of Public Aaid Oliver P. Crandall and Dr. John Champlin, chairman of the Rhode Island State Board of Charities and Corrections conferred relative to the sale of the town farm property located on the Bradford road. The councilmen were told that the town could have better care for the farm inmates by sending them to the state institutions at Cranston and at the same time the cost would be less. A special town meeting would have to be called that the matter of such sale might appear in the notice. The council members may make such recommendation to the annual financial town meeting to be held Tuesday night and reduce the budget appropriation of $10,000 asked for town charities and hospital work for 1929.

Before the council adjourned at noon James Nacarrata of the street lighting committee submitted estimates which they had secured for a better street lighting system to come out of the $17,000 asked for in budget appropriations. The sum of $690 is the net increase figured for the installation of 17 1M candlepower Noval street lights on Broad and High streets with underground conduit connections along the curblines to do away with electric pole lines. The new lights will cost $120 per year on a five year contract and will replace 15 overhead lights fed at the present time by cables, the new conduits to be laid 18 inches below the street surface with conveniently located manholes to care for conduit maintenance.

John Catto of Bradford petioned for the acceptance of Bradford street at Bradford and the placing of an electric light thereon, the signers being Victor Gervasini, David Pitkinin, J. S. Thompson, Joseph Grills, Robert Atkins and Louis Paniera. Referred to highway commission.

A petition headed by Charles D. Havens at Misquamicut, in the business section extending from the property of Edward J. Brophy to that of Henry J. Harriman asked for a change in the present building line of a 30-feet set-back to one of 10 feet.

A report for December by Acting Zoning Inspector Merton B. Lewis, Jr., and by Zoning Inspector Louis J Rossi for January was received for total charge of $31.14, being voted approved and accepted.

Approval was voted of the January report of Building Inspector Thomas Wills showing 6 permits granted for frame buildings, none for brick and stone and 9 for additions and alterations, the total permits granted being 14 and 29 inspections made, the expense being $32.40.

The report of Supt. of Health Dr. S. C. Webster voted approved showed contagious diseases reported, chicken pox 1, epidemic influenza 207, lovar pneumonia 2, measles 1 and whooping cough 4, a total of 215 cases.

Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown's reported approved for January, included two arrests, one for intoxication and one for murder. Mack R. Rhodes was taken into custody and turned over to the authorities of the R. I. State Hospital for Mental Diseases.

The action of Town Treasurer James M. Pendleton in his issuance of town notes for $50,000 dated March 1, 1929, and due Sept. 1, 1929 for payment of sewers and main drains was voted approval.

Tristam D. Babcock, who has been a Westerly water commissioner since the town of Westerly took over the water works of the town, over thirty years, was re-elected for a three-year term.

Councilman R. E. Triner informed the council that the amount of the Frank W. Coy judgment on damages to property on the Shore road property paid by the town was ready for re-fundment by the state on presentation of vouchers.

The council, having had the zoning law investigated, directed that hearings be advertised but once, 6 or 7 days before the meeting and not six consecutive days as heretofore.

Thomas Perry, chairman of Westerly school committee and Supt. of Public Schools Willard H. Bacon, came before the council and stated that their budget requests were down as low as they could make them but the council in final late action lowered them $5,000 and added this amount to highway budget funds requested.

A survey bill of $447.50 for Broad and High street work of engineers was divided so that the highway department and town shall each pay one half.

No sickness for 7 years in this home . . .

Mrs. Sava is only one of millions of America's mothers who guard family health this simple Lifebuoy way —"and LIFEBUOY health soap with its antiseptic lather deserves much of the credit," says this happy mother

"IT is wonderful never to have to worry about sickness," says Mrs. Ann M. Sava, bright-eyed mother of two ruddy-cheeked youngsters.

"We haven't had the slightest illness in our home for at least seven years and I really think that Lifebuoy deserves a good part of the credit.

"My husband first introduced Lifebuoy to me, and I fell in love with it right away; it agreed so wonderfully with my skin.

"But the big reason we all use Lifebuoy is because it gets the germs off. It's so easy for children to catch sickness from other youngsters that we'd never feel our children were safe if it weren't for Lifebuoy and its wonderful antiseptic lather."—Mrs. Ann M. Sava, 36 Hawley Avenue, Port Chester, N. Y.

Get the health soap habit!

Mrs. Sava's letter is typical of the faith millions of mothers have in Lifebuoy.

In your family, too, health protection is necessary. For hands are constantly touching things that others also have to handle—such as books, door-knobs, telephones. The Life Extension Institute lists 27 germ diseases that hands may spread. Why take chances when Lifebuoy's gentle antiseptic lather removes germs?

Adopt Lifebuoy for your whole family today—and give them added health protection—at no extra cost. You'll quickly learn to love Lifebuoy's pleasant extra-clean scent which tells you it purifies and which vanishes as you rinse.

PROFIT-TAKING IN THE STOCK MARKET DEPRESSED RECENT FAVORITE STOCKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—(AP)—Stringent money and expectation of a large increase in stock exchange member loans caused considerable profit-taking on the stock market today, depressing a number of recent favorites 2 to 6 points. Operations for the advance were carried on in assortment of rails, industrials and specialties, however, and about two dozen were lifted to record levels.

The increase in stock exchange loans during January, announced after the close of the market, amounted to $295,423,731, which was in line with what Wall street expected. The stock exchange total as of Jan. 31 was $6,735,164,342, an increase of about $2,800,000,000 in the past 12 months. The increase during January compares with a decrease of more than $10,000,000 in January, 1928. The stock exchange total compares with a federal reserve total as of last Wednesday of $5,569,000,000.

Although call money was expected to be a little easier this week, with the return of the Feb. 1 payments to the banks, the rate again went to 8 per cent. today, as banks called about $20,000,000. New York banks put over $80,000,000 into the call money market for the month end, and are now presumably withdrawing funds to strengthen their reserve positions. Wall street sees little hope of a call loan rate of less than 6 per cent for some time, as corporations are reluctant to loan under that rate, and banks normally encounter expanding commercial demands during February.

There was little in the day's news until after the market closed, when directors of Standard Oil of Indiana announced a 5 per cent stock dividend and 50 cent extra cash dividend.

Crucible Steel Co. of America reported earnings for 1928 but slightly in excess of those for 1927, but showed a marked improvement in the last quarter. H. S. Wilkinson, chairman of the company, said unfilled orders and incoming business "give every indication of a prosperous period in the steel business."

Trading fell off to the smallest volume in over two weeks, but 4,051,400 shares changing hands. The rails and utilities, strong groups last week, encountered much profit-taking.

Federal Mining bounded up 10 points to a new top, and Jersey Central sold up 10 points to a record level. Advance Rumely, American Steel Foundries, Bethlehem Steel, Lambert, Curtiss Aero, and Shattuck mounted about 6 to 10 points to new peaks. Among the soft spots were Allied Chemical, American Power and Light, Johns Manville, International Telephone, General Electric, New York Central, and Western Union, all of which sold off 3 to 6 points.

Motors were firmer, Mack Truck and Packard gaining about 2 points each, and General Motors moving up about a point. Chrysler, however, was again heavy. U. S. Steel lost more than a point, and the oils were generally inclined to heaviness.

Commodity markets were mixed in tone. Cotton sold off about $1 a bale in response to a sag in the Alexandrian market. Grains moved in a narrow range, wheat closing firm, and corn a little easier.

Another drop in the Spanish peseta of about 1-2 of one cent to below 15 1-2 cents, reflecting further revolutionary disturbances in Spain, was the conspicuous development of the foreign exchange market. Sterling was firm.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—(AP)—Trading in today's bond market was dull until the late afternoon, when it picked up a little under the stimulus of a share advance in Porto Rican-American Tobacco 6s. The general list worked lower, however, although a few individual issues showed independent strength and established new high prices. Monday was firm, banks selling about $26,000,000 in bonds. Sales totaled $71,878,000, slightly under Friday's figure.

The newly listed convertibles, Allegheny corporation 5s and American International 5 1-2s closed firm on fairly active trading. Allegheny 5s at one time sold as low as 105 1-8. New Haven convertible 6s dropped two points from their peak price, established Saturday, on profit-taking. International Telephone 5 1-2s also yielded to profit-taking, while International Cement 5s held most of their gain after touching a new peak at 118 3-4.

Porto Rican American Tobacco 6s were the strong spot in the industrial list, shooting up 3 3-4 points to a record high in sympathy with strength in the stock. Sales in this issue totaled $635,000. Tennessee Copper & Chemical 6s showed 2 points on stockholders approval of a $5,000,000 convertible bond offer. Oils generally sold off, in sympathy with stocks, although Transcontinental 6 1-2s advanced a point. Barnsdall 6s with warrants, Colon Oil 6s and Humble 5s lost ground.

Rails were mixed, St. Paul issues encountering selling and International Great Northern 6s dropping a point. New York Traction issues turned soft on reports of legislative action this week to pave way for unification of the city's rapid transit lines.

Utilities were dull and price changes were small. New England Telephone 5s, however, advanced a point to a new high on a light turnover.

The foreign list moved irregularly lower, with Montecatini issues sagging under realizing sales.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Feb. 4—(AP)—With world shipments of wheat about the largest on record, and yet supplies afloat for Europe smaller than a year ago, wheat values today advanced. A larger decrease than had been looked for in the United States wheat visible supply, together with sleet in Nebraska and abnormal cold over India, as well as over eastern and southern Europe, tended also to lift the wheat market.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm, 1-8c to 1-2c net higher. Corn finished a shade to 3-8c down, oats unchanged to 1-8c off, and provisions varying from 10c decline to a rise of 1c.

At first, the wheat market here showed an inclination to sag as a result of selling due to snowfalls and milder temperatures over parts of domestic wheat territory. Soon, however, word of export activity at Winnipeg and of adverse crop conditions affecting India and much of Europe helped give an advantage to the buying side of the market. The fact that the wheat crop of India is now in the filling stage, a critical period, was commented upon as significant regarding likelihood of serious danger. Meanwhile, almost unprecedented low temperatures in Italy and elsewhere in Europe were noted. Roumania especially reported temperatures the lowest for fifty years.

Particular attention by wheat traders was paid also to announcement that non-European imports of wheat so far this season are almost double the total for the corresponding time last year. Moreover, trade authorities contended that from all the data available world import needs this season are above any previous experience. Late advices told, too, of sleet in Nebraska and of 2,411,000 bu. falling-off in the United States wheat visible supply. Selling pressure, though, increased wherever values bulged, and the curve of the market was also disturbed by spreading operations between Chicago and Winnipeg, with different groups of leaders apparently acting at cross purposes.

Slackness of demand for corn ready to be put into immediate commercial use was an evident weight on the corn market. There were also fair-sized offers of corn to come here from other leading centers, and speculative selling was induced by rains in Argentina, although the rains were reported as too late to be of material benefit. An increase of 1,514,000 bu. in the domestic corn visible supply was less than generally expected. Oats traders took their cue from fluctuations in other grain.

Provisions averaged a little lower on account of scattered selling despite upturns in the value of hogs.

POETRY FOR THE WIDEAWAKES

Traps

W. J. Holliday

O little children of the wood,
Of hill and field and stream,
Your Bigger Brothers in the land,
And Sisters have their dream.

A dream as yet it surely grows
Into a vision clear,
Of that glad day when you may walk
Your paths without dread fear—

Dread fear of azoniaing rain.
That you so often see.
Of yes that plead for kindly death
To set the wounded free.

O little children of the wood.
Our prayers with yours ascend.
God speed the day of coming good,
With every man your friend.

To His Mare

Charles Erskine Scott Wood, in Poetry, a Magazine of Verse

My girl has legs as slim and straight
As tule-rushes are.
Her eyes are lovely things to see
And always look afar.
Her little pointed restless ears,
Her haunches keen and strong—
My mare, my mare, my Betsey mare,
She's worth a bit of song.
Her nose is as soft as a woman's breast
Her tail a cloud by night,
Her nostrils filled with morning fire—
A swallow in her flight.
Her feet are shod with the West Wind,
Her neck a bended bow;
And all my sins are left behind
When I dare to let her go.

A Boy and His Dog

Edgar A. Guest in "When Day is Done" A boy and his dog make a glorious pair!
No better friendship is found anywhere,
For they talk and they walk and they run and they play.
And they have their deep secrets for many a day;
And that boy has a comrade who thinks and who feels,
Who walks down the road with a dog at his heels.

He may go where he will and his dog will be there,
They revel in mud and his dog will not care;
Faithful he'll stay for the slightest command
And bark with delight at the touch of his hand:
Oh, he owns a treasure which nobody steals,
Who walks down the road with a dog at his heels.

No other can lure him away from his side;
He's proof against riches and station and pride:
Fine dress does not charm him, and flattery's breath
Is lost on the dog, for he's faithful to death:
He sees the great soul which the body conceals—
Oh, it's great to be young with a dog at your heels

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDEAWAKES

The gay Cardinal Grosbeak is one of our most beautiful birds with their bright red suits. Their prominent crests tend to give them distinction, and these birds are usually considered high-bred, dignified birds. They are nearly as large as the robin, having large light-red bills. They have black throats and have black on the sides of the head and all about the bill. The females are soberly dressed in olive brightened with red, and they, like the males, have fine crests.

The cardinal is a great songster with an arresting and out-of-the-ordinary song. He, like the brown thrasher, is a grand-opera singer. And like the thrasher this bird apparently likes a prominent perch when singing, for it is often seen singing from the tops of very tall trees. Here is how bird fancier, have interpreted the notes of these beautiful birds in full song the last day of March, one spring: "Whit, whit, whit, whit, whee-u, whee-u! Whit, whit, whit, whee-u, whit-whee-u! Whit, whit, whit, whit, whit!"

The cardinal prefers to live in wooded glens along streams, where the sun is warmest in winter and where the cold winds lose much of their force. It is found in the largest numbers throughout the southern part of the United States. Still, they are enow very common in the upper Mississippi valley. Wherever they are found, they are permanent residents, living there throughout the year.

LETTERS WRITTEN BY WIDE-AWAKES

A Midnight Scare

Dear Uncle Jed: This is only an imaginary story that I am writing.

It was very dark, and I was returning home from a country party. The clock in the farmhouse where I was had just struck 12 as I had said goodby.

I was afraid as I had to go through a large dense forest, the moon was now coming up in back of the dark pines in the forest and it cast long trembling shadows and as I stepped into the dark woods a long black object flitted across my path.

I walked steadily onward for about a half mile when I heard the rumble of wagon wheels.

Crouching down into some shrubbery near me I waited. The wagon approached and I heard a merry voice say, "Hello, what's this." I looked down into the road and saw a white object. The wagon stopped. A man jumped down with a lighted lantern in his hand.

As he bent over the light fell full on his face. "Mr. Green!" I cried. The man stood up quickly. I came out from the bushes where I was hidden.

As I came forth he began to laugh. Well, well, well, I didn't expect to see you, and by the way is this your handkerchief that I just picked up? It was mine and I thanked him for it. "Won't you ride along in this contraption of mine with me?" I was glad of the invitation and I clambered into the wagon. I welcomed a ride in that wagon then more than I ever did again.

Moves to Norwich.

Dear Uncle Jed: As this is the first time I am writing to you, I would like to tell you about my first "Trip to Norwich." One day my mother decided to go to Norwich because the work was very slow. My father agreed with her, so we moved to Norwich. On our trip we saw many beautiful things. And that was the end of our journey.

ANNA SCHULMAN, Age 9.

At Block Island

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my first letter to you and the Wide-Awakes. Last summer I took a trip to Block Island. We leave Norwich in the morning and sail down the Thames river. We stop at New London till the train comes. Then we start for Block Island. We get to Block Island about 2:30 in the afternoon. My aunt comes to meet us and she takes us up to her house. We stay down at Block Island about two weeks. We have a good time at Block Island. The old Indian name for Block Island is Manisses. It is named after Adrian Block.

Has Three Cavies

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about my guinea pigs or cavies, which is the correct name for them. I have three. One is black and is called Nig. The other two are called Whitie and Grace. My largest one weighs 32 ounces. I am going to take them to the fair and hope to win a prize.

WILLIAM WILDE.

Heard a Play

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you. Last night I tuned in on the radio and heard the play "Evangeline."

The scene took place in the village of Grand Pre in Arcadia. Evangeline was to be married to her lover whose name was Gabriel. But, the English came and took them away and separated them. Evangeline searched for Gabriel everywhere, but could not find him. Finally, she became a nurse in a hospital during an epidemic. One day the doctors brought a man in who was dying. Evangeline saw at once that he was Gabriel. He died in Evangeline's arms. I thought the people were very cruel to have separated them.

Daniel Boone

Dear Uncle Jed: Daniel Boone was born in a little town settled by his father near Reading, Pa., in 1734. Daniel Boone proved his bravery when he was but a lad. At 11 he killed a panther with his small flint-lock squirrel rifle, and carried it home in triumph.

When he was 18 the Boone family moved to Davie county, North Carolina, on the frontier.

We worked on the farm, hunted and trapped.

He then served as a wagoner and blacksmith in Braddock's expedition against the Indians.

In 1767 he left his wife and children and with a group of other men he spent two years in the wilderness searching for homesteads. They were unmolested. But later, pushing northwest toward the Ohio river, they were captured by the Indians.

They lived for months in a rough hut which they built. Game was their only food.

Finally white men arrived. Boone's brother, Squire, and a companion were in search of him. They spent a terrible winter. The Indians shot one of the party, another drowned in a swamp and they had almost no ammunition. Squire went back for help. At last Squire came back with horses and supplies, and in the spring they returned to North Carolina.

My Pet Rabbit

Dear Uncle Jed and the Wide-Awakes: This is the first time I have written to you.

My pet rabbit has pinky eyes and her fur is white. I like her because every morning when I go to see her, I give her something to eat. But, oh, what do you think she had? She had six little bunnies. One was black, the second was white and gray, the third was black and white, fourth was all gray and the fifth was just like its mother, and the last one was all white too. I love the little ones because they are so cute. Now I do not like the big mother any more because she is not so nice as the small ones.

Likes School

Dear Uncle Jed: I am a little girl, 6 years old, and I am in the first grade. I like to go to school very much. But I had to stay home today as I had a cold and don't feel very good. Mother made me stay home and I cried because I wanted to go to school. I hope I will be able to go back soon.

A Birthday Party

Dear Uncle Jed: Today is my birthday and I am eight years old. I go to the Eastern Point school and am in the third grade. I had a nice big birthday cake and I wish you could have tasted it. It was all covered in whipped cream and had eight candles on it. I got my nose greased three times and got spanked piles of times.

A Book I Read

Dear Uncle Jed: I am writing to you about a book that I read. The name is "Tom Sawyer," by Mark Twain. I liked this book because it was about a funny boy and it was also about school.

Tom Sawyer was a mischievous lad who lived with his Aunt Polly. He didn't like to do anything his aunt said, and he didn't like school.

One day when he went to school, there was a new girl there. He liked her and went to school every day, but soon she left and he got sick of school and played hookey.

One day, when he met Huckleberry Finn and Joe Harper, they began to talk about becoming pirates. They got up that night about 12 o'clock, and started out. They stayed about a month and their folks were worried to death. When they came back there was great rejoicing.

This book also told about Tom and Huck going into a graveyard with a dead black cat and throwing it after three men who came to the graveyard to steal a corpse, and got some money that was in the casket. Tom and Huck got frightened and ran home.

LORENA STONE, Age 14.

Snowstorm

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have ever written you a story. I will write about our snowstorm. I am 10 years old.

We had a snowstorm Friday. I liked it very much. There is still snow on the ground today. We did not have any school Friday. So you see we had fun. Today the sun is shining and I think that will spoil the snow. Maybe the snow will again fall someday.

Coasting

Dear Uncle Jed: As this is my first story I am writing you I hope you will like it. The name of my story is "Sled Riding Down The Hill."

My brother and I went sliding down the hill at Dublin school. I got on the sled and steered while my brother gave a push and hopped on the sled and we slid down the hill. When we came to the curve at the bottom of the hill, my steering apparatus was not working very good. Both of us bumped into the fence but we were not hurt. I tightened the nut on reaching the top of the hill. We went down the hill about 20 times more. Then I decided it was time to go home because I had to do some chores.

My Rabbit

Dear Uncle Jed. This is the first time I have written to you and I hope that you, also the Wideawakes, will like it.

About three months ago, I had a rabbit and its name was Snowball. We named him that because he was as white as the snow itself. One day he ran away from us and skipped into the woods. My brother and I ran after him but he ran all the faster. We were just about to give up the chase when through the woods, we saw some of our friends coming. We called to them to stop Snowball. One of my friends caught him just as he was about to go in a hole. After thanking our friends, we went and put Snowball safely into his cage.

First Letter

Dear Uncle Jed: I like to read the Wide Awake stories very much. I never wrote to you and the Wide Awake Circle before.

Here is a story about our home. We live in a big brown house which is very old. We have a pretty brown cow, a horse whom I call "Babe". We also have many chickens and a few ducks. My kitten's name is Tiger, because she is striped like a tiger.

Reviewing For Exams

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you. I hope you and the Wide Awakes will be interested in my letter.

We are reviewing for the mid-year exams which are due in the month of February. We are reviewing what we had from September until now.

I am doing my best for I am in the seventh grade and would not like to fail. I am going to end my letter with hopes that you will be interested in it.

Dog Upset Vase

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first letter that I have written to you. I am going to tell you a story that I have made up. The name of it is Fooled.

One day my parents told me that they were going to visit a sick friend at night. I said I would not be afraid to stay alone.

I went upstairs to go to bed. When I got into my room I heard a crash of glass. I did not know what it was. I grew afraid and began to shiver. But I gathered up my courage and went downstairs.

When I got down I found Rover, my dog, in the parlor. He had upset a glass vase.

ANNA BRODER, Age 11.

Fishing Through The Ice

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about my luck fishing through the ice. One Saturday afternoon I took my tilts and an axe and started for the pond. When I got there I cut a hole in the ice near the shore to see how thick the ice was. I found it was a little thicker than it was the day before. I chopped as many holes in the ice as I needed. Then I set my tilts. At first the fish didn't bite very good. I waited about 10 minutes then I got my first fish. It was a pickerel. A gang of boys came down to the pond and asked me to go skating but I told them that I wanted to fish while it was good. When I stopped fishing I had caught 12 pickerel, and 5 perch. I went home, got my skates and went down to the pond, put on my skates and was skating until it was time to go home.

Roman Houses

Dear Uncle Jed: The kinds of houses that the Romans lived in seems to me as to be very interesting.

The houses of the rich people were quite large with an open space in the center in which was a kind of fountain. Around this was grouped the rooms according to the taste of the family. On the floor in one house was a picture of a dog under which were the words Cavis Canem which means, beware of the dog.

The Roman man when he came of age, wore a toga, a white flowing robe. When I say "came of age" I mean the time when the Roman boy becomes a certain age and he gets his toga and spear after taking an oath to be faithful to his city and never to desert his army. It was a great occasion when the Roman boy took this oath and received his toga and spear before the older men of the city.

There was one Roman city that was destroyed when Mount Vesuvius erupted. This was Pompeii.

One afternoon the inhabitants of Pompeii were surprised and frightened to see a black cloud descending over the mountain near their city. This cloud kept coming nearer and nearer together with a great rumbling sound and streams of lava. Those inhabitants that wanted and had time to go from the city, fled, but others who would not or could not leave the city were killed. The lava covered the whole city and now after hundreds of years one can see just how a Roman city looked in those days. The lava kept the houses and other things away from the weather and that preserved them. Men have dug and found out what kind of utensils, furniture and other articles they used so long ago. They have even found a skeleton of a guard who did not desert his post.

CONTACT CLUB HEARS TALK ON SELLING

An interesting talk on selling was delivered by Julian L. Williams, local automobile agent, at the luncheon meeting of the Contact club of the chamber of commerce at 12:15 o'clock Monday afternoon. President Ernest G. Rodier presided at the session, Joseph C. Worth was song leader and C. E. Fitch was at the piano. In his talk Mr. Williams said:

Salesmanship as defined in Webster is the act of selling. An act which is, if possible more abused than the Volstead act. In medieval times alchemists tried to transform the baser metals into gold. I believe some chemists, or should I say scientists, are still trying to accomplish this seemingly impossible magic. Rather pathetic when we consider that merchants and manufacturers have always, very readily, effected this transformation through the medium of salesmen.

Henry Ford, probably the greatest "alchemist" of all time, has for more than twenty years been turning iron and other materials into gold so rapidly and in such an efficient manner that he has become, I believe, the richest man in the world, measured by the gold standard. What a gigantic part salesmen and salesmanship played in this task of turning raw materials into gold by way of the manufactured automobile. Following this line of thought right here in our own city we find this process going on to an ever increasing extent. Still some go on trying to find a magic way to wave a wand over a mass of iron, say "Hokus Pokus" and behold, we have a mass of gold. Chasing the gold at the end of the rainbow when there is plenty for all within reach of those who will really work for it.

Thus it is with many who would be salesmen. They waste their time searching for that formula which will enable them to transform their merchandise into gold without labor. A something as impossible to obtain as it would be undesirable. It is generally the idle ones in any organization or community that are the dissatisfied individuals who make up the group responsible for discord. This being the case what we want is not necessarily merchandise which sells itself but trained men who can sell any quality merchandise.

In the essentials of salesmanship and equipment for selling, the automobile business does not differ materially from any other line of merchandising. What is it we are trying to do any way? The answer is simple indeed, merely inspire our prospective customer with sufficient confidence in our product and ourselves together with a desire for the same that he will exchange his gold for our goods. This desire may be a real need or may be visionary as in the case of purchasing a luxury but in either case the result is the same, namely business transacted, property exchanged for gold. The burning question is how to accomplish this most desirable job.

What applies to the automobile in this case applies to all lines of salable goods. It is a "job" to sell them and that job is our job as salesmen. Some may not agree with me that all lines are pretty much alike but a careful analysis of the detail of the other fellow's business will reveal the same problems to overcome, the same underlying principles running all the way through. Isn't it true that when we see the loss of a sale to us that we try to think of some advantage he had which was beyond our reach instead of examining ourselves to see what ammunition we had but did not use. Here is one of the chief causes of lost sales and what is more pathetic, the salesman seldom profits by his error as long as he continues to excuse himself. Look at yourself in the mirror and say, "Old man you failed because you did not work hard enough, you did not use the material at hand. You had better powder and shot than your opponent and you let him out-shoot you. Don't do it again."

How shall we equip ourselves? Well, compare a new salesman to a man who is about to build a house without previous experience as equipment. He buys his material and tools to work with but has no plan. Result, a shelter, perhaps, from sun, rain and snow, but what are his chances of producing anything of value, a desirable building, or an asset to the community. It is necessary for him to have first of all a plan, then working tools, then material, and last and most important of all, skill to transform the materials according to an established plan into a practical building of architectural beauty. A success! So with the salesman. He must assemble his material and tools and plan his structure before it starts to sell and then build his sale. Have more than one plan. Peoples' tastes differ and if one plan of presentation does not lead us to the ultimate sale try another but always work on a predetermined plan. In fact apply the principles of quality production in manufacture to selling and you will increase your sales. Do not sell by the old hand made hit or miss method. Follow a well beaten path and you will get there quicker. Impress our buyer with the necessity of finding the facts, focusing the facts, filtering the facts, then face the facts and most essential of all, having reached this conclusion, follow the facts.

The two methods of selling, the speaker said in conclusion was the easy method and the difficult method. He explained both of these points. Mr. Williams was given a vote of thanks for his valuable talk.

The programme for the remainder of the month was announced by Walter H. Pilcher, secretary of the club, as follows: Feb. 11, Clifford Nay, "Tips on Selling;" Feb. 18, Fred Fleming, "Selling from the Credit's Man's Viewpoint;" Feb. 25, F. Russell Smith, subject to be announced.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

As an aid to keeping the poultry house sanitary, nut sloping wires or boards over the top of the nests so the hens cannot roost there.

Winter is the time to cut scions for top-working apple trees, while the buds are perfectly dormant. Wrap the scions in moss or paper that has been dampened and every particle of surplus water squeezed out and then in waterproof or wax paper. They should be kept in a cool place where the buds will not start but which, however, is above freezing.

In the northern United States a mulch of about two inches of straw or coarse straw manure put on the strawberry bed after the ground freezes will keep the plants from being "lifted" out of the ground with alternate thawing and freezing temperature. When growth starts in the spring rake off the covering wherever it is heavy enough to smother the plants and leave it between the rows.

If it is planned to keep a supply of butter on the farm for some time, make it from pasteurized sweet cream. Such butter has been found to keep well in cold storage for many months.

GIVEN FINE OF $25 AND SUSPENDED SENTENCE

In the city court Monday morning Joseph Lienkowski, 35, of No. 10 Aqueduct street, charged with simple assault, was fined $25 and costs and igen a 30 day suspended jail sentence. The accused was arrested Sunday evening on complaint of Mary Pieszyk of No. 230 Mt. Pleasant street, who claimed that he struck her with a blackjack. In court the woman testified that the assault took place after Lienkowski accused her of "squealing on him" several years ago for selling liquor.

He went to her home Sunday evening and threatened her with bodily harm, it is understood. After he left the house Mrs. Pieszyk again met the accused near the corner of Forest street while she was on her way to the store for groceries. He is said to have struck her on the head with a blackjack without warning, rendering her unconscious. The accused testified that he hit the woman with his fists, and not with a blackjack.

Every time a man's wife looks happy he believes himself that he is the cause of it.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Broadway Theatre

The Paramount all-talking picture "Interference" was greeted by a packed house at the Broadway theatre last night. It proved one of the most gripping pictures ever shown in the city, made doubly effective by virtue of the Paramount Quality Sound equipment.

The all-talking version of the Paramount picture impressed the first night audience as lifting the new-found form of screen entertainment from the experimental stage to the lofty peak of technical perfection. There is not a single flaw in the reproducing of the human voice during the showing of the picture. Talking motion pictures have overcome all obstacles with "Interference," and are now definitely a success.

"Interference" is outstanding not only because of the talking feature, but also due to its exceptionally fine cast of players who delighted the audience with convincing and appealing dramatic performance.

There are four principal characters in the drama portrayed by Evelyn Brent, William Powell, Clive Brook and Doris Kenyon, each of whom plays equally important parts in the development of the plot.

Much credit is due Roy J. Pomeroy for the direction of the sound version of "Interference." Mr. Pomeroy has been developing sound motion pictures for the past three years.

Strand Theatre

An original story by George D. Watters. This is the story of social hygiene, a question as to when parents should begin teaching the subject of sex to the youth.

The story begins with the birth of an infant and showing the stages of life of the infant, respectively, at the ages of 2, 7 and 13 years. At the age of 14, the scene opens with a birthday party given to the youth, at this age. The tendency of this picture is to show the lack of sex knowledge in their own way, if not guided by parents. In this story, Bob's parents teach him the subject of sex and take him through the hospitals and show him the dangers of carelessness. Enthused by the favorable reaction on their son, the parents induce their friends, who also have boys, to follow the same procedure. One of the parents does not believe in such a procedure and refuses to divulge the secret of the subject of sex, claiming that "Youth must have its fling." The other boy, not having any parents to guide him, does not receive his instruction.

The scene opens, with college days, when the three boys about the age of 22, were finishing their courses at college, and are allowed to drift by themselves. The youth who has received instruction on sex, lives a clean moral life; the other two boys, who have not had the instruction, pursue the course of careless living. The consequences are as follows:

The boy who had this careful training is successful; the boys who have lived carelessly are affected with a dreaded disease. All three boys are about to be married. The clean-living chap becomes a lawyer, finally weds, and is the most happy of the lot. The one whose father neglected to teach his boy the "fling" is about to be married, when he discovers his infection. He goes to a legitimate physician who advises him that he cannot be married until he is cured and being advised it will take a long time, he refuses to heed the doctor's advice, and goes to a "quack" doctor who advertises quick cures. This "quack" doctor, who is only interested in the patient's money, after a short period, discharges this youth as cured and on the wedding day, when he is about to be married, the legitimate doctor stops the wedding, pronouncing the man not fit to be a father, being infected with a dangerous disease which is a menace to all those around him. The third youth also marries but in his case he immediately went to the "quack" doctor, who was under the impression he was cured, and married. After a short period of time the disease affected his brain, he becomes insane and kills his wife, and is tried for murder. This youth is defended by his life-long friend, Bob, who has been taught the dangers of this treacherous disease, and is freed on a plea of insanity.

The sanity commission, to pass on the subject through the courts, claimed it was through the neglect of the parents to teach the children sex hygiene at an early period of life. The picture proves conclusively that parents answering the questions of children truthfully and properly at an early age, will succeed in eliminating curiosity, and give them the right idea of sex and do away with morbid curiosity.

In this picture, Jack Mulhall plays the lead of the boy who is properly guided through life. Helene Chadwick is the sweetheart of Jack Mulhall and plays an admirable part. They are supported by Emmy Kong, Pauline Curley, Leo Pearson and Dorothy Kelly Lester.

Palace Theatre

Regular full week vaudeville opens it's bow at the Palace Theatre yesterday with one of the finest shows to ever play this town. If you need be convinced of this fact we can only suggest that you ask anyone of the crowd that attended yesterday's performances. Their words will be sufficient recommendation to make you hurry to the Place to see this great show.

Al Moore and his Ten Jolly Tars stopped the show "cold" as they would say backstage. The audience simply refused to permit Al and his boys to retire from the stage. And fortunately Al and his boys had plenty of extra numbers up their sleeve to satisfy the big audience with. He is the greatest band and I've seen them in city and you must admit that there have been some mighty good ones here during the past season. Moore and carries over two large trucks and crates with scenery and electrical effects and their own stage to operate them. Each and every man in the band is a finished musician and a capable entertainer.

The other four acts on the bill all won instant approval from the audience and a real good time was had by all times" was evident throughout the entire show.

That spirit of youth and pep of Sally O'Neil, with her lovely personality and adorable nose, and Sonny Boy Cooper, Jr., whose roots of fun are legion, may be expected to produce laughs in "The Flirting Widow," "Tiffany-Stahl's" colorful picture about some kids and a circus found the world. It is a natural subject of the younger generation's activities, the action occurring variously from the beginning of the circus and partly against such exotic backgrounds as an ocean liner and a Chinese port provide.

TO CURB SPEEDING IN THE CITY STREETS

As the result of complaints received by Mayor Lee Roy Robbins and Chief George Linton of the local police force, state police officers from the Groton barracks are to patrol the city streets in an attempt to curb the excessive speed of automobiles, in cooperation with the local police.

Following the receipt of complaints Lieut. Henry J. Albright in charge of the Groton barracks was appealed to and in a communication to Mayor Robbins states that he will send up men to assist the local police. According to the complaints autoists have been operating their machines at a high rate of speed through the city streets, especially on Broadway.

NEW LONDON INSURANCE SOLICITOR MAY BE PROVED UNSOUND MENTALLY

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Feb. 4—Lawrence Fowler, local insurance solicitor arrested two weeks ago on a warrant issued by the Groton authorities charging him with forgery, was in Groton town court this morning. The case was not disposed of, as it is apparent that Fowler is of unsound mentality. The court appointed a commission to examine Fowler, that his sanity may be determined. Fowler was arrested by State Poalice Officer William MacKenzie on a warrant charging him with forgery on five counts. It is the claim of the state that Fowler, as adjutant of the Groton American Legion, received five checks, each of the amount of $12, from the state legion at Hartford, authorizing payment of this sum to each of the Groton beneficiaries. Fowler received the checks, endorsed each in the name of the respective payee and received the money. The payees claim that they did not receive their monthly allotment, while Fowler contends that each of the payees authorized him to endorse the checks and each received the benefit of the face of the chck through grocery bills being paid

COUNCIL LIKES NEW SYSTEM OF TAX COLLECTIONS

NEW LONDON, Feb. 4—At the city council meeting this evening the auditors' report was presented, a long document full of figures and data. It disclosed that in the past the taxes had not been collected but under the new system introduced a year ago there had been a decrease in back taxes unpaid and a large increase in the amount collected. The increase in the personal tax collection has been proportionately large. It was shown that the city did not have to borrow as in past years for current expenses. The report was a most satisfactory one.

Councilor Fox called attention to the fact that several bills had been introduced in the legislature that affected New London and he believed that the council should be heard in relation to them. One bill gives the city the right to issue bonds for the purchase of land for the Coast Guard academy. That bill the council approved. Other bills provide for an assistant judge and assistant prosecutor at $1500 per year. Mr. Fox advocated a per diem salary, to be fixed by the city council. The city manager took the same view and on motion of Councilor Whiton it was voted to ask that the salary be fixed as per diem. Mayor Scott also favored the per diem salary.

Another bill provides that no member of the council shall be a member of the planning board and the council disapproved Mr. Fox called attention to the bill providing for a tuberculin test for cows. City Manager Holt said New London was not affected, as it had a pasteurization plant.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre

When Jubal Cain, in the dawn of the world wove a mat of grass and shamrocks, to ease the burden of the heavy harp he carried on his shoulders, he unwittingly made the first Irish flag. For when he took the harp down he saw impressed on one corner of the green mat the outlines of the harp.

He liked the design and wove another mat of linen fibers dyed it green and had a woman embroider in threads of gold a picture of the harp as it is seen to this very day.

All this is brought to the reader's attention, because now local audiences have an opportunity of seeing the greatest story of Ireland yet filmed, Fox films picture version of "Mother Machree," which is now running at the Breed theatre.

There is more than one kind of smokeless powder that is fatal to mankind.

REV. E. J. NORRIS DELIVERS FIRST SERMON SUNDAY

Rev. E. J. Norris, the new rector at St. Andrew's Episcopal church, performed his first duties on Sunday by conducting the services at this church. Rev. Norris was pastor of a church at Springfield, Center, N. Y., previous to receiving the call as rector of St. Andrew's church. The call was extended to him by the members of the church at a special meeting, held Christmas Eve. For the past few months the church had been without a pastor, since Rev. Rees Jones accepted a call as pastor of a church at Danielson. Rev. Norris is well known in the ministry of the church for he has been pastor of many large churches and his work has been outstanding.

Rev. Mr. Norris' sermon was on Keeping The Vision Master. It is Good For Us To Be Here,' St. Mark, 9.5.

Rev. Mr. Norris prefaced his address by referring to the splendid way in which the men of the parish, and he may also add, the ladies, had prepared for the coming of his family and himself by quietly making the rectory homelike. This kindness was much appreciated.

He next spoke on his desire to be in every sense of the word, their pastor, urging unity and cooperation to bear upon the task of building the visible church of God.

In dealing with the text he pointed out the intense desire of the apostle to keep the vision. This, not possible, meant evasion of the stern duties of life. Spiritual vision is given to man, not to draw him out of the conflict, but to give him new inspiration; and renewed strength to cope with the conditions of life. The vision must be translated into the rainbow colors of service. We need the vision, all of us. We need the light of it in these perplexing days. Especially do we need the power of it in tasks beyond our poor resources.

One joy is ours if we can struggle on through the hindrances, past the obstacles, 'til the task is completed. The unseen presence of the Master is with us. Our dear Lord, who is Himself, our light, wisdom and our way. Fear not, He is in command of the ship of your life. A divine mind knows where the harbor is. How many in the past steered their barks through the troubled sea of life and then saw Him face to face. What, then is your vision? What is your vision for ever after?

"Sail on, nor fear to breast the sea,
Our hearts, our hopes, our prayers, our tears,
Our faith triumphant o'er our fears,
Are all with Thee, are all with Thee."

After the services the Rev. Mr Norris was introduced to all the parishioners present.

Mrs. Gallant of 46 Golden street was awarded first prize at a prize fox trot competition at Westerly Saturday evening. Her many friends in Norwich were congratulating her on Monday.

Miss Elizabeth Mallon, a student at New Rochelle college, spent her week end recess at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Mallon on Convent avenue.

A month's mind requiem mass was offered for the repose of the soul of Humphrey Brennan at St. Mary's Memorial church Monday morning at 7.3 o'clock with Rev. Frederick M. Coholan as celebrant. The musical program of the mass was under the direction of Mrs. Michael J. Farrell, organist. Many relatives and family friends attended the service.

Anthony Pusateri, Arnold McFarland, Ted Benoit and Si Deslands, students at the Putnam Trade school, were week end visitors at their homes in Greeneville.

The entire action of the said board in condemning and appropriating said land is approved and it is authorized empowered and advised to take all necessary steps and do all acts to condemn, appropriate and take said land.

The council then accepted the resignation of Raymond Mazurkiewicz as a supernumerary police officer, the resignation having been submitted because of the fact that Mr. Mazurkiewicz has removed his place of residence to the town of Lebanon.

INFLUENZA GERM UNKNOWN SAYS HEALTH BULLETIN

Influenza is caused by an unknown germ, says the monthly health bulletin issued by the Connecticut state department of health. The bulletin continues:

It is a highly communicable disease and while present in Connecticut all of the year it often becomes epidemic as during the years 1918-19, 1920, 1922, 1923 and 1924. Persons are aware of the large fatal epidemics but the average person is unaware of the minor epidemics. In addition it becomes pandemic and spreads over states and countries.

While the specific germ causing influenza is unknown, there is no mystery in its method of spread.

Many have asked if they are not immune because of having had the disease in 1918. While there may be an immunity of a few weeks or months following an illness of influenza it is well known that the immunity is brief and that the majority who have had the disease can have it again.

When epidemic influenza has been absent for several years probably the majority of people can have the disease when it arrives and thus the epidemic is explosive in character, rapidly reaching its height and in a few weeks is gone.

Influenza may be a primary infection or a secondary infection. This means a person may receive the infection today and tomorrow morning when he tries to jump out of bed he will have the general aches and back pains, weak knees and fever of influenza. On the other hand a person may have what he consider a common cold and in a day or two the case will develop into a real case of influenza due to subsequent infection or the lessening of his power of resistance by the cold.

Very often influenza affects the lung and a form of pneumonia results. Abscesses of the lungs may occur. Germs are found in lung tissue and in the blood. Otitis media, meningitis, conjunctivitis, sinusitis, peritonitis, appendicitis, and cystitis may also occur as complications of influenza.

The signs or symptoms may be grouped under the nervous, catarrhal and intestinal headings. The nervous symptoms are depression, tired feeling or general weakness. The catarrhal symptoms are cough, hoarseness, sore throat, sneezing or difficulty in breathing. Possibly the first symptoms are a tickling or scratchy feeling that makes one want to clear the throat. Intestinal symptoms of nausea, vomiting and diarrhea may be present.

The disease may last three to five days but persons sick should stay at home for at least 2 days after they are apparently well. This is an important bit of advice. Go to bed early and get up late. Above all follow the advice of your family physician.

OCCUM MAN BADLY BURNED MONDAY MORNING

Herbert A. Richards was seriously burned about 7 o'clock Monday morning at his store in Occum by an oil heater which he had just filled. Mr. Richards was driven to his store at 7 o'clock by Mrs. Richards. Mr. Richards as was his custom filled and lighted the heater and in entering his office fell with it. A clerk, Louis Erlbeck, who was in the cellar attending to the furnace, hearing the commotion hurried up stairs and found Mr. Richards on the office floor in a helpless condition with burning oil on his clothing and on the floor. Mr. Erlbeck was able to get Mr. Richards away from the oil heater.

Mr. Richards was rushed to the Backus hospital. He is suffering from severe burns of the left arm, his neck and cheek. During the past two years Mr. Richards has been able to be at his place of business but a portion of the time. Poor health was followed by an automobile accident 18 months ago which left him with injuries which have not thoroughly healed.

C. V. Service Resumed Year Ago.

One year ago Monday Vermonters in the flood torn valleys of the Winooski and White rivers greeted the first through train to be operated over the Central Vermont Railway since the flood of November 1927.

Exactly three months to a day after the great flood reconstruction stood completed to allow the operation of through freight and passenger trains. This marked a feat in railroad engineering that experts agree has never been equalled on the American continent.

Acidity

The common cause of digestive difficulties is excess acid. Soda cannot alter this condition, and it burns the stomach. Something that will neutralize the acidity is the sensible thing to take. That is why physicians tell the public to use Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this delightful preparation can neutralize many times its volume in acid. It acts instantly; relief is quick, and very apparent. All gas is dispelled; all sourness is soon gone; the whole system is sweetened. Do try this perfect anti-acid, and remember it is just as good for children, too, and pleasant for them to take.

Any drugstore has the genuine, prescriptional product.

REV. C. M. BUDLONG RESIGNS AS RECTOR OF CHRIST CHURCH

Rev. C. Montgomery Budlong resigned as rector of Christ Episcopal church at the adjourned annual meeting of the church Monday evening in the parish rooms. The resignation is to be effective subject to the approval of the bishop of the diocese, and was accepted by the parish "with regret." The meeting was well attended as there has been considerable interest in the serious financial difficulty in which the church found itself at the close of 1928. Among those present at the meeting were Dr. John F. Plumb, treasurer of the diocese of Connecticut, and Rev. Frederick Budlong of Greenwich, brother of the rector.

After the various parochial organizations had made their reports, the clerk, Francis Gilman, started to read the names of those on the voting list to ascertain whether or not they were legal voters of the church. The canon requires that those who have attended church and contributed for six months prior to the annual meeting, are entitled to vote. Mrs. Eben Learned read a letter that she had received from Rt. Rev. E. Campion Acheson, bishop of the diocese, advising her that if she had attended church within six months and contributed, that she was a legal voter of the church.

The rector overruled the bishop's statement, and as the list progressed there were vigorous objections from various people who felt that their names should be removed from the list only by direction of the meeting. Dr. Plumb was appealed to, to interpret the canon, and advised that the vestrymen meet and revise the list of voters. A motion to adjourn until the vestry had accomplished this was made and carried.

During the meeting Rev. Mr. Plumb explained the working of the diocesan assessment and apportionment. Speaking of Rev. Mr. Budlong's resignation, he said in part, "I should like to see the people of this parish live in harmony. The rector and his wife have done their duty. The reports speak for themselves but from some reason some are dissatisfied and you, who have felt the worst, have probably made mistakes yourselves but have not had the whole parish to criticize you."

REV. C. MONTGOMERY BUDLONG

After the meeting, Francis Gilman, clerk of the parish, stated the reports showed growth, spiritually and financially among the various societies. The rector's report of work during the past year was most encouraging and his work for four years showed energy and good results under the parish conditions which have changed with modern days and diminishing congregations, Mr. Gilman said.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH CALLS CONCORD CLERGYMAN

At a meeting of the members of the First Baptist church Monday evening it was voted to extend an unanimous call to Rev. Percy A. Kilmister of Concord, N. H., to become pastor of the local church. Rev. M. Kilmister has been pastor of the Curtis Memorial Baptist church in that city for nine years. The meeting was attended by nearly 100 persons and was presided over by Walter M. Cowan.

The local church has been without a pastor since Nov. 4, 1928, when the resignation of Rev. Edward C. Dunbar became effective. Rev. Mr. Dunbar who had been pastor of the church for about six years, accepted a call from the Baptist church at Flemmington, N. J.

SENATE VOTES 15 CRUISERS AND AN AIRPLANE CARRIER

Vote Was 68 to 12—Bill Stipulates That Five of the Cruisers be Laid Before July 1 Next—The Airplane Cruiser Must be Begun Before July 1, 1930—Appropriation is Made for $17,000,000 for Each of the 15 Cruisers and $19,000,000 for the Carrier—Measure Now Goes to the House for Consideration of Minor Amendments Before It is Sent to President Coolidge.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—(AP)—An increase in the navy by 15 cruisers and an airplane carrier was voted today by the senate, 68 to 12, with the stipulation that the ships be laid down before July 1, 1931.

The bill is almost the same as that aproved by the house a year ago. It must be returned, however, for the consideration of the two amendments made by the senate. Aproval of these is expected without the necessity of a conference and if this is done, the measure then will go to President Coolidge.

Disregarding the wishes of the president the senate, like the house, voted overwhelmingly to specify when construction of the ships shall be started, and if Mr. Coolidge accepts the bill it will be incumbent upon him to recommend at this session a budget estimate for five of the cruisers.

The program involves a total appropriation of $274,000,000, including $17,000,000 for each of the 10,000 ton cruisers, and $19,000,000 for the airplane carrier. Mr. Coolidge has had his doubts of the government's ability to meet this financial outlay and he is obvjously very much displeased at the refusal of congress to listen to his plea for control over the naval program. But he has not decided to veto the measure.

Friends of the bill in the long debate have pointed constantly to the growing British navy with its 63 cruisers which were not involved in the Washington limitations agreement of 1922. The new cruisers will give the American navy 33 modern cruisers with a total tonnage of 296,000 tons, against 32 cruisers for Japan with a tonnage of 266,415. The British tonnage is placed at 386,636.

Foes of the measure shot amendment after amendment at it today but only one—by Senators Borah, republican, Idaho, and Reed, democrat, Missouri—declaring congress in favor of the negotiation of treaties regulating the conduct of belligerents and neutrals at sea—was added to the bill. Only Senator Bruce, democrat, of Maryland, voted against this amendment.

An effort by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, to add a provision requesting the president to call a naval conference with Great Britain for consideration of cruiser strength was swept aside as advocates of the measure pointed to the clause already in the bill requesting the president to "encourage" another naval arms parley and authorizing him to suspend the naval program in whole or in part if ar agreement were reached.

Republicans and democrats were equally divided in support of the bill, 34 of each party lining up for it behind the two party leaders, Curtis, republican of Kansas, and Robinson, democrat of Arkansas. Opposition to the measure included seven republicans, four democrats and the farmer-labor senator, Shipstead, of Minnesota.

Senator Norris also proposed to cut down the cruiser authorization from 15 to 9 but this fell under the top-heavy support according the bill throughout the long days of debate.

Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, asked that three airplane carriers instead of one be provided but this was also swept aside without a record vote. The measure stipulates that the airplane carrier be put underway before July 1, 1930.

WILD BUYING OF STOCK OF STANDARD OIL CO. OF IND.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(AP)—The five traders who specialize in the common stock of the Standard Oil company of Indiana on the New York curb market were buried under such an avalanche of orders in the stock today that an opening price for the day was not agreed upon until after 1 o'clock, when the trading session was more than half over.

The declaration of a 50 per cent. stock dividend, which amounts to $30,000,000 after the close of yesterday's market, brought an accumulation of buying orders totaling about 76,000 shares when the market opened. Practically the only offers to sell were in odd lots, which made the progress of arriving at an opening price extremely difficult. Finally the price was set at $100.25, a rise of $4.25 a share. The stock subsequently sold as high as $102, but sold off to $99.12 1-2 at the close. Nearly 130,000 shares changed hands during the session.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Feb. 5—(AP)—Eamond de Valera, Irish republican leader, today re-entered the Kingdom, which had not played upon his activities in the Irish Free State for some time, by attempting to cross the Ulster border in contravention of an order of seven years standing. Tonight he was lodged in Belfast jail to answer for his attempt in court tomorrow.

Neither De Valera nor the crowd of admirers who had assembled to greet him seemed greatly surprised when the Ulster police took him from the Dublin-Belfast train at the border station of Coraghwood. He was brought here by automobile under armed guard and placed in jail. He had intended to address a political meeting and to open a Gaelic college in Belfast.

WHEREABOUTS OF LEON TROTZSKY IS UNKNOWN

LONDON, Feb. 5—(AP)—After almost a week of constantly conflicting reports, the exact whereabouts of Leon Trotzsky, one time leader of the Red army, is still a mystery.

Although reports have been received from many quarters that Trotsky was leaving soviet Russia, either for Turkey or Germany, there appeared great doubt tonight as to whether he has actually left Russian territory.

One of the most sensational of these reports that he was being exiled from Russia was that he was aboard the soviet vessel, Krasny Flott, which was among numerous vessels forced to take refuge in the Black sea during a terrific storm which has been raging in that region.

LATEST ANGLES IN JACKSON MURDER CASE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

WILLIMANTIC, Feb. 5—That Mrs. W. E. Jackson and her daughter, Juanita visited the home of Trenor A. Rice, arrested in connection with the murder of County Detective William E. Jackson, on Sunday before Jackson was slain, was indicated in a story told by Irene Menick to newspaper men here tonight. The Menick girl who is 16 said that on Sunday that at a time fixed by her as between 11:30 and noon on Sunday she saw two cars in front of the Rice home, one car smaller than the other. Some 15 minutes later while engaged in housework she glanced out of the window and noticed two women, described by her as one thin and the other larger, coming out of the Rice house. The women got into the smaller car and drove away. Miss Menick said that both women were dressed in black. Questioned as to whether she could identify the women said that she thought they were the two whom she saw standing beside the grave of Detective Jackson during the funeral Saturday afternoon. It is known that Mrs. Jackson and her daughter had been wearning black since the death of their son and brother William Jackson Jr., over a year ago.

Madora Despathy, 9, a bright little girl resident on Trapella road said that every morning during the week she waits for the 8:45 bus at the junction of Brown avenue and Main street to take her to school.

She said that many mornings for some time, definitely since the holidays, she had seen a cream colored roadster drive from the Rice home to Main street and easterly to the city. The car she said was driven by a thin woman accompanied by another woman as passenger.

Mrs. George Despathy, mother of Madora, said that she had on frequent occasions seen a car that she believed was owned by Juanita Jackson at the Rice home. She recalled that about 6 o'clock on the night of the murder the entire lower floor of the Rice home was lighted. It struck her at that time that considerable electricity was being wasted.

Isaac Rosen, his wife, Jennie, and their son and daughter of 36 Quarry street, directly opposite the Jackson home interrogated as to the relations between Rice and Jackson and Jackson and his wife they said that they had never observed any trouble between them.

Merton A. Andrews is now in charge of the Rice home on Brown avenue and is attending to the general duties of the place, especially the incubators. His wife, Mrs. Ada Andrews, daughter of Mrs. Lillian Brown, partner with Miss Juanita Jackson in The Quality Shop, is at the Jackson home as consoler and volunteer assistant to Mrs. Jackson and her daughter. Mrs. Andrews has spent considerable time with the Jacksons since the murder and has occasion to protect them from the curious. The present duties of Mr. and Mrs. Andrews would indicate that Mrs. Jackson and her daughter are still friendly toward Mr. Rice despite accusations against him.

Telegrams to Clarence Darrow and the Burns Detective agency brought replies that neither had been approached relative to the Jackson case. Darrow stated definitely that he had retired. It had been previously stated by Frederick S. Rice, brother of Trenor Rice, that he was endeavoring to secure the services of these criminal experts.

"RUBER CHECK" MAN IS DEAD IN NEW HAVEN

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 5—(AP)—William B. Hemingway, known under aliases to the police as a "rubber check" man is dead here and his body lies unclaimed. The body just missed being buried as that of Lyle Hemingway, of Ansonia, who, like the other man, has been an inmate of the county jail. The wife and mother of Lyle were notified that he was dead and they did not doubt the news as they were told yesterday that he was very ill when they went to the jail to call.

Today the jail clerk, William F. Hayes, sought information about the dead Hemingway from Ansonia police and noted that while W. B. Hemingway had been sentenced last June for passing bad checks and Lyle had been committed shortly after for non-support, that the information he had did not tally with what Ansonia officers gave him. The "rubber check" man had been taken to a hospital with stomach ailment which produced heart trouble. Lyle Hemingway's wife and mother granted permission for an autopsy and a Derby undertaker was to come for the body this afternoon. Mrs. Hemingway, the wife, called at the jail this afternoon and her husband greeted her in full health. So the check-up of the clerk which was just taking definite form, was confirmed.

CARNES SENTENCED TO FROM FIVE TO SEVEN YEARS

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 5—(AP)—Clinton S. Carnes, who rose from ex-convict to a position of prominence as treasurer of the Southern Baptist Home Mission board and decamped after nine years, leaving a shortage estimated at nearly $1,000,000, pleaded guilty to embezzlement here today and was sentenced to from five to seven years imprisonment.

His plea was accepted on recommendation of board officials, who said Carnes had turned over all his resources for restitution, that it would save the state a long, expensive trial and that justice would be served by the sentence because . his age. It was added that Carnes had agreed to aid in untangling the board's accounts, on which auditors have been working since he disappeared last summer.

Only one of the 20 indictments returned against him—that charging misappropriation of $80,000—figured in the proceedings. The state announced that the others would be dismissed if the 51-year-old former layman did not seek a pardon or parole before the expiration of his minimum sentence.

PRISON TERMS FOR LEADERS OF REVOLUTION IN SPAIN

CUIDAD REAL, Spain, Feb. 5—(AP)—Long prison terms but no executions are believed to await those convicted of leading the revolt of the First Artillery regiment here last week which ended without a shot being fired. Official investigation of the affair is said to have shown that younger elements in the artillery corps induced their chiefs to start the movement which came to an abrupt end when it appeared that the rebellion had no followers in the rest of the country.

Advices from Valencia today said that the reported revolt there was only a breach of discipline between two parties of officers over the attitude of Military Governor Castro Girona toward Former Premier Sanchez Guerra. The latter is now on a warship, to which he was transferred from prison in order to keep visitors from him. General San Jurjo has succeeded in establishing order in the city.

Many arrests have been made in Madrid, including Generals Aguilera, Quiepo, Liano and Canalejas as well as several civilians.

Lindbergh Lands At Managua, Nicaragua

Today Lindbergh Makes an 800-Mile Flight to Cristobal, Canal Zone, by Way of Costa Rica.

MANAGUA, Feb. 5—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today tied two more Central American countries into the rapidly extending air mail service. He landed his amphibian plane here at 3:45 p. m., eastern standard time, after a flight which began at Belize, British Honduras, at 9:10 a. m. The first 125 miles to Tela, Honduras, were flown in one hour and a half and after refueling he covered nearly 500 more miles.

In two days the aviator who first demonstrated the time saving of air travel in countries adjacent to the Carribean has put in operation two-thirds of the new route from Miami to Panama which hereafter is to have fortnightly service. Yesterday he visited Cuba before settling down for the night at Belize.

Neither mountains nor rebels presented difficulties to Lindbergh during the overland portion of his flight today. Last year some apprehension was felt when he flew across northern Nicaragua but that section is now quiet. Despite the colonel's efforts to make the present journey a purely business affair he was greeted by crowds here fully as enthusiastic as those which feted him last night in Belize.

Tomorrow he faces an 800-mile flight to Cristobal, Canal Zone, by way of Costo Rica.

New Non-Stop Cross Continent Record

Captain Hawkes Flew From the West Coast to the East in 18 Hours, 21 Minutes, 59 Seconds.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Feb. 5—(AP)—Captain Frank Hawks set a new record for a non-stop trans-continental flight today.

Maintaining an average speed of almost 150 miles an hour despite snow and fog and rain that drove him high into the sky and for a time threw him off his course, he made the journey in 35 minutes and one second faster than the only other plane that ever flew without halt from the west coast to the east.

Hawks, piloting a scarlet torpedo-shaped Lockheed-Vega monoplane and accompanied by Oscar E. Grubb, a mechanic, left Los Angeles at 5:37:20 o'clock, Pacific time, yesterday afternoon. He landed here at 2:59:29 o'clock, eastern time this afternoon, giving him a flying time of 18 hours, 21 minutes and 59 seconds.

The only other west-east trans-continental non-stop flight ever accomplished was made last summer by Col. Arthur Goebel in another Lockheed-Vega with Harry Tucker as passenger in 18 hours and 58 minutes. Tucker and C. B. D. Collyer were later killed attempting to beat Goebel's time.

There have been two east-west non-stop trans-continental flights. The first, which took almost 27 hours was made by Lieuts. John MacReady and Oakley Kely in 1923, and the other was made by Tucker and Collyer in just under 25 hours after Goebel had set his west-east mark.

Aside from being somewhat tired by the strain of fighting the elements, which he said were the only reasons he did not beat Goebel's record by a full two hours, Hawks seemed physically fit when he landed. Grubb showed the marks of the journey more plainly.

He ate several sandwiches and coffee during the night and the motion of the hurtling plane made him sick. Hawks, who ate practically nothing, said he felt no illness at all. After walking around a bit after landing Grubb said he had entirely recovered.

Capt. Hawks started with 475 gallons of gasoline and had 75 gallons left when he landed. He said the Wasp engine functioned perfectly all the way. Asked about plans for the future he said his plans were made only for the most immediate future and that they could be set forth in the one word "sleep".

DEATH OF MARIA CRISTINA, QUEEN MOTHER OF SPAIN

MADRID, Feb. 6—(Wednesday)—(AP)—Maria Cristina, queen mother of Spain, died here early today.

Maria Cristina was a devout Catholic and through her influence greatly aided in the ascendancy of the Catholic church in Spain during the last quarter of the nineteenth century. The last year of her reign, however, was marked by a dispute with Rome over the rights and prerogatives of the Catholic clergy in Spain, which the vatican sought to restrict.

The dowager queen was born at Gross-Seelowitz, Austria, July 21, 1858, the daughter of Archduke Charles Ferdinand and Archduchess Elizabeth Francisca Maria. Her father was a first cousin of the late Emperor Francis Joseph. Since her son, King Alfonso XIII, ascended the throne she had lived virtually in retirement, except for interest taken in charitable and religious institutions.

MEN ESCAPED, WITHOUT AID, FROM SUNKEN SUBMARINE

In a Series of Tests Being Made 11 Miles Off Key West Two Men Twice Made Their Way Safely From the Sunken Submarine S-4, Lying in 40 Feet of Water, to the Surface of the Sea—The Men Used Oxygen Inflated Masks, Which Covered Their Heads—Feat Accomplished for First Time in History of the Sea.

ABOARD U. S. S. MALLARD, OFF KEY WEST, Fla., Feb. 5—(AP)—For what is believed by naval experts to be the first time in the history of the sea, man today escaped from a sunken submarine without outside aid, by use of a safety device.

In a series of tests being conducted near Smith Shoals, 11 miles off Key West, two men attached to the tender Mallard twice made their way safely from the sunken submarine S-4 lying in 40 feet of water to the surface of the sea.

Using oxygen inflated masks, which covered their heads, the men first made their way to the surface from the escape hatch and a few minutes later descended into the submarine again and succeeded in escaping from the motor room. In further tests, they hope to make their way to safety from the torpedo room and other compartments of the under-sea craft in the hope of proving that danger to lives of officers and sailors attached to the submarine branch of the navy may be overcome in case of accident.

The S-4 is the same craft that was rammed and sunk by a coast guard boat off the New England coast sometime ago with the loss of a number of lives. It was later raised and rejuvenated and was brought to Key West for the present tests.

After being towed by the tender Mallard from Key West early today, the submarine was sunk in 40 feet of water, with Lieutenant C. B. Monsen and E. Kolonieki aboard. The Mallard stood by for an emergency.

Taking their positions in the conning tower, where an air pocket had been formed by the inrushing water, the two men donned their masks and prepared for an escape from the submarine, a feat which naval experts said never before had been accomplished without a safety device.

Opening the safety hatch Kolonieki made his way to the surface and a moment later was followed by Lieutenant Monson. Elated over their feat the men immediately descended into the undersea craft again and this time succeeded in escaping from the motor room.

The men next will attempt to make their way safely from the torpedo room. Lieutenant Commander P. H. Dunbar, in charge of the work, expressed great satisfaction over the experiments today and declared they had been a "huge success."

The tests will be continued until Friday unless it is found that they can be completed before that time. Weather conditions today were ideal.

OUTLINE OF SETTLEMENT OF THE ROMAN PROBLEM

ROME, Feb. 5—(AP)—A new outline of the probable settlement of the long standing problem of relations between the pope and the Italian state was given out in vatican circles today with the understanding that it would be signed next Sunday and publicly announced two days later.

In some respects the new basis appears more practical than the solution first suggested for enlarging the present papal territories. The only accession to which the pope is represented as agreeing is a minor rectification of the present vatican confines on the side of Porta Cavalleggieri. It was reported, however, that he does accept an indemnity of 2,000,000,000 lira (approximately $105,000,000) to be devoted to foreign missions, for the Italian occupation of the pontifical states.

The addition of Villas Doria and Abembelek to the vatican gardens with the intervening territory would have produced complications because several thousand persons live in this area. The pope always has maintained that when an agreement was reached he would insist on a fundamental clause that he "should have no subjects."

According to the latest reports the pope would preserve the apostolic palace of the vatican with the present garden rectified so as to make possible the erection within them of a railway station which would give him access to the world. He also would retain the palace of chancellery, the lateran palace and the papal villa at Castel Gandolofo, all of which would enjoy extra-territoriality. These properties with the invaluable collections of artistic, archaeological and historical objects which they contain would be recognized as the absolute property of the holy see.

The pope also would be acknowledged as a free and independent sovereign with his person proclaimed as sacred. The exercise of his ministry would be without any control or interference and the holy see would be at liberty to communicate with the Catholic world either directly or through Italian channels free of any charge.

If it is true that Premier Mussolini has agreed to sign a concordat with the church which will include an application of the canon law in its integrity, it will be of interest to see how it will work in practice because so far all other countries, even the most Catholic like Spain, Austria and Bavaria, have declined to accept the more stringent measures of the law.

OAKLAND, Calif., Feb. 5—(AP)—The Rev. Frederick R. (Kid) Wedgoe, Berkeley minister, bridegroom of two weeks, former pugilist and once a lumberjack, today was ordered committed to the Napa State Asylum for the Insane. Superior Judge Homer R. Epence signed the commitment order following a hearing at a hospital where Wedge had been under observation since he voluntarily surrendered last week after resisting an urge to throw his bride out of the window of their honeymoon suite in an Oakland hotel.

Wedge is going at his own request, contending that he is insane as the result of blows struck on his head years ago when he was a prize fighter. The only witness at the hearing was Wedge's 17-year-old son by his first marriage. Meanwhile Wedge's wife, Mrs. Jennie Minna Holloway Wedge, has filed suit seeking to have her marriage to Wedge annulled.

BEQUESTS IN WILL OF THE LATE OGDEN MILLS

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(AP)—Ogden Mills, assistant secretary of the treasury, made bequests of $900,000 to charitable, church and art institutions by his will which was filed for probate in Duchess county, N. Y., late today. In addition he made death bed bequests of $1,260,000, largely to the same institutions, which are to be carried out by his heirs.

After disposing of real and personal property here and in Paris, France, by specific bequests among his son and two daughters he left the residue of the estate to be divided equally among them. They are named executors without bond or liability. Two daughters are Beatrice, Countess of Grenard, who lives in London and Gladys Phipps, wife of Henry Carnegie Phipps, New York.

50 PER CENT DECLINE IN PREVALENCE OF INFLUENZA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—(AP)—A fifty per cent decline in the prevalence of influenza in eighteen states, the District of Columbia and New York city, during the week ending February 2 as compared with the previous week, was announced today by the public health service, but at the same time Surgeon General Merritt W. Ireland, of the army, issued a warning to the public against being lulled into any false sense of security because statistics seem to indicate the epidemic is on the wane.

General Ireland, in a statement, said that by applying the ratio of attack from influenza in the army to the total population of the country, it was indicated there must have been at least 8,000,000 cases during the eleven weeks ending January 19.

In addition, he declared, there were six million cases of other respiratory diseases, calculated on the same basis, which would justify the assumption that not less than 15,000,000 persons, or one eighth of the country's population have been more than less incapacitated by influenza and "colds" during those eleven weeks.

COLUMBIA SENIOR ARRESTED FOR THEFT

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(AP)—A prospective Oxford student, son of a wealthy contractor, was held in $25,000 bail today accused of attempting to steal photographic supplies which he said he had no money to buy.

The student is George Kaplan, Jr., 19-year-old senior at Columbia university, who was to have sailed next week for England to take a scholarship at Oxford.

He was arrested in a West 42nd street office building last night after the manager of a photographic supply company had surprised him in the firm's offices with $750 worth of lenses and cameras in a bag. Kaplan said he had been admitted to the offices by a scrubwoman to whom he had identified himself as a member of the firm.

In court Kaplan was well dressed and seemed more worried about the presence of newspaper reporters than what happened to his case.

BARON VON HUENEFELD DIED IN BERLIN LAST NIGHT

BERLIN, Feb. 5—(AP)—Baron Ehrenfried Gunther von Huenefeld, one of the three men in the airplane Bremen which was the first to accomplish without a stop the westward crossing of the north Atlantic, died this evening after an operation in a Berlin sanitarium.

The baron entered the Western sanitarium a few days ago to seek relief from the stomach and intestinal trouble from which he had long suffered. He underwent an operation for appendicitis last August but as long ago as the time of his famous transoceanic flight his physical condition was far from good.

Only by his indomitable will to establish the prestige of Germany in the air was he able to carry out his later flight to Tokyo, from which he returned last November.

GENERAL CONDITION OF MARSHAL FOCH UNCHANGED

PARIS, Feb. 5—(AP)—The third "spot" of congestion to appear in the lung of Marshal Ferdinand Foch developed today, yet he held his own despite this and also in the face of a restless night caused by an attack of indigestion. After the evening consultation of his physicians it was announced that his heart, which balked about three weeks ago, was doing its work well and that his respiration and general condition were unchanged.

The pulse, it was announced, registered 80 and his temperature was 99.5. The physicians emphasized that the condition of the lung was a disquieting factor.

Grand Jury Hearing in Jackson Case Set for Feb. 11; Darrow May Defend Rice

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Feb. 5 — Judge Newell Jennings of Bristol today issued an order for the convening of a Windham county special grand jury at Putnam next Monday, Feb. 11, to hear the evidence in the case of Deputy Sheriff Trenor A. Rice, now charged with the murder of his friend and colleague, County Detective William E. Jackson. Announcement that the grand jury had been ordered to convene was made through State's Attorney Howard C. Bradford of Putnam shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon. The convening of the grand jury prior to the arraignment of Rice in police court on Thursday, Feb. 14, as scheduled, is looked upon as a significant legal strategy by the state.

It has been announced this forenoon that Coroner Arthur G. Bill of Danielson would conduct an inquest at local police headquarters at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning and the summoning of some ten witnesses was underway when a second announcement that the inquest would not be held as planned was made. This statement was in conjunction with the order for the grand jury.

Darrow May Defend Rice

Frederic S. Rice of New Rochelle, N. Y., brother of Trenor A. Rice, who arrived here Monday night, continued in his efforts today to secure a nationally prominent criminal lawyer to defend his brother. The names of Attorneys Samuel Untermeyer of New York, U. W. Elmore of Chicago and Clarence Darrow of Chicago were mentioned by Mr. Rice. Attorney Untermeyer, however, is out of the question, as he has been in California for some four months in attempt to recover his failing health. It was understood that Mr. Rice would concentrate his efforts on securing Attorney Darrow. Attorneys William A. King and Samuel B. Harvey of this city, who now represent the deputy sheriff, stated that they had no knowledge of the reports that outside attorneys would be brought into the case.

Unlimited Funds for Rice

It was reaffirmed through Frederic Rice today that there were almost unlimited funds ready to back the defense of his brother and that he with his two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Worden of Yauba City, Calif., and Mrs. Arthur C. Wakeling of Bonair avenue, New Rochelle, N. Y., believed that their brother was shielding someone else.

It was reported today that County Detective Edward J. Hickey, who checked out of the Nathan Hale hotel Monday night, had made a rush trip to New York where it is likely that he assimilated facts concerning the accused and his family. Rowe H. Wheeler, volunteer assistant in the investigation, is supposed to have gone to his home in Monson, Mass., for a rest.

Wife Expresses Her Sympathy

Sympathy for the plight of her husband is apparently beginning to creep into the heart of Mrs. Rice, who is staying with their four children, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Ida Shorter, in Canterbury. Mrs. Rice is now ready to drop the divorce proceedings, at least temporarily, and render any assistance that she may be called upon to give in defending her husband. She has told newspapermen that she does not believe Rice to be the kind that would commit murder. She was in this city today, presumably to confer with Attorney King.

Police Officer Pierre Marrotte was stationed at the Jackson home today and to inquirers he stated that he had orders from Police Chief Thomas F. Grady to keep all persons off the premises. In company with a woman friend, Mrs. Jackson and her daughter, Juanita, are believed to be remaining in confinement in the house, avoiding all interviews.

Rice is Superior Officer to Guards

A singular situation exists at the county jail in Brooklyn, inasmuch as Rice, who is a deputy sheriff, is a superior officer to the guards and technically has the power to order them. He will retain his position as deputy sheriff unless and until he is found guilty of a charge warranting his dismissal, it was stated by County Sheriff Charles A. Gates.

Trenor A. Rice is a veteran of the World war, having seen service with an army tank corps detachment. His brother said today that Trenor was on board a transport that was torpedoed by a German submersible. He managed to reach shore along the coast of Scotland where he was picked up and taken to a hospital, remaining there for several months while he recovered from exposure and some injury.

FIVE DIRECTORS OF C. OF C. NAMED AT ANNUAL MEETING

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Feb. 5—Over 90 members of the Chamber of Commerce attended an enthusiastic annual meeting and banquet held at the Nathan Hale hotel tonight. The first business was the election of five directors to serve for a three-year term in conjunction with the present directors who hold over. The following were elected: Louis H. Arnold, George H. Gurley, James H. Hurley, Roland B. Jordan and Raymond A. Parker. President Frank P. Fenton presented his report which was accompanied by an outline of the program for the year and incorporated thanks to the officers, committees of the chamber, the press and public, the Rockville-Willimantic Lighting Co., and other organizations and individuals for furthering the work of the chamber during the year. The report submitted by Treasurer H. C. Lathrop showed that the business of the chamber had been conducted within its budget. Executive Secretary Earl J. Arnold gave his report which was received with a vote of thanks.

Mr. Arnold's assistants, the Misses Kathleen Giraca and Ora Bill, were introduced to the assemblage. The feature of the evening was a stirring address on "The Challenge of the Uncomplished," by James Davidson Dingwell, civic and community leader of Pawtucket, R. I. The supper was in charge of James B. Fullerton, P. J. Twomey and O. L. Willard.

Mrs. E. H. Cook and daughter, Miss Ethel M. Cook, who have been staying at the Nathan Hale hotel for about a year and a half, have gone to New Jersey where the latter has accepted a position as art instructor in the public schools, a position similar to the one she held here. Miss Cook is succeeded by Miss Marion Atkins of Worcester, Mass., who is staying at the home of Alderman and Mrs. Oliver L. Willard.

ROTARIANS INSPECT THE NEW SILK COMPANY

(Special to The Bulletin)

WILLIMANTIC, Feb. 5—The reception of seven new members and a tour of inspection of the new Willimantic Silk, Inc., plant made up an interesting meeting of the Willimantic Rotary club held at noon today in the Nathan Hale hotel. The Rotary group was one of the largest yet to visit the new mill. The visitors were surprised and pleased at the unusually rapid growth of the new plant which was located here mainly through the efforts of the Rockville-Willimantic Lighting Co. interests. John F. Ahern, general manager of the lighting company, who invited the members to inspect the plant, was called away on business and the role of host was taken over by Messrs. Ralph H. Gibson and Paul L. Moran, assistant managers of the public utilities concern, who were among the new members taken into the club today. They were ably assisted by Earl J. Arnold, executive secretary of the chamber of commerce, and also a "baby" Rotarian. The party was met by Max Stein and A. Corn of the company, who escorted the group on the inspection and furnished interesting information on the use of various pieces of machinery and the plans for future development.

The seven new members, whose initiation will take place at a special meeting later, are: Paul L. Moran and Ralph H. Gibson of the Rockville-Willimantic Lighting Co.; Nelson A. Daniels of the Jordan Hardware Co.; Capt. Thornton Chase of the military unit of the U. S. army at Storrs; Earl J. Arnold, secretary of the chamber of commerce; Raymond E. Shepard, manager of the local office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and Prof. Albert E. Moss of the forestry department at Connecticut Agricultural college. President Raymond A. Parker appointed Justice George E. Hinman, Secretary Gerard E. Loiselle and Sergt. Aime J Martineau as a committee to draft appropriate resolutions on the tragic death of County Detective William E. Jackson, a member of the club.

Dr. M. D. Riordan made a final report on the donation of a surgical bed and equipment in the maternal department of St. Joseph's hospital. The club had previously voted a donation of $100 to purchase this equipment.

Over 80 leading merchants of the city have combined forces in making the coming Dollar day one of Willimantic's greatest merchandising events and one that will long be remembered for the unusual values received. A list of the official Dollar day stores and announcements of the event will be published in The Bulletin Thursday, followed by appealing individual announcements Friday and Saturday. The Dollar day will be the first of two such events to be officially staged by the Merchants' bureau of the chamber of commerce. DANIELSON

JAILER CALLS ON POLICE TO DISPERSE NEWSPAPERMEN

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Feb. 5—A squad of newspapermen representing various publications and assigned to what may be termed the Jackson-Rice case invaded Brooklyn this afternoon and became so persistent in their activities about the county jail, where Trenor A. Rice is held in confinement, that Jailer Walter Tripp found it necessary to telephone over to the state police barracks here for an officer to disperse them. Officer Royal Scranton was given the assignment to see that the news gatherers were shunted away and he went over to Brooklyn and saw that they went, and stayed amply long to be assured that they were not coming back.

The scramble to be first in reporting any developments in a case that involves the murder of County Detective W. E. Jackson of Willimantic, and the sensational climax of the arrest and falling of his friend Deputy Sheriff Trenor A. Rice on suspicion of being responsible for the crime has excited the imagination of the public, and editors, far and near, have not been slow to sense the fact. Hence the assignment of go-getter newspapermen to report the case and their desire to adequately fulfill their assignments. It was felt at the jail this afternoon that they had over-stepped the bounds of propriety a bit in their zeal to interview the prisoner and to do this and that, and Jailer Tripp, a gracious and accommodating man even under very trying circumstances, felt that the writers were going a bit too far, and asked for a state officer to send them away.

Representatives of a cash register company started work at the Brooklyn Savings bank this evening that will eventuate in the installation of a new system, and a most modern and approved one, of recording deposits. The use of a special machine is involved in this and also the issuing of new deposit books to all depositors and the changing over of all filing cards for depositors' accounts. Preparatory work has been going on by the bank's regular staff and additional girls. The change is made in the interest of accuracy in keeping accounts, and therefore in the interest of al depositors as well as the bank itself. The new passbooks will first be issued during the coming week and will be put out until all the old ones are in. On the new books, when a deposit is made, the book itself and the filing card kept at the bank will be put into the machine and both stamped at one and the same operation. The same will be done with withdrawals. The same when interest is added, as will be done March 1. This eliminates all chance of discrepencies between the passbook and the filing card record, for one cannot be stamped without stamping the other, without the error showing up when the totals are made up at the end of the day's business.

This happened over at North Scituate, 15 miles east of here: Dorothy Ryder, 12, of 109 South street, and Lois Ackerman, 15, 2 Light street, both of Lynn, Mass., were trying to get to Danielson Monday afternoon after running away from their home and hitchhiking down into Rhode Island and out on the Danielson pike. They saw an approaching automobile driven by a nice looking young man and they hailed it and asking for a ride. The young man obligingly took them aboard and drove them right into the state police barracks yard at North Scituate. The young man is regularly employed there as a trooper, but he was in civilian clothes for a day off when the youthful maidens asked him for a ride. After the girls had told a variety of yarns to account for their being near North Scituate, they opened up, told the truth and Lynn police were notified, and a few hours later relatives of the girls called for them.

The visitors were served a supper in the high school cafeteria, much to their delight, and then went onto the gymnasium floor and played prior to the basketball game between Killingly high and Woodstock academy, as set forth on the sports page. Following the game the band gave a concert in the auditorium of the high school, many who had attended the game with others who came especially to hear the band being present. The concert was wholly pleasing and is indicative of what the Killingly high school band will be able to do within a few months.

Bradford and Kenneth Warren. A report of the recent state grange meeting was presented by Ray W. Pellett. An outstanding feature of the program was the debate on the subject, Resolved, that woman is of greater value on the farm than man is in the home. The affirmative side was supported by Elsie Richardson, Ralph Colvin and Waldo Wood, the negative by Ray W. Pellett and Deforest Wells, Sr. The judges, Mrs. L. S. Ingalls, Mrs. Maude Keach and R. G. Hilton, decided that the affirmative side won. Rev. Charles A. Downs of Goodyear presented an interesting sketch and a piano solo was played by Miss Alice Jordan.

PUTNAM

INVESTIGATORS IN CONFERENCE WITH STATE'S ATTORNEY

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, February 5—County Detective Edward J. Hickey and Police Officer Arthur Hurley, heading the investigation into the murder of Detective William E. Jackson of Willimantic, slain at his home last Tuesday evening, were in Putnam last evening for a conference with State's Attorney Howard C. Bradford.

The sleuths arrived in this city from Danielson at about five o'clock and spent several minutes behind closed doors with State's Attorney Bradford. The purpose of their visit, nor the subject of the conference was disclosed today.

Following their Putnam visit, Detective Hickey and Officer Hurley, returned to Willimantic where they continued their work in the investigation of the slaying of the county detective.

A meeting of the committees in charge of the membership tea, of the woman's board of the Day Kimball hospital was held this afternoon at the community rooms of the Putnam Savings bank, where final arrangements for the annual hospital feature were made. The name of the yearly event has been changed from the Valentine tea to the Membership tea, but many of the features of the former will be retained.

Since the dedication of the hospital, a benefit has been held annually on the birthday of Day Kimball, to whom the institution is a memorial. Several years ago the woman's board started the Valentine tea, which was always held on the Saturday before.

In charge of the affair this year are the following: General chairman, Mrs. C. Russell Bowen; tea table, Mrs. Ernest C. Morse; waffle table, Mrs. Howard C. Sheriffs; food table, Mrs. George A. Sampson; candy table, Mrs. George A. Vaughn; flowers, Mrs. J. Arthur Atwood of Wauregan; books, Mrs. H. N. S. Bradford of Thompson; entertainment, Mrs. Nelson Lown; membership, Mrs. A. N. Vaughn; press Mrs. Arthur Macdonald; finance, Mrs. Anne S. Rafferty.

Miss Lowan T. Dixon of 17 Grove street, one of the few remaining members of the Waparquasett tribe of Indians, passed her 94th birthday at the home of Miss Elizabeth Child on Grove street, Monday afternoon. During the day Miss Dixon, received a host of friends and acquaintances, in addition to a score of greeting cards, flowers, gifts and visits from the children of the neighborhood, in whom the grand old lady delights.

Miss Dixon has resided for many years with the Child family, in Woodstock and Putnam and her years of life and devotions to the family members have made her one of them.

In his "History of Woodstock" Clarence W. Bowen, speaks of Miss Dixon as being the oldest living native of the quaint little town six miles northwest of Putnam. Despite her advanced age Miss Dixon is active and is in good health. She enjoys the daily visits of her numerous young friends, and is highly interested in the affairs of the city, state and nation, reading daily accounts of the happenings within all three.

The clever and quick-thinking gentleman who on last Monday morning entered the Bradley Beef company in this city and upon false pretenses procured a 68 pound tub of butter and then disappeared, is believed to have fled the city. State troopers of Danielson barracks are directing an investigation throughout this section of the state but as yet have met with no success in locating the swindler.

The Putnam lodge of Elks overwhelmingly defeated their tournament rivals, the Masons in their weekly contest played Monday evening at the Elks club. OBITUARY.

Mrs. Mary E. Duffy.

Mrs. Mary E. Duffy, of 86 Pomfret street, died shortly before noon today at her home on Pomfret street, following a sudden attack of heart disease. Mrs. Duffy is the widow of Thomas Duffy, for many years a resident of this city, who died a few years ago. Mrs. Duffy was born in Ireland, the daughter of Mark and Katherine (Flannery) Golden. She came to this country at an early age, and has resided in Putnam for over a quarter of a century. Mrs. Duffy was a pleasant and hospitable woman and by her motherly spirit acquired a host of friends and acquaintances in Putnam who will regret to learn of her death today.

Surviving Mrs. Duffy are four daughters, Mrs. Thomas Coffey and Mrs. Ann Lepine both of Hartford, Mrs. Katherine Rogers and Miss Rose Duffy of this city, three sons, John, Edward and Thomas, all of Putnam.

Superintendent of Streets Frederick Dumas, who was badly shaken up yesterday afternoon when he slipped and fell between his horses and was dragged several hundred feet, was reported today as being considerably improved.

The children of the city continue to coast on the hills within the city, enjoying their Christmas gifts, for the first time this winter. One has observed that the youngsters have voluntarily refrained from sliding on the more dangerous grades, which are heavily used by vehicular traffic.

Preparations are now underway for the annual checker tournament for the championship of eastern Connecticut. This contest has taken place for the last three years on Good Friday and contestants were present from all over New London and Windham counties. All expecting to participate in the annual event are requested to send in their entries into Putnam at once.

JEWETT CITY

NORWICH ENTERTAINERS AID IN PUTTING OVER BIG SHOW

The second nights' presentation of The Swanee Cabaret Minstrels proved like Monday evening's show, an unqualified success. For the first show the big theatre was sold out, and for Tuesday, there were close to 400 paid admissions, which sets a new mark for local successes in Jewett City. Charles Saunders, in his impersonation of the character Raccoon, has been awarded the prize for his winning wiggles, in his inimitable gypsy glide. Nobody in the whole revue had anything on Tom Barnett, he was there with the goods and his "silver-tone" tenor is sure something to listen to. The 15-minute skit by William Shannon, of Norwich, and Miss Agnes Gill, lost none of its attraction by repitition Tuesday evening. Chester Dudkowski, treasurer of the Jewett City Trust Co., the host of the evening, happily combined a marked degree of dignity with a fine appreciation of the duties of conducting the various phases of the very pleasant evening's entertainment. Warren Kane, of Norwich, again gave much pleasure in his well presented selections. The Swanee Four kept encores coming and in their plantation melodies, as well as the songs of lighter vein, their harmony was perfect. The young women who so ably assisted with vocal solos, gave numbers highly contributory to the general success. The spot light seemed, at times, to be centered on the wonderful performance of the four waiters. They produced all the credentials to prove that they were colored gentlemen of note. Although three of the quartet had to be actually shot during one turn, all were on deck at the finish. The second sight, mind-reading, by Messrs. Thompson and Hiscox, would have been impossible without the able coaching by Brothers Kelly and Marshall. A dozen or more promising lights figured in the Virginia cast. Benson's orchestra and unnamed hanjolsts came in for their share of heartiest applause. The 1,000 or more who enjoyed the show are saying, as did the witnesses of John Gilpin's Ride, "And when he next doth ride abroad, may I be there to see."

Praised For Road-building

A Hartford paper publishes a communication, signed "Suburban," in which the writer submits his views on Connecticut roads and road-building. The following paragraph is of local interest as it carries direct reference to the town of Griswold, and the first selectman, Daniel F. Finn: "I know of a selectman in the eastern part of the state who did so well on the roads that the hown has raised his salary from $300 to $1,200 a year. He used coal ashes and was on the job all the time."

E. H. Hiscox, Jr., and guests, Charles Clark and Mr. Mace, Socony men from New London, were in town Monday evening, to attend the Swanee Minstrels.

MINISTER'S DONATION VISIT A FORMAL AFFAIR IN 1841

Among a collection of papers telling of events, church functions and social affairs of the earlier years of 1800, a friend of The Bulletin has found a pastor's donation invitation, something very welcome in those times, when the minister's salary might include 2 feet of wood and a peck of rock turnips, when some good deacon's purse was thin. The invitation reads:

Donation Visit,
New Year's Eve., 1841

You are respectfully invited to make Rev. Benaja Cook a donation visit, on New Year's evening, 1841.

In behalf of the church and society.

A. BROWN,
E. STILLMAN,
N. B. PECKHHAM,
Com. of Invitation.

Rev. Benaja Cook was the founder of the Jewett City Baptist church.

Burial of Infant Son

Wechsler's new calendar, issued from Plainfield, and a beauty from Smith and Bessett, of Moosup, are Numbers 62 and 63, in Mr. Hiscox's calendar exhibition. The last named is as large as a half door, with a wonderful reproduction of a canvas by Relzea, "The Surprise." The picture is 22x18. The situation, suggesting the title, showing a grizzly bear and a mountain hunter, must be seen to be appreciated.

House-to-House Evangelism

Much interest has developed in the five days' Christian work campaign which is being directed by Rev. Raymond Cooper, of Andover, Mass. The Protestant churches have all united in the plan of house-to-house sititation. After a supper at 6:30, at the Baptist church, the callers, in teams of two, go out for their evening's work. Every detail points to the general welfare of the churches as well as benefits to the community in general.

PRESIDENT WINS AND LOSES.

After much delay and debate the senate has finally acted favorably upon the cruiser bill. In so voting it has complied with the recommendation of President Coolidge, who stressed the importance of cruiser construction, but at the same time the fixing of a time limit for the laying down of the new cruisers was in direct opposition to his wishes. He has urged for financial reasons that construction be left with the president and gave assurance that it was his intention to undertake it just as soon as the money was available. Thus the president wins and loses.

By the action of the senate, a resubmission of the bill to the house will be necessary because of changes made by the senate, but it doesn't appear that the house will disapprove them. Approval by the house of the senate amendments will then place the bill before the president for such action as he may be disposed to take.

It is only because of the time clause in the bill that he would give any thought to a veto of the measure, but in view of his advocacy of the increase in cruisers it seems improbable that he will permit the time clause to guide his action, although there can be no question but what he is strongly opposed to any appropriations that will threaten the treasury with a deficit.

The bill which has been approved by the senate and promises to become law simply authorizes the construction of 15 cruisers and an airplane carrier. There remains to be taken the action of actually appropriating the money for the building of these vessels.

From the overwhelming support the bill received it becomes evident how a few can stand in the way of speedy legislation, or as some may claim it shows what influence prolonged debate has. The senate's vote discloses how strongly that body is convinced that we need more cruisers for the proper defense of our interests, how important it is that we maintain a great cruiser strength and how necessary it is that construction should be undertaken without delay. It is quite apparent that the senate does not regard the vote to build cruisers as inconsistent with the ratification of the Kellogg pact for international peace.

FIGHTING CRIME.

There are states which have found it advisable to adopt severe laws, such as the Baumes law in New York state, for the purpose of protecting the public against the confirmed criminals. The law which calls for a life sentence following conviction of the fourth felony is the development of conditions which got to the point where drastic action was necessary.

It is not surprising that other states are giving consideration to legislation of a similar character in order to get rid of a serious menace. It is inevitable that the increase in crime should be attributed to the failure to properly enforce the laws that exist, and it is an opinion quite generally held that greater advantages are provided for the criminal to escape the application of the law than for those who are invested with the authority to enforce it.

Leniency has its place in administering the law when there is real justification for it, but there are too many instances which go to show that it was neither justified nor appreciated. Frequently it is sought by those who know they are not going to make the most of the chance that is given them. It is used simply as a means of escaping the penalty that is deserved and a chance to get out and return to criminal practices.

Out in Indiana there is much agitation at the present time for better criminal laws in that state and it has followed the many instances where the law is broken and where the guilty have been able to escape punishment through a maze of technicalities. The Indianapolis News declares "The criminal class has come to feel that it takes only an ordinary risk when it preys upon society," and it offers the advice that "The legislature will do well, in addition to creating longer sentences, if it gives some of its time to the business of catching criminals and then seeing that the prosecutor has as fair a chance to send these men up as the men have to escape the law's penalties."

The situation which prevails in Indiana is apparently characteristic of that in too many other states, and it bids fair to continue until the welfare of society gets as much consideration as that of the criminals.

TROTSKY'S LOCATION.

Although Leon Trotsky was supposed to be in exile, and that in the case of Russia means located somewhere in Siberia so definitely that there is slight chance of escape, reports have differed greatly as to his actual location.

There was the time when Trotsky wielded much authority in soviet Russia and he did it with an iron hand. He was one of those leaders who helped to established much of the reputation under which the soviet government labors at the present time. Efforts to eliminate him have been made with varying degrees of success until he was ordered into exile. That promised the most definite disposition of the leader of the soviet armies, but recently reports have been broadcast to the effect that his departure from Siberia has been approved and he is to be allowed to go into Turkey.

One can hardly understand why Turkey should be willing to accept such a person in view of his career and the difficulties he has had with the existing soviet government, but Turkey is privileged to suit its own tastes. In connection with recent statements concerning Trotsky reference has been made to the fact that he was in poor health and that he had only a short time to live no matter where he was located.

But just where Trotsky is at the present time is more or less of a mystery. The story that he was on board a steamship that was wrecked in the Black sea has been followed by a denial. Other reports have given assurance that he has neither embarked on a Black sea vessel nor left Russian soil.

Thus while there is uncertainty as to where Trotsky actually is, it can be safely believed that the soviet government has a pretty good idea where to put its finger on him in case it should so desire. It will not be disposed to take any chances with him and his radical ideas which it does not endorse. It will take no chance of his getting where he can surround himself with those of his followers and stir up trouble for those in control at Moscow. For that reason it seems hardly probable that it would sanction his leaving Russian territory and locating across the border in Turkey.

DISCOURAGING THE SPEEDERS

At the present time attention is being given to the failure to respect the motor vehicle laws in Norwich. Efforts to remedy the situation are being made by obtaining the aid of the state police with the result that a number of arrests have been made.

Broadway isn't a speedway for automobiles and the time has apparently come when it is necessary to impress this upon auto drivers by bringing them into court. The result should be that other drivers will profit from the experiences of others. That is they will do so if they are wise.

What appears to be a regrettable feature of this present campaign is that it will probably be only temporary. Unless it differs from the efforts at the enforcement of other regulations it will mean a strict carrying out of the provisions of the law for a few days and then it will be forgotten, and because certain drivers indulge in fast driving others will get the impression that anything is tolerated and it will not be long before conditions are just as bad as they were when complaint was made.

There can be no endorsement of the idea of fast driving on city streets. It is dangerous for those doing it and it is dangerous for those using intersecting streets as well as for children and adults who cross the street. It is unfortunate that conditions get to the point where a quick and drastic halt has to be called but it is to be realized that speeding should be penalized throughout the year and not simply during one week or a fortnight. When drivers realize that they cannot get away with it, or feel that they will be called upon to explain a defiance of regulations week in and week out, there is reason to expect a much better and more uniform compliance with the rules.

BUS BUSINESS.

When it is reported that there were 36,000 auto busses in use in this country last year and that the bus routes totalled 270,000 miles, it means that about 5,000,000 miles a day were covered in giving such service. The number of passengers carried reach the total of 2,500,000.

Those who have an opportunity to observe the present day patronage of busses will not be disposed to dispute such figures. Rather will they be disposed to declare that if those were the figures for 1928 they will be greatly outdistanced in 1929. There is no escaping the fact that the busses are rendering more and more service each year. This means that the highways are filled with a large number of big vehicles for passenger service, but there is a much greater number of large vehicles encountered on the highways which are involved in the transportation of freight.

There was the time a few years ago when the opening of the bus service brought forth a demand for proper regulations when they were involved in interstate work. It was a matter which was referred to congress and by congress to the interstate commerce commission but as yet it has not been decided what ought to be done.

It will be generally agreed that the interstate commerce commission is sufficiently burdened without taking on such a large amount of detailed work as that would involve, but it would seem as if authority might be placed with the states to adjust such regulations between themselves. That may be the outcome but it will never be charged that undue haste was made in putting it into effect.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

If you cannot prove it otherwise try the new Einstein theory.

Even if civilization is 6000 years old there are frequent instances which show that it has never taken with some individuals.

The man on the corner says: If the ground hog's influence over the remainder of winter is no worse than since Candlemas day, why worry?

Col. Stewart must have a pretty good idea of himself when he thinks he ought to get the support of the elder Rockefeller against the younger.

If the groundhog is right and there are to be 40 more days of winter, there'll be plenty of time to trim the grape vines and read the seed catalogues.

SPOTS.

"My kid sister," said Miss Remwood, "has broken out in spots."

"Not measles!" exclaimed Mr. Queerie.

"Rita," Miss Remwood explained, "has opened another tearoom."

"I hope," volunteered Mr. Queerie, "she's cut out the crazy stripes which ruined the decoration of the other place."

"There isn't a stripe in the outfit," Miss Remwood assured him.

"Then," said Mr. Queerie, "I'll take Bobble to lunch there today. Is it near the old spot?"

"Two doors north," answered Miss Remwood. "You'll have no difficulty," she added with a smile, "in spotting it."

"All right for this once," agreed Mr. Bobble, "but I'm no tearoom maniac."

"This is different," reassured Mr. Queerie." Miss Remwood tells me her sister has dropped the stripes she had in the—er Dizzy Zebra. A little experience evidently has shown her the force of what I said about restful and unobtrusive decoration. I don't see any sign, though," he added, "announcing 'Rita Remwood's tea room.' And Miss Remwood said it was easy to spot."

"Easy to spot!" exclaimed Mr. Bobble. "That's a good one. Look!" Mr. Queerie contemplated a sign portraying a quadruped plentifully peppered with large black freckles. Under this appeared the almost superfluous legend "The Crazy Coach Dog."

"Restful," murmured Mr. Bobble as they entered the door, "and unobtrusive! I must be sick. The walls and everything appear to be covered with black spots."

"They are covered with black spots," said Mr. Queerie.

"I'm glad to hear it," said Mr. Bobble. "I thought I was suffering from spots before the eyes." And look at the spots on the waitresses' aprons and the cubes of sugar—spotted like dice. "It's a wonder she didn't call this place the Dice Box.

"Hush," said Mr. Queerie nervously. "If young Miss Remwood overhears you, she may open another tearoom just on that name."

"I can't read this bill of fare," complained Mr. Bobble. "The spots on it keep moving around like one of those optical illusions."

"It says," read Mr. Queerie, squinting at the card, " 'The Spot to Spot: The Crazy Coach Dog. Our Specialty —Spotted Dog Pudding.' "

"Spotted dog pudding—what's that?"

"I'll bite," said Mr. Queerie. Mr. Bobble shuddered.

" 'Hot dogs,' " continued Mr. Queerie," 'with a spot of mustard. Potatoes with the bark on——' "

"Isn't there anything to eat?"

"Let's just have a cup of tea" suggested Mr. Queerie.

"All right," agreed Mr. Bobble, "if this Remwood girl hasn't thought up a way to put spots in the milk."

"Hello, you dears!" interrupted a gay voice. "Never expected to see you here. My big sister told me your visit to the Zebra made you think me as crazy as a quilt."

"I hope," said Mr. Bobble gallantly, "you get a customer for every spot."

"I made most of the spots myself," said Rita Remwood. "But I'm not worrying about customers. I'm just the ex-proprietor."

"You found a buyer already?" exclaimed Mr. Queerie.

"Signed on the spotted — I mean the dotted-line this morning."

"That's spotting 'em," said Mr. Queerie. "I hope you did well."

"The spots and other fixtures," said Miss Remwood's kid sister, "cost me three hundred."

"Yes?"

"And I sold 'em for five — spot cash."—Chicago News.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Changes The Years Bring

Mr. Editor: On Dec. 24, 1928, I called to see my beloved teacher at Norwich Town—Miss Sarah A. Armstrong—and after leaving her, I slowly walked down toward the city. And when I say slowly, I mean it for this is not exactly from choice, but rather due to the penalty that comes to all through the march of time. As I walked on I could not fail to notice the wondrous changes that have taken place in the years that have intervened, since I was just one of the many boys who have moved along with the fast moving years. I finally came to the far end of the Chelsea parade but what is better known to me as Williams park. As I stood before the memorial to the Boys in Blue, I looked down toward the other end and here I saw those boys once again as they looked to me in the summer of 1865. Do you old young fellows recall what a beautiful day it was, sunshine for some and for many others a day of sorrow, for some mother's boy was missing, sleeping in the sunny south? Schools were closed and the scholars were here, and what a glorious time we "kids" had! And wasn't I proud, for my father had returned, the only one I had to take care of me once again. He was not the same as when he had gone away for he had been previously wounded several times.

As I look at them today they were badges of honor, and to me he looked every inch a soldier for such he was. Everyone of the boys was the same. Talk to any one of those old soldiers today and as he recalls some incident of those days, he will always tell you about the "boys," for to each other they will always be "boys." Just a tone of affection like the boys of the great World war had his buddy or in civil life we know our beloved friend as our pal.

I know the recollections of those early days are more deeply impressed on my mind than anything of later years, and the several incidents of those times passed before me like a fast moving picture. In fancy, years after, I could recall lying in the grass and watching the boys playing baseball, for they were allowed to play ball here, and here was the stamping ground of some of the smartest players of those days. My memory recalls the names of nearly every player who was worth while in those days.

After when I read The Bulletin and see the account of the games during the summer that are played back of the Academy, I can almost see the grounds, the players, and the people. Last season I stopped there and watched those boys play. They were real smart, but I question if they were any smarter than those other boys of the yesterdays, who played over on Williams park. You will please note I persist in calling it by that name. As I walked around just on the outskirts of the fans, I could imagine what must have been the thought of Rip Van Winkle when, on his return, he looked around and did not see one familiar face. That was my case exactly. I didn't know a soul there. I wished I had some one to talk to. Longfellow's poem, My Lost Youth, Comes Back to Me:

Strange to me now are the forms I meet,
When I visit the dear old town;
But the native air is pure and sweet,
And the trees that o'er shadow each well known street,
As they balance up and down,
And with joy that is almost pain,
My heart goes back to wander there,
And among the dreams of the days that were,
I find my lost youth again.

And I slowly wander on, and I see the beautiful Park Congregational church and further along, we see the magnificent St. Patrick's church, and the lawns, the flowers, the beautiful homes, quiet and peaceful. I cannot help but say to myself, "No wonder they call this the Rose of New England, for it is simply beautiful."

Perhaps some of you dear readers who note these letters of mine that appear from time to time, may think I am to effusive in extolling the beauty spots that are near to the Rose of New England, but in my own opinion, I do not wield a pen facile enough to do justice to so wonderful a subject, for nature has furnished the subject, and we but finish the words that act as silent messengers of our thoughts. After all words are but empty phrases for they are not adequate to tell the whole story for nature's wonders must be seen to be appreciated.

You will also recall this one concrete fact that I am carrying you back some 60 years, when everything was different, for then the people moved slower, but they arrived at any objective point just the same. As I look back at them they seem as one great big family, but with the onward march of time, customs have changed. As we became the melting pot of Europe, the people brought with them their own traditions, customs and legends.

The days and times of those early people of New England are slowly, but surely, fading away. The Tale of Acadia is but exemplified in the early lives and times of those hardy people of early New England.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—Stern warning that America will protect her rights on the sea—by live and let live agreements if she may, by force if she must—walked hand in hand with the cruiser bill debate in the senate.

And it was no hotspur senator from the coasts, with navy yards and navy influenced votes in mind, who voiced that warning. It was Borah of Idaho, leader of the cause of peace; Borah who has been a mighty factor for years in forwarding the effort to substitute the law of treaties for the rule of armed power.

For that reason, the Borah amendment to the cruiser bill, seeming perhaps no more than another gesture of deference to pacific sentiment in the country, may prove of far greater significance to the future of civilization than anything else the bill contains.

The Hidden Clause

It was so finally with the naval appropriation bill of 1916, the first navy-second-to-none measure ever put through congress. That bill was prompted largely by allied violations of American neutral rights at sea. And ultimately, it was to a clause of that bill, almost unnoticed when enacted, that President Wilson turned for congressional authority to sign the covenant of the League of Nations.

Still later, President Harding found his authority to convoke the Washington arms conference itself on that same obscure clause, repeated in naval appropriation bills year after year.

What Borah has proposed and the "big navy" men of the senate accented is a simple sentence stating the sense of congress that there should be a restatement and recodification of the rules governing neutral and belligerent rights on the seas.

Walsh of Montana would amplify that with the declaration that the inviolability of private property should be the "basis" of those rules.

May Commit Hoover

In that language President Hoover may find himself committed as he takes office to convoke a freedom-of-the seas conference, to attempt reconciling British and American views. It seems even possible that some preliminary informal conversations to that end have been had. If so, it is still, an administration secret.

Borah thinks that both in the Washington and Geneva naval conferences the main question—what is freedom of the seas?—was evaded. Should it still be unsettled in 1931, when the 10-year building holiday of the Washington treaty ends, Borah clearly believes naval limitation by treaty may collapse. And this was his warning word:

"If England stays with the proposition that she proposes to dominate the seas, we will build a navy superior to England's. In my judgment, that is as inevitable as time."

YOUR INCOME TAX

Forms for filing returns of individual income have been sent to taxpayers by collectors of internal revenue. Failure to receive a form, however, does not relieve the taxpayer of his obligation to file a return and pay the tax within the period prescribed—on or before March 15, 1929, if the return is filed on a calendar year basis.

Persons whose net income for 1928 was derived chiefly from salary or wages and was not in excess of $5,000 should make their income tax returns on Form 1040A.

Persons whose net income was derived from a profession or business, including farming, or from the sale of property or rent, although the amount was less than $5,000 are required to use the larger Form 1040. The use of Form 1040 is required also in the case where the net income was in excess of $5,000, regardless of whether from salary, business, profession, or other taxable sources.

Stories That Recall Others

The Reason.

Bob is a precocious youngster in the second grade. He has been seated near a small girl of his acquaintance with whom the teacher had caught him whispering. One day the teacher moved Bob to another seat. Bob's mother hearing of the change asked the reason. At first Bob feigned ignorance. The mother persisted. "Well, there just had to be a reason," whereupon Bob rebilled. "Well, I guess the seat was uncomfortable."

Page Methuselah!

There is a community which boasts of the longevity of its residents. One day last summer a family reunion was held there. A visitor approached a distant relative of that neighborhood, who was close to 60 years old.

"Are you well these days?" the relative was asked.

"Oh, yes, tolerably well," she answered.

"How is your mother? She is 80 years old, isn't she?"

"Oh, mother, is all right. Yes, she was 80 last month. She'd have come to the reunion today but she had to stay home with grandma."

YOUR HEALTH

COMPLICATIONS AVOIDED BY SIMPLE MEASURE IN SUCH DISEASES AS INFLUENZA

By F. W. Sears, M. D.,
State Health Officer, Syracuse, N. Y.

The importance of isolation and rest in bed in the treatment of communicable disease is not, I believe, as well understood as it should be by the general public.

Were it not for the wonderful mechanism by which nature defends itself against disease, the world would soon be depopulated. The more we study nature's forces and direct our efforts toward assisting those forces, the more successful we are in preventing the serious results in all types of disease, especially those of a communicable nature.

A person who is ill from any exhaustive disease more easily becomes a prey to other forms of infection, and one of our chief objects for isolation should be to protect the patient against the invasion of other diseases. This is especially true of those maladies known as the acute infectious diseases, such as diphtheria, scarlet fever, influenza, measles and whooping cough.

When in a healthy condition the mucous membranes of the nose, throat, and trachea form an almost perfect barrier against the invasion of disease germs. However, once a disease attacks these structures, the mucous membrances of the nose and throat become swollen, their function is impaired and they are unable to filter out grosser infective material. The epithilial lining of the trachea becomes to a certain extent paralyzed. Their little miscroscopic hair-like celia are incapable of waving back the invisible germs and there is thus formed an open road for other infections to invade the deeper structures, especially the lung tissue.

Diseases like whooping cough, measles and influenza of themselves rarely produce death. Fatalities following these diseases are usually due to some complication such as pneumonia, middle-ear infection, etc. These complications are generally caused by the invasion of other disease-producing germs.

Isolation and rest in bed in the vast majority of cases will prevent these complications. With a record of hundreds of cases of influenza in our recent epidemics, I have not known of a single case of pneumonia as a complication in which the patient was isolated and kept in bed throughout the entire course of the disease. This is also quite true of the complications from measles, especially when this disease occurs among children under three years of age in whom nature's forces are not developed to the same extent as in older persons.

The general assumption is that we isolate solely for the protection of others. This, of course, is important, but to my mind it is no more important than the protection that it gives to the patient who is suffering from the disability caused by the contest that is going on in the system between nature's forces and the invading disease.

Many a married man who isn't exactly smart is shrewd.

Little Talks on Thrift

THRIFT STUDY IN AMERICAN SCHOOLS NOW MAKING RAPID PROGRESS

Reports from all parts of the country show a rapid development, during the current school year, in the teachings of thrift in the schools. Previously this work, while it had enjoyed the loyal support from school authorities, had not yet been reduced to textbook form. About one year ago a definite course of study outline for use in years one to eight, inclusive, was completed by the American Society for Thrift and any school in the country desiring this outline, which is the result of thirteen years of research and study, can now secure it by writing the thrift society in New York.

The latest reports show that schools in every section of the United States and even in our Insular possessions are adopting this outline in their curricula.

When the idea of teaching thrift in the schools was first brought forward in 1915, objection was made by school authorities that the teachers were overburdened and that the introduction of a new branch would reduce their efficiency. The educators who worked out the course of study outline have gotten around this objection, however, by using these thrift lessons in connection with other branches such as language, geography, history, arithmetic and home economics. In this way progressive teachers and school executives have been brought into sympathy with the general plan for thrift teaching and the co-operation of the great body of teachers has been secured.

It is also of importance to learn that the great Parent-Teacher's association has swung into line with this noble endeavor. Thus parents more and more are being brought to a realization of the priceless value of thrift being taught to their children in the class room.

School authorities everywhere should give attention to this movement. It has now passed far beyond the experimental stage. Thrift teaching in the schools of this country has become a reality. —By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.

Riddles of Childhood

Jean was a girl of 11 who had been under the care of an orphange since her parents' death some four years ago. In spite of the good car and wise placement in a foster home, Jean was a problem child. The teachers complained that they had always had trouble with Jean's behavior in school. She was such a perpetual talker and when corrected she was apt to show her temper in no mild way. Often when having temper tantrums she would scream, bite and kick. As Jean did not respond to the usual type of discipline, but seemed to be growing progressively worse, she was brought to the mental hygiene clinic. Here it was found that there were certain slight physical disorders which might account for some of Jean's antics. An intensive psychiatric examination of Jean was made by the clinic and as a result of this study, a change in foster home placement was suggested for her. She was placed with an aunt who has recently been made to feel a responsibility for Jean and who seems quite willing to follow expert advice in handling her.

Jean began to respond well to this understanding care and attention. Her teachers reported that her school work and her behavior both were improving. Her aunt, after a period of a few weeks, reported marked improvement. After a few months the psychiatrist found Jean happy, natural and frank. She was adjusting well in her present home and her behavior was no longer "savage."

Burgess Bedtime Story

Roughleg Gets a Hint From Reddy Fox.

By THORTON W. BURGESS.

Take a hint wherever you find it;
'Twill often pay you well to mind it.
—Roughleg the Hawk.

"The trouble with snow is," muttered Roughleg the Hawk, as he hungrily looked this way and that way across the Green Meadows, now all covered with snow, "that a fellow doesn't know where to look. There is no way of knowing where these Meadow Mice are living. When there is no snow, the moving of the grass will tell me where Mice are living and then I can watch those particular places. Sooner or later, I am sure to catch a Mouse. Hello, there's Reddy Fox! I wonder if he expects to have any better luck than I have. That isn't any luck at all."

He watched Reddy come down from the Old Pasture. As soon as Reddy reached the snow-covered Green Meadows, it was evident that he too was looking for Meadow Mice. He was doing real hunting. He trotted from tussock to tussock of grass and from clump to clump of weeds. At each he used that sharp nose of his. He knew where Danny Meadow Mouse and his friends were likely to be found. He knew that where there were seeds, there would sooner or later be Mice.

Very trim and neat looked Reddy Fox as he moved from one clump to another. His ears were set forward and Roughleg knew by this that Reddy was using his ears as well as his nose and eyes. Suddenly Reddy paused with one black foot uplifted. His head had turned quickly to one side. For just a second he stood motionless. Then he sprang forward and began to dig rapidly. My, how he made the snow fly! Roughleg leaned forward eagerly to see if Reddy would catch a Mouse. He half chuckled when he saw that Reddy was unsuccessful. Then a sudden thought came to Roughleg.

"Mice do not travel very far under the snow," thought he. "It is sure that Reddy heard one and tried to dig him out. Now that Mouse will not go very far away. I know now where there is at least one Mouse. If there is one, there probably is more than one. That place will bear watching."

Meanwhile, Reddy Fox had moved on. For some little distance he trotted from one bunch of grass to another and from one weed clump to another. Then, as before, he sprang forward and began to dig rapidly; and, as before, Roughleg leaned forward eagerly. He wasn't quite sure about it, but he thought that Reddy caught a Mouse this time. If he was unsuccessful, there was one more place for Roughleg to watch. Roughleg would watch it anyway, for even if Reddy were successful, there might be other Mice there also.

Roughleg bent his head and then, lifting one foot, he scratched the base of his hooked bill with one of his great claws. "I wonder that I never thought of it before," muttered he. "Here I've been wondering how I could find out where the Mice are under the snow and until today it didn't occur to me to make use of Reddy Fox. Now I will no longer waste time watching in the wrong places. I'll just keep a sharp eye on the places where Reddy has been digging. Reddy doesn't know he has been doing me a favor. No, sir, Reddy doesn't know that. But he has been doing me the biggest kind of a favor. Ha! He caught a Mouse that time! I hope he doesn't catch them all. Anyway, I'm glad that he hasn't got as empty a stomach as I have."

Just then Roughleg looked over at the place where Reddy had been digging at first. Then he spread his great wings and a second later he was right above that spot. He plunged down and when he was once more in the air, he had a Mouse. Those sharp eyes of his had seen that Mouse peeping out of the hole that Reddy had dug.

"I knew it" said Roughleg to himself as he ew back to his perch. "Always before I have been jealous when Reddy Fox has hunted on the Green Meadows. Now, I hope he'll keep on hunting, for a while anyway. I feel better now. It is queer what a difference in the outlook a little food in the stomach makes."

SUGAR AID TO ADEQUATE DIET

Encourages the Eating of Healthful Fresh Fruits and Vegetables

It is high time that the public became aroused about the craze for dieting. Medical authorities warn us that nourishing foods are necessary to everyone, and especially to growing children.

Undernourishment is a peril to health. Good feeding is necessary as a protection against tuberculosis and other diseases. Children should be kept overweight for their age and height.

"How is sugar a benefit both to the youth and the adult?" we asked an eminent scientist recently. Sugar in the diet is the fuel preferred by the body. Within a few minutes after eating, sugar appears in the muscles, the fire-box of the body. Think how children and all active people need this perfect fuel in their diet.

Not only that, but sweetening so improves the taste of the maintenance foods that it makes eating them a pleasure.

In addition to milk and milk products, young people and adults should eat a varied diet of cereals and fresh vegetables and fruits. Sugar makes these healthful foods palatable and enjoyable. Modern candy, containing fruits, nuts, milk, chocolate and sugar, is perfect for dessert. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

screen stars use it to keep their skin soft and smooth

Jeannette Loff, charming Pathé star, says: "No matter what climate my pictures take me to, or how hard the water, I have found that Lux Toilet Soap keeps my skin enviably smooth."

"I am utterly enthusiastic about Lux Toilet Soap," says pretty Mary Nolan, Universal star. "Even the most expensive French soaps have not kept my skin so beautifully smooth."

REALLY exquisite skin does win hearts—Hollywood knows how surely it wins them!

"If a girl wants popularity she must have a lovely smooth skin," says William K. Howard, Pathé director. "Without rare beauty of skin a screen star can never hope to win her public, no matter what else she may have."

Nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap. You have only to look at Jeannette Loff's skin, or Mary Nolan's, or Nancy Carroll's, to see how exquisite this delicately fragrant white soap keeps the skin. Small wonder that every one of the great film studios has made Lux Toilet Soap the official soap in all dressing rooms!

You'll love it yourself—its generous lather is so caressing, and leaves your skin so velvety. Use it in your bath, too—and for the shampoo, as the screen stars do.

Nancy Carroll, Paramount—"Lux Toilet Soap is delightful for the skin."

ADDRESSED WOMAN'S CITY CLUB ON ORIENTAL RUGS

Under the auspices of the Woman's City club, Miss Marion Bishop presiding, a lecture of unusual interest and charm was given by Mr. Haig Iskiyan of Hampton, Ct., Tuesday afternoon at the Wauregan hotel. Mr. Iskiyan, who is well versed in his subject, Oriental Rugs, held the close attention of his audience.

In his words, an old Hebrew tradition places the handicraft of skillful spinning and weaving and wool close to the Biblical account of the beginning of the human race. In Egypt, also, there are records of rugs in her rock-cut tombs and monuments, some of which date as early as 27 centuries before Christ.

Other records show that the Chaldeans, Abyssinians and Persians were the first to use rugs as floor coverings, wall hangings, tomb coverings, and awnings. Afterwards the conquerors of the peoples took up the industry and spread its popularity throughout their dominions.

Since the origin of the rug weaving art in the world, Armenian rugs and carpets have been considered the most famous and have been much sought after by the rich and the princes of the world. Rug making was introduced into Europe by the Moors, whose palaces and mosques were adorned by magnificent carpets, much admired as objects of wonderful ingenuity and of great value.

From that time, interest in rugs was increased and today they are considered the most desirable and artistic floor coverings in the world. The eastern method of weaving is exceedingly tedious, consisting of knots and stitches made, one by one, with the fingers.

Young Mohammedan women and girls are the principal weavers. The chief beauty in an oriental rug is in the blending of the colors, and the softness of the texture. To obtain this the stock raised for this purpose is very carefully looked after and nothing but the purest wool enters into the fine rug.

Often the sheep or goat is covered with a piece of muslin to protect the wool. Another point, especially stressed by the speaker, was the great care in cleansing and dyeing the wool. The wool is cleansed many times in cold water and the dye bath is always cold. To perfect some desired colors is often the work of months. The colors are extracted from certain leaves, roots, barks and flowers. Of late years aniline dyes have been introduced into rug weaving countries, although in Persia are very strict laws, forbidding their use and inflicting very severe punishment in case of any offense.

The fact that all Chlentak remove their shoes before entering their homes, was given as the chief reason why rugs that have seen generations of wear, are still in a perfect state of preservation. Formerly all oriental rugs were made for their own use, or for gifts to princes, masters and lords.

Every one of these rugs has its individuality and should be considered in the same light as a fine tapestry or painting of great worth. As the teachings of the Koran forbid the use of figures of any living thing, no such figures are ever found in the Turkish rugs. The Persians, however, weave animals, birds, and also human figures into their rugs and carpets. Some also have poems and quotations from famous Persian poets.

Sometimes we find a head woven into a rug, that is to guard against "the evil eye" belief, which is one of the most deep rooted of eastern superstitions. A verse from the Koran is also considered an effective charm.

Persian rugs are always oblong in shape, due to the form of the rooms in Persian homes. It is a belief of theirs that when the devil gets into a square room it is a difficult matter to drive him out, while in an oblong room he is easily scared away.

In describing the prayer rug of the Mohammedans, Mr. Iskiyan sang the call to prayer investing the atmosphere with a very real oriental moment. The lecturer's closing remarks were on the origin of design and art. The lecturer gave it as his view, that from an economic standpoint, oriental rugs are one of the best investments and urged, in their purchase, that one should consider one's children, grandchildren and great grandchildren, that they will convey the love of home from one generation to another in the form of beauty and usefulness.

Rare and beautiful specimens of oriental art were on exhibition and were much admired by all present. Tea was served by the civics committee, Miss Elizabeth Huntington, chairman.

TWO AUTO DRIVERS FACE CHARGES OF SPEEDING

Pendleton of No. 425 West Main street and Leslie G. George, P. O. Box 141, Plainfield. Both are charged with speeding. They were alleged to have been traveling about 45 miles an hour on Broadway when stopped by Officer Smith. They are to appear in city court this (Wednesday) morning

JURY RETURNS VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT IN WISNESKE CASE

A defendant's verdict was returned in the superior court at New London at 5:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the $10,000 damage and negligence suit brought by John Wisneske, administrator of the estate of his late father, Anthony Wisneske, of Franklin against The Connecticut Co. Trial of the case was started before Judge Christopher L. Avery and the jury Tuesday morning and the case went to the jury about 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. Wisneske claimed that the deceased was aboard a trolley of the Connecticut Co. the night of Sunday Oct. 3, 1926, and that at a place known as Armstrong's crossing in the town of Franklin, the car stopped to let his father off.

He claimed that his father was in such a condition that the company is liable in that the conductor did not attend to the safety of the man by notifying a car bound in the same direction that the man was not in good condition and to watch out for him.

According to the evidence, the elder Wisneske had been drinking but was not intoxicated before he left the trolley but later, witnesses passing by in an automobile, claim they saw a man answering to his description crawling on his hands and knees near the waiting station.

A car bound in a direction opposite to the car in which Wisneske had ridden is alleged to have come along and struck the man, who later died as the result of injuries received. The motorman of the car, according to evidence, first saw the man when he arose in front of the car but it was too late to avoid hitting him.

The jury was as follows:

New London—Thomas Gragan, Gordon Pendleton, Archie F. Hutchins.

Groton—James E. Griswold, George B. Lewis.

Stonington—Albert G. Martin.

Montville—Fred Kent, Milton L. Bogue.

Waterford—Stanley Jordan, Monroe L. Beckwith.

East Lyme—Herman W. Smith.

JUDGE AVERY MENTIONED FOR SUPREME COURT

Among those whose names are being mentioned for appointment to the supreme court bench is Judge Christopher L. Avery of Groton. Judge Avery is at present presiding at the New London county superior court in session in New London.

Two appointments to the superior court bench are to be made by the general assembly of 1929 on nominations by the governor, and the names of at least ten possibilities are beginning to be heard on Capitol hill, at Hartford. The age limit of 70 years takes Judge Isaac Wolfe of New Haven from the superior bench next winter, and for the same reason, the following summer, Chief Justice George H. Wheeler of Bridgeport must retire from the supreme court. The retirement of the chief justice will make associate Justice William M. Maltbie of Hartford the logical successor to be named by Governor Trumbull and Judge Christopher L. Avery of Groton the superior court judge to be elected to the supreme bench.

Following the retirement of Judge Wolfe, there will be three democrats and nine republicans among the superior court judges. Judge Avery is one of the democrats, and if promoted will leave Judge L. P. Waldo Marvin of Hartford and Judge Edward M. Yeomans of Andover as the only ones of that party. Since the death of James H. Webb of New Haven, there has been no Roman Catholic on the superior bench and there is considerable talk now around the state that the opportunity presents itself for Governor Trumbull, although a republican, to name at least one Catholic and perhaps a democrat.

Appointments to the higher bench are somewhat influenced by geography. The populous counties, however, get the majority of the judges and New Haven and Hartford counties seem to be leading in the number of candidates.

Attorney General Benjamin W. Alling of New Britain, whose name was prominently mentioned a year and a half ago in connection with the federal judgeship, is understood to be receptive to appointment to the supreme court bench. Hartford is mentioning the names of Judge Nathan A. Schatz of the police court and of Judge Thomas J. Molloy of the court of common pleas, and also that of Associate Judge Arthur E. Howard Jr., of the court of common pleas for promotion to the superior court bench. Judge Molloy is a republican and a Catholic, and in the connection the name of Judge William J. Malone of the Bristol police court is also heard.

For democratic timber the city of Waterbury offers the candidacies of Frank P. McEvoy and John H. Cassidy and New Haven puts forward the widely known lawyer, Walter W. Walsh. New Haven county has no dearth of candidates and prominent among them is Frederick M. Peasley, senator from the 14th district, who has been a superior court judge under a recess appointment by Governor Templeton, but who was not named for the regular term by Governor Trumbull.

Judge Peasley, however, was in the good graces of the republican organization again in 1927, when he served in the house as a member from Cheshire, and he still has the organization backing as a senator. Judge Walter M. Pickett of New Haven, of the court of common pleas is another prominently mentioned from New Haven county, and Litchfield county, which has only one superior court judge—Judge Arthur P. Ells—suggests its common pleas judge, Elbert B. Hamlin, for elevation to the superior court bench.

COUNTY MINISTERS HELD MEETING HERE TUESDAY

A meeting of the New London County Association of Congregational Ministers was held Tuesday at the parish house of Park Congregational church, this city, with 20 ministers attending. The meeting was called to order at 10:30 o'clock by the moderator, Rev. George Clark of Preston City, who also led in the devotional service.

Rev. Samuel H. Howe, D. D., pastor emeritus of Park church, read a splendid paper, the subject of which was A Study on the Doctrine of Repentance. A delicious luncheon was served at 12 o'clock by a committee under direction of Mrs. Raymond B. Sherman, after which the ministers engaged in a discussion of the paper read by Dr. Howe.

DRIVER HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH

William P. Markee of New Bedford, Mass., narrowly escaped death about 6 o'clock Tuesday morning on Laurel Hill avenue. A Buick coach, driven by him, skidded on the icy pavement and came to a stop after it had crashed into a telephone pole and then collided with the Clay block. Markee was thrown from the machine, but received minor bruises when he landed on the highway with the steering wheel clutched in his hands. A man riding with him was also slightly injured, sustaining a cut on the head. The machine was almost completely demolished and the building was somewhat damaged. The automobile was proceeding toward New London at the time of the accident.

SENATORS MCLEAN AND BINGHAM ARE ILL

(Special to The Bulletin)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 5—Senators McLean and Bingham are compelled by illness to forego casting a vote for the cruiser bill "as is" even though they have been active leaders to keep the bill in its original form. Senator McLean has been ill for several weeks but Senator Bingham was on the floor of the senate yesterday but today is suffering from a heavy cold so remained at home. Both are paired so their votes are not actually lost. The pairs stand Bingham for bill, Wheeler against; McLean for bill, Glass against.

MINIMUM COST PER SCHOOL PUPIL SHOULD BE $70

Most of the Connecticut towns which are "not according their school pupils a minimum of educational opportunity" either have in their schools many inadequately trained teachers or they are unable to hold teachers with satisfactory preparation, according to an analysis of town school reports by Roger M. Thompson, director of the division of research and surveys of the state board of education.

Mr. Thompson's study was based on returns from the seventy-six towns in the state which are not spending at least $70 per pupil yearly for school maintenance. The state board of education feels that such a minimum should be set for the state and a bill now before the legislature would extend in state aid an amount sufficient to provide such a minimum school expenditure, the town to use 34 per cent. of its tax income for schools and the state to make up the difference between that sum and the cost of a $70 education.

Of these seventy-six towns, Mr. Thompson finds, there is one in which only 11 per cent. of the teachers are normal school graduates, another with a 14 per cent. record, three with 25 and twenty-three have 50 per cent. or fewer.

Under the state law, a teacher now entering the service must have a normal school education or its equivalent but there are, of course, a number of teachers, with local certificates who were in the service before the enactment of the present certification law and its requirements are not binding upon them so long as they remain in the same town.

The inability of these towns to hold trained teachers is shown by the figures from six towns which report 100 per cent. in normal school graduates. The best record in this group is an average local tenure of a little over three years and three of the six cannot hold their teachers much more than a year.

The study shows, says Mr. Thompson that as the amount per pupil expended increases, average salaries are higher, better trained teachers are secured and tenure is longer. There are five towns which expend between $35 and $44 per pupil annually. The total average experience of the teachers is six and one half years and service in the towns from which they were reported is 3.8 years. The average for this group is probably higher than it would be if Colchester did not have privately endowed Bacon Academy to lessen its educational burden.

Eleven towns have a yearly per pupil cost between $45 and $54. Their teachers have had a total average experience of 5.1 years and have served these towns three and one half years. In the $55 to $64 group are thirty-three towns. Their teachers have had an average professional experience of six and one half years and local tenure averaging four and one half years. The twenty-one towns paying between $65 and $69 have teachers with an average experience of seven and one half years and average service in the towns is 4.6 years.

TO CREATE BOY SCOUT CIVIC SERVICE AWARD

It was voted to create an award to be known as the Boy Scout civic service award at a meeting of representatives of the Norwich troops Monday evening at the Boy Scout office in the Shannon building. This award will be presented to the Norwich citizen who has accomplished most for Norwich in 1928 in the estimation of the Scouts at the opening dinner of the Boy Scout campaign on Feb. 25. The person to whom the award, a medal, will be given was decided at the meeting Monday, but his name will not be divulged until the dinner. The Scouts are to purchase the medal by each contributing a small sum.

Arthur L. Peale, chairman; William Burns, scoutmaster troop 10; James Fitzgerald, assistant scoutmaster troop 5, and Grant Denison, scout troop 12, were chosen a committee to complete arrangements for the February event. DRIVER FINED FOR OVERLOADING HIS TRUCK

In the city court Tuesday morning Thomas Mellady of Phillips street, Griswold, driver of a five-ton truck owned by the Thames River line of this city, was presented on the charge of operating an overloaded truck. A demurrer to the complaint was entered by Attorney Edmund W. Perkins, counsel for the Thames River line, but it was overruled by the court and a fine of $25 and costs was imposed.

Officer Smith of the Groton barracks, on the watch for violators of the motor vehicle law, stopped the truck on Broadway Monday afternoon and ordered Mellady to drive to the Chappell company scales. It was found that the truck was carrying a load of 28,010 pounds, 3,020 pounds in excess of what the law allowed. Before the truck was weighed the driver admitted to the officer that it was overloaded to the extent of 2,500 pounds.

ALL RECORDS FOR CONN. POWER GENERATION BROKEN

All records for electrical production in Connecticut were shattered during the year of 1928 according to figures compiled from United States geological survey monthly reports. During the year, Connecticut power and light utilities generated a total of 1,268,599,000 kilowatt hours of electricity—a figure which exceeds the total of the previous record year of 1927 by 6.1 per cent. The actual gain of 1928 over 1927 in power generation in Connecticut was 73,500,000 kilowatt hours.

In creating the new record total, the steam generating stations and water power plants of the utility companies played a practically equal role. This is decidedly unusual, for in previous years when the state's record has been broken, the new mark has been due almost entirely to one or to the other individually. For instance in 1927, it was a gain of more than 50 per cent. in hydro generation which put the state over the top for the year. In 1928, the percentage gain by both methods of generation was approximately equal.

Fuel generation at the steam operated plants totaled 979,463,000 kilowatt hours for the year, making an increase over 1927 of 6.2 per cent. Water power plants developed 289,136,000 kilowatt hours during the year, a gain of 5.9 per cent. over 1927 hydro figures. The hydro figure is the more remarkable of the two, however, for the water power gain was made over and above the increase of 50.6 per cent. of 1927.

The year of 1928 was especially unusual in view of the fact that the previous high monthly total of January, 1927, was five times broken during the past year, March, August, October, November and December, all exceeding that figure by substantial margins. The high monthly total for all time was set in October when Connecticut utilities produced a total of 116,358,000 kilowatt hours, a mark which was almost equalled in November and December, however, and which seems destined to be topped during the present twelve months. Ten of the twelve months bettered the production total of the corresponding month of the previous year.

October, November and December alone exceeded the past monthly records for steam station generation. Although eight of the twelve months exceeded the hydro total for the corresponding month in the previous year, none enjoyed as high a hydro figure as the record month of December, 1927. This undoubtedly was caused by a more even distribution of water power throughout the year, rather than by an extraordinary quantity of water power in any one month.

UNITED CHURCH BOY SCOUTS HAVE BANQUET

The annual banquet of Boy Scout Troop No. 1, of the United Congregational church, was held Tuesday evening at the Community house, the scouts having their parents and friends as their guests. A delicious supper was prepared and served at 6:30 o'clock, by the scouts, the menu being as follows:

Grape Fruit
Meat Pie Mashed Potatoes
Peas Celery
Apple Pie Ice Cream
Coffee

Arthur L. Peale, scoutmaster, was toastmaster for the evening and called upon the following speakers for remarks: Rev. A. H. Abbott, pastor of the United Congregational church; Secretary Edwin Hill, of the Y. M. C. A.; Boy's Secretary Emory H. Davis, of the Y. M. C. A.; Capt. Charles Colt, president of Norwich Council of Boy Scouts; Scout Executive Frederick J. Bielefield. Fred Fox, former member of the troop, and Cecil Wetherbee, junior assistant scoutmaster.

Following the interesting talks the scouts gave a demonstration of lighting fire by friction; also a first aid sketch, which was followed by the scout investiture, in which all scouts took part.

The committee in charge of the affair comprised Cecil Wetherbee, Joseph Skoronsky, Benjamin Schwartz. All arrangements, even to the preparing and serving of the supper, were in charge of the scouts and from the reports received their work was accomplished in A-1 fashion. It was voted one of hte most delightful affairs ever held by the troop.

The occasion marked the 19th anniversary of the troop, which is one of the oldest in the United States, having been established in 1910, the Rev. Herbert J. Wyckoff being the first scoutmaster.

During the supper hour a fine programme of music was furnished by the Harmony Boy's orchestra. About 60 attended.

UNCERTAINTY OF SUNDAY GAMES IN BOSTON HOLDS UP NAT. SCHEDULE

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(AP)—The annual schedule meeting of the National league today failed in its major purpose as the 1929 schedule failed of adoption.

A series of playing dates had been arranged calling for a number of Sunday games in Boston. A permit for playing these games has not been granted the Boston Braves so the schedule, instead of being ratified, was referred to President John A. Heydler, for later action.

The National league as a result of today's meeting has a vice president for the first time in its history. Barney Dreyfuss, presidnet of the Pittsburgh club, and senior member of the organization, was elected to the newly created honorary position. Mr. Dreyfuss became associated with the league in 1892 as the head of the Louisville club.

The 1929 season will open Tuesday, April 16, five days later than last year, with New York playing at Philadelphia, Brooklyn at Boston, St. Louis at Cincinnati, and Pittsburgh at Chicago. The season will close Sunday, October 6, one week later than the closing date in 1928.

As a result of formal action today, the waiver price on first-year players will be $7,500 regardless of the initial cost of the athlete involved. Formerly if waivers were refused on a first year player, the club claiming him was obligated to pay the club holding title the sum paid for him.

After the first year a player is subject to the waiver price paid for regulars, $4,000. An effort to increase the regular waiver price to $7,500 failed.

It was suggested that the change in first-year waivers will have a tendency to invest large sums in untried players of uncertain value when they may be forced to dispose of them for $7,500. The reduced price probably will result in extended major league employment for some youngsters, who fail to demonstrate their worth at first glance.

Today's meeting was the last the National league will hold at the Waldorf-Astoria meeting place for many years, as the hotel will be removed to make room for an office building. A new headquarters has not yet been selected.

An umpiring staff of 14, 12 active and two advisory, was announced. Robert D. Emslie and Henry (Hank) O'Day were retained in an advisory capacity and 11 of the 12 active callers of balls and strikes were on the staff last year. The addition is George L. Magerkurth, promoted from the Pacific coast league.

The services of Magerkurth were obtained by purchase. President Heydler announced that the National league paid $2,000 for the umpire's contract, a new high mark in the baseball market. The recruit umpire was a catcher and first baseman as a player and has umpired in the Mississippi Valley league, the International, American association and Pacific coast. His home is at Moline, Ill.

The active members will be: William J. Klem, Charles Rigler, Ernest C. Quigley, Charles B. Moran, William J. McCormick, Robert Hart, Charles Pfirman, Jack Reardon, Louis Jorda, Albert D. Stark, Sherwood R. Magee, George L. Gagerkurth.

SAMPSON TO REMAIN AS COACH AT TUFTS

MEDFORD, Mass., Feb. 5—(AP)—Arthur G. Sampson, has agreed to continue indefinitely as football coach at Tufts college, Athletic Director Clarence Houston, announced today.

Sampson, according to Houston, will have the standing of a professor, although he has been relieved of all class work, except a football coaching course, and will also coach track in the hope of raising it to a higher level.

In the event that Tufts students refuse to enthuse over this branch of sport, Sampson will try to interest them in basketball or baseball Houston said.

Sampson finished his third season at Tufts last fall. Under his direction the Jumbo elevens have won 17 games, lost six and tied one. His 1927 team finished its season as the only undefeated and untied aggregation in the country.

HARVARD'S CREW PROSPECT TERMED AS ONLY "FAIR"

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 5—(AP)—Harvard's 1929 crew prospects were rated as "fair" by Head Coach Ed Brown today, when he started his third season as director of the varsity eight.

In addition to Captain Forrester A. Clark, a veteran of two Yale races, five other members of last year's varsity eight reported to Brown.

Brown also has three experienced coxswains available. One of Brown's major problems appeared to be the developing of a stroke-oar to take the place of Jack Watts, last year's captain, now attending Cambridge university in England.

In outlining his plans, Brown said he intended to pursue the same course, as regards training and organization, that he has taken for the past two years.

COCHRAN, WITH HIGH RUN OF 158, BEATS HAGENLACHER

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(AP)—Running up a high string of 158, Welker Cochran of Hollywood, Cal., defeated Eric Hagenlacher of Germany, 400 to 283 in the afternoon match of the 18.2 balkline billiard championships today. Cochran's high run in the eighteenth inning brought him within one carom of 400 in the eighteenth inning. He ran out in the next frame.

The inning score:

AGGIES CLASH WITH PROVIDENCE COLLEGE TONIGHT

(Special to The Bulletin)

STORRS, Feb. 5—The Connecticut Aggie five went through a stiff workout here today for the first time this week, in preparation for the invading Providence College team tomorrow night. The Nutmeggers suffered their second defeat in seven starts against the Trinity college five last Friday night, an dCoach Alexander is drilling his men hard in order to get them back into its winning stride.

The Aggie defense was shaken up somewhat by Coach Alexander who placed Captain Schildgen at the guard position in place of Duffy who is still bothered with a bad knee. Schildgen, athough captain, has yet to start or participate in a contest this season because of an injury. It is very probable that he will be in the game against the Dominicans, in his first start.

A radical shakeup occurred in the first string lineup today that faced the second team in a scrimmage. Besides the replacement of Duffy at the guard position, Matzkin was sent in to pair up with Ryan at the forward position. Long Dan Chubbuck remained at the pivot position. This combination showed much offensive power, and kept a tight defense against the attack of the second team.

Without a doubt there will be some change in the lineup that faces the invaders tomorrow night when the teams take the floor. This game will be the acid test for the Connecticut aggregation, as the Providence team comes here with a good record having won ten of its eleven starts, taking as its victims such opponents as Dartmouth and Holy Cross.

With Schildgen back in the game, and Matzkin at the forward position, the Aggies will show added scoring power against the invaders. The lineup: Ryan and Matzkin, forwards; Chubbuck, center; Dall and Schildgen, guards.

STRIBLING NOT TO DO ANY FLYING

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 5—(AP)—W. L. (Young) Stribling announced tonight that he will obey Jack Dempsey's injunction against flying in airplanes or riding a motorcycle until after his fight with Jack Sharkey here February 27.

"I was going to get a lot of recreation out of my plane before the fight, but it looks like I'll have to use an automobile or 'shank horses' if I want to feel the breeze in my face," the Georgia lighter said. The injunction requested yesterday by Dempsey's attorneys, had not been served on Stribling tonight.

Stribling is doing road work nightly, but will start his ring training at the Miami Beach Kennel club Friday. Sharkey plans to begin tomorrow and will go through his paces again on Thursday, but will go to Tampa with Dempsey Friday to attend a fight there. Sharkey worked out in his ring today for news camera men and drew applause from a crowd gathered to watch him.

Johnny Buckley and "Pa" Stribling started consideration today of the list of referees eligibles submitted to them yesterday by Dempsey. Possibility of radio broadcasting for the fight was eliminated today when W. F. Carey, vice president and treasurer of Madison Square Garden corporation announced that the fight would not be broadcasted.

In discussing the injunction tonight, Stribling said he was sorry Dempsey had insisted on his staying on the ground.

"I'm feeling fine," he continued, "but I need a little bit of flying now and then to keep me in good trim."

BOSTON MEN TO PROTEST SCHMELLING'S CANCELLATION

BOSTON, Feb. 5—(AP)—After denying New York reports that Max Schmelling, German heavyweight, had been given permission to cancel his Boston bout with Con O'Kelly on February 15, Boston Garden officials today threatened to appeal to the boxing commissions of this and other states to suspend him if he failed to fulfill his contract.

"There has been no official release of Schmelling's contract, and his fight with O'Kelly will come off on February 15 as scheduled," Huntington R. "Tack" Hardwick, chairman of the Boston Garden's executive committee, declared.

Both Hardwick and Eddie Mack, the Garden's boxing promoter, denied that their organization had entered into any kind of an agreement with the Madison Square Garden corporation regarding Schmelling's release, and both agreed to ask the Massachusetts boxing commission to suspend the German in this, and every other affiliated state, if he failed to delay his return to Germany until after he had fought O'Kelly in this city.

Schmelling, according to reports, plans to sail from New York on February 15, the day on which he agreed to meet O'Kelly.

FOUR IN TIE FOR LEAD IN HORSESHOES

ST. PETERSBURGH, Fla., Feb. 5—(AP)—The unerring coordination of eye and arm that makes for ringers is gradually reducing the field of aspirants for the world's championship in the ancient barnyard sport of tossing horseshoes—tonight eight contestants remained in the running of the tenth annual tournament here.

Closing the second day's play, Jimmy Risk of Montpelier, Ind., Clair Nunnamaker, Cleveland, Ohio; Burt Duryee, Wichita, Kansas; and J. D. Hough, Urbana, Ills., were in the van with five victories and one loss each.

Closely following comes the champion, C. C. Davis, Columbus, Ohio, who has apparently come out of the slump which cost him two games on Monday, H. Elmerson, of Kenosha, Wis., P. Mossman of Eldora, Iowa, and C. R. Thompson of Harvey, Ills., who have each won four games and lost two.

This about makes up the field for the championship.

Tomorrow, the women's world's horseshoe pitching tournament will open with a small but select field of entrants. Mrs. Mayme Francisco, Columbus, Ohio, and a former champion, is favored to gain possession of the title.

MRS. STERRITT IS MEDALIST IN MIAMI BEACH PLAY

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 5—(AP)—Mrs. H. D. Sterritt, Hutchinson, Kansas, medalists in yesterday's qualifying play in the seventh annual Miami Beach Women's Golf tournament, won her first contest in the first day of match play today. Mrs. Leo Federam, Great Neck, L. I., runner-up in yesterday's qualifying play, won today from Mrs. L. A. Riley, Pittsburgh, 6-5. Miss Jean Arendes, Cumberland, Md., defeated Miss M. Weaver, Fort Thomas, Ky., four up.

Mrs. Rose Brophy, Miami Beach, defeated Mrs. M. M tzinger, Roslyn, L. I., 5-4 and Miss Lucille Bejuck, Pittsburgh, won a 4-3 match from Mrs. John Arends, Chicago.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 5—(AP)—Plans to start the Harvard spring football practice on March 18 and continue it for three weeks, were announced by Athletic Director William J. Bingham today, when he returned from a western trip. Bingham said he had several football conferences with Head Coach Arnold Horween in St. Louis.

PUTNAM CLASHES WITH STONINGTON HIGH TONIGHT

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Feb. 5—The Noyesmen of Putnam high school, face for the second time this season, their newest rival Stonington high, on the home court Wednesday evening. The Noyesmen have already dropped two straight games to Chapman Tech and Tourtellotte Memorial high, and have for the past three days been preparing to stage a comeback, for their first appearance in nearly a month on the local floor.

Coach L. F. Noyes said this morning that he has been putting his team through lengthy workouts, since their downfall in North Grosvernordale Friday night, and was confident they would make a creditable showing against the Stonemen. In the work out this afternoon the Blue and White first stringers appeared to have gotten over the ill effects of their double trouncing last week and were in a snappy form.

One berth at present is unoccupied, that of right forward. To find a capable running mate to Leo, who plays the other forward is one of the hardest problems the Blue and White mentor has toface. Neither Denning nor Bove seem to satisfy, as both lack the ability of fast floor work, and the presence of both seems to slow up the rest of the group. Walt Cody, the irregular pilot, who has whacked about the line-up in nearly every contest, is a strong candidate to share forward positions with Leo, and perhaps will be called upon at the last moment to occupy the position.

Charley Bove, whose name rests in the P. H. S. hall of fame, because of his football accomplishments last fall, is trying his hand at hooping, and today was a favorite to start in one of the guard positions. Big Bill Shann, one of the ablest members of the local aggregation, is to return to his regular berth at center, and will furnish the fans plenty of action, when Referee Whaples of Norwich tosses the first jump at the high school gym tonight.

The rest of the Blue and White lineup will remain intact, with Sabin and Marion at the guard positions.

About three weeks ago, the Noyesmen started on their southern tour and their first obstacle was the strong Stonington five. A fast encounter was seen throughout, with Shann, Leo and Cody accounting for many of the Putnam chalk marks in the 38-31 victory for the locals.

No information was available from the Stonington camp today, but it is thought that a strong and re-constructed team will be directed upon the floor to attempt to stop a mid-season rally of the Putnam high five.

ARMORIANS HAND SLATER FIVE BAD TROUNCING

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Feb. 5—The Armory Five of Danielson swamped the Slater Quintet of Webster in the Danielson armory here tonight 52 to 28. The Slater Five, league leaders, came to Danielson tonight with only one loss and they were decisively defeated by the underdogs. The Danielson team led throughout the encounter by a large margin. The Armorians had a perfect combination of three men, Lague, Gale and Adams who scored 14, 13 and 15 points respectively. In the first stanza the Armory five piled up a 16-point lead with the half ending 25 to 9 in their favor. The second half found the Slater five threatening to score with three consecutive shots but they were soon put to rout by the home team. The high scorer was Adams of Danielson with Lague not far behind. This game was a complete upset in the Southern New England league. The summary:

CHAPMAN WINS EASILY OVER PLAINFIELD HIGH

(Special to The Bulletin)

Gerber was a regular last season and Narlesky was purchased from the Mobile club in the Southern league. Boyles Shades Kauffman

READING, Pa., Feb. 5—(AP)—Bucky Boyle, 134 1-2, Allentown, won an unpopular decision over Pinky Kauffman, 135 1-2, of Hartford, Conn., in an eight round bout here tonight.

The majority of the crowd thought that Kauffman had won easily and staged a hooting demonstration after the verdict. The decision was given by the referee after the judges disagreed.

PLAINFIELD PROS UP AGAINST FAMOUS HAKOAHS OF N. Y. TONIGHT

Another banner attraction for basketball fans of eastern Connecticut will be staged at the Plainfield Community house this evening when the Plainfield Pros match basketball talent with the famous Hakoahs of the American Basketball league. The Hakoahs comprise all Jewish athletes led by the world famous Nat Holman and Davey Banks, two of the highest salaried basketball stars in America. Holman's salary is said to be $15,000 while that of Banks, a lesser light, is $8,000

Holman and Banks alone should draw the basketball fans from all parts of eastern Connecticut but besides these two there are other players on the club who are playing a brilliant game. Holman and Banks, along with Lopchik, are credited with being the three men in the American league who are making the game pay. The fans turn out to see these stars where they pass the other teams up. For real playing ability Holman is second to none in the world today and Banks is running him a close second.

With these stars playing with the Hakoahs tonight the local basketball enthusiasts will have seen some of the most renowned stars in the game as Johnny Beckman and Swede Olsen played at Plainfield earlier in the season. The game itself promises to be fast and furious for Plainfield has shown well against other teams who boast top notch stars.

Finding that the switch in the lineup of last week worked well Manager Salisbury will send in the same combination this evening. Kasper is to team up with Tisdale in the forward line while Pop Williams will take care of the center position. Dissinger and Whitey Bernot are paired in the guard positions. This shift has added a great deal of speed to the floorwork of the Pros and has increased the scoring opportunities many times.

In the preliminary game the Plainfield Buddies, as yet undefeated on their home floor, tackle the Stonington Ironmen who are reputed to have a strong combination. The prelim starts at 7:45 and the big game is called for 8.45. Dancing as usual follows the games.

KILLINGLY TAKES CLOSE GAME FROM WOODSTOCK

(Special to The Bulletin)

DANIELSON, Feb. 5—Woodstock Academy five was defeated by the Killingly high warriors in a close encounter in the Killingly gym here tonight by the score of 24 to 21. The Killingly aggregation was in the lead throughout the game although the visitors led by H. Young opened a fierce attack in the last session which put his team within a point of Killingly.

McKeon opened the game with two field goals in succession before H. Young rung one in for the visitors. The Red and White held the lead at the end of the first quarter 6 to 2. The second quarter was one-sided with Killingly going in high gear and at the termination of the half the score was 16 to 6. The last half displayed neat passwork by both teams with neither team outplaying the other in the third quarter which ended in a 20 to 8 score in favor of Killingly. The minute the whistle blew for the opening of the final quarter Young opened the fireworks for Woodstock with four baskets. Wetherill of Woodstock followed with three fouls leaving Killingly only one point ahead. Withey and Young then scored putting the game on ice for the locals.

The high scorer of the game was H. Young of Woodstock with 12 points while Captain Withey was leader for Killingly with 10 points. Coach Schofield of Killingly put in the second varsity before the end of the first half. This victory gives Killingly five wins in seven starts. The summary:

STEEL STANDS FOR HARVARD STADIUM

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 5—(AP)—Permanent steel stands sufficient to seat approximately 18,000 persons will be built at the open end of the Harvard stadium in time for the football season next fall, William J. Bingham, director of athletics announced tonight.

The decision to build the steel stands solves a problem which arose two years ago when Boston authorities condemned as unsafe the wooden stands that had been erected to accommodate the overflow from football games.

A recent plan to close the open end with a concrete structure sufficient to increase the seating capacity to 80,000 was turned down by the Harvard corporation.

Although no definite estimate has been made of the cost of the new stands it is expected to approximate $175,000.

COOLIDGE SIGNED AUSTRIAN DEBT SETTLEMENT PACT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—(AP)—President Coolidge today signed the Austran debt settlement resolution providing a plan for funding of the loans extended by the United States to that nation during the reconstruction period following the World war.

The amount of the debt, $34,680,968, will be paid in 25 equal annuities beginning in 1943, or, at the option of Austria, in forty annual payments of varying sizes beginning in 1929.

The settlement terms also authorize the secretary of the treasury to cooperate with other creditor governments to enable Austria to float a loan of not less than 725,000,000 Austrian schillings for a program of rehabilitation.

JUNE 21 FIXED FOR YALE-HARVARD RACE

NEW HAVEN, Feb. 5—(AP)—A rowing conference held here this afternoon fixed the date for the Yale-Harvard regatta at New London, for June 21, and the Yale-Columbia and Pennsylvania meet for May 4, on the Housatonic river at Derby. The Yale-Harvard varsity race on the Thames will be rowed upstream starting at six o'clock.

The usual four races will be held and the distances will be the same. They are the 150-pound crew race of one mile and five sixteenths, the Henley distance and the freshman and junior varsity races of two miles.

F. V. Chappell, chairman of the regatta committee was of the opinion that a conference between representatives of the two universities and to coast guard authorities would result in better protection for the carsmen, whom he said, were endangered last year by the swarms of boats which left their positions almost immediately after the finish of the Yale-Harvard varsity race. This conference, it was announced, would be held a week prior to the regatta at New London.

Those who attended the meeting were John M. Cates, director of athletics; H. E. Woodcock, general manager of the athletic association; Roger Damon, manager of the crew; Coach E. O. Leader, and J. T. Palmer, of the athletic association, all of Yale; C. F. Getchell, general manager of the Harvard A. A.; Coach E. J. Brown, of Harvard and H. Johnston, crew manager; D. F. Wynne, of the Central Vermont railroad and the following who represented the New Haven road: W. P. Read, R. M. Smith, W. A. Potts, J. V. Whalen, E. J. Mather and J. J. Greer, and Chairman F. V. Chappell, of New London of the regatta committee.

Men Who Guard Their Health

Smoke Cigars

A cigar is smoked for enjoyment and taste, slowly and quietly, not a mere nervous habit or craving. The day's end does not find the cigar smoker tired, with nerves a-flutter, throat irritation and mouth parched.

Perhaps the basic reason for the great prevalence of throat trouble is the irritating action of HOT tobacco smoke on the very sensitive membrane of the mouth and throat.

Cigar smoke is cool, because the tobacco burns slowly and the smoke is filtered and cooled as it is drawn through the cigar itself. To really test cigars with justice to yourself and to cigars, we suggest the test to be made with

FINANCIAL TOWN MEETING CONSIDERS ANNUAL BUDGET

(Special to The Bulletin)

WESTERLY, R. I., Feb. 5—The annual financial town meeting when appropriations are voted to carry on the town's business for 1929, was held in the town hall Tuesday evening. Moderator Lewis Stanton presided. Town Clerk Everett E. Whipple was clerk.

Reports were presented for the various town departments and estimates of requirements and plans for the coming year. Following is the summary of the budget as present with the recommendations of the members of the town council:

For general government, town hall $6,000; town officers $20,000, printing and advertising $2,000 $28,000; protection of person and property (police) $23,000; highways and bridges $100,000; street lights $17,000; charities and hospitals $9,000; education (day and night schools) $153,000, miscellaneous, $9,000; Merrill post, No. 16, American legion, World war memorial $1,500; interest (as necessary) $34,000; preservation of records $100; mothers' aid $4,000; assessors plats $500; Rhode Island state tax $18,800; reduction of bonded department $60,000, total $457,800.

The board of water commissioners, Tristam D. Babcock, Thomas H. Morrison and Lewis Stanton, Thomas McKenzie, superintendent, in the 32nd annual report showed total receipts of $76,284.81 and total expenditures $74,212.96 with balance Jan. 1, 1928, $4,297.38 and Jan. 1, 1929, $8,169.11.

The meeting voted a tax levy on rateable real and tangible personal property of $2.50 on each $100 valuation and on rateable intangible property 40c on each $100 value, the same as last year. The levy was voted as of the 15th day of June 1929, at 12 o'clock, noon, with list to be delivered to the town clerk by the tax assessors, Howard E. Thorp, William Ledward and George W. Woodward, on or before Sept. 1, 1929, and taxes due and payable Oct. 15 to 31st, 1929, inclusive with interest thereafter.

Authority was voted Town Treasurer James M. Pendleton to issue his notes in anticipation of payment of taxes in amounts not to exceed a total of $400,000.

Budget Sums All Voted

To save time for the 400 or 500 taxpayers assembled, Town Treasurer James M. Pendleton moved that the various reports be approved, placed on file, and the usual ones printed without the formality of their long reading. The president of the council, Horace E. Burdick urged the passage of the budget as recommended by the council at the lower figure of $457,900. Thomas Perry, made a motion that the items be taken up separately and they were so voted, until the item on highways and bridges was reached. For this department Engineer A. L. Leon stated that the hihgway department budget originally called for $146,952 and in making the lower figure of $100,000 projects at Watch Hill, Ocean View avenue and Meadow lane; Oak street sidewalks and Highland avenue extension had to be omitted; $5,000 in the $100,000 was to care for Central park improvements. As to the Broad street project, the North curb line moved back two feet and the camel back on Granite street eliminated. Following discussion participated in by G. H. Utter and George A. Dolan it was moved by Harvey Perry that the highway budget figure be taken up last and it was so voted.

Director of Public Aid Oliver P. Crandall stated that the expenses at the town asylum had been $5,649.84; for outside poor $3,560.75 and for hospitals $296.55. Receipts from the town farm amounted to $373, from the town treasurer $8,500, and from the estate of F. L. Pierce $644.56, a total of $9,517.56, leaving $500 of unpaid bills.

A discussion arose as to the advantages of having the inmates of the town farm taken to the state infirmary at Providence and Dr. John Champlin said that five years ago there were 400 inmates there and today 800 with ample room for the care of many more. The cost of care at the town farm per capita is $600, and at the state infirmary it has been $400. When the amendment to leave the matter of removal of the town farm inmates to a committee of five was lost the motion prevailed for Director Crandall to use his best judgment in sending the ten inmates of the town farm to the state infirmary.

The budget figures were all voted with the increase of $5,000 for the schools.

Thomas Perry introduced a vote that this meeting authorize the construction, building and equipment of a Westerly Junior high school, with the building committee, the three members of the school committee, Frank A. Sullivan and Clifford W. Campbell. After some discussion the second vote was passed for the town solicitor to secure legislation for a bond issue amounting to $500,000, for this building purpose on Highland avenue. A third vote for the same purpose gave authority to the town council to incur an indebtedness not to exceed $500,000.

A sketch of the proposed building was on exhibition.

Supreme Court To Decide

On Friday, the Rhode Island supreme court at Providence, will concern a Westerly case when a hearing is set on petition of Harry Brooks, of Allston, Mass., owner of the Colonial club site on High street, against the Westerly town council, for a review of the council's action in passing an ordinance, changing the building line in front of the property, and against Louis J. Rossi, inspector of zoning, seeking to compel him to approve a permit for the erection of the proposed building. Mr. Brooks, who purchased the Colonial club property from the Memorial Public Library association, seeks to remove the obstacle in the path of the erection of a business structure, plans for which have been made. Mr. Brooks contended that the ordinance violated the United States and state constitutions in that it deprived him of his property without due process of law and took it for public use without just compensation. Mr. Brooks asks the supreme court to compel the zoning inspector to approve the permit.

DRINK HOT WATER TO END INDIGESTION

INSTANT RELIEF

Thousands of unfortunate people suffer almost daily from stomach acidity, gas, sourness and indigestion after eating. If they would start the agreeable practice of taking a glass of hot water containing a teaspoonful or four tablets of pure Bisurated Magnesia, they would soon find their stomach so strengthened and improved that they could eat the richest and most satisfying meals without the least sympton of indigestion.

Nearly all digestive troubles are caused by an excess of acid and an insufficient blood supply in the stomach. Food ferments and sours before digestion can take place. A glass of hot water draws the blood to the stomach and Bisurated Magnesia neutralizes the stomach acids and keeps the stomach strong, sweet and healthy and promotes normal painless digestion. Bisurated Magnesia is not a laxative, is harmless, easy and pleasant to take, and can be obtained from any well stocked druggist in either powder or tablet form. Try this today and enjoy your meals in peace.

G. H. BRADFORD UNANIMOUSLY NAMED COUNTY COMMISSIONER

(Special to The Bulletin)

HARTFORD, Feb. 5—The republican members of the assembly met this afternoon and unanimously, by acclamation, renominated George H. Bradford, of Montville, for his fourth term, as county commissioner of New London county, for the next four years. The nominee was brought into the room by Ex-Senator Beckwith and empressed his appreciation of the honor given him. During his commissionership there has never been a vote cast against him. In part Mr. Bradford said that he would continue to give his best efforts to advance the interests of New London county (the best county in the state). He then invited the members of the caucus to have dinner with him at the Garde hotel. He included, in his invitation, the door keepers and messengers from New London county.

GEORGE H. BRADFORD

Lieut. Governor Rogers, of New London, was the special guest and occupied a seat at the head of the table with the host.

BUDGET OF STATE BOARD OF FINANCE AND CONTROL

HARTFORD, Feb. 5—(AP)—The budget as prepared by the state board of finance and control for 1929-31 was presented to the legislature today.

Beginning the present biennium with a balance of $786,812.29 July 1, 1927, the state had $807,956.57 on hand a year later, according to the report. The receipts of the general funds which meets all specific appropriations except such state business as is supported by fees were $21,380,169.80 by June 30, 1928. Of this amount $1,291,104.38 went to appropriations.

Claims passed for payment during the year amounted to $19,900,404, leaving a volume June 30, 1928 of $2,287,722. At that time $7,040,279 was available in the cash highway fund, pledged to highways. Receipts for this fund during the year were $11,730,789, and claims passed for payment including those at the motor vehicle department amounted to $16,257,488, leaving a cash balance of $2,566,630

The report points out that the actual expenditures of the highway department from June, 1927 to June, 1928, were the largest in its history. The full effect of the $1,000,000 appropriation from motor vehicle fees, plus receipts from towns as their share of their cost of the construction of state aid roads, was not felt during the year, because the first allomtnet under the 1927 state aid law could not be made until November. Just how much assistance this gave will not be made until the report of this fiscal year is made.

The state spent a total of $36,506,865 from June, 1927 to June 1928.

HEARINGS OF INTEREST TO EASTERN CONNECTICUT

STATE CAPIOL, Hartford, Feb. 5—(AP)—The finance committee of the general assembly is understood to have voted favorably this afternoon on the bill which would make taxes payable within 30 days after they are due. The bill, introduced by Mr. White of Guilford, makes the time period the same as it was before 1927, when the present law, which allows sixty days, was enacted.

Tax Commissioner Blodgett, in a long speech, explained his support of the bill as based on the nomadic tendency of human beings and their disinclination, or lack of time, to pay their taxes. The nomadic tendency and the other factors, he said, cause much loss in tax revenue to communities. A score of tax collectors also supported the measure, several appearing in person and other sending letters. Mr. Johnson of Pomfret member of the committee, objected because in his community, he said, a summer colony resident would not be in a position to pay within 30 days. He withdrew this objection when he saw that everyone else who spoke favored the bill. Among the supporters were Collectors Collins of Columbia, Smith of Avon, and the collectors of Stonington, Old Lyme, New London, Groton, Haddam, Middlefield, Hartford, Norwich, East Hartford, Waterbury, West Hartford, Saybrook and New Britain, besides others.

The appropriations committee, after considering routine appropriations for state executive offices, drew up a bill allowing $10,000 to send Gov. Trumbull his staff and two companies of the Foot Guard to attend the Hoover inaugural in Washington, March 4.

Lieut Gov. Rogers, as member of the Fort Griswold tract commission, appeared with "facts" which, he said, were not to be considered as placed "pro or con," when the military affairs committee met to consider three bills relating to Fort Griswold. The lieutenant-governor's facts were mainly historical and concerned ownership of the tract.

The bills are to authorize repairs to the Groton monument at Groton, to preserve the original headstone at Colonel Ledyard's grave and to build an accessible vehicle entrance to Fort Griswold.

Some men are willing to tell the truth if it reflects on somebody else.

There are many reasons for the ease of steering the new Ford

THE new Ford is exceptionally easy to steer because of the well-proportioned weight of the car, the steel-spoke wheels, the co-ordinated design of springs and shock absorbers, the size and design of the steering wheel, and the simple mechanical construction of the steering gear.

The Ford steering gear is of the worm and sector type used on high-priced cars and is three-quarter irreversible.

In simple, non-technical language, this means that the car responds easily and quickly to the steering wheel, yet there is no danger of the wheel being jerked from the hands of the driver by ruts or bumps in the road. A light touch guides the car, yet you always have that necessary feel-of-the-road so essential to good driving.

Strength of materials and careful workmanship give unusual stability to the Ford steering gear and housing.

The steering worm, for instance, is splined to the steering worm shaft and is stronger, of course, than if a single key were used to hold the shaft and worm together. The steering worm sector is forged and machined in the same piece with its shaft.

The housing of the steering gear mechanism is made of three steel forgings, electrically welded together. This housing is then electrically welded to the steering column. Such a one-piece steel unit is naturally much sturdier than if several parts were used and bolted or riveted together.

Throughout, the steering mechanism of the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires practically no attention.

The only thing for you to do is to have the front steering spindles, spindle connecting rods, and drag link lubricated every 500 miles and the steering gear lubricated every 2000 miles. This is easy to do because of the high pressure grease gun lubricator fittings provided for these parts.

For this work, you will find it best to consult the Ford dealer. He has been specially trained and equipped to help you get the greatest possible use from your car over the longest period of time at the least trouble and expense.

STOCK MARKET WAS WEAK YESTERDAY BUT GAINED STRENGTH BEFORE CLOSE

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(AP)—The stock market was declined to feel somewhat feeble today, but recovered considerably during the session after general potions of good news. More than a score of issues closed at new high levels, although a liberal sprinkling wound up 1 to 10 points lower.

Takings of more than $15,000,000 in gold in London by New York bankers, the largest since the resumption of the flow of the yellow metal in this direction, was particularly stimulating, as it brings the total of the current movement up toward $30,000,000. Call money held at 7 per cent., all day, but was available in the outside market at substantial concessions from the official rate. The tone of time money was again somewhat easier.

Aviation and copper shares led the upturn, responding to the air mail flight of Col. Lindbergh in Central America, another 1-4 of a cent increase in the domestic price of copper, and an increase in the annual dividend rate of Anaconda Copper from $6 to $7.

The uneven tone of the market was ascribed to uneasiness over the credit outlook and professional selling. Call money has held at higher levels this week than was anticipated. While the new gold shipments was greeted enthusiastically in many quarters, it also aroused fears of an increase in the Bank of England's rediscount rate, which would draw funds from the market, and might be followed by a higher rate here.

Trading was moderately quiet, total sales holding close to 4,000,000 shares for the second successive day.

The aviation shares responded to the flight of Col. Lindbergh in a manner reminiscent of the way they were sent soaring by his New York-Paris flight. Wright Aero mounted 20 points to a new peak at 299. Curtiss climbed 7 points to a new top at 173 1-2, and Packard moved up 6 points.

Most of the coppers mounted 3 to 5 points, Anaconda, American Smelting and Howe Sound breaking into new high ground. Webster Eisenlohr, which is reported to have harbored a large short interest, was whirled up more than 17 points. Union Carbide, American Can, American and Foreign Power, Coca Cola, International Business Machine, Chrysler, Timken Roller Bearing and Vanadium made substantial gains. Simmons sold up about 5 points on reports that the directors will institute stock dividends at the March meeting.

Rails generally yielded to profit taking. Atchison, Atlantic Coast Line, Canadian Pacific, New York Central, and Nickel Plate sagging 2 to 3 points. Chicago Northwestern shares again touched new highs, however, the preferred advancing 9 points, and Jersey Central added 2 points more to its peak price.

Case Threshing dropped 8 and General Gas and Electric B, 10 points. Allied Chemical, Du Pont (new), National Biscuit, Mathieson Alkali, Peoples Gas and Macy lost 2 to 5 points.

The commodity markets were inclined to heaviness. Grains sold off in profit taking and cotton was dull and moved in a narrow range. Sugar broke sharply on pressure from Cuba and Porto Rico, where the new crops are beginning to move more freely. Crude rubber, however, jumped about 1-2 a cent a pound in response to strength of the London market.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(AP)—Prices slipped downward today in the dull trading in the bond market. A few scattered issues, however, made substantial gains in sympahty with stocks and favorable trade news, but the recent convertible market leaders fell back on profit taking. Volume of sales declined to $9,615,000, slightly under yesterday's total.

Porto Rican-American Tobacco 6s, which are convertible into Congress Cigar common, were again pushed into new high territory, closing for a net gain of 1 1-4 points. New Haven Convertible 6s, were another strong spot, touching a new high at 126, but losing most of their gain under profit taking in the closing dealings.

Anaconda Copper 7s, dropped 1 1-2 points despite an increased dividend rate on the common stock and a further advance in red metal. Three other recent leaders in the convertibles—Alleghaney Corporation 5s, American International 5 1-2s, and International Telephone 4 1-2s, lost ground.

Utilities as a group sold off, Public Service of New Jersy 4 1-2s, slumping nearly 5 points. Other issues to display weakness included Western Union gold 5s, and American Natural Gas 6 1-2s, the latter touching a new 1929 low. Philadelphia Co., gold 5s improved.

St. Paul issues, recent speculative favorites, yielded under selling pressure in the mixed rail list. Reports that appeals by bondholders will hold up the receivers' sale of Minneapolis and St. Louis sent the certificates down nearly a point and the Convertible 5s, 6 points. Wabash 5s, B, slumped 1 7-8.

Wickwire Steel issues, the Convertible 7s, rising 2 points, ran contrary to the general trend of the industrial list. Tennessee Copper and Chemical 6s, continued their advance under stimulus of approval of a new bond offering and retirement of part of its funded debt. Certainteed 5 1-2s, dropped to a new low at 78 for the year, and International Cement 5s, turned heavy in the late dealings.

Italian industrials declined in the mixed foreign list, Pirelli 7s, losing 1 1-2 points and Montecatini 7s, with warrants a point.

U. S. Government obligations were irregular.

Treasury Balance

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5—(AP)—Treasury receipts Feb. 2 were $16,657,310.35; expenditures $11,016,848.86; balance $137,025,105.08.

BILL WOULD CONSOLIDATE ALMSHOUSES IN STATE

Early indications are manifest that many towns in the state together with various public welfare agencies will support the bill introduced in the legislature to consolidate almshouses in Connecticut. The move is sponsored by the department of public welfare, and already more than 100 selectmen and other town officials and members of charity organizations have written to the department expressing a favorable attitude toward such a plan. Speaker Samuel Eddy of the house, is understood to be a strong supporter of the proposal, and Commissioner of Finance and Control Edward F. Hall has declared himself in favor of it. Herbert G. Bailey, superintendent of the Hartford charity department, is an outstanding opponent to the bill, it is understood.

There are at present forty-seven almshouses in Connecticut, of which only eight or nine are of any considerable size. In many instances people who are logical inmates of such homes are being boarded in private homes, where there is no supervision. If there are abuses in the institutions there are undoubtedly similar abuses in these private boarding places, in the opinion of the department of public welfare, and one purpose of this new bill is to make possible better supervision of the care and treatment of charity wards.

The general plan under the consolidation would be to have about eight almshouses in the state, preferably one in each county, and so scattered that all of the 169 towns could be served. Each would have accommodations for single or married people and an infirmary wing. The almshouse would be built and maintained by those towns voluntarily joining in an association for that purpose, each paying toward the upkeep what it costs to board patients from that town at that institution. It is the belief of the welfare department that the per capita cost for running such an institution would not be greater than what the towns now must pay to board their wards at existing houses or in private homes. The additional benefits of proper care and supervision at all times by a responsible staff and organization would be obtained. Other states have tried these consolidation schemes through similar voluntary associations and they are apparently working satisfactorily.

$15,700,000 GOLD IN LONDON ENGAGED BY N. Y. BANKERS

NEW YORK, Feb. 5—(AP)—Approximately $15,700,000 in gold was engaged in London for the account of New York bankers today, the single day's takings exceeding the total of previous engagements of about $13,000,000 on the present movement.

The first gold to be imported from England since last fall, a shipment of $7,500,000 arrived last week, and $5,500,000 is expected on the Majestic tomorrow. Practically all of the gold taken today will be shipped on the liners Mauretania and Paris, sailing tomorrow, and will arrive next week, swelling the total movement to $28,700,000.

The largeest consignments today were $5,000,000 for the Irving Trust company and $3,000,000 for Brown Brothers. The shipments have resulted from the discount on sterling of more than 1 1-2 cents a pound, which enables bankers to make a substantial profit whenever fast liners are available to bring the metal.

Given Surprise Party

At the home of Mrs. Walter Krohn, Saturday evening, a surprise party was held for Miss Loretta Stout, who is soon to enter the Lawrence-Memorial hospital training school for nurses at New London. Mrs. Krohn and Miss Julie Welton arranged the plans for the evening. Games and dancing were enjoyed, and there were also instrumental selections, and refreshments were served. Miss Stout was presented a gold piece as a token of esteem.

HOOVER HAS STARTED ON ANOTHER FISHING TRIP

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 5—(AP)—While the politicians and others were expressing renewed energy today in the process of trying to figure out the next cabinet, President-elect Hoover closed his desk at his vacation headquarters at Belle Isle and took another try at fishing in Florida waters.

When it comes to word painting the signpainter is at the top of the ladder.

A YOUNG APPETITE DIGESTS ANYTHING

Indigestion is the result of too much acid in the stomach. It sours your food, turns it into a fermenting mass gives you sick headaches, bad breath, billousness, shortness of breath, and that drowsy, don't-care-what-happens feeling.

Pape's Diapepsin has helped thousands of such unfortunate stomach sufferers to get their appetite back. Chew one or two tablets of Pape's Diapepsin, after meals to dissolve the excess acid, and sweeten your stomach. Then your food will digest and nourish you. You will gain weight and feel fine. Pape's Diapepsin does what it promises to do. That's the reason 5 million packages are used a year.

Pape's Diapepsin will bring you relief in 5 minutes. It is sold by all drug stores.

POETRY

The Winter Sunshine

'Tis fair—the Winter Sunshine,
Yet lonely it must be
Without a leaf or blossom
On any bough to see,
Only the twigs a-quiver
All naked in the cold,
The withered grass a-shiver
Upon the frozen mould.

The pallid Winter Sunshine,
It vainly fights the frost;
Alas, before the sunset
Behold, the battle's lost,
And in the West retreating
With trailing flags afar,
It leaves behind, short-fleeting,
The sad-eyed Evening Star.

Ah, Winter's echoed lustre
Of Summer's brighter glow,
It charms me not a-slanting
Across the vistaed snow.
No living thing to love it,
Chill-glistening in the morn,
The dark I prize above it,
The night seems less forlorn.

In Winter by the hearthstone
Hath long been Fancy's home,
'Tis there her flight returneth
Wherever she may roam,
Lit by the glowing embers
She needs no outer beam,
And loyally remembers
The vanished Summer's gleam.

'Tis fair, the Winter Sunshine,
Yet little joy can bring—
I'd rather far be sleeping,
And dreaming of the Spring,
And with the Crocus waking,
Jonquil and Daffodil,
When Larks are merrymaking,
And nesting Thrushes trill.

—Samuel Minturn Peck.

Maiden, Dear

Under the rouge and the dusty chalk,
And the lipstick's crimson smear—
Behind the slang and the strident talk,
The brazen ways and the mincing walk,
Is hidden a maiden, dear.

Perhaps you'll hardly believe it, though,
But it's true, as true can be—
Only a couple of years ago,
A little girl that you'd love to know
She knelt at her mother's knee.

She whispered softly her evening prayer,
With a plea that she might grow
To woman as sweet as her mother, there,
With manner kind, and with face as fair,
And a life of service know.

Back, little girl, to your mother's shrine—
Go back to that sacred place.
And ask again for God's help divine,
To give you grace, that your soul may shine
Through the windows of your face.

Take off the rouge and the dusty chalk,
And the lipstick's crimson smear—
Forget the slang and the strident talk,
And, clothed in sweetness, in beauty walk,
For your soul's sake, maiden, dear!

—Ethel Knapp Behrman, in Cincinnati Enquirer.

Mrs. Jones—What! You're going to sell out and marry that 'ard-up lodger of yours? What on earth are you going to live on?

THOS. KENNEY, ALONE IN SHACK IS SERIOUSLY BURNED

(Special to The Bulletin)

NEW LONDON, Feb. 5—Thomas Kenney, about 80, at one time employed by the city as a street laborer, was perhaps fatally burned early today when the shack in which he resided, off Vauxhall Street extension, became afire and before Kenney, its sole occupant, was rescued, he had sustained serious burns and is now a patient in a critical condition at the Mitchell ward of Lawrence Memorial hospital. Because of the burns about Kenney's head and upper part of his body and his advanced years, the chances for his recovery are considered slight.

Kenney resided alone in the building, a one-story affair. About 6:30 o'clock, when George Rowley was walking to work, he discovered the shack afire and sent in a still alarm to fire headquarters. Deputy Chief Calvin Edmunds and Northwest Hose company responded. Prior to the arrival of the firemen, Rowley had Kenney taken from the shack and afterwards he was taken to Lawrence Memorial hospital and then was transferred to the Mitchell ward. The fire was subdued by the application of chemicals, but not until the improvised building had been gutted.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their systems. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person.

Get a bottle today, at any drug store and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre

The Irish actor who has brought millions of laughs to millions of people in the last quarter of a century in the circus, on the stage, in vaudeville, and on the screen—Charlie Murray, featured comedy artist in First National Pictures—will be seen tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, at the Breed theatre in "The Head Man," in which his gifts as a comedian are supplemented with a pathos and an emotional and dramatic power not usually associated with his name.

Charlie Murray first saw the light of day in Laurel, Indiana, and he must have greeted it with a grin because he has been grinning ever since. He is one refutation of the theory that comedians are proverbially morose and unhappy except when working in character.

Loretta Young, Larry Kent, Lucien Littlefield, E. J. Ratcliffe, Irving Bacon, Dot Farley, Harvey Clark and other able "troupers," well suited to depict the varied characters of the famous novel, appear in the supporting cast. First National Pictures produced "The Head Man."

Strand Theatre

The sensational motion picture, "The Naked Truth," will be shown today at the Strand. The story of the picture carries a moral for everyone, especially those unfortunately not possessed of the proper parental care. If the problem of sex education could be dealt with in this manner, only on a much larger scale, this country would eliminate a great deal of its serious problems, resulting from the carelessness of modern youth.

The picture goes just deeply enough into the various settings of the story to warn and educate even the most careless thinking youth.

Jack Mulhall plays the part of a young man who has received the proper advice from his parents and turns out to be a real, clean-living man, much the opposite of his companions, who get themselves into various difficulties. The story does not terrorize and it does not present any horrible or agonizing pictures of life, but simply states facts that could be possibly a part of any person's life. "The Naked Truth" contains a story of home life and beautiful settings with a punch so forcible that it would make the most hard-boiled audience stop, look and listen.

It has a cast that is unusual for a picture of this order—Jack Mulhall, Helene Chadwick, Emmet King, Kate Lester and Pauline Curley. The picture is different from anything that has been shown here. Owing to the frankness of the subject, and the scenes portrayed, in addition to the special women's reels, it will be impossible to ever show this film to a mixed audience. It is now being shown to women only for Thursday, all day, and Friday matinee. Shows for men only will be announced later. The work of educating the public as done by "The Naked Truth," should be encouraged. Everyone in Norwich should see it.

DO-NOT-MARRY BLINDFOLDED

FIND OUT "THE NAKED TRUTH"

"Before you marry any man, know his family, his health, his reputation, his antecedents, and do not take his word for it."

FIND OUT THE MYSTERIES OF LIFE!!

See the Most Sensational Motion Picture in Years, "The Naked Truth"—and Know Why Many Marriages Are Failures

Blindfolded women take the vital step that is the greatest event in their lives. Blindfolded, as trusting as a little child, they started with him upon a "honeymoon" which in a few short weeks may turn them from a carefree happy girl into a gray-haired, sorrow stricken woman because they were ignorant of the vital facts of life.

"The Naked Truth" is not a happy picture story. Rather it is a terrible story, thrillingly terrible with the terror that any girl must feel who finds that her love has led her into a state of dreadful bondage. But it carries a lesson, an insight into life, that every girl and every woman should learn for her own safety, and for posterity. See "The Naked Truth" so that you may know life and not have to pay for the knowledge, as thousands of women had to pay through sad experience.

"The Naked Truth"-is different from any other picture you ever saw, although many a sad-faced woman could tell a similar tale if she only had the moral courage to bare her heart.

In addition to "The Naked Truth" the management will show exclusive special reels made only for women audiences—it tells and shows everything, actual scenes, going into complete details. A thrilling story featuring Jack Mulhall, Helene Chadwick.

The funeral of John P O'Sullivan was held from his late home, No. 32 Convent avenue, Tuesday morning at 8.30 o'clock, followed by a requiem mass at 9 o'clock, at St. Mary's Memorial church, which was celebrated by Rev. Frederick M. Coholan. The musical program was in charge of Mrs. Michael J. Farrell, organist, who rendered Pie Jesu, at the offertory, and Come Unto Me, as the waiting hymn. Chopin's Funeral March was played at the recessional. Burial was in the family lot at St. Mary's cemetery, with hte commital service being conducted by Rev. Father Cohotan. The bearers were Daniel Driscoll, John Gahagen, Cornelius Downes Patrick Kirby, John O'Brien and Michael Bray. A large number of relatives and family friends were present. The floral tributes were both numerous and beautiful.

The weekly meeting of the K. B. Sewing class of Auxiliary 18, A. O. H., was held at the home of Mrs. Eugene Sabourin, 469 Main street, on Thursday evening. A large class attended and each member spent a busy evening sewing. Piano solos were rendered by several members while the class sewed. Mrs. Sabourin, assisted by Mrs. Timothy Brennan and Mrs. William Shea, served refreshments of sandwiches, cake, coffee and snowballs. Next week Mrs. Nellie Bissonette will entertain the class at her home on North Main street.

Miss Mary Mallon has returned to resume her studies at the Baltic academy after spending a few days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Mallon, on Convent avenue.

The Greeneville N. M. Sewing circle members were entertained at the home of Mrs. Alvin Barrows, Friday evening, on Tyler avenue, with a large attendance present. The first period of the evening was devoted to sewing of fancy articles, followed by a social hour. Refreshments of assorted sandwiches, cakes, cookies, fruits, candies, ice cream, wafers and hot chocolate were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Harold Wickham and Mrs. William Day. The "Crusaders" of the Third Baptist church held their monthly meeting in the chapel on Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, under the leadership of Mrs. H. Brothwell, assisted by Mrs. Fred Laycock. The regular exercises were presided over by Winifred Haydon. The children continued their work of making picture scrap books which, when completed, will be given to the missionary cause. Games were enjoyed by the twelve children present.

On Monday evening Troop No. 21, of the Boy Scouts, met in the chapel of the Third Baptist church for their second regular meeting. The scoutmaster was in charge, assisted by one of the troop committee. After the opening exercises and business session, the troop was divided into two patrols, Woodrow Sebastian and Millard Mulkin were selected as patrol leaders. A knot-tying contest between the patrols was then held, allsthenics, singing and scout instruction, with games, brought to a close a most enjoyable and profitable evening. The treasurer received fifty cents toward the purchase of equipment for the troop. Eight boys attended.

There will be no mid-week service at the Baptist church this week, the members and friends of the church being invited to attend the mid-year associational meetings in the Central Baptist church all day Thursday. The party broke up at a late hour, all present voting Miss Nutter an ideal hostess. Among those present were Mary Walker, Edna Scranton, Agnes, Alice and Winifred Nutter, Howard Ring, John Savage, Walter Puchowski, Perry Swan and John Walker.

David Campbell is confined to his home on Central avenue, with an attack of grip.

NEW LONDON COUNTY FARMERS' INCOME SHOWS LARGE DECREASE

Because prices received per unit for the produce marketed by the farmers of New London county did not advance in the ten years between 1918 and 1928 the proportion to the prices paid by consumers for this same produce, every farmer in this county was poorer this past year by $324.50. There are 2,834 farms in the county according to the federal farm census of 1925 and figuring the loss in farm income for the entire county, it climbs to the considerable total of $918,833, a sum sufficient to capitalize several strong banks.

What became of this fortune and what is being done by organized farmers to check further leaks, are subjects which farmers of New London county are asked to consider by W. W. Service of Norwich, secretary of the New London County farm bureau. M. S. Winder of Chicago, executive secretary of the American Farm Bureau federation, has sent Mr. Service a thoughtful explanation of this tremendous problem.

"In 1917 when agricultural was enjoying prosperity," says Mr. Winder, "the consumer was paying $1.65 wor a unit of farm produce. Out of this amount the farmer was getting $1, while the remaining 65 cents was paid for distribution costs. In the ten years since then the cost of the same unit of farm produce to the consumer has advanced to $1.72.

"1. the farmer was receiving the same proportionate amount as in 1917 his income from this unit of farm produce would be $1.04. Unfortunately, however, the farmer is receiving only 73 cents per unit, not $1.04. The distribution cost, which in 1917 was only 65 cents, is now 99 cents. Thus it is plainly seen that the farmer is losing 31 cents on the average for every unit of produce marketed from his farm."

According to the latest statistics, an average of $1,800 is annually received by each farmer for the things he has for sale, and dividing the consumer's unit cost of $1.72 into this, it is revealed that the farmer sells annually 1,047 units of produce. On this the loss of 31 cents per unit totals $324.50. If the income is larger the loss is proportionally greater.

"The problem, then," adds Mr. Winder, "is to recover as much as possible of the lost 31 cents per unit and it is to the accomplishment of this task that the American Farm Bureau federation, largest organization of farmers in the history of the world, has set itself.

"No doubt part of the 31 cents has gone to pay increased transportation charges. More of it is used up in inefficient marketing, in speculation and in wasteful practices, which we are not able to combat because agriculture is not organized to bargain effectively for the disposal of its products. Lack of favorable legislation and unfair tariff rulings account for some of the 31 cents, while another factor contributing to the loss is lack of adequate information with which we might protect our interests.

"I think you will agree with me that in disposing of our products we must invariably pay the transportation charges. To help ourselves, however, organized farmers persuaded congress to pass the Hock-Smith resolution which aims to bring about adjustments in freight rates that would be to the advantage of agriculture.

"This year the transportation department of the American Farm Bureau federation has been exerting its influence to have the lengthy hearings on problems arising under the Hoch-Smith resoution brought to a conclusion so that the freight reductions congress intended the farmer to enjoy, can be made possibe. Every dollar we save in trausportation costs is going to help recover some of that lost 31 cents. When you join your local Farm bureau you help to back that task of reducing freight rates on farm produce."

Efficient modern marketing machinery, as provided through cooperative marketing associations, Mr. Winder says, are doing much to eliminate the expense of inefficient and archaic marketing methods, but to further strengthen this new agricultural resource, he says, a national agricultural policy is needed.

"Tariff control," he continues, "a settlement of the Muscle Shoals problem, making cheap fertilizer available, pest control, and other remedies for our distress, if obtainable, will all assist in bringing back some part of the lost 31 cents. Our crying need, however, is a bargaining power, which will enable us to determine the price we shall receive for what we sell. This can only become possible through national legislation which recognizes the right of the farmer to the same protection that other groups, like the bankers, the railroads or labor enjoy under federal statutes.

"If every farmer could realize the importance of membership and the influence membership in this organization can exert on our elaborate programme of service to the farms of America, you would not rest until you have lined up behind your local Farm bureau leaders."

COMMUNITY MEETING AT SCOTLAND ROAD HALL

The farm bureau will hold a community meeting at Scotland Road hall Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. This is one of a series of five meetings being held in the county during the week. The first was held in Lebanon town hall, Monday evening with one hundred present.

On Tuesday one was held in Waterford with a good attendance. Besides the meeting at Scotland road hall meetings are to be held at North Stonington Grange hall on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock and at the Baptist church in Preston on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The program for the meeting at Scotland road hall is one of motion pictures, short talks and community singing.

E. M. Mills, rodent control specialist for New England will show a very interesting motion picture on "How to Control Rats." Mr. Mills will also give a short talk supporting points brought out in the picture.

Mr. Sidney A. Edwards, chief of the bureau of markets for the Connecticut department of agriculture will give a talk on "The Connecticut Farmer and His Marketing Opportunity." Mr. Edwards has made a study of the markets of Connecticut and has developed new standards of quality for these markets which is giving much home grown produce a better standing than highly graded shipped in produce. Mr. Edwards was a former county agent in Middlesex county.

An interesting two reel romantic story "The Transformation" which relates to the remodeling of a farm home will be one of the features of the program. This meeting is open to the public.

MERCIER ASSEMBLY PLANS POST-LENTEN DANCE

A regular meeting of Mercier assembly, No. 12, Catholic Ladies of Columbus, was held Tuesday evening at the assembly rooms on Broadway. Miss Loretta Gadle, president, presided at the meeting. Miss Margaret Sullivan, chairman of the whist, bridge and pinochle party to be held at the Buckingham Memorial, reported all plans completed. All members of the assembly were urged to attend the dance to be given by the Connecticut Council of Catholic Women at the Wauregan hotel, this week. Plans were made for a post-lenten dance and Miss Mary Hamill was elected chairman of the committee in charge. The next meeting, which will take the form of a social, will be held Monday evening, Feb. 18. Miss Catherine Lynch will be in charge of the arrangements.

Presented Treasurer's Report

In the report of the proceedings of the New London County Agricultural society which appeared in Tuesday's paper, the name of Martin E. Jensen was unfortunately omitted. Mr. Jensen has given a great deal of his valuable time as treasurer of the society, examining its financial affairs for the past several years which is indicated in the thorough report he presented at the meeting.

Constant demands are being made upon him for payment of bills contracted and fair premiums unpaid, which are investigated by him. His work for the society is of inestimable value since he accepted the office of treasurer. Mr. Jensen stated at the meeting that the society cannot possibly continue under its present financial condition and business administration and the need for a complete reorganization is imperative.

PUTNAM ALDERMAN WANTS TWO MORE FIREMEN

(Special to The Bulletin)

PUTNAM, Feb. 5—The fire department came into the limelight tonight with the February session of the common council with Mayor Charles A. Richard presiding. Following the reading of annual reports of city officers, Alderman Frank Vadnais, democrat, of Ward Three, started a new drive for the appointment of two permanent men at the central fire station at Union square. "It would be money well invested," said Alderman Vadnais, after placing his plan before the council.

In supporting his plan he attacked the manner in which the fire station is now maintained. He felt that the city should take adequate steps to slowly dispense with the volunteer system. The plan of Alderman Vadnais was introduced again tonight for the eighth consecutive year. The permanent-man subject was viciously attacked by Mayor Richard and the republican side of the house with the same familiar phrase that has featured in the present administration: "We haven't got the money."

Clinton S. Andem, one of the largest taxpayers of the city, entered another plea to the council in his drive for the reconstruction of Farrows street. "Farrows street is a disgrace to the city," Mr. Andem said.

To keep the cost as low as possible for the city, Mr. Andem agreed to furnish the necessary gravel to complete the work. The matter was given considerable discussion and was referred to the highway committee for investigation. The water question, which was expected to be taken up tonight, failed to make its way into open council. With the reading of the monthly expense report, Mayor Richard adjourned the council until Tuesday evening, Feb. 18, when the annual city budget for the ensuing year will be considered.

Taftville radio owners are organizing an association for the purpose of discovering the cause of the interference with receiving sets, and if possible to remedy the cause. Some of those interested have taken the matter up with manufacturers of interference eliminator equipment, and one firm has made a donation of some apparatus to be attached to motors, etc., which may be making the disturbance. For several months now, especially during the day and early evening radio reception in the village has been very poor, and the organizers of the club hope to engage a "trouble shooter" to locate the cause and then eliminate it.

One of those who read of the disappearance of Chinook, the celebrated lead dog owned by Arthur Wilden, from Byrd's Antarctic expedition, is Donat Fournier of Providence street. Mr. Fournier was formerly a resident of New Hampshire and Mr. Walden with his dog teams used to stop at his farm. He knows the dog Chinook well, and believes him to have been the most intelligent dog ever bred. Chinook was a grandson of the lead dog owned by Peary on his dash to the North Pole, and was the lead dog of the team which won the first international race in New Hampshire in 1922. He also led a team up Mount Washington in a blizzard. Muskeag and Quimbo, leaders of two of Byrd's dog teams, are sons of Chinook. The famous dog disappeared from the party on his 12th birthday, and it is believed he has wandered off to die, as dogs sometimes will. The speed of Chinook's team was seldom less than 32 miles a day over the trail, and the team was composed of eight of his sons and grandsons.

What Doctors Say
About the Laxative Habit

What do YOU do when the bowels need a little assistance? If you clear up the condition with some laxative made with CASCARA, there is nothing better for the system—for the blood.

But if you don't KNOW the laxative you have learned to depend on is of harmless carcara, here's some truly valuable advice:

The bark of a tree called cascara is the most marvelous conditioner mankind has yet found. It stimulates the bowels muscular action, but does NOT weaken. A violent laxative forms the laxative HABIT. You always need more on the morrow. With cascara, you don't. Its gentle influence carries on sometimes for days. With less and less need of any aid, as time goes on.
